ORGANIZATION IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY UNDER WAY

Committees in Every Community Will Be Named for Active Campaign—Cite 1936 Relief Record

With the beginning of the 1936 Red Cross Roll Call throughout the nation just a week away, definite plans for the annual drive in Charlevoix county are now being formulated by C. B. Meggison, county chairman, and Charles Hamlin, Roll Call chairman.

Between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving, committees in every section of the county will be at work currying the message of service to every citizen and giving all a chance to support the Red Cross. Mr. Meggison and Mr. Hamlin started out Wednesday to organize the county, appoint chairmen of the several districts and communities, and otherwise complete plans to get the drive under way November 11.

"The number of disaster victims assisted by the Red Cross during the fiscal year ended June 30, was more than four times the number aided in the previous twelve month period," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman, said in commenting on highlights of the annual report just issued. "Over 131,000 families were given food, clothing, shelter and medical care, and thousands of homes were rebuilt or repaired by the Red Cross to enable them to carry on."

Pointing to the many-sided problems created by the wide variety of types of disasters which occurred during the year, Admiral Grayson said, "The Red Cross sent hundreds of trained workers into 39 states to meet the many exigencies of catastrophies which included earthquake, epidemic, explosion, fire, hurricane, ice lock, landslide, refugee relief, shipwreck, tornado and typhoon. The Red Cross took charge at the scenes of 105 domestic disasters of major severity."

The report emphasized the marked value of Government-Red Cross cooperation when disaster strikes, giving as example the flight of Army bombing planes which dropped Red Cross food to marooned refugees at Renovo, Pa., during the spring floods. More than 10,000 persons were rescued from the second floors of homes in Wilkes-Barre and Kingston through Coast Guard-Red Cross cooperation at the height of these same floods.

"Government agencies and relief groups were of invaluable assistance to Red Cross relief forces at all times," Admiral Grayson stated.

The complete resources of Red Cross leadership, training and disaster experience were brought into play by the spring floods and tornadoes which took so heavy a toll of life and property in eastern and southern states this year, the annual report reveals. The Red Cross aided 77,000 families in 13 flooded states east of the Mississippi and 6,000 families in six tornado hit states south of the Mason-Dixon line in this one operation.

"Never before have as many metropolitan centers borne the brunt of attack by wind and water within a single year, challenging Red Cross preparedness and efficiency by so wide a variety of pressing human problems," Chairman Grayson said.

In its work of relief to disaster sufferers the Red Cross expended in excess of $5,200,000 for the year. The report points out that this figure does not include assistance given in 27 lesser disasters with a total of 2,000 persons aided, and adds that additional millions will be used to "clean up" spring floods and tornadoes.

"Numerous local disaster situations occurring during the year were met

HI! BOYS AND GIRLS, HERE'S A CHANCE TO WIN A FINE BICYCLE

Where is there a boy or girl who wouldn't like to win a handsome bicycle and some spending money each week?

Nowhere! That's the answer and the thought Fessenden's had in mind when they told this writer about a contest they are going to put on in the very near future.

Well, here's the dope. You no doubt by this time have seen that handsome, stream-lined hike hanging in the window of Fessenden's store. That's the prize bicycle they told us about. It is going to be given away free to the Charlevoix boy or girl from the age of 10 to 16 years (it will be a girl's bike if a girl wins) earning the greatest number of votes through the sale of Sheaffer's products such as ink, pens, pen and pencil sets, etc., over a period of weeks to be specified later. Not only will the contestants receive votes towards the bicycle for their efforts, but a cash commission, paynble weekly, will be given for the sale of the products named above.

Votes will also be given purchasers of the store's stock items and the purchaser may turn his or her votes in for whatever contestant they so desire. So, you see, there are several ways to get votes toward the bicycle.

Now the best advice we are able to give to the children of Charlevoix and vicinity is that they call at Fessenden's store on or before Wednesday, November 11, and find out first hand just how this contest is to be conducted, how to obtain votes, etc. There are some mighty nice prizes awaiting the winners, and what a lot of fun it is going to be to earn some spending money at the same time.

SCHEDULE FIFTEEN BASKETBALL GAMES

PRACTICE FOR 1936-37 SEASONS STARTS NEXT WEEK

Three Veterans Are Back from Last Year's District and Regional Championship Combination

With a 15-game schedule signed for the 1936-37 season, basketball will occupy the center of athletic interest for Charlevoix High school starting next week.

Graduation last spring raised the usual havoc with the squad, breaking up a combination which went through the district and regional tournaments and to the Class C semi-finals of the state competition at Grand Rapids. Bob Pearl and Joe Schwab are out, leaving Ed. Radle and Keith Carey, forwards, and "Chick" Gallagher, center, from last year's team. This trio, however, should make a nice nucleus for a squad and, with a nice bunch of reserves to choose from, time alone will tell the story.

A week's breathing spell from football will end next week and basketball drills will start in earnest.

The 1936-37 schedule is another tough one, listing four games with Class B schools as well as contests with all members of the Tip of Michigan Class C Conference. Alpena is off the list this year, but Petoskey and Traverse City have been retained. Two games are scheduled with Grayling, one of the few Class C teams to beat Charlevoix last season. Eight of the 15 games are to be played at home.

Following is the schedule:

December 4—Traverse City here.
December 11—Petoskey there.
December 18—Kalkaska and Ellsworth, here.
December 22—Petoskey here.
December 30—Gaylord here.
January 8—Harbor Springs there.
January 15—Mancelona there.
January 22—Enst Jordan here.
January 29—Boyne City there.
February 5—East Jordan there.
February 12—Grayling here.
February 19—Harbor Springs here.
February 24—Traverse City there.
February 26—Boyne City here.

Season tickets for all home games will be offered both adults and students at reduced rates again this year. Adults may obtain a ticket for the eight home games at $1.25, and students from junior high grades up for one dollar.

LANDSLIDE ECLIPSING THAT OF 1932 SWEEPS FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT AND PROBABLY STATE DEMOCRATIC SLATE OF CANDIDATES INTO OFFICE

CHARLEVOIX CO. REMAINS REPUBLICAN

CHARLEVOIX CITY VOTE PREDOMINANTLY REPUBLICAN AS OTHER PRECINCTS GO DEMOCRATIC

FATE OF ALL AMENOMENTS IS UNCERTAIN

All Republican County Candidates Returned to Office; Senator Bishop Claims Victory; Tibbits Winner Over Sloan for Representative by Generous Margin

Climaxing one of the most rectic general election campaigns this country has experienced in many years, Democratic candidates throughout the state and nation, led by the presidential nominee, Franklin D. Roosevelt, swept to an overwhelming victory Tuesday.

Latest incomplete returns gave Roosevelt 46 of the nation's 48 states over Alfred M. Landon, the Republican nominee. Republican leaders have accepted defeat.

Michigan Goes Democratic

Following the national trend, Michigan, like in 1932, went to the Democratic fold with possibly the exception of a lone victory by Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, who trails by 3,000 votes with three-quarters of the state's precincts reported. Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald has tendered his congratulations to Frank Murphy, who led 545,775 to 522,716 with 2,544 of the state's 3,471 precincts tabulated. The balance of the state ticket is reported to have gone Democratic.

Congressman Prentiss M. Brown is the apparent winner in the race for United States senator, with a lead of 537,798 to 409,310 votes over Wilber M. Brucker in 2,306 precincts.

Congressional Contest Close

Still in doubt is the congressional contest between Herbert J. Rushton, Republican, and John Luecke, Democrat, in the 11th district. With 183 precincts out of 289 reported, Rushton is leading 20,677 to 20,088. Otto W. Bishop, Republican state senator of the 29th district, claims victory over Thomas E. Baker by a margin of 1,300 votes with nine precincts to be heard from. Douglas D. Tibbits, R., is the victor over Robert F. Sloan, D., for representative of the Charlevoix-Leelanau district. Tibbits polled 4,686 votes to 3,662 in the two counties.

Charlevoix County Republican

Charlevoix city kept Charlevoix county in the Republican ranks, preserving a precedent never broken. Roosevelt would have carried the county by a large mujority had it not been for the Charlevoix vote, which was predominantly Republican. Landon carried the county by 145 votes, compared with a Hoover majority of 176 in 1932. On the other hand, county voters were more generous with the balance of the Republican slate, county officers included, giving majorities ranging from 957 for Governor Fitzgerald up to 1,162 for county treasurer. Badly defeated in the east portion of the county, Charlevoix's vote gave victory to William F. Tindall, R., over Daniel Swanson, D., for county road commissioner. Tindall's majority was 200 votes, the closest race in the county.

Record Vote Cast

Charlevoix county cast the heaviest vote in its history. Boyne City led with a poll of 1,235, with Charlevoix second with 1,227. Townships set a new voting record and, in several instances, placed calls for additional ballots. The presidential vote, totaling 5,483 as compared to 4,808 in 1932, is an indication of the record ballot.

Defeat All Amendments

While the fate of the four proposed amendments is in doubt in the state, Charlevoix county, with votes of 15 of the 25 precincts tabulated, turned all four down in a decisive manner.

BEAVER ISLAND LOSES RESIDENT

CAPT. CHARLES C. ALLERS DIED SATURDAY NOON

Island Resident 32 Years, Allers in Youth Had Sailed World's Seven Seas—Burial at South Haven

Beaver Island lost one of its most colorful residents Saturday noon in the death of Capt. Charles C. Allers, veteran salt and fresh water sailor, who succumbed following an extended illness.

Capt. Allers was born in Hanover, Germany, in 1848. When he was a child two years old, his father, captain of a coasting vessel, took him on long voyages to the North and Baltic Seas. Before he was six years old he had seen Russia, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, England, Ireland, and Scotland. When he had to go to school he took his vacations at sea.

At the age of 14 he shipped with his uncle on the Nautilus, hound for Gottenberg with a cargo of iron for use in building the Swedish railways. He was later to witness one of the great naval battles of the Austro-Prussian-Danish war as the vessel ran a blockade to deliver her cargo.

At the age of 18, Capt. Allers had enlisted on the British frigate Lumna in Singapore and later witnessed Malay pirates chased through Chinese waters and hanged in convenient clusters to the yard arm of the British man-o'-war on which he was a tar. In December of 1871, Capt. Allers, then on hoard the ship Texas, had an experience with fire at sea. The vessel ran into a storm off Newfoundland. The cabin was washed away, and the provisions drenched with sea water. The Texas was a sailing ship fitted with auxiliary engine. After the storm, fire broke out in her coal bunkers, and it was necessary to throw the fuel overboard to save the ship. Provisions were soon exhausted and during the last four days no one on hoard had anything to eat. When they reached Halifax the ice was 15 feet high over the forecastle.

These experiences, together with many others on the Great Lakes, were had by Capt. Allers before he retired to his cottage facing Paradise Bay on Beaver Island about 40 years ago.

Capt. Allers married Mary Curtis at Grand Haven, 62 years ago. She survives him, in addition to ten children, viz.: Charles, of Traverse City; Peter and Herman, of South Haven; Leroy, of Charlevoix; Mrs. Gus Mielke, Mrs. Herman Pischner and Mrs. James Gallagher, of St. James; Mrs. Irwin Belfy, of Garden, and Mrs. John Flndt, of Kalamazoo.

Capt. Allers' hody was hrought to Charlevoix on Sunday, and the following day was sent to South Haven, where funeral services were held and burial made.

CHARLEVOIX WINS IN FINAL CONTEST

DEFEATED ROGERS CITY BY 3 TO 0 SCORE SATURDAY

Victory Should Give Rayders Second Place in Conference Title Race, With Boyne Probable Leader

Charlevoix's Red Rayders completed their 1936 football schedule with a 3 to 0 victory over Rogers City at south side athletic field Saturday afternoon. It was the third year Charlevoix closed the season with a win over the Presque Isle county school.

Saturday's contest, played during a downpour of rain, proved the locals the best "mudders" as they outplayed the visiting team in every period, despite the fact Rogers had the mot impressive early-season record. Gallagher's punting, which kept the visitors on the defense most of the time, was probably the most important factor in Charlevoix's victory.

Radle produced the lone score of the contest, a place-kick in the first period. Gallagher had pushed Rogers back to their own 20-yard line with a well-placed punt. The visitors failed to gain and their punt was blocked, giving Charlevoix the ball on the Rogers 30-yard strip. Shapton made four yards in two downs, Radle added five and Kulpa made it first down. Radle advanced two yards, Nowland gained seven, and on the next play Radle booted a perfect field goal for three points.

That Charlevoix's line consistently out-played the Rogers City forward wall is proven by the fact that the Rayders blocked three of the visitors' punts. On the other hand, they gave Gallagher excellent defense and his well placed punts kept the visitors deep in their own territory throughout the game.

Rogers City never threatened to score and the nearest they came to it was an advance at the beginning of the third period which netted four consecutive first downs and advanced them to Charlevoix's 45. A 15-yard penalty ended the threat. The visitors tried two passes and one was intercepted.

Saturday's victory, it is expected, will give Charlevoix second place in the Tip of Michigan Class C Conference standing. Boyne City, the leader, playing East Jordan next Saturday, has an unblemished record for the season. A Boyne win would give them the title and throw East Jordan into third place with two defeats.

Charlevoix closed the season with wins over Rogers City, Harbor Springs and Gaylord. They lost to Boyne City and played a scoreless tie with East Jordan.

CARD PARTY HOLY CROSS AUDITORIUM SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The card party given and sponsored by the St. James High school in the Holy Cross auditorium last Sunday evening was a decided success both socially and financially. Lunch was served to over 150 guests. Over $125 was realized, testifying as to the wholeheartedness and generosity of the good people of Beaver Island.

Prizes were carried off by Frank Gallagher, Mrs. Bruce McDonough, Mrs. Vesty McDonough, Daniel Greene, Mrs. Groseup, Thomas McCauley, Catherine Connaghan, and Herbert Martin.

One of the very exciting features of the evening was the closing of the "Little Girls' Contest," between the ages of two and five. Competition ran high until the very close, which saw the 15 little tots most satisfied and happy. Have you heard who won? Ask any of the little tots.

Charlevoix Merchants Plan On Series of Sales

Saturday, November 14, should be marked in red on the calendars in city and country homes of this district. Folks in Charlevoix and the surrounding territory will have the benefit of the greatest fall values ever offered by Charlevoix merchants.

Advertisements of these merchants appearing in the Courier this week and future issues contain articles that will be sold at cost or thereabouts—real bargains that will represent substantial savings to the purchaser. Free motion pictures will provide entertainment for the throng of people who, it is confidently expected, will take advantage of this unpreeedented opportunity to stretch their dollars to the uttermost.

The main purpose of this special day of sales, sponsored by the Charlevoix Board of Commerce, under the supervision of Gordon Todd, activities director, is to bring in our good friends from the rural districts in larger numbers on that day and give them a real "break."

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Atwood Asks Safe Driving to Games

A novel note of caution to drivers of cars bound to and from football games, is sounded by Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state and chairman of the Michigan State Safety Council.

Statistics on mass movement of automobiles, and their relation to safety on streets and highways, reveal normal expectations of deaths and injuries from careless driving in heavy football traffic.

"Of the approximately 30,000 people attending a game at Ann Arbor, riding there four in a car, an average of 100 miles, one person may be killed," Atwood points out, his observation being based on experience tables of the nation's Safety Council.

For every fatality, approximately 35 non-fatal accidents occur, and from these two causes, every fatality is estimated to cause the community affected, losses of some $50,000, traffic and insurance experts have pointed out in studies filed wiht the Michigan Safety Council.

"A football crowd is a happy one, in holiday mood," Atwood said, adding: "Extra caution on the part of individuals is required when cars move in masses. Sane, sober driving will save lives these fall days — and all others."

BACK YARD PLAYGROUNDS

Many towns and cities might very well follow the example of Flint, Michigan, in its method of providing a recreational program to end juvenile delinquencies and accidents.

Vacant lots and back yards are now play centers.

Much of the equipment was donated by local industrial plants. The whole town cooperated to make the project possible, including mothers, service clubs, police department, educators, Boy and Girl Scouts, manufacturers, merchants and others.

Accidents to children have been narrowed down to 70 per cent, and juvenile delinquencies, once a grave problem in this automotive center, have nearly been wiped out.

The slogan of the city is "Flint, the Safety Play Yard City."

This would be an excellent program for any chamber of commerce to adopt, and how could a city be better advertised?

PLANS FOR TOURIST HIGHWAYS ANNOUNCED

Over $11,000,000 to Be Expanded In North During Winter

An $11,000,000 tourist and resort highway program, financed by WPA and employing relief labor, will be started in Northern Michigan in December, according to a joint announcement made by Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner and State WPA Director Louis M. Nims.

Construction work north of the Bay county line will utilize about 14,000 men who have been working on oil aggregate surfacing projects which are not feasible in cold weather. Projects will be advertised next week and actual construction is scheduled to start the third week in December and continue until spring.

Van Wagoner considers the program a stimulant to Michigan resort business because it provides for grading and drainage structures along tourist routes. Roads will be surfaced under the regular federal aid highway program.

Of the total WPA allotment, $6,000,000 will be spent in the lower penisunla north of the Bay county line and the balance above the Straits of Mackinac.

Construction in the northern part of the lower Michigan will be concentrated on the Huron Shore Road, US-31, M-131 and the Clare-to-Frankfort diagonal. All work will be done under contract management, using WPA labor. One of the objectives of the programs is completion of grading on the Huron Shore Drive north of Alpena.

AT THE MOVIES

"Border Patrolman" O'Brien's Greatest

With blazing adventure at every turn of the plot, and paced by the roar of smoking six-guns, "The Border Patrolman," Fox picture coming November 10-11 to the Palace Theatre with George O'Brien starred, is said to be the most exciting and thrilling in the outdoor star's career.

In addition to smugglers, stolen diamonds, breath-taking escapes and rescues, the plot is further complicated by a headstrong heiress who leads O'Brien a merry chase before the whirlwind climax.

Polly Ann Young, Roy Mason, Mary Doran and Smiley Burnette are also featured.

What-Ho! Cheerio! Here Comes "Jeeves"

What-ho! And a pip-pip and a cheerio!

Beginning November 12 at the Palace Theatre, Jeeves, P. G. Wodehouse's hilariously perfect "gentleman's gent" of fiction fame, makes his debut on the screen in "Thank You, Jeeves!" Twentieth Century-Fox production.

Arthur Treacher, the elongated bean-pole who always convulses movie audiences with his "fawncy buttling," plays the imperturbable Jeeves, with Virginia Field as the "lady in distress" and David Niven as the amiable crackpot, Bertie Wooster.

Pat O'Brien and Josephine Hutchinson are appearing in the Warner Bros. picture, "I Married a Doctor," which comes to the Palace Theatre on November 12-13. They were cast together because of the successes they scored in "Oil for the Lamps of China," the first film in which they played opposite each other.

THE SMOOTH AND OPEN ROAD

Traffic engineers tell us that 67 per cent of fatal motor car accidents occur in small towns and rural districts—four out of five on smooth, dry roads, and four out of five in clear weather.

Many traffic engineers also agree that speed too fast for existing conditions is responsible for the majority of fatal automobile accidents.

John Smith and thousands of other men like him climb into their high-powered cars, lured by the fine weather out into the country. The road is smooth, the effortless driving intoxicating. Unnoticed, the speed arrow climbs and climbs.

Suddenly there is an emergency. Brakes are slammed on hard — too hard at such speed—and the beautiful car is rolling over and over. Or that curve ahead turns out to be sharper than anticipated, and the tires do not hold. Or that half-hidden lane suddenly disgorges a farm wagon or flivver, and no possible human effort can prevent a smash-up.

John Smith often considers that he has slowed down enough to pass the cross-roads safely—and yet, his speed carries him into the side of another car. For speed is relative. Any speed is too fast that may lead to an accident.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

The recent cold snap reminds u- that hearty foods are again in order. It is good news therefore that pork is plentiful and costs less than in many months. Lamb and veal are also reasonable in price. Beef prices have begun to reflect the drought as there is a scarcity of well-finished beef. Chickens, particularly the frying and roasting sizes are reasonable. Butter is again higher but egg prices are fairly steady.

Many vegetables are now coming from the south and west though the hardy cabbage family, celery and the root vegetables are still northern grown.

The citrus fruits and apples have taken their winter stand at the top of the housewife's marketing list.

Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

LATE AFTERNOON IN THE KITCHEN

A hospital discloses some statistics on accidents, kinds most frequent and time of occurrence. Thirty-nine per cent of the accidents treated were scalds by steam, hot water and other hot liquids. Twice as many happened to children under five years, and happened most often between noon and six o'clock in the afternoon.

This latter fact is very revealing. Every mother knows why. Children grow more restless toward the end of the day, and the mother reaches a stage of fatigue in which she is not as alert as earlier in the day.

There is probably no way to relieve an overworked mother of the particular situation in which such accidents take place. All that can be done is to caution again and again, and then repent the warning. Hot liquids and water ought never be left within reach of a child, and never taken across a room until the way is first cleared. Emphasis should be placed on extra caution for the end of the day.

NEW 1937 CHEVROLET ON DISPLAY SATURDAY

Charlevoix Oil Co. to Have New Models for Public Inspection

Residents of Charlevoix and vicinity will have their first opportunity, Saturday, to inspect and ride in the new 1937 Chevrolet cars, it is announced by the Charlevoix Oil Co., whose showroom is being prepared today for the large number of visitors which the event always attracts.

"There will be both Master De-Luxe and new Master Chevrolets, not only for display purposes, but for everyone interested in testing the performance and riding qualities of these new lines of cars," said Mr. Fochtman. "Due to the early start on Chevrolet production, we have cars on hand for immediate delivery, and the assurance of prompt service on orders. However, the earlier the order is on hand, the sooner buyers will get delivery.

"Orders received prior to Saturday's announcement will be put on a preferred list for delivery in the next few days. We know it will be greatly to the advantage of every prospective car buyer to see these two new Chevrolet lines before buying any car."

BELOVED LOCAL WOMAN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Gertrude Blackwood Succumbed Saturday After Long Illness

The family and friends of Mrs. Gertrude Blackwood, who resided at 405 Antrim street, were shocked to learn of her sudden and unexpected death Saturday morning.

Gertrude Miller was born September 26, 1860, at Plymouth, Mich. She was a graduate of Plymouth High school and taught school in that vicinity until her marriage to Joseph H. Blackwood on June 9, 1887. They resided near South Lyon until 1908, when they moved to a farm near Charlevoix.

Since her husband's death, Mrs. Blackwood had resided in Charlevoix. She is survived by a son, Howard, of Marion township, also a sister, Margaret Miller, of Plymouth, and a brother, Orrin Miller.

Rev. G. R. Parker officiated at a short service here Sunday afternoon, and Monday the deceased was taken to South Lyon for burial beside her husband.

Mrs. Blackwood held membership in the Presbyterian church, South Lyon, which was transferred to the Congregational church when she came here. She had been a member of the W. C. T. U. for about 60 years and one of the happiest memories of her girlhood was her charter membership in the Union which Frances Willard organized in Plymouth.

EXPANSION PROGRAM AT CAMP CHARLEVOIX

Build More Cabins in Anticipation of Bumper Season in 1937

An expansion program to enlarge the facilities at Camp Charlevoix will be started soon, according to an announcement by Lewis C. Reimann, director.

In a recent communication, Mr. Reimann stated: "I shall be up after I vote on November 3. Am going to get out some logs and timber for more buildings for next summer. Expect to have a full camp and a waiting list. Have 21 boys already enrolled, and expect 40 by Christmas."

The 1936 season was one of the best experienced since the camp was opened and, according to advance information, will be eclipsed in 1937. Camp Charlevoix is one of this city's largest resort institutions and the news of the expected bumper season will be greeted with enthusiasm by local residents.

ATWOOD FAVORS AUTO LICENSE EXTENSION

Gives Provisional Promise of Plate Use Until January 31, 1937

A provisional promice that the deadline for using 1936 automobile license plates will be extended until January 31, — if he is re-elected — was made Fridny by Secretary of State Orville E. Atwood.

State law gives the Secretary of Stnte authority to make an extension not exceeding 60 days after December 31.

"I an notifying branch office managers that 1936 plates may legally be used until Jan. 31, if I am in office at that time," Atwood said. "The mortoring public under the same circumstances must look to the 1937 legislature for an extension beyond that date."

Atwood has frequently gone on record as favoring a Mnrch 31 deadline each year and expressed hope thnt the legislature would accept his proposal.

American Legion to Conduct Annual Event at Mt. McSauby Range

Many local sportsmen are planning to get their "shooting eye" in trim for the deer season at the annual American Legion turkey shoot scheduled for Sunday, November 8.

The Legion members are setting up two ranges at Mt. McSauby, one for high-powered rifles and one for .22-caliber rifles. Sportsmen using high-powered rifles are requested to bring their own guns.

The event proved a very popular one last year, and even a larger attendance of both men and women is expected next Sunday.

Rural income in Michigan for 1936 is being bolstered by the fact that farm prices for all of 19 major products except eggs, hogs, chickens and veal are higher than a year ago. According to findings of R. V. Gunn, extension specialist in agricultural economics at Michigan State College, farmers likely will receive an income comparable to the 208 million total in 1930.

INCOME OF FARMER ON RISE IN STATE

Economist Finds Farmers Likely to Get About Same Income as 1930

Farmers in Michigan are in a fairly advantageous position financially this year when compared with agricultural producers in many other states. In comparing crops and prices to estimate cash going into rural pocketbooks, R. V. Gunn, extension specialist in economics at Michigan State College, finds reason for optimism in comparing 1936 with the year 1932 when Michigan farm income was down to 119 million dollars.

In this state 60 per cent of the farm income is derived from livestock and livestock products, with less than 40 per cent from actual sales of crops and miscellaneous products, Gunn finds.

Gunn's figures on the division of the 1935 income of 185 million dollars received by farmers are as follows:

Dairy products, 55 millions; sales of livestock, more than 36 millions, with cash sales from cattle and calves more than half of this livestock income, hogs second in importance and sheep and lambs third.

Poultry is the third important source of Michigan farm income, with over 21 millions or almost 12 per cent of the 1935 total. In 1929 over 35 millions was received from poultry, while only 13 millions was derived in 1933 from poultry.

Cash field crops are next in bringing in the dollars. Beans, potatoes, wheat and sugar beets are included. Last year beans and potatoes each contributed about nine millions, wheat eight and one-third millions, but sugar beets were cut down by low yields to four and one-half millions. Fruit and truck crops added about 11 millions each. Apples obtained 40 per cent of the fruit dollars, and peaches, cherries, grapes and strawberries followed in order. Peppermint contributed about a million dollars.

SOCIAL SECURITY ACT IS EXPLAINED

OLD-AGE BENEFIT SECTION DETAILS ARE OUTLINED

Act Provides Income for All Persons After Age 65—Beneficiary and Employer Both Pay

Official information about the much-discussed old-age benefit section of the Social Security Act is now available for employers, employes and others interested, in the form of a pamphlet, according to a statement from the Regional Office of the Social Security Board, located at 501 Bulkley Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

The two-page pamphlet is addressed to employes of industrial and business establishments, factories, shops, mines, mills, stores, offices and other places of business and discusses in some detail the benefits and taxes under the Act.

The text of the leaflet follows:

"The United States Government will, in the near future, set up a Social Security Account for you; if you are eligible. To understand your obligations, rights, and benefits you should read the following general explanation.

"There is now a law in this country which will give about 26 million working people something to live on when they are old and have stopped working. This law, which gives other benefits, too, was passed last year by Congress and is called the Social Security Act.

"Under this law the United States Government will send checks every month to retired workers, both men and women, after they have passed their 65th birthday and have met a few simple requirements of the law.

What This Means to You

"This means that if you work in some factory, shop, mine, mill, store, office, or almost any other kind of business or industry, you will be earning benefits that will come to you later on. From the time you are 65 years old, or more, and stop working, you will get a Government check every month of your life, if you have worked some time (one day or more) in each of any five years after 1936, and have earned during that time a total of $2,000 or more.

"The checks will come to you as a right. You will get them regardless of the amount of property or income you may have. They are what the law calls 'Old-Age Benefits' under the Social Security Act. If you prefer to keep on working after you are 65, the monthly checks from the Government will begin coming to you whenever you decide to retire.

The Amount of Your Checks

"How much you will get when you are 65 years old will depend entirely on how much you earn in wages from your industrial or business employment between January 1, 1937, and your 65th birthday. A man or woman who gets good wages and has a steady job most of his or her life can get as much as $85 a month for life after age 65. The least you can get in monthly benefits, if you come under the law at all, is $10 a month.

If You Are Now Young

"Suppose you are making $25 a week and are young enough now to go on working for 40 years. If you make an average of $25 a week for 52 weeks in each year, your check when you are 65 years old will be $53 a month for the rest of your life. If you make $50 a week, you will get $74.50 a month for the rest of your life after age 65.

If You Are Now Middle-Aged

"But suppose you are about 55 years old now and have 10 years to work before you are 65. Suppose you make only $15 a week on the average. When you stop work at age 65 you will get a check for $19 each month for the rest of your life. If you make $25 a week for 10 years, you will get a little over $23 a month from the Government as long as you live after your 65th birthday.

If You Should Die Before Age 65

"If you should die before you begin to get your monthly checks, your family will get a payment in cash, amounting to three and one-half cents on every dollar of wages you have earned after 1936. If, for example, you should die at age 64, and if you had earned $25 a week for 10 years before that time, your family would receive $455. On the other hand, if you have not worked enough to get the regular monthly checks by the time you are 65, you will get a lump sum, or if you should die your family or estate would get a lump sum. The amount of this, too, will be three and one-half cents on every dollar of wages you earn after 1936.

Taxes

"The same law that provides these old-age benefits for you and other workers, sets up certain new taxes to be paid to the United States Government. These taxes are collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the U. S. Treasury Department, and inquiries concerning them should be addressed to that bureau. The law also creates an 'Old-Age Reserve Account' in the United States Treasury, and Congress is authorized to put into this reserve account each year enough money to provide for the monthly payments you and other workers are to receive when you are 65.

Your Part of the Tax

"The taxes called for in this law will be paid both by your employer and by you. For the next three years you will pay maybe 15 cents a week, maybe 25 cents a week, maybe 30 cents or more, according to what you earn. That is to say, during the next three years, beginning January 1, 1937, you will pay one cent for every dollar you earn, and at the same time your employer will pay one cent for every dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. Twenty-six million other workers and their employers will be paying at the same time.

"After the first three years—that is to say, beginning in 1940 — you will pay, and your employer will pay, one and one-half cents for each dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. This will be the tax for three years, and then, beginning in 1943, you will pay two cents, and so will your employer, for every dollar you earn for the next three years. After that, you and your employer will each pay half a cent more for three years, and finally, beginning in 1949, twelve years from now, you and your employer will each pay three cents on each dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. That is the most you will ever pay.

Your Employer's Part of the Tax

"The Government will collect both of these taxes from your employer. Your part of the tax will be taken out of your pay. The Government will collect from your employer an equal amount out of his own funds.

"This will go on just the same if you go to work for another employer, so long as you work in a factory, ship, mine, mill, office, store, or other such place of business. (Wages earned in employment as farm workers, domestic workers in private homes, Government workers, and on a few other kinds of jobs are not subject to this tax.)

Old-Age Reserve Account

"Meanwhile, the Old-Age Reserve fund in the United States Treasury is drawing interest, and the Government guarantees it will never earn less than three per cent. This means that three cents will be added to every dollar in the fund each year.

"Maybe your employer has an old-age pension plan for his employes. If so, the Government's old-age benefit plan will not have to interfere with that. The employer can fit his plan into the Government plan.

"What you get from the Government plan will always be more than you have paid in taxes and usually more than you can get for yourself by putting away the same amount of money each week in some other way.

"Note—'Wages' and 'employment' wherever used in the foregoing mean wages and employment as defined in the Social Security Act."

Additional information can be secured from the Regional Office of the Social Security Board, 501 Bulkley Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

This country will recover, no matter who wins the argument about the gold standard.

PLAN POSTER CONTEST TO BOLSTER POTATOES

One Hundred Dollars in Prizes Offered for Best Poster

Statewide interest in stimulating more consumption within the state of Michigan grown potatoes is being aided by the announcement of a poster contest open to any student in the ninth, tenth, eleventh or twelfth grades of the Michigan public schools for use in connection with Michigan Potato Week to be centered in Detroit, December 1, 2 and 3.

As well as consumer demand, the purpose is to promote the production, grading and marketing of better potatoes. The Michigan Quality Potato Association is cooperating with Michigan State College and the Michigan State Department of Agriculture, the Detroit Board of Trade and hotel and restaurant associations.

One hundred dollars in prizes is offered, with a first prize of $25 and 24 other smaller awards. Posters must be mailed with postage prepaid on or before November 25 to H. C. Moore, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

The size must be 14 by 22 inches, on three or four ply cardboard stiff enough to stand erect. Poster paints of not more than three colors, with black or white to be considered a color, are other rules. Flat colors and simple designs will have the best chance, Moore explains. Slogans should not be of more than six words and should be illustrated in the posters. Ideas, attractiveness and neatness will count most in judging. Student's name, address and name of school must be placed on the back of the poster in the upper right hand corner.

Posters which win or receive honorable mention become the property of the quality potato association. Others will be returned if an addressed label and postage is enclosed with entries for return postage. During the Detroit exhibit a state potato queen will be crowned from among the three winners at the sectional shows at Iron River, Kalkaska and Mayville.

A total of 503 persons will have no legal right to hunt deer during the 16-day open season begining Nov. 15 because state law forbids the issuance of licenses to those who have violated the deer laws or killed or wounded another hunter in the woods.

Many of these hunters must remain without deer-hunting privileges not only for this year, but for the next two, three, four, or five years.

OBITUARY

The already thinned ranks of romantic figures of the old school of mariners, who went down to the sea in ships known as the wind-jammers, was further attenuated by the death of Capt. Charles C. Allers at 12:30 p. m., Saturday, October 31, in his 88th year.

He was one of the few remaining pioneers whose activities were identified with the early marine industries on the lakes. He had served long in his chosen profession and was considered one of the foremost vessel men on the lakes. He was a man of character and ability, strong and true to his own convictions. His unquestioned integrity, his sincere honesty stood him in good stead, and which served as a safe anchor to windward upon which he could depend. He had all the qualities of a good respectable citizen, and was never known to be involved in any serious trouble. Generous and helpful to those who needed assistance and was regarded highly by all his neighbors. In politics he was a Socialist, n champion of the plain people and an ardent advocate of social justice. However, his political views did not disqualify him from being the choice of the electors for various offices in a township where Republicans and Democrats predominated.

Born in Hanover, Germany, May 30, 1848, he was early inducted into the life of a sailor. At the age of 12 he made a voyage with his father who was master and owner of a sailing vessel that plied between Germany and Holland. This was the beginning of his life on the ocean, and before he attained his majority, he had made several voyages to India, China and Japan. He also sailed around stormy Cape Horn, going north as far as San Francisco.

Prior to 1872 his main activities were confined to sailing vessels only. In the fall of the above year, he decided to try his luck on a steamship; accordingly on December 12 he shipped on an auxiliary ship from Liverpool bound for Boston, which port they expected to reach a few days before Christmas. This trip proved to be one of the most harrowing and nerve-wracking voyages he had ever experienced. Two days after sailing from Liverpool, a northeast wind and hail storm struck them, turning to snow and zero weather by nightfall. For eight or ten days they were buffeted about by the storm and when it abated their ship was in a sorry state. To use his own words, she presented the appearance of an iceberg, rather than a ship. Five of the six lifeboats were carried away, and a considerable portion of the superstructure was badly damaged. They were forced to run into Halifax for repairs. Twenty-nine seamen out of 53 on board were taken to the hospital with broken arms and legs, and more or less frost-bitten. They finally reached Boston, but not until after the New Year.

The spring of 1873 found him in Buffalo, N. Y., where he shipped on a schooner bound for Chicago. From Chicago he went across the lake to South Haven, and from then on until 1904 he was identified with the lake shipping interests out of that port, being master and owner of two or three small schooners. In the spring of 1904 he took up his residence on Beaver Island where, for the past 30 years, he and his excellent wife enjoyed the fruits of his well earned retirement.

In the summer of 1875, while acting as mate on the schooner Marvin Hannas, Capt. Allers first visited Beaver Island harbor. This schooner carried a cargo of sawmill machinery for George C. Sweet, who had extensive timber holdings on the island. Afterward, on commenting upon his first visit to the island, Capt. Allers spoke in glowing terms of the harbor. He claimed that it had the advantage of other harbors on account of its excellent anchorage.

In June, 1874, he was united in marriage with Mary Curtis, of South Haven, and from this union ten children were born: P. C. Allers, H. W. Allers and Mrs. A. J. Gallagher, of South Haven; Mrs. John Fiendt, of Kalamazoo; Capt. Charles C. Allers, of Traverse City; Leroy Allers, of Charlevoix; Mrs. Erwin Belfy, of Garden; Mrs. Gus Mielke, Mrs. H. R. Pischner and Mrs. J. H. Gallagher, of St. James. Besides the above children, he is survived by his widow, 42 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren. The remains were taken to South Haven for burial.

STATE OF MIND

Geographically, of course, you can live in but one state at a time; mentally, however, you can choose between the states of calmness and poise, anger and resentment, security and industry, idleness and worry, and a host of other conditions. Just as you can move from one state to another, so you can move from one state of mind to another. The "mental move" may be more difficult, but it brings greater happiness, if in the better direction. — Birmingham Eccentric.

POTATO AND APPLE SHOW FINE EVENT

EXHIBITORS SHARED $200 GIVEN AS PRIZE MONEY

Over One Hundred Persons Enjoyed Banquet and Program—Premium Winners Are Listed

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The Antrim-Charlevoix Potato and Apple Show held in the East Jordan High school Saturday, October 31, proved to be a success from every angle.

In spite of the fact that it rained all afternoon and evening, and the road conditions were terrible, 125 folk attended the banquet and enjoyed a wonderful program. The weather conditions were such that it was very difficult to obtain good show stock, but nevertheless the quality was way above average, especially in the 4-H Club and Smith-Hughes competition. In the 4-H Club department alone there were 34 club exhibits. In the Smith-Hughes division, 10. If there is anything worth while in a show of this kind, it is the encouragement and development given the young boys, and they certainly do respond.

The apple department attracted considerable interest. The exhibitors this year did not have the quantity, but concentrated on fewer displays, all of which made the exhibition one of the very best held anywhere in the state.

Not to be outdone, the program with such headliners as Prof. H. C. Moore, potato specialist, and H. D. Hootman, horticultural specialist, from the Michigan State College, in addition to entertainment features afforded the audience with as nicely balanced a program as one could wish. The program was ably handled by H. A. Riley, of Bellaire, as toastmaster, and included an address of welcome by Mayor Kit Carson, of East Jordan, a monologue by Charles Shepard, of East Jordan, several numbers by the 4-H Club orchestra of the Hopyard school, and a discussion by C. W. Wing, of Alba, on the new soil conservation program. As the last number, Kenneth Ousterhout, county agent of Antrim county, announced the winners of the show and paid out in cash many of the premiums.

Following is a list of the premium winners in the various classes: Russet Rural pecks—Clinton Blanchard 1, Lewis McDonald 2, Sam Houtman 3. Any other late varlety—Mrs. Ed. Kowalski 1, Harry Behling 2, Henry J. Korthase 3. In the early varieties—Harry Behling 1. 100 pounds table stock samples—Henry Korthase 1. Beginners' class—Romeyn Walker 1. Smith-Hughes department Russet Rural—Cardell Nice 1, James Gaylord 2, Luther Reffit 3, Matt Mance 4. Smith-Hughes department other varieties—Cardell Nice 1, Elston Penfold 2. 4-H Club and Smith-Hughes beans—Bob Straw 1, Clare McGhan 2, Melvin Somerville 3. 4-H Club and Smith-Hughes corn—Leonard Evers 1, Albert Routley 2, Vernon Cook 3. Waring 1, Fred Andrews 2, Douglas Tibbits 3; best apple, any variety—Douglas Tibbits.

We are greatly indebted to East Jordan for the use of the high school, to the Methodist Ladies' Aid Society, who so ably put on the banquet, to Russell Eggert and his FFA boys, who unselfishly donated their time, and to the cooperative associations within the two counties for their financial support.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL SUSPENDS PUBLICATION

Oldest Newspaper North of Traverse City, An Early Local Industry

The Charlevoix Sentinel, one of Charlevoix's earliest industries and the oldest newspaper north of Traverse City, suspended publication last week after 56 years of continuous service.

Founded by the late Willard A. Smith and continued following his death by the late Ira A. Adams, the Sentinel had been operated since January 1, 1936, by Shirley B. Henry, who has left to take a position with the Hastings Banner, at Hastings, Mich.

Under the management of Willard A. Smith, the Sentinel played an important and vital role in the development of Charlevoix in the city's earlier years.

SEEK COOPERATION OF DEER HUNTERS

REPORT TAGGED DEER, OVERBROWSED AREAS THIS FALL

Advise on Subjects Pertaining to Hunting Outlined in Conservation Department Bulletin

Two things for deer hunters to watch out for, besides avoiding gun accidents, getting lost in the woods, carrying loaded guns in the car, and killing illegal game, are included by staff men of the Department of Conservation in their annual word of advice to those who go north to bag a buck.

1. Report any evidence of overbrowsing observed in your hunting area. 'Browse-lines in early or well-advanced stages are indications that deer food supplies are being depleted.

2. Report the shooting of buck deer that have an aluminum tag in one ear. All these reports may be made to the conservation officer, district or regional headquarters in the area or directly to the Lansing office.

Game men of the department want all available information on overbrowsed deer yards this winter and reports of heavy browsing in any yard will be checked and will prove helpful to the department. The numbered tags in the ears of buck deer, several score of which have been tagged, help show how far the deer have moved away from the yards by the hunting season.

Conservation men advise hunters to "take it easy" if they get lost in the woods. The early sensations of fear or panic should be suppressed as quickly as possible, they say. If the hunter is hopelessly mixed up in the woods with night falling and a gun shot fails to bring an answering signal, it would be better for the individual to bed down where he is under a leanto with a campfire, than to strike out in the dark. Searching groups may come out in time and no one can be lost long if he stays in one place and sends up a smoke.

If there is plenty of daylight left, the lost hunter should try to reckon his position as best he can and then start out in a leisurely gait to conserve his energies. He may find a fire tower, a telephone line or a fireline truck trail which will lead him in time to other hunters or a hunting camp.

City men not as experienced in the woods as resident hunters, commonly get panicky when lost, especially late in the day. The lost hunter who puts down the early sensations of alarm and fright, is already on the way to solving his predicament. Aimless crashing through brush and heavy cover may be a futile waste of time and energy.

Being lost in the woods, agree conservation men, should mean no more than a few hours or a night away from camp, since modern conservation organization has the facilities of well-trained officers, radio and even an airplane to help in grave emergencies, when searching groups of other hunters fail to do the job.

While hazards to human life are lower in ratio to the number of hunters afield than during the small game season, authorities again warn hunters to be careful with firearms and when shooting. Last year three hunters were killed in shooting accidents.

PREACHING MISSION PLAN IS OUTLINED

COUNTY-WIDE SERVICE BEGINS SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 15

Services in Charlevoix Churches to Be Held from Sunday to Friday, Inclusive—Name Speakers

The ministers and churches of Charlevoix county, in their effort to carry out the suggestions of the leaders of the National Preaching Mission held earlier this fall at Detroit, will conduct a county-wide mission to begin Sunday, November 15.

The ministers of the county will do their own preaching, rather than having outside speakers come in. The missions will be held in Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix, and each city will be responsible for its program.

The services will be held in the Baptist, Methodist and Congregational churches, these having been selected because they are centrally located. Services will be held in the order named for two evenings in each church. The following program will be undertaken by the Charlevoix churches:

Baptist church, Sunday and Monday: Sunday speaker, Baptist state secretary; Monday speaker, Rev. C. W. Sidebotham.

Methodist church: Tuesday speaker, Rev. W. A. Eley; Wednesday speaker, Rev. Calhoun.

Congregational church: Thursday speaker, Rev. Guy Smock; Friday speaker, Rev. Bailey.

Everyone interested in the spiritual betterment of the community is not only invited to cooperate, but faces an opportunity for real service in the support of these services. Because the service is not being held in one's church should not be used as an excuse for non-attendance. This is an effort in which Christian people are urged to forget denominational lines and work for the good of the Kingdom of God and the welfare of the community.

STATE TRYING AGAIN PROPAGATE GRAYLING

Ford Lake, Located in Pigeon State Forest, Used for Experiment

Ford Lake, one of the pot-hole lakes in the Pigeon River state forest area northeast of Gaylord, has been selected by fisheries men for an experimental planting of Montana grayling from Wolf Lake hatchery near Kalamazoo.

The lake is one of several in the area that have uniformly cold water temperatures and is believed well suited to grayling. All other species of fish have been removed from the lake. Since the grayling is protected by law the year around, signs will be posted forbidding fishing in the lake.

The planting is to be made under direction of the Institute for Fisheries Research, staff of which will watch the results closely. Montana grayling are so closely related to the native Michigan species, now virtually extinct, that there is much controversy among authorities as to the presence of distinguishing characteristics.

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE NOW ON

CAMPAIGN IN COUNTY STARTED WEDNESDAY MORNING

Local Headquarters at Charlevoix Insurance Agency—County Organization Is Now Complete

Wednesday, November 11, Armistice Day, marked the opening of the annual Red Cross roll call drive in Charlevoix county.

From that date until Thursday, November 26, Red Cross volunteers will give their time to solicit funds for this great organization which meets disasters in their many forms throughout the world.

Charlevoix county has been very fortunate in having a real live organization, and this year will be no exception. C. B. Meggison, county chairman, and Charles Hamlin, county roll call chairman, are heading the work. Cooperating with them as chairmen of the cities of the county are Miss Caroline Geiken, Boyne City; Mrs. Kit Carson, East Jordan, and Mrs. E. J. Edwards, Charlevoix. This leadership, together with a host of sub-chairmen and workers, makes up the Charlevoix county organization for the 1936 drive.

Mrs. R. F. Sloan, treasurer of the county organization, has given a report on the finances of the past year. Her report shows a balance of $163.42 on hand October 24, 1935. Collections during last year's campaign were $441.10, making a total available of $604.52. Expenditures were listed as follows: For flood relief, quota $65, subscribed $79.57; for home service, $114.22; for medical service, $53.11; for National Red Cross, $155.82; for miscellaneous expense, $10.50. The county organization begins its 1936 drive with a balance of $285.44 on hand, and no outstanding accounts.

Charlevoix headquarters for the Red Cross drive have been established at the office of the Charlevoix Insurance Agency. Memberships from the business district and from all others who care to enroll there, will be received at this office. The minimum membership is $1, of which 50 cents is retained by the county chapter, and 50 cents goes to the national organization.

The cooperation of the public is urged for this worthy effort.

COMMERCIAL NETTING OPENS AGAIN SUNDAY

Ban Lifts on Mackinaw Trout; Whitefish Closed Until December 15

Local commercial fishermen are preparing for the reopening of the netting season on Mackinaw trout on Sunday, November 15, following an enforced lay-up since October 20.

With the season closed not only on trout, but also on whitefish and chubs, most fishermen have utilized the vacation period to get their gear in readiness for the opening date.

The favorite spawning grounds will carry the brunt of first netting operations Sunday. The whitefish season in Lake Michigan remains closed until December 15.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLOSING ABANDONED UNTIL AFTER HOLIDAYS

Through mutual agreement of Charlevoix merchants, the plan of closing on Thursday afternoons which has been in effect for several weeks, will be discontinued until after the holidays.

The action was taken in view of the approaching holiday season and, whether or not the closing will be observed again after January 1, is a matter yet undecided.

COMMERCE BOARD MEETING THURSDAY

MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS WERE UNDER DISCUSSION

Regulation Municipal Docks Topic Given Consideration—Directors Urge Public Attend Meetings

About a dozen business men of Charlevoix met at the council chambers, last Thursday evening, to discuss matters of present and future interest to the community with the board of directors of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce.

The call went out for a general public meeting and the directors were somewhat disappointed that the attendance was so small. However, a number of important matters were discussed pro and con and some valuable ideas were evolved.

Among the principal matters that were discussed were the regulation of the use of the municipal slips on Round Lake to prevent their use for commercial purposes and their preemption during the summer by the craft of Charlevoix owners; getting the steamer, "J. B. John" and the conservation department Patrol Boat No. 1 to dock in here during the winter months; opening the Charlevoix hatchery; free picture shows on Saturday afternoons, in connection with special sales at stores; the scenic drive on South Point and resumption of the work on it; the extension north over a new route of U. S. Highway No. 31; further efforts to secure a state park between Charlevoix and Norwood; developing business from the Torch Lake and Norwood districts; cooperative advertising plans for the community.

The board of directors is anxious to acquaint the public with the fact that its sessions are not "star chamber" proceedings, but are open to any person or persons who are interested in the work of the Board of Commerce and care to attend. Another open meeting, advertised as such, will be held next month, but the public is cordially invited to attend the regular directors' meetings each week, if they so desire.

NETS VALUED AT THOUSAND DOLLARS SEIZED

Capt. Allers Reports Closed Season Violation Off Manistique

Arriving in port here early Monday, Capt. Charles Allers, commander of Michigan Patrol Boat No. 1, reported seizure of 24 boxes of 4½-inch mesh nets and one and one-half tons of lake trout.

The seizure was made on the west shore of Lake Michigan off Manistique. The nets, set in violation of the closed season on lake trout, were valued at $1,000. The fish, it is understood, will be distributed to welfare agencies.

BIG GAME HUNTERS AWAIT NOVEMBER 15

SEASON OPENS SUNDAY WITH ENLARGED TERRITORY

State Expects to Sell Over 100,000 Licenses for Deer and Bear—Regulations Are Unchanged

Unless all signs fail Michigan deer hunters will have the best season they have experienced in many years. The Conservation Department reports that there are plenty of buck deer to hunt and that bear are to be found in fair numbers all through the deer covers. Licensed hunters, who pay a fee of $2.25, will be forced to wear a large cloth license tag on the backs of their hunting coats for the first time in our history. This is being done so that they may be easily identified from a distance by any conservation officer.

The tag system has been used in the East for a number of years and has proven a success in keeping down hunting law violations. The tag is furnished every deer hunter by the State when a license is purchased.

The State is prepared to take care of a greatly increased army of big game hunters this year. The officials have ordered 130,000 sets of license blanks, seals and tags, which is 40,000 more than were sold last year. The expected increase in hunters is due to the opening of 12 additional counties in Lower Michigan to deer hunting. These counties have been closed for a number of years past and are said to have a heavy concentration of deer. With one exception, Leelanau county at the extreme tip of Northwestern Michigan, every county in the Upper Peninsula and all those lying above a line drawn west from Bay county through Muskegon county are open to deer and bear hunting this fall. The southern boundary line is M-46 running east from Muskegon to its junction with M-37, then following this highway to where it joins No. 510, then to the junction with U. S. U-31, north from there to M-46 again and then east to M-47 straight through to Saginaw Bay. This takes in a little over half of Muskegon county.

Latest reports indicate that the woods are pretty well populated with deer and that the ratio of does to bucks is about four to one. This should mean good hunting provided weather conditions fit into the picture. Mild days and no snow will prove a drawback if they should persist, but the weather sages of the north look for cold days and tracking snow. However, your guess is as good as theirs on the weather.

The same hunting regulations persist this year as in 1935. Each hunter is allowed one buck deer with antlers three inches or over and one bear and each camp of four or more, one extra deer for camp purposes. Non-residents are charged $25 and the camp permit, which can be secured from any conservation officer costs $3. The season opens Sunday, November 1, and runs through November 30.

Upper Peninsula hunters are warned to look out for moose for a number have been liberated above the Straits and they should not be mistaken for deer. Moose are protected. In the Lower Peninsula, throughout the northeastern section, many elk will be found roaming the hardwoods and these should not be shot in mistake for buck deer.

If hunters happen to lose their cloth tag or have them torn from their hunting coats and are unable to find them they should report to the nearest conservation officer and secure another one. Hunters found without this tag displayed conspicuously will be arrested, so officials say.

We keep on fooling ourselves long after we have ceased to fool others.

PROCLAMATION

A proclamation urging Michigan citizens to subscribe to the annual Red Cross roll call November 11 to 18 was issued by Governor Fitzgerald Friday.

"A roll call will be made in an effort to maintain full membership strength of five million and should be responded to by people in every walk of life," the proclamation read in part. "This will furnish citizens with an opportunity to do their part in the promotion and maintenance of that great agency which has served our people so well in the past and will, if properly supported, serve us adequately in the future."

November is here,
It's nearly a new year.
Then we will go hunting
After our deer.

And they never will return.
My mother is twisting

And it feels quite freezy.
Into the house we go
And make the fire aglow.

The stars are shining, oh so bright,
And the moon is shining, too.
The owls are hooting
Too - too - too!

Upward and down,
O'er the fields we go,
The rabbits are ahead,
For the dogs are too slow.

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY IN STATE LEGISLATURE

Sixty Members in House and Seventeen in Senate Assured

Governor-elect Frank Murphy will have the support of a Democratic majority of law-makers when he takes over the reins of state government January 1, according to returns from legislative races received at the Capitol.

The House of Representatives will include 60 Democrats and 40 Republicans, while incomplete returns indicate there will be 17 Democrats and 15 Republicans in the State Senate.

At the close of the last session, there were 50 Republicans and 49 Democrats in the House, and 21 Republicans and 11 Democrats in the Senate.

Clerk Myles F. Gray, of the House, and Secretary Fred I. Chase, of the Senate, compiled returns from legislative districts throughout Michigan.

Republican state representatives who failed to win re-election includes such stalwarts as James G. Frey, party leader, from Battle Creek; Fred J. Houseman, of Albion; Haskett L. Nichols, of Jackson; Joseph A. Long, of Milford, and Walter F. Remer, of Saginaw. William Green, of Hillman, is another Republican incumbent who was defeated.

The race for seats in the Senate found three Republican incumbents, Joseph A. Baldwin, of Albion; Gerald J. Cotter, of Mt. Pleasant, and Adolph F. Heidkamp, of Lake Linden, trailing their Democratic opponents by seemingly futile margins.

LUECKE WINS ELECTION TO CONGRESS

Democratic State Senator Defeated Rushton by Over 5,000 Margin

John Luecke, Escanaba paper mill worker and Democratic candidate for representative in Congress from the 11th district, today emerged as a clear cut victor in his race with Herbert J. Rushton, fellow townsman.

With six precincts missing in the 16 counties of the district, the totals were: Luecke, 43,646; Rushton, 38,278; a majority of 5,366. Five precincts in Kalkaska county and one in Montmorency were missing.

The totals by counties are:

County	Luecke	Rushton
Alger	2,446	1,443
Alpena	2,912	3,622
Antrim	1,779	2,467
Charlevoix	2,250	2,953
Cheboygan	2,977	2,581
Chippewa	4,638	4,988
Delta	8,241	4,745
Emmet	2,931	2,962
Kalkaska	255	273
Luce	952	1,257
Mackinac	2,099	1,776
Menominee	6,032	3,989
Montmorency	577	776
Otsego	1,044	1,167
Presque Isle	2,468	1,759
Schoolcraft	2,045	1,520
	43,646	38,278

Delta county, the home territory of both candidates, went heavily Democratic and gave Luecke a large part of his majority.

CERTAIN CONDITIONS GOVERNING CAMP DEER

Hunter Must Use Quarter of Deer and Not Destroy Sex Identity

Buck deer legally shot under "camp deer permits," during the open deer season this month may be brought home only under certain conditions, according to authorities of the Conservation Department.

The purpose of camp deer permits is to allow hunting groups venison meals in camp, so that personal deer trophies may be taken home intact. A portion of the camp deer, therefore, must have been consumed in camp to indicate good faith on the part of the hunters.

"If only one quarter of the deer has been removed for camp use before the start home is begun and as long as the carcass has the required antler tag and its sex identity has not been impaired, the deer may be legally brought home," said H. R. Sayre, chief of conservation law enforcement. "The law forbids destroying the sex identity of deer before shipment or transfer home."

HUNDREDS VIEWED THE NEW 1937 CHEVROLET ON DISPLAY SATURDAY

Chevrolet's new cars for 1937 made their local bow Saturday at the Charlevoix Oil Co. salesroom, where several hundred persons inspected the new product.

Chevrolet's new passenger cars for 1937, comprising two new series of six models each, were introduced with public showings throughout the United States. The two series, known respectively as the Master and Master De Luxe, are identical except for front spring suspension, rear axle and steering gear ratios, and accessories and trim.

On the Master De Luxe models, knee action, formerly optional at extra cost, is not only continued as a major feature, but furnished at no extra cost. Master models are available with semi-elliptic front springs only. All models of both series have safety plate glass all around at no additional charge.

Although the cars are described as new from bumper to bumper, the change most obvious outwardly has to do with body lines. A new treatment, described as "diamond crown speedline styling," represents a distinct departure in design, and produces an impression of added fleetness and grace. The change, however, goes deeper than appearance, for the bodies are entirely new. They introduce unisteel construction, in which solid steel turret top, steel side panels, steel double cowl, and steel floor are welded together to form a permanently silent unit. Even the doors are all of steel.

The bodies are mounted on a chassis which is also new, with the new six-cylinder high-compression valve-in-head engine developing 85 horsepower, new box-girder chassis frame combining rigidity and lightness, and hypoid rear axle drive gears.

HABIT

If the young growing up could know the power of habit, if they could know how quickly threads of silk become chains of iron, they would give scrutiny to every thought, to every gesture and deed. For a habit remains to the end of life, either to annoy or bless us.

As the young cannot realize the dictatorship of habit, adults who do know should restrain, guide and compel children to form right habits.

The child should not be allowed to grow lax. If he is trained to pick up his playthings and his clothes he will grow to be orderly. If he is trained in the doing of small, unpleasant duties, he will grow up to a life of accomplishment. If he is taught to think of others he will not leave behind him a trail of misery and unhappiness. If he learns to save pennies when young he will save dollars when he is older. If we do not think out every difficult problem for our children they will grow in independence, and originality. If we teach them to look for beauty they will never have to see it through the eyes of another.

These little tiny nerve-, running like cobwebs through a child's body, can be welded into golden cables over which he will travel in a life of usefulness to an old age of happiness.

THE SOYBEAN

A hundred years ago the soybean was brought to this country. For centuries it has been used as a food by the Chinese, but in the United States it was treated as a novelty plant and was not cultivated as a field crop for many years. Last year, however, the income from the soybean crop was $35,000,000.

First in the ranks of those who experimented and developed the soybean is Henry Ford. He recently built a $5,000,000 soybean processing plant at River Rouge, and uses the product of 60,000 acres of soybean in the manufacture of Ford cars. The oil yields glycerine used for shock-absorbers, and enamel for finishes. The meal is converted into horn buttons, gear-shift knobs, window-trims and distributor cases.

As a good, soybeans are taking an important place. The bean is converted into cheese, soup, butter, salad oil, macaroni, breakfast food and milk (from grinding the beans in water.) It can be made into bread and bakers are anticipating great sales for it. Soybeans are ideal for diabetics because they contain very little sugar and no starch. There has been a great increase in the consumption of soybean oil used in vegetable shortenings and other lard substitutes.

After the oil is extracted the meal can be fed to livestock. Silage made from soy plants mixed with cornstalks produces more milk, more meat than straight corn silage. A green crop of soy plants plowed under will often increase the yield of wheat six bushels per acre.

Experimentation and the development of this "little honorable plant" as the Chinese call it, has indeed yielded gratifying results.—Statistics from Time.

AMERICAN LEGION ACTIVITIES

Leslie T. Shapton Post turned out last Tuesday evening, 33 strong, to enjoy one of the best and most enjoyable affairs that has been held by the post in a long time.

After the business meeting, refreshments and entertainment of a high order were furnished by Mr. Ellis of the WLS radio barn dance east and George Ross. Mr. Ellis, who is the guest of Willis Kerns, at The Argonne, is an expert on the guitar and sings a large repertoire of radio favorites. George Ross, old time fiddler, needs no introduction. Comrade Hamlin did his bit with a snappy clog dance, and several guitar numbers rendered in professional style.

The membership committee reported 51 paid members and the prizes for the winning membership card numbers were given out to Comrades Meggison, Renwick and Fagan, winners respectively of the first, second and third prizes. These gentlemen are hereby notified that they must be present at the next meeting of the post in order to collect their prize money, or it will be turned over to the welfare fund.

Three delegates to the Charlevoix County Veterans' Council were elected. Comrades Tyler and Douglas Nettleton were reelected to the council and Sam King is the new member. Commander Allard and Commander Goss hold over by law. Meetings are the first Thursday in each month at one of the three towns of the county, when alternately. The next meeting is at East Jordan on December 3.

BASKETBALL TRAINING SEASON IS UNDER WAY

Basketball practice, which opened last week, is occupying the attention of Coach Ray Kipke and a large group of aspirants for positions in the 1936-37 Charlevoix school team.

Charlevoix's court season will open here December 4, a week later than last year, when Traverse City comes for the first of a home-and-home series. The schedule signed calls for 14 games, including a double-header, seven of them at home.

PLAN ELIMINATE FANCY LICENSES

MAY ABOLISH LOW NUMBERS ON AUTO PLATES

New Democratic Plan Includes Proposal to Issue Licenses by C. O. D. Mail Order

Plans to abolish low-number automobile license plates because "they are not in line with Democratic ideals" have been revealed by Speaker George A. Schroeder of Detroit, D.

Elimination of the low numbers and sale of license plates by C. O. D. mail may be included in the program which the legislative council will propose in hope of less than a 90-day session, according to Schroeder who is speaker of the state House of Representatives and chairman of the council.

"I have already discussed two subjects with Senator Case (Secretary of State-elect Leon Case, of Watervliet, D.)," Schroeder said. "One is the complete elimination of low-number and special license plates because they are not in line with Democratic ideals and thoughts. The other is a proposal to issue licenses by mail, C. O. D."

Schroeder explained that an attempt may be made to recall low-number licenses already issued. He claimed the mail order method would avoid a last minute rush and standing in line at a cost to car owners of about 25 cents for the C. O. D. fee.

Republican Secretary of State Orville E. Atwood has increased the supply of low license plates in an attempt to meet the demand by adding unusual combinations.

Last year he introduced "O" and "OO" after letters, producing such combinations as "NO," "KO" and "MOO," and this year he has a series with numbers from 1 to 12 before letters making possible plates with "IF," "IS," "IZ," and even "IOU."

Shorten Session

"It is my belief that the legislative session next year can be shortened to even less than 90 days with careful planning," Schroeder said.

Electrical voting, for which equipment is now being installed in the House of Representatives, will avoid tedious verbal roll calls on important issues and is also expected to shorten the session.

Schroeder said he will call a meeting of the legislative council "soon" to draft a proposed program of laws. Newly elected Democratic state officials and Governor Fitzgerald and other retiring Republican officials will be invited to present their opinions, according to Schroeder.

NEW 1937 FORD CAR SHOWING ON SATURDAY

Many New Features Incorporated in Models for Next Year

A new Ford V-8 for 1937, presenting definite advances in modern streamlined styling, and powered either with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine now in use in more than 3,000,000 motor cars, or a brand new 60 horsepower V-8 "economy" engine, which is a smaller counterpart of its elder brother, is announced by the Ford Motor Company.

Disclosure of the new lighter "economy" 60 horsepower engine as an optional power plant for the new Ford V-8 for 1937 will set at rest definitely rumors of a new "baby" Ford which have been circulated in the automobile industry for the past several years.

The new cars present many outstanding features, principal among which are:

New cable-and-conduit control "soft easy action" brakes; new body lines in which the "tear drop" form has been used wherever practicable; all-steel body, including all-steel top, as well as steel structure, steel panels and all-steel floor; improved "finger-tip" steering, with increased leverage.

Starter button is on the dash, the hand brake at the left under the panel, out of the way of front seat passengers.

From a mechanical standpoint the most important development is the 60 horsepower V-8 engine. It has been a success in England and France for more than a year. The engine is developed primarily to give maximum fuel economy. A car equipped with the engine has a top speed of 70 miles an hour.

The motor and body are rubber mounted. There is no metal-to-metal contact.

The new 1937 Ford will be shown Saturday, November 14, at the Northern Auto Co.

DEATH TAKES BELOVED NORWOOD LADY SUNDAY

Mrs. Charles Greeley Succumbed Following Illness of Eight Months

Citizens of Norwood and vicinity were saddened Sunday by the death of Mrs. Charles Greeley, who died following an illness of eight months.

Lottie Alward was born on the old home farm near Lakeville, Ind., December 4, 1878, and, with her parents and other relatives, moved to Michigan. On June 22, 1897, she was united in marriage to Charles Greeley, of Ogdenburg, N. Y. To this union were born two children, Mrs. Doris Genett, who died in 1926, and Mrs. Florence Ypma, of Charlevoix.

Besides her husband and daughter, she leaves to mourn their loss three grandchildren, Charles Greeley, Jerry Ypma and Enid Genett; two sisters, Mrs. Albert Parsons, of Ellsworth, and Mrs. Clarence Boomstra, of Grand Rapids; four brothers, William, Sam and Russell Alward, of Norwood, and Isaiah Alward, of Atwood.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Peter Ypma, of Grand Rapids, at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the Norwood Methodist church. Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mrs. Greeley was a loving wife, a kind mother and friend to all who knew her. She will be greatly missed in Norwood, where she and her family have always resided.

CHEVROLET INCREASING CAR PRODUCTION

Schedule to Be 6,000 Units Daily to Meet 1937 Model Demand

Production schedules on the new Chevrolet for 1937 have been stepped up sharply in order to meet a nation-wide demand for the new car, officials revealed today.

More than 5,000 units are being built daily and schedules will be put up to 6,000 a day to meet requirements of pre-announcement orders now in dealers' hands.

Officials estimate that more than 75,000 cars will have been shipped to dealers in time for immediate delivery to buyers when the new car is formally announced to the public next Saturday, November 7.

CHARLES DICKENS CLUB ENJOYED A PROGRESSIVE LUNCHEON ON MONDAY

A diversion from the usual study hour was enjoyed Monday afternoon by the Charles Dickens Club in a "progressive luncheon."

The Club had been studying different countries and, as a feature of the luncheon, the various courses were planned and served in a manner appropriate and indicative of the countries.

Mrs. Clare Webster acted as hostess for the first course, and the Club was welcomed to Hawaii. A "welcome to Mexico" was located at the home of Mrs. Henry Partridge, where the second course was enjoyed, and a trip to "Alaska" ended with the dessert course at the home of Mrs. Harry Ladd.

The menu and decorations committee received high praise for their culinary and artistic ability in making the afternoon a most enjoyable one and one long to be remembered. A short business meeting was held, after which the Club closed in due form.

HATCHERIES PREPARING FOR LAKE TROUT SPAWN

Hatcheries in Northern Michigan are "all set" for the annual production of lake trout spawn soon to be collected by commercial fishermen from trout taken in their nets, after the closed season. State fisheries men expect that several million lake trout eggs will be obtained again this fall and turned over to the hatcheries for incubation. State law provides that commercial fishermen must save the spawn from all ripe spawning lake trout found in their nets.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT PREPARES FOR WINTER

Purchase Additional Snow Fence and Enlarge Information Service

The State Highway Department this week continued its preparations for the coming winter season with the announcement that 56 more miles of snow fence will be added to present supplies.

The new fence, according to State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, is to be used largely on the trunkline mileage in the snow belt added since last winter and also for replacement of a small amount of old equipment. In addition, snow fence will be added along trunkline sections where there was a deficiency last year.

Equipment to be purchased will be the same type as that now in use with wooden slats in which wire is woven. The fence and posts will be so constructed that the fence can be raised or lowered to the proper depth of the snow fall.

Snow fence used by the State Highway Department is a product of the Michigan prison industries. It is made at the branch prison at Marquette.

In addition to plans for increasing the snow-fence mileage, Commissioner Van Wagoner has announced other winter-season preparations. They include a broader information service on the condition of highways, the increase fo trucking and snow-plow equipment, and the placing of containers filled with sand at various places along the trunklines to permit truck operators to sand the roads during snow or ice storms.

HOMES REFLECT SAVINGS IN TIME

Women Are Making Science of Home Management; College Reveals

Wise homemakers are finding a better balance between homemaking and housekeeping according to reports that 2,693 women in Michigan hnve found means of making 41,193 changes in home management prnctices, says Miss Margaret Harris, assistant state home demonstration leader, Michigan State College.

Even the once tedious task of home soapmaking is being revived as a hobby of thrift, for the reports indicate that here and there in the state a total of 8,449 pounds of soap was made in homes in the lnst 12 months by women enrolled in home economics extension projects. Even other members of the family are being included in better use of time, for the women cooperators said that 2,178 improvements in home management were obtained with the assistance of other members of the fnmily.

Cleaning time was made ensier nnd more thrifty. Racks for shoes, shelves and poles for clothes and other articles in storage space totaled 4,628 pieces of equipment made and put into use. Demand for tie racks, hatstands and shoe holders and mothproof cabinets led to the purchase of 2,034 articles designed for handier and more attractive home life.

"Even legal aspects of home life were included in the studies," snys Miss Harris. "The meaning of abstracts, deeds and mortgages proved an eye opened to many who previously considered their business well managed but did not know essential details. In 782 cases, written records of debts, loans, property and insurance were prepared by women enrolled in the work."

Julia Pond and Helen Noyes, extension specialists, trnined 637 local leaders in 19 counties where some phase of the work eventually affected a total of 20,171 persons.

MINK SEASON OPENED ON NOVEMBER FIRST

Hunters Are Allowed to Shoot This Predator for Two Months

The mink, one of the lesser predators which does not spurn a meal of freshly killed rabbit when it can get it to vary a diet of mice, shrews and other similar species, may be shot from November 1 to January 31, inclusive.

Because of its relative scarcity and its value as a fur-bearer, state law provides a two-month open season for shooting this animal, but limits trapping of mink to about four weeks. At other times of the year mink have legal protection against hunting and trapping in view of their fur value. However, the mink does not offer a very large target and because of its elusiveness and its white winter coat it may not be readily shot, conservation men agree.

Trapping of mink is permitted only during the open trapping season on muskrats which runs from November 1 to November 30, inclusive, in the Upper Peninsula. In the Lower Peninsula, north of townline 16 and west of Saginaw Bay, mink may be trapped together with muskrats from November 15 to December 15, inclusive. South of that line the trapping of muskrats and mink is legal from December 1 to December 31, including the "Thumb" district.

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

The second Roosevelt landslide was of such proportions nationally that a new alignment of forces will be necessary four years from now if the United States is to continue with its traditional system of two-party government.

In Michigan the situation, while serious, does not have that aspect. The governor, the leader of the Republican Party in the state, was defeated by about 50,000 votes—not a great margin in a vote of 1,750,000. Thus there still remains in Michigan a great party of opposition. This fact should not only be of great hope to the members of the Republican Party, but it is a healthy condition of things for the state of Michigan.

In 1932 the Republican Party was buried under a similar landslide but had the vitality and courage to recover and win the state back in 1934. Now that it has suffered its second reverse in a presidential year it remains for the party to look ahead to the day in 1938 when these lost offices will be at stake again. What was done once can be done again.

The 1936 presidential election revolved upon President Roosevelt alone. Candidates chosen to assist him in doubtful states ran far behind him. His personal popularity swept into office many candidates whose defeat was freely predicted.

This was the case in Michigan. Frank Murphy was brought here to strengthen the Democratic ticket for Roosevelt—and he ran 250,000 votes behind the president. Would he have won if he had not had the tremendous popularity of Roosevelt behind him? Was President Roosevelt worth 50,000 votes to Frank Murphy? We think it was worth more than that and that without Roosevelt Murphy would have been defeated.

Two years from now Roosevelt will not be an issue in the campaign. Frank Murphy will be running against a Republican candidate again and he will be running on his own. There will be no special train with the magnetic figure of the President appearing next to the Democratic candidate for governor.

The Republican Party in Michigan, therefore, is not supporting a cause that must be forever lost. With 1938 in mind it must keep together its state organization and a nucleus in the counties so that when active campaigning begins there will remain something to start with. There are over 800,000 Republican voters who withstood the charm of Roosevelt and they are with the party through thick and thin.

The cause of Republicanism in Michigan remains a vital, living, and still strong force. If Republicans throughout the state, inclined to look now upon the blackest side of things, will remember 1932 and 1934 and turn from 1936 to 1938 they will see that as time goes on there comes the inevitable reaction to the party in power and the Republican Party will be the gainer.

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENTS COST OVER NINE MILLION

Record Amount Spent in Michigan During 1936 on Equipment

Michiga railroads this year spent more than $9,840,000, the largest amount in five years, in improving and expanding the state's railroad "plant," according to figures compiled by the Michigan Railroads Association.

Track operations formed a major item, new ties, rails and ballast and maintenance work costing $4,728,836. For bridge building and repairs and building repairs, additions and modernizing $2,631,138 was expended. More than 900 freight cars were added to the lines' rolling equipment and 3,500 freight cars were given major repairs or were rebuilt or equipped with special loading devices or safety features. November payrolls indicate an eight per cent increase in employment on Michigan railroads during the year, the association reports.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

Hearty soups help to make nourishing and inexpensive meals. Soup vegetables are particularly attractive in price at present including potatoes, onions, carrots, cabbage, celery and turnips. Fortunately the supply of canned tomatoes this year is not short so they may be used freely.

Beef, pork and eggs are somewhat higher but lamb, veal and poultry are comparatively steady.

Oranges are again plentiful and cheap along with grapefruit and apples. The cranberry season is on and there is no need to wait until Thanksgiving to enjoy cranberry sauce and pie.

Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

Low Cost Dinner

Boiled Smoked Pork Shoulder
Creamed Potatoes Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Apple Crisp
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Roast Beef Browned Potatoes
Green Beans
Bread and Butter

CARRIES BOY TO DEATH IN WATER

SEVEN YEAR OLD IS VICTIM OF RUNAWAY CAR

Machine Started When In Gear, Runs Amuck, Plunges Off Mason Street Dock Into Round Lake

Tragedy, displaying an almost uncanny fatality, shocked the community, Saturday morning, when a Ford coupe plunged into the waters of Round Lake carrying to his death, Charles, the seven-year-old son of John Krchak, Charlevoix rural resident.

The coupe—a late Model T—was parked in front of the A. & P. store on Bridge street, headed south. Emil Krchuk, 17 years old, had driven into town to do some shopping and left his little brother in the car while he went into the store. When he came out, at about 8 a. m., not noticing that the shift lever was in high gear, he cranked the car. The machine lurched forward, knocking Emil to one side, but the boy pluckily sprang to the running board making frantic efforts to open the door of the machine which was rapidly gathering speed. Whether the little fellow in the car touched the wheel or not cannot be known, but the vehicle turned down the hill to the dock at the foot of Mason street and shot over the edge into the water, which was deep enough to engulf it. Emil fell from the running board at the foot of the hill, suffering painful cuts and bruises that necessitated his later removal to the Charlevoix Hospital.

In response to an immediate call for help, Coastguardsmen Woods and Noonan from the local station speedily appeared at the scene of the accident, and the former dove down to the car. Woods says that he saw the boy still inside the car at this time, but repeated efforts to open the door or to break the glass proved fruitless. Noonan followed his companion, but with no more success.

By this time, the Coast Guard motor life boat and a skiff had appeared, under command of Captain Straubel. The barge belonging to the Sears Construction Company was brought up and an attempt made by means of chain and winch to bring the car to the surface. It was finally dragged around into shallower water between the first municipal slip and the city dock, where it was found that the door had opened and the body of the boy had floated out.

The men in the motor life boat and skiff and another row boat that had come up commenced to drag bottom a few yards off the end of the pier, but it was not until 11 a. m. that Coastguardsman Woods located the body of the unfortunate boy at the foot of the Mason street dock where the car had entered the water. In the meantime, the car had been secured to the barge and moved over to Jake White's marine railway, where it was readily brought to land.

Besides his parents, Charlie is survived by his brother Emil and two sisters. The funeral was held Tuesday at 2 p. m., from the farm residence, Rev. John W. Alexander, of the local M. E. church officiating. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

TRIAL DISCLOSES HOSPITAL ACCOUNTS SHORT

More Than $21,000 Gone, Accountant Reveals Before Court

Petoskey Hospital Tuesday was granted a $21,000 lien on the Par-4 Club following a hearing in circuit court before Judge Victor D. Sprague in which allegations of embezzlement were made.

The Par-4 Club is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Evick at the intersection of US-31 and M-131, northeast of the city. From the fall of 1931 until early in October of this year, Mrs. Evick was employed as bookkeeper at the Petoskey Hospital.

Elmer Beebe, accountant employed by the board of directors of the hospital to make an audit of the hospital books, declared an incomplete audit revealed shortages in the institution's accounts totalling $21,004.07.

RUSSELL-MILLER BAKING SCHOOL NOVEMBER 20

On account of the non-arrival of films to be shown in the Russell-Miller Milling Co. scheduled for Thursday, November 19, the baking demonstration was postponed until Friday afternoon of this week, at the Palace Theatre. An eight-reel talking picture, "Baking Made Easy," will be shown. The picture, shown in Boyne City last Monday, is reported especially good.

GAYLORD HOSPITAL WILL CLOSE ITS DOORS

Operation Expenses Prove Too Much for Local Doctor

The well known Gaylord Hospital, owned and operated by Dr. McKillop for the past nine years, will close its doors and go out of business just as soon as the patients that are in there now are able to leave.

Dr. McKillop, who has put so much of his time, energy and money into the institution, finds that he cannot carry the burden longer, and therefore will abandon the humanitarian project, and will devote his time hereafter to his own practice.

The doctor reluctantly comes to this conclusion, because he well knows what a splendid service such an institution can render a community and how necessary a hospital is, but the failure of the county and all other public agencies to help has thrown the entire burden upon himself.

BOYNE HUNTERS GET TWO BUCKS

CAR STRIKES DEER AS HUNTERS DEPART FOR CAMP

Freak Accidents and Strange Happenings Occur Daily During the Opening Days of Season

Three Boyne City hunters "got their buck" early Thursday morning within a few moments after they left their homes en route to the Upper Peninsula.

Atwood Sheaffer, Lewis McIntire and Grant Watts started out from Boyne City about 5:30 o'clock in the morning for their annual hunting trip at Seney. Nearing Walloon Lake, their car struck two young bucks, killing both and damaging the automobile.

The deer were given to a conservation officer as the three men returned to Boyne City to obtain another car and continue their trip.

A young buck deer ran across US-23 in front of an auto driven by Sid Godin on Sunday and plunged into a fence, breaking its neck. The deer was brought to Cheboygan by Godin and turned over to Conservation Officer C. S. Weber. As a result the residents of the county infirmary had a pre-season venison treat.

Evidence of a terrine combat between two bull elk of the Pigeon River herd have been reported by conservation officers. The officers found the carcass of one elk around which the ground was torn and scarred in all directions by the battle.

With Mrs. C. C. Wilson in their family car, were Mrs. Fenn Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Cook and daughter, bound for Southern Michigan points, last Saturday, states the Northport Leader. About nine miles south of Traverse City, on the Kingsley road, a large buck deer bounded out of the woods and landed directly in the path of the car before anyone became aware of his presence. The animal was being chased by two dogs. The impact did considerable damage to the front of the car, making it necessary to tow the car into Traverse City.

Northport Editor Gets His

Accidentally wounded by a rifle bullet in his office, Richard Baldwin, newspaper editor, of Northport, is recovering in a hospital today. His condition was reported "out of danger."

Baldwin, publisher of the Northport Record, was struck by a stray shot fired on a temporary rifle range adjacent to his office.

The editor was rushed to Atchison Hospital, suffering from a broken rib and loss of blood. His condition was thought to be serious at first, but doctors, after an examination, said his chances for recovery were good. They said the rib deflected the bullet from entering a lung.

STATE DISTRIBUTES MONEY TO SCHOOLS

The state of Michigan distributes $4,621,919.53 of tuition money to the various school districts this week. A statement of the amounts due each county was furnished to the Auditor General, John J. O'Hara, by the Department of Public Instruction. Mr. O'Hara states that the checks are being mailed to the county treasurers, and amount to $3.50 for each census child.

The state now pays all high school tuition up to $65 per pupil. The amount of tuition Charlevoix county received was $14,694.90.

Merchants' Bargain Day and Free Motion Picture

On page 7, this week, appears the cooperative advertisement of Charlevoix merchants. Commencing Saturday, November 21st, and continuing to the close of business on Wednesday, November 25th, those who make purchases at the various stores, oil stations, etc., will receive free tickets for themselves and families to a movie, "The Phantom Broadcast," to be displayed at the high school gymnasium on Wednesday evening. The Board of Commerce is sponsor.

This production, in which Ralph Forbes is the star, is an ultra modern drama of the world of radio in which a fine artist, because of a physical deformity, is forced to see his handsome partner accepting the rewards that should have been his own.

The show starts at 8 p. m., and will be preceded by a half hour of music by the city band. Stores will be open until 10 p. m. that evening.

THIEVES STRIP CHARLEVOIX AUTOMOBILE

Personal Belongings and Negotiable Papers and Bonds Taken

Mrs. Hattie Stevens, of Central Lake, and Mrs. Lephie Hammon, of this city, who left several weeks ago to spend the winter in California, arrived in Hollywood only to receive a most unfortunate welcome.

Stopping at the home of Mrs. H. Sessions, a former Central Lake resident, now making her home in Hollywood, they locked their car, leaving their luggage to be brought in later after greetings had been exchanged. Spending the balance of the afternoon inside, they finished dinner before going out to bring in their luggage, only to find that the lock on the door of the car had been broken and bags and valuables stolen.

Mrs. Stevens had bonds, negotiable securities and postal savings certificates as well as deeds, which were all lost along with the personal effects of the two women.

SOCIAL SECURITY BLANKS ARE HERE

POSTMASTER FOSTER IS IN CHARGE OF WORK

Application for Identification Numbers Must Be Handled Speedily, Foster Says

Monday, every employer of one or more persons in Charlevoix was mailed a blank form for "Employer's application for identification number," the first step in putting into effect the provisions of the Social Security Act.

This announcement was made by Postmaster J. M. Foster, through whose office the various steps of making the law effective will pass.

These blanks are merely small cards listing seven questions concerning the location, business address, type of business and number of persons employed. They are in no way complicated and can be filled out in a few moments.

"We have filled in the name of the firm and its address on the cards," Mr. Foster stated, "to simplify matters as much as possible. Should any employer fail to receive one of these blanks early this week, he should notify the local post office immediately."

These blanks must be returned to the Social Security Act headquarters in Baltimore not later than November 21, so speed in handling them is necessary. After these blanks have been received and classified, blanks will be sent to employes, and it is hoped to have the machinery in full operation by January 1.

MEMBER OF PIONEER FAMILY PASSES ON

Funeral of Mrs. R. W. Paddock Was Held Last Monday Afternoon

Another of Charlevoix's oldest pioneer families lost a well-known and much-beloved representative, last Friday morning, in the death of Mrs. R. W. Paddock, which occurred at her home, 308 Dixon avenue, following an illness of six months duration.

Mary Nicholls was born at Trempealeau, Wis., August 25, 1868, the daughter of John Nicholls and Mary French. The family moved to Charlevoix in 1876.

Miss Nicholls became the wife of R. W. Paddock on May 25, 1885, and to this union were born five children, three of whom survive. They are Commander Hubert Paddock, U.S.N.; Richard K. Paddock, manager of the Charlevoix Co-operative Association, and William Paddock, who is connected with the U. S. Division of Forestry in North Carolina. Mrs. Albert F. Bridge, of Charlevoix, and Mrs. John Mason, of Mercedes, Tex., are surviving sisters of the deceased.

Mrs. Paddock, by her sweet and gracious character, had endeared herself to many friends in this community and will be greatly missed. She was a life member of the Congregational church and of the Shakespeare Study Club.

The funeral was held from the Dixon Avenue home on Monday, at 2 p. m., Rev. G. Russell Parker officiating, with interment in the family plot at Brookside. Besides members of the family who reside here, Commander Paddock and Mr. and Mrs. William Paddock attended the funeral, the commander having come from Boston, Mass., where he is stationed at present.

Mrs. Ed. Kowalski, also of East Jordan, won first on a peck of Russet Burbanks. This peck was very close to being awarded the sweepstakes, and in the same class Harry Behling won fifth place.

In apples, Eveline Orchards, of East Jordan, won first on bushels of Wagner, Wealthy, Starking; won second on bushels of Northern Spy and Cortland, and third on a bushel of Wolf River.

In the club competition, Donald Tibbits, of Boyne City, won third with a peck of Russet Burbank, and Lyle Anthony, of Boyne City, fourth with his Irish Cobbler. The Advance club was awarded fifth place in club competition.

For the first time 100 bushel sample were shown. With some 40 entries in this class, the following 1936 Charlevoix county were judged excellent and will receive $6 each: Henry Korthase, Boyne City; Elmer Hott, East Jordan; and the Boyne City Co-Op. Two were judged good to receive $4 in premiums: Claude Shepard, of East Jordan, and the Boyne City Co-Op. In the fun class for premiums of $2 appear the names of Louis McDonald and Sam Houtman, both of East Jordan.

The better exhibits from the county have been sent down to Lansing and will be placed in storage until the State Seed Show, which takes place in February. Teatative action by the board of directors indicates that the next show will be held at Petoskey.

SUPPOSEDLY UNLOADED RIFLE KILLS MAN

Charles Vassar, of Gloucester, Mass., Dead from Bullet Wound

Grace Shores was called to Gloucester, Mass., Saturday by the death of her nephew, Charles Vassar (Bud) Feuless, 26-year-old son of Jess and Altha Feuless, former Charlevoix residents.

Mr. Feuless was cleaning a rifle, belonging to a friend, which he thought had been unloaded, when an unnoticed shell exploded, the bullet striking him in the forehead. Death was instantaneous.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at his home in Gloucester. Survivors are the widow and small son, two sisters, Mrs. James Carlson and Edith Wynn Feuless, of Gloucester, besides the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shores, of Charlevoix.

RED CROSS FORMS CITY COMMITTEES

WORK OF COLLECTING ANNUAL FUND STARTS THIS WEEK

Year of Many Disasters Proves Worth of This Truly Distinctive American Institution

Year by year, the American Red Cross makes its appeal for funds to carry on its splendid work of relief throughout the nation and the people rise handsomely to the occasion. Never before in the history of the United States, however, has there been so strong an argument for generous public support of the institution. In a year of floods, forest fires, drought and destitution, the Red Cross has functioned with complete effectiveness and has fairly won its right to be considered one of the most useful and important elements in our communal life.

Work of collecting funds in Charlevoix for the activities of the Red Cross began in earnest this week. Mrs. O. J. Hammond, chairman for Charlevoix city, has announced her committees and the material with which they will work is here and will shortly be distributed. The committees for the different sections of the city are as follows: North side: Mrs. Robert Bridge, Mrs. Clinton Cooper, Mrs. Henry Partridge, Mrs. Clair Webster. Valley: Mrs. Albert Cook, Mrs. Harold Miller, Miss Bernice Lamphear, Mrs. E. J. Hiller, Miss Mabel Bird. South side: Mrs. Ray Hamilton, the Misses Nell and Mary Adams, Mrs. Frank Courier, Mrs. Oscar Nelson, Mrs. E. J. Edwards.

Headquarters for the city and county will be located at the offices of the Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Company, as in the past.

President Roosevelt says of the Red Cross:

"The American Red Cross is close to the heart of every American. Its emblem symbolizes good will, and neighborliness and brotherhood throughout our land. Its purposes spring from the deep seated desires of the people themselves, desires for restored orderly living and well-being wherever disaster and calamity strike.

"All of us are proud of the work which the Red Cross did last year after the Spring floods and tornadoes. Urban dwellers and rural dwellers alike felt its ministrations in the areas devastated by wind and water as well as wherever disaster struck home in 39 states.

"The Red Cross program of service in disaster relief, in health work, in behalf of disabled ex-service men, in leading our children to good citizenship through the Junior organization, reflects the generosity and spirit of initiative of our citizens. The American Red Cross is a member of the family of nations and accepts its responsibility as a good neighbor. The motto of practically all nations is 'Love thy neighbor as thyself.' We must give in proportion as we have received. When the havoc of storm, flood, accidental injury or war visits men, women, or children, this beneficent agency begins immediately its mission to heal, to mend, to replace.

"Again, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, our people everywhere will have an opportunity to join the Red Cross. By joining, every American has the privilege, through individual membership, of sharing in its great work, both local and national. Membership is an evidence of good citizenship. I urge that all who can do so respond promptly and generously to the annual Red Cross membership roll call."

TWO ENTIRELY NEW OLDSMOBILES FOR 1937

One of the New Four-Door Sixes at Auto Electric Service

Two entirely new Oldsmobiles for 1937, each distinctively different and original in body styling, and offering many important advancements in mechanical design, are being given their first public showing by Oldsmobile dealers throughout the country.

Announcement of the new cars — the Oldsmobile Six and the Oldsmobile Eight—culminates the busiest development period in the four decades of Oldsmobile progress.

The cnrs nre longer, lower, roomier and more comfortable than those which made Oldsmobile sales history in 1936. The motors provide greater reserves of power with lower engine speeds, with corresponding improvements in both performnnce and operating economy. The Six now develops 95 horsepower, nginst 90 horsepower in the 1936 model; while the Eight develops 110 horsepower, an increase of 10 horsepower over the previous Eight. Wheelbases of the Six and Eight hnve been increased respectively to 117 inches and 124 inches.

The new four-door Six is on exhibition at the Auto Electric Service, Antrim street.

POLITICS OUT

The success of the proposed merit system for the state government of Michigan will depend, if the system is adopted, on a few crucial matters which lie at the heart of the civil service problem. Perhaps the most important of these is the elimination of politics.

Civil Service and the merit system are supposed to mean the end of spoils politics. It is only too clear that, if spoils politicians are allowed to stand at the head of any civil service, they will control and, in the end, destroy it.

The Study Commission appointed by Governor Fitzgerald and headed by Professor Pollock of the University of Michigan has drafted a bill which goes straight to the core of the matter. The solution proposed by the Commission is to put the entire civil service under a four man commission, no more than two of whom can belong to the same political party.

In this way political power on one side will cancel out political power on the other side. The result, it would certainly seem, must be genuinely non-parisan administration of our merit system.

Two horses may be bred and trained to world championship strength. Together or singly they may be able to pull tremendous loads weighing many tons. But if they are harnessed together and made to pull in opposite directions, they will not, for all their strength and effort, be able to move an inch.

The Civil Service Study Commission has incorporated this same principle into the bill it has prepared. It is a good principle, affords one more reason for urging passage of the bill and for believing that, once passed, the merit system it establishes will really function.

MICHIGAN STATE POLICE

We have just finished reading the annual report of Commissioner Oscar G. Olander, of the Michigan State Police, to Governor Fitzgerald, for the year 1936. This report covers the activities of all the departments of this fine organization, and there is one special part concerning the Safety and Traffic Division we should like to pass along to you.

"With a new generation growing up each year and acquiring drivers' licenses, 'Safety' is a problem of continuous education. Fifty-two thousand eight hundred forty-two persons, not including radio audiences, have been reached this year by members of this division who have appeared before schools, clubs, and church gatherings. Thousands of copies of a pamphlet 'Aids to Driving Safely' have been furnished schools; bulletins have been issued for the use of traffic officers; and accident facts have been supplied to various press agencies and to the Michigan Safety Council for distribution to the general public."

Here is a brief resume of the excellent work being done by these men in an effort to prevent loss of life on our highways. It deserves the whole hearted commendation of every citizen of Michigan. We should all be willing to render our loyal support in any way possible to aid them in their never ending job. This can best be done by exercising extreme care and precaution at all times while we are driving an automobile.

TURKEY AND FIXIN'S

Is it the traditional turkey and stuffing or the savory pumpkin pie which occupies our first thought in the Thanksgiving season?

For at least two weeks previous to the day, thoughts are centered upon the food of that great feast day which our New England ancestors willed to us. At least one member of every family tries his luck at winning the traditional bird, or any of its substitutes — ducks, geese, chicken and ham. Sometimes the lucky member acquires several Thanksgiving birds which not only add to the groaning table but provide the next week's dinners of Thanksgiving mementoes —the well-known "left-overs."

We do like the Thanksgiving traditions, going home for the family get-together over quantities of good food. Thanksgiving is the great family day and every effort is made to gather in one of the family homes with grandparents, parents, children and grandchildren. For those whose families are too far away or whose homefolk have departed this land, there is still a homecoming in sweet memories.

And when family gatherings are not possible, the great spirit of hospitality which characterizes the day gathers groups of friends and acquaintances about every table.

LIKING FOLKS

It is said of President Roosevelt that nothing gets "him down," and that he is seldom "under the weather." During the campaign it was often said of him, also, that he has personality.

We are wondering how much of this glamorous personality, how much of his good spirits, and his good health, can be accounted for by one characteristic—his liking of people.

He enjoys meeting folks, and talking to them, because he really does like his fellow men. It is no front, put on in the morning and removed at night.

Maybe some of us might trace our indigestions and our inability to get ahead to a lack of this very important characteristic.

INSPECTION OF AMBULANCES

Many hospitals are in need of better equipped ambulance service. If outside service is furnished to the hospital, the hospital should determine condition of the service through inspection, and not accept any unless guaranteed to be safe and efficient. Many lives have been lost unnecessarily because they were transported to a hospital in some old rattle trap conveyance. A slight jar in a concussion case often proves fatal.

It would be well to investigate the means by which critically injured people in your town or city are being saved.

FUNDS ARE SHORT FOR NOVEMBER

Local Relief Office Appeals to Public for Assistance

The Courier has received from the local Relief office an appeal for assistance to carry on the work of aiding the community's poor and needy. The communication follows:

"The relief office is anxious to learn of any persons who have clothing which they would like to give to those in need. Shoes and rubbers or galoshes are needed very badly and, because of the large number of applications, funds for November will not be sufficient. Anyone who has anything that can be used is asked to call Charlevoix No. 61 and arrangements will be made to call for it."

This call should meet immediate response from citizens of Charlevoix. The necessity is urgent and those who have the required articles are asked to get in touch with the local relief office at the earliest possible moment.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS PROGRAM IS PLANNED

Churches of this community will unite in a Christmas program, the date of which is to be later announced.

The affair will be held at the high school gymnasium and the city band will take part. It is likely that selected singers from the various choirs will render some special musical feature.

More details will be available later on. The Board of Commerce is assisting with the arrangements.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Public Buys 1,000 1937 Plates Daily

Sale of motor vehicle license plates for 1937 is proceeding at the rate of slightly more than 1,000 pairs a day, Department of State figures show.

These figures include plates for all classes of motor vehicles, including passenger cars, dealers' cars, commercial vehicles and motorcycles.

Plates for 1937 went on sale October 21, so ordered by Orville E. Atwood, secretary, as an aid to car manufacturers who bring new models out in the fall now, rather than during mid-winter. Plates for which revenue was actually checked into the Department of State for the first 19 days of sale, including November 12, showed that 21,388 pairs of plates had been sold throughout the state.

Any disposition on the part of the public to defer purchase of plates for cars they now own, is seen as a reflection of uncertainty as to what changes the 1937 Legislature might make in the motor vehicle law as it pertains to the deadline for annual plate purchases.

Atwood has publicly recommended a March 31 deadline; and on request of Leon D. Case, secretary of state-elect, Atwood has announced a 30 day extension from January 1, making the prospective deadline January 31. In the meantime the 1937 Legislature may take action on this matter.

Civil Service Examinations

Competitive Civil Service examinations for positions in the State Relief organization will be held in Petoskey on the following dates:

Investigators, November 19th.
Bookkeepers and Accountants, November 20th.
Clerks, November 23rd.
Typists and Stenographers, November 24th.

Applications must be filed on proper blanks prior to the examination. Any persons desiring to be examined should secure application blanks and instructions for filing them at the Charlevoix County Relief office at once. Harold F. Lamb, Administrator.—Adv47t1

If you are an early arrival at the scene of an auto accident remember it is important to post flares or warning signals along the highway as soon as you stop.

DOGS BARRED IN ALL DEER COUNTIES

New Order Took Effect With Opening of Deer Season

Starting last Sunday, all dogs must be kept out of deer country, Warden Ed. Duell, of the Conservation Department, has announced.

It is accepted as prima facie evidence that when dogs are found in deer camps they are there to be used in illegal hunting and this constitutes a violation of the game laws.

The ruling means that rabbit hunters can hunt legally only in Leelanau county during the deer season. Dogs will not be allowed in any county in which deer hunting is permitted and wardens have been instructed to destroy all dogs caught running at large in the deer country.

LOCAL MEN ARE GUESTS OF GAYLORD KIWANIANS

Last Thursday evening, the Kiwanis Club of Gaylord held its annual election of officers and banquet.

Gordon B. Todd, activities director of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce, and Dean Davenport, county director of WPA recreational activities, were two of the guest speakers. Mr. Todd's subject was community building, and Mr. Davenport talked on the subject of his own work in Charlevoix county.

JEAN STELTER MEMBER COLLEGE CAMPUS PLAYERS

Miss Jean Stelter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stelter, 306 Belvedere avenue, has been elected to Campus Players at Battle Creek College; Battle Creek, Michigan. The organization promotes interest and accomplishment in dramatics among the students of the college. A series of one act plays will be presented by the Players during the school year, followed by a three act play in the spring.

BAPTIST CHURCH
W. H. Rauch, Pastor

The Preaching Mission will close with the services in the Congregational church Thursday and Friday evenings. Everybody is cordially invited to these meetings; and especially should all who claim the Lord Jesus Christ as Savior be heartily supporting them.

Sunday is the Nation-Wide Day of Prayer. We urge the members of our congregation to not only come to the public services in the spirit of prayer, but also, to spend some time in prayer before coming.

Morning worship service, 10:30. The second of a series of messages from the life of Elijah: "Beside the Dying Brook."

Sunday school, 11:45. Ernest Peaslee, superintendent. A short talk will be given by Edwin Gregory, "Why Sign a Temperance Pledge." Opportunity will be given for all who desire to sign the pledge.

Young people's meeting, 6:30. Nearly 30 of our young people attended the rally at Traverse City, Friday evening, and were pleased to have one of their number selected as president of the associational organization, Clare Gleason.

Evening service, 7:30. The second of a series of messages from the large hand painted chart, portraying the Dispensations of Redemption, will be given at this hour. If you are interested in better understanding your Bible and interpreting it rightly in the light of present world developments, we feel that these Sunday evening messages will help you. Come and see.

Woman's Missionary meeting, Wednesday, 2:30. Mrs. Louisa Smith, leader.

Mid-week prayer service and chorus practice, Thursday, 7:30.

Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald Monday appointed Rep. Prentiss M. Brown, United States senator-elect, to fill the term left vacant by the death of Senator James Couzens.

Fitzgerald proposed this appointment of Brown to the Senate for the two months remaining before his regular term starts in order to give Brown a higher seniority rating than the 15 other newly elected Democratic senators.

EMMET COUNTY BOY IS 4-H CLUB WINNER

Awarded Trip to the International Livestock Exposition

Robert Cook, a member of the Pellston 4-H Potato club, was acclaimed the outstanding 4-H potato club member in Northern Michigan as a result of a contest conducted at the Northern Michigan Potato and Apple Show held at Kalkaska. As a reward for his outstanding achievements in potato club work, Bob will receive a free trip to the Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club Congress held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, November 28 to December 5. This trip was made possible by the financial sponsorship of the J. C. Penney Company stores located in Petoskey, Cheboygan, Cadillac, Manistee, Alpena, Ludington and Traverse City.

In winning this trip Bob competed with 4-H potato club members from several of the north and western counties. Howard McDonald, of Charlevoix county, was a close second and will be the alternate, while Bob Banter, of Emmet county, and Wilbur McDonald, of Charlevoix county, were a close third and fourth.

Robert has been active in potato club work for six years. During this time he has exhibited at various shows and in several cases won high honors. This year his peek of Russet Rurals won the sweepstakes in the Junior class at the county shows. At the Northern Michigan show his sample of potatoes placed fourth.

Bob has shown a great deal of interest in his club work and this year his project was the growing of six acres of certified seed potatoes. He also was leader of his club, taking over the leadership which his father had previous to this year.

Oil-Plated Engine
OFFICIAL COUNT of last year's emergencies handled by the American Automobile Association shows "3,200,000 motorists caught with depleted batteries . . and 2,000,000 had starter difficulties." Don't let it be you this Winter. Have your electrical system checked, of course. Buy good gasoline. And give your engine the big extra surety of modern Oil-Plating.
Oil-Plating with Conoco Germ Processed oil – patented – leaves a definite Plating of oil on every engine part continuously. Continuously!
Then Oil-Plating is always there to head off wear, not only while you drive, but between times, too. Through hours of cold at the curb or at night – when other oils drain down – your engine remains completely Oil-Plated. For the patented Germ Process actually enables this oil to unite with bearings, pistons, cylinders and other parts, to Oil-Plate them for smooth, slippy, dragless starts. Since there cannot be a moment of "missing oil," the greatest cause of Winter wear is out, as you change to Conoco Germ Processed oil and its exclusive Oil-Plating Continental Oil Company

AT THE MOVIES

Laughton As Henry VIII Again Proves Versatility

One of Charles Laughton's early fears — that he might come to be classed as a type actor—has been laid to a deserved rest by the fact that, in less than two years, he has played four prominent roles which are as distinctly different as any four roles could possibly be.

His characterization of Henry VIII in the London Films production, "The Private Life of Henry VIII," which will play at the Palace Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, November 25 and 26, provides him with still another type which he portrays with such vividness and sympathetic understanding as to make it one of the outstanding roles of his meteoric film career.

"The Private Life of Henry VIII" is a United Artists release directed by Alexander Korda.

"Gay Desperado" New Type of Romance With Music

Something decidedly different in pictures with music comes to the Palace Theatre November 21-22-23 when Pickford-Lasky's "The Gay Desperado," begins a two-day engngement with Nino Martini, the great singing star of radio, opera and films in the title role, and Ida Lupino and Leo Carrillo in supporting parts.

A gay, colorful romance laid below the Rio Grande, this second offering of the newly formed Mary Pickford-Jesse L. Lasky producing company completely discards the usual backstage plot formula for pictures featuring famous songbirds and presents a thrill-packed, action-filled, fast-moving film story.

The handsome Martini is said to give a great performance as the gay, swashbuckling Chivo, whose glorious voice causes him to be kidnapped by a Mexican bandit chieftain (Carrillo) who adopts American gangster methods, but is really a sentimental, music-loving fellow at heart.

POWERS FAMILY IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Car Overturns on O'Brien Hill, Breaking Mrs. Powers' Arm

Mr. and Mrs. Alnnzo Powers and two granddaughters, Dorothy and Mrs. Theodore Cooper, with her small daughter, Jacklyn, were involved in a serious motor accident Saturday afternoon, when the car in which they were returning from a shopping trip to Traverse City was side-swiped on a curve at the foot of O'Brien hill, six miles south of Charlevoix, on US-31.

Dorothy, 15-year-old granddaughter, was driving the Powers car, which met the Isaksen car driven by Helena, throwing the Powers car over the adjacent embankment.

Mrs. Powers was taken to Charlevoix Hospital where it was found she had suffered a fractured arm as well as numerous cuts and bruises, while other members of the party were uninjured except for slight surface cuts. Occupants of the Isaksen car escaped without injury.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF STATE ARE ORGANIZING

Act in Unity Against the Increasing Use of Intoxicants

Mrs. Kirby and Mrs. Palmer brought a very interesting report of the recent W. C. T. U. state convention to the luncheon meeting of the local union, held last Friday in the M. E. church dining room.

According to their report, the children and young people of the state are being rapidly organized into temperance societies, and the Centenary Education Campaign is making headway. The temperance slides, movies and exhibits are being shown in hundreds of schools and communities in those districts where funds are available for the purpose.

Plans of the national organization were outlined for the 1937 membership campaign (November 1, 1936, to May 1, 1937). Also for the November Roll Call, which is a new feature with the objective to collect dues from all members in the United States this month.

The group leaders were made key women in the local membership campaign which includes payment of dues, securing new members, attendance at meetings, and bringing visitors.

There were 40 in attendance at the meeting. The "pep" songs introduced by the president and the duet by the Misses Palmer and Richardson added much to the program.

SHIPTON POST DISTRIBUTES NATIONAL FLAGS TO COUNTY RURAL SCHOOLS

Leslie T. Shipton Post No. 226, of the American Legion, with the assistance of County Commissioner of Schools William C. Palmer, on Friday, November 13, distributed United States flags to 16 rural schools in the vicinity of Charlevoix. The distribution was a part of the Americanism program of the American Legion.

Schools were visited and a short program was held by the Legion committee, with Mr. Palmer, the teacher, and school children assisting. All joined in giving the Pledge to the Flag, and in singing patriotic songs.

Each member of the Legion committee was deeply gratified at the fine attitude of the schools and teachers; and to learn how great is the extent of the children's knowledge pertaining to the flag, and the things for which it stands. It speaks well for our schools.

STRAITS OF MACKINAC TRAFFIC INCREASES

An Increase of 25.25 Per Cent Over Year 1935

Indications this week pointed to an increase of more than 25 per cent this year in the traffic over the Straits of Mackinac on the state-operated ferry system.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, announced that 181,409 vehicles had been transported across the Straits during the 1936 season up to November 1. This number compares with 144,828 for the same period of the 1935 season, or an increase of 25.25 per cent.

The commissioner's report does not cover traffic during the deer-hunting season, now under full blast. Advance prophecies were for a sharp increase in the hunting-season traffic this year.

Accompanying the increase in traffic was an advance in the total receipts at the Straits. Fares for the first ten months of this year totaled $325,254 compared with $257,651 for the same period in 1935.

Two classes of vehicles registered unusual gains in traffic at the Straits this year. The number of buses transported on the ferries jumped from 345 for the first ten months last year to 970 for the same period this year, an increase of 181.15 per cent. This was attributed in part to through schedules on bus lines from Sault Ste. Marie to Detroit. There was also a 36.37 per cent increase in the trailer traffic attributed to a general advance in the popularity of house cars. The passenger-car increase this year has been 25.3 per cent.

WORKERS GIVEN PENSION BLANKS

DISTRIBUTION FROM LOCAL POST OFFICE TUESDAY

Applications Must Be Filled and Returned to Post Office by December 5, It Is Reported

A federal promise of economic independence in old age was offered Tuesday to America's commercial and industrial workers through the Social Security program.

A quarter-million postmen delivered pension applications in the single day to 50,000,000 persons in every office and factory, store and mine in the country. Blanks were delivered to 235 persons in Charlevoix.

Of that total, 26,000,000 will be eligible to join the government's insurance pool guaranteeing a livelihood without labor to one-fifth the nation's total population as participants reach 65 years.

They must contribute to receive benefits. The U. S. treasury will take one per cent from their pay checks for the pension fund starting January 1, next year, and will gradually increase the tax to three per cent.

Their employers must pay also. The government will assess capital's payrolls on the same basis, giving each worker a $2 credit toward the benefit he will receive for every $1 he contributes.

Pensions ranging from $10 to $85 a month will start January 1, 1942. Meanwhile, the treasury will pile up a big reserve invested in government bonds.

There is no place in the plan as yet for the other 24,000,000 workers although they received applications as the Social Security Board seeks to reach every person who might be eligible.

They are disqualified under the present law because they are in work such as agriculture, domestic service or employed by federal, state or local governments.

The 50,000,000 applications delivered ask answers to seven simple questions—name, age, address, birthplace, type of employment, etc. The government must know these facts to determine whether workers can qualify.

The cards must be returned to local post offices by December 5 so they can be relayed speedily to Washington where the Social Security Board will decide whom to tax and whom to declare eligible before the levy becomes effective.

After that is done, the information will be transferred to the 26,000,000-name federal filing system being set up in Baltimore. Identification cards then will be issued to each worker signifying that he or she comes under the federal plan.

Some 3,500,000 employers already have been listed. They received their application blanks last Monday with a request that the information be returned to the government by last Saturday. Officials said a majority complied, and blanks are still arriving.

GAME LAW DIGESTS FOR 1937 OFF PRESS SOON

Digests of Michigan's 1937 general fishing laws are now in the hands of the state printer and are expected to be ready for distribution to 1,800 license dealers within a week.

The 1937 revision will be of the handy folder type, similar to the digest in use during the current year. The changes that have been made are of minor nature, such as designations of "pike" and "trout" lakes.

ANTLERED DOE IS BROUGHT HOME BY RUSSELL CURTIS

An antlered doe, a freak seldom bagged in Michigan's deer cover, fell the prize of Russell "Pat" Curtis, while hunting at the Black River ranch, east of Vanderbilt.

The animal, estimated to weigh around 140 pounds, had six-inch spikes in the velvet state of development. Both spikes had been broken, one close to the skull. The other was four inches long.

Killing does is illegal, but the accepted means whereby hunters tell if a deer is a buck is to look for horns. If the animal has horns, it is a buck, according to the hunters' rules. Another similar freak was brought across the Straits this season, according to reports.

"Pat" only takes credit for shooting the deer, admitting it was his wife's clearer vision which noted the horns.

COMMERCIAL VESSEL LAUNCHED THURSDAY

"Jackie C" Is Fine Example of Up-To-Date Fish Tug Construction

Charlevoix's latest addition to its fishing fleet the "Jackie C", 46 foot Diesel-powered tug, was launched in Round Lake, last Thursday, from Ernie Smith's dock.

This vessel, the property of Captain John Cross, was designed and built by Ulysses McCann and represents about the last word in fine fishing craft. This high-class commercial boat has a beam of 13 feet and is constructed with a modified V bottom. All planking is of white oak-extra heavy.

She is powered by a Hill six cylinder Diesel engine, developing 100 horsepower, and is capable of making 12 miles per hour. She has fuel capacity to run 400 hours.

The "Jackie C" is painted in two shades of green and presents a very handsome and sturdy appearance. Her owner and the builder deserve to be congratulated for their contribution of so seaworthy and useful a craft to this port's growing fleet of commercial vessels.

WINTER TAX RATE LOWER THIS YEAR

SCHOOL OPERATING AND DEBT SERVICE DECREASED

No Tax Spread for State Purposes, Decrease for County; Rate Is $19.20 Per Thousand

Winter taxes which become payable on Tuesday, December 1, at the office of City Treasurer Robert E. Rife, will be considerably lower than last year, according to figures just released.

The rate spread by the city assessor will be $19.20 per thousand dollars valuation, as compared with $22.18 last year and $23.70 two years ago.

Spread against the city valuation, the winter tax charged to Charlevoix property owners will appear per thousand dollars valuation as follows:

County	$10.40
Schools	4.00
School Debt	4.80
Total	$19.20

The 1935 tax roll figures were:

County	$10.91
Schools	4.85
School Debt	6.42
Total	$22.18

Contributing largely to this year's drop in tax rate is the reduction in the amounts spread for both schools and school debt service, also the total absence of any tax for state purposes. School operating was decreased 85 cents per thousand and school debt service $1.62 per thousand. The spread for county purposes shows a decrease of 51 cents per thousand.

Winter taxes go for county and school purposes entirely. The county realizes funds for general operating expenses, activities of the county poor commission, bond retirement, etc. The schools receive a portion for operating expenses and debt service which, in Charlevoix's case, goes for retirement of indebtedness incurred by construction of the new grade building and gymnasium.

Taxes are payable without four per cent penalty for collection until January 9, provided the penalty limit is not later extended by the city council.

BOYNE CITY TANNERY IS BEING IMPROVED

Replacement of Equipment and Additions Are Being Made

Boyne City's major industry, the Michigan Tanning and Extract company, is accepting expert treatment at the hands of engineer Thomas Powers who is a representative of Howes Bros. of Boston.

The rebuilding includes two huge steam boilers to eliminate the old batteries of steam makers and also a new roof covering and additions to the present sprinkler systems which provide protection in case of fire. At least six months will be required to effect the changes and the outlay will approach, it is said, one hundred thousand dollars.

These improvements place the tannery in a first class position among the large and up to date makers of sole leather both east and south.

Legion Auxiliary will hold a bridge and pedro party for both men and women, at Legion Home, Monday evening, November 30, at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents.—Adv48t1

Merchants' Bargain Day On Saturday, November 28

This week's issue of the Charlevoix Courier presents on page 6 another cooperative advertisement of Charlevoix merchants, continuing the series of Saturday "Bargain Days" begun three weeks ago.

Charlevoix merchants have seen evidence that the thrifty shopper recognizes immediately that the bargains offered are exceptional, and are pleased to continue offering special trade inducements as long as the demand continues and patronage is received.

The free movies presented Wednesday evening at the school gymnasium was a part of the program to bring people to Charlevoix and similar free entertainment is planned for the future, it is understood.

CHRISTMAS SEAL DRIVE THURSDAY

1936 CAMPAIGN TO OPEN ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Over Sixty Million Tuberculosis Christmas Seals Mailed for the Fight Against White Plague

To homes all over Michigan sixty million tuberculosis Christmas seals were mailed this week by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, to provide funds for the war against tuberculosis in the state in 1937. Opening officially on Thanksgiving Day, the 30th annual sale of the Christmas seals will be continued until Christmas Day.

Striving this year to return the sale to pre-depression levels everywhere in Michigan, officials of the association pointed to the urgent need for continuing the present vigorous campaign against tuberculosis. The 2,044 deaths from tuberculosis occurring in the state last year serve only to emphasize, they declared, the importance of the work that is made possible through tuberculosis Christmas seal funds.

"To ease up now in the campaign would be disastrous," Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, said. "The half of the battle that remains ahead will be much more difficult than the half that is won.

"It is true that with funds raised through the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals the Michigan Tuberculosis Association has been able to bring two of the modern weapons of medical science—the tuberculin test and the X-ray—to more than 100,000 Michigan people. It is also true, though, that other thousands are still without the benefits of these modern safeguards. And so, to hold the gains that have been made in the last 30 years, Michigan must carry on its present anti-tuberculosis campaign with vigor undiminished. The purchase of tuberculosis Christmas seals will help to assure an aggressive program in 1937."

SALVAGING BOAT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Peter Neilsen Badly Burned and Lost Tug in Monday Mishap

Disaster accompanied salvaging operations from the abandoned oil tanker Oswald Boyd on Simmons Reef, Monday, according to reports received today from St. James.

Capt. Peter Neilsen, St. James commercial fisherman, was seriously burned about the face and hands and his tug Panther was totally destroyed by flames believed to have been ignited by the tug's stove as gasoline was being transferred to barrels aboard the craft. W. C. McDonough, Neilsen's helper, who was aboard the tanker, rescued Neilsen from the burning tug and then pushed the craft away. It drifted a short distance and burned to the water's edge before sinking.

Neilsen and McDonough were taken off the tanker by Capt. Lawrence Dunmore of the tug "Home of Cheboygan," which was eight miles away when the fire was noticed. Strangely, gasoline on the water did not ignite, a happening which has been feared since the tanker was abandoned. Freighters plying the Straits have given the wreck and floating gasoline a wide berth.

Neilsen, suffering from shock as well as serious burns, is under care of Dr. Russell Palmer, Beaver Island physician, and will be brought to the mainland, where he has a residence in this city, as soon as his condition permits.

GOVERNMENT MUST KNOW REAL AGE OF ALL WOMEN

A lady may keep her right age from her friends, even from her husband—but not from the government. The Social Security Board insists today that every woman signing an application for old age pension must tell exactly how old she is.

Such a drastic ruling was necessary, members said, because the whole benefit system is based upon federal payments after beneficiaries reach 65 years.

Tragedy of Living

ALPENA HUNTER CONCEDED THE LUCKIEST

Deo Wilson Shoots Once; Gets Two Bear and Ten-Point Buck

Fellow hunters have conceded that Deo Wilson, Alpena grocer was the luckiest nimrod of them all.

Wilson came upon a she bear and four cubs west of Hubbard Lake, he fired one shot, killing a 100 pound cub. The other bears fled.

Investigating moans in a nearby thicket, he found a second cub, apparently mortally wounded by the same shot.

As he dragged the two carcasses back to camp, Wilson ran into a fine buck, badly wounded. He placed his metal tag on its antlers, then called it a day.

He said that another hunter had unknowingly wounded the deer.

COUNTY BANK WILL RELEASE DIVIDEND

ANNOUNCE PLANS TO PAY FIVE PER CENT SOON

Funds Will Be Available About December 15 for Second Release, Totalling Around $10,200

Arrangements are now being made by the Depositors' Committee of the Charlevoix County State Bank to pay another dividend to holders of participation certificates.

Funds will be available on or about December 15 with which to pay a dividend of five per cent on all outstanding certificates. Official notice of the payment, which will release approximately $10,200, will be sent to each certificate holder in due course.

This is the second dividend to be paid by the Charlevoix County State Bank. Originally the bank paid 50 per cent to depositors, and in December of 1935 a dividend of 10 per cent was released. Under the plan of reorganization the net earnings of the new bank are paid to the trust for a period of five years. These earnings paid in by the new bank have materially assisted in making the dividends available.

The Depositors' Committee is glad to make this announcement and wishes to assure certificate holders that liquidation of frozen assets is being made as speedily as possible.

TWO HEALTH CLINICS SCHEDULED DECEMBER 3

Morning at St. Mary's School, Afternoon at Nurses' Home

On Thursday, December 3, Dr. Carleton Dean, of the District Health Unit, will conduct two free infant and pre-school health clinics in this city.

In the morning at 9:30 o'clock, one will be held in the St. Mary's school parlor. To this clinic all mothers having children in these age groups and living in this section of the city, are cordially invited.

In the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the same type of clinic will be held in the nurses' apartment at the Bird's Nest, on Antrim street.

The reason the clinics are being held in various corners of the city is to make them as available as possible for the busy mothers. Later clinics will be held in the north and east sections.

It is hoped parents will consider seriously the protection of their children against smallpox and diphtheria, as opportunity will be given to receive these protective treatments. Statistics from the State Health Department reveal that diphtheria is one of the two leading causes of death among infants and pre-school children. Smallpox in the state during 1935 showed an increase over preceding years. Charlevoix county has been free from both four to five consecutive years. It can remain free only if parents will cooperate.

WILL RECOMMEND RED FOX BE PROTECTED

Conservation Commission Will Ask Legislature for Change

The department of conservation will recommend to the state legislature next January that the red fox be removed from the list of non-game animals which may be legally shot the year around and given adequate protection in this state.

This announcement was made by Director P. J. Huffmaster of the department of conservation after deliberating the suggestions of field administration and game workers.

The red fox compares very favorably in value with Michigan's most highly prized furs and should be taken only during the season when the fur is in prime, game men say. This can best be regulated by a liberal fall and early winter open season. Fox pelts taken late in the winter are worn, faded and of little more value than a pelt taken late in summer.

Tuesday was the final day for employers of Charlevoix to return their Social Security Act information blanks to the local post office, and up to closing time that night a large majority had complied, according to Postmaster J. M. Foster.

The blanks were distributed to local employers a week ago with the request that they be filled out and returned not later than Tuesday. Thus far 82 out of 97 have complied with the request. According to Postmaster Foster, the number of blanks which have been filled out and returned show that the 82 employers have 235 persons in their employ.

TIME WASTERS

Housewives are annoyed by time stealers, by people who fail to recognize that a home is one of the most important organizations in the country, and that the president of the company has to count her moments as though punching a clock, in order to operate efficiently.

These wasters of life's golden moments call on the telephone and talk until in desperation one says the door bell is ringing or that something is burning in the kitchen.

In the class of wasters is included those people who are trying to sell. The use of the telephone in this connection is a rapidly spreading nuisance. Every time a woman permits herself to give an order over the telephone she is adding fuel to this annoyance. Then there is the door-to-door salesman who seems to be ever with us. He is the worst waster of all for he has been schooled in cleverness, a great amount of it being downright fraud, just any means at all to get in a word ahead of the helpless woman standing at the door. He knows if he can begin, his sales talk he has a more than fifty-fifty chance of selling her.

The only way to rid oneself of these time stealers is to practice saying in a firm voice, "I am not interested," and repeat it over and over until it is the first thing on our tongue when one of these pests rings our telephone or door bell.

PURE AIR BUT NOT COLD AIR

Winter nights are here and it is well to remember that our sleeping rooms should be ventilated, but that at no time should the air breathed in while sleeping be unwarmed. A good plan is to open a window in an adjoining room, letting the air circulate through a warmed area before reaching the sleeper.

Some of the world's best authorities in lung diseases say that people have carried the theory that fresh air is curing air, too far. It is not wise to try to cure a bad cold by sleeping in an abundance of harsh air.

Babies should not sleep in nurseries where the air is shriekingly cold. Even if baby himself seems to be snug in his draw-string blanket the fact remains that chilled air is going into his lungs. And this unwarmed air is an dangerous to lung tissues as is air that is not ventilated at all.

AFTER GAMBLING DEVICES

Over the nation, there has arisen a widespread effort to end the gambling racket. Slot machines, gambling pools, gatch penny devices—all are playing havoc with the welfare of this country, so those who have studied the situation declare.

There have been attempts made in the past to reform the gambler but the present movement has taken on a new angle. It isn't so much a case of morals now as a desire on the part of business to stop waste of money. It is estimated that the amount thrown away foolishly by gambling in the United States is six billions of dollars per year. Money that should go into the channels of trade. Money, often wasted by wage earners, that should go into homes and clothing and worthwhile achievements for parents and their families.

Many children are learning to gamble—a situation that augurs not too well for the future citiezship of this country.

The plan proposes that pressure be brought by merchants and business concerns to see that anti-gambling ordinances are enforced. Also that ordinances and laws be enacted which will cover such cases as are not already provided for.

In other words, a thorough going campaign is on to put an end to the wasteful gambling racket. And power to it.

REAPPORTION LIFE

Youth is disproportionate to old age. We have made the period of childhood and youth too short.

Years ago a man was old at 50, today he is not, because science has assisted him to prolong life.

That man is considered old at 50 is more a usage of terms than an actuality. Even if a man feels as young as he ever did he'll be backed to the wall and compelled to feel old by a generation which thinks he is. Society is accustomed to spanning life too narrowly.

Now it seems a good division would be; childhood, 1-25; youth, 25-50; middle age, 50-75; old age, 75-100.

After all, we are only children until 25, having learned nothing of life; our youth, the time for beginning our life work follows after 25; then middle life when we begin to enjoy some of the fruits of our labors, is next, and finally old age comes after 75, at a time in life when we are willing to accept it.

Let's keep the world young. Let us not think age before we meet it. And let us make it an offense against humanity to call a man anything but a youth if he is below 50.

HOME STUDY

One of New York's city schools is doing away with home work. The class periods are lengthened and divided into two periods, the first part for instruction, the second part used to work out the next day's assignments. For several reasons this appears to be a good plan.

First, the pupil does his work under supervision,—if he meets with a problem the instructor is at hand to help him through. He is also working out the next day's work while today's lesson is fresh in his mind.

Second, hours at home, after school and in the evening, can be given uninterrupted to the study of arts, and enjoyment of wholesome family activities.

Third, if a shorter working day is thought advisable for the adult why not for the young. Chronic fatigue is noxious. To build health for later life the young must not be overworked.

FISHPOOL FATALITIES

A two-year-old child was drowned in a fishpool this week in an Indiana town. The water in the pool was less than two feet deep.

Accidents of this nature have not been uncommon since the fad of building back-yard pools. Many of these pools are deep enough to be very treacherous. But children will drown in shallow pools, too, due partly to the paroxysm of fear which seizes a child when he falls face downward in water.

Is there any way to cover a pool with fine wire, and still be able to enjoy the pleasure it affords?

You, yourself, may have no children, but the neighbor's child might meet death in your pool, as was the case in the above mentioned fatality.

Better every pool to be drained than one child's life lost.

BRITISH WRITERS OVERLAUDED

"No man is a hero to his valet," said Carlyle, which may explain why we secure our lecture material from abroad and let our own writers go begging. In the United States at the present time, several British authors are making speaking tours. They will be paid handsomely and will carry our good American dollars back to England to spend them in "good, old London." But do you ever hear of them making any ado over anything with the made-in-America stamp on it?

Our American talent is equally as great as Britain's, is recognized with the world's finest, and should certainly receive encouragement in our own country.

We all get into the habit of thinking that the hill across the way is greener, and fail to see the patch of green velvet in our own back yards.

FRESHENING BREEZES

Doctors are credited with saying that thin people live longer. Maybe it is because the less they suck out the harder it is to slip them with a fender.—Humboldt Times.

Now that various nations have advanced the idea of recruiting women for their armies, there will be a lot of husbands who regret that they have only one wife to give to their country.

Dr. Carlos Anglade, minister of public works of Venezuela, says, "When government has complete control of any one thing it is usually a poor manager, as there are too many hands in the matter."

The greatest results in life are usually attained by simple means and the exercise of ordinary qualities. These may for the most part be summer up in these two—common sense and perseverance.—Feltham.

Now we know why husbands give their wives a certain amount for household expenses and then get part of it back before the week is over. They must have a streak of Irish in them. A man in Ireland will sometimes sell you a horse for 50 pounds and give you a tenner back for luck, although he would not sell you the horse for 40 pounds.

And Now In Closing—

The grim word "economics" — in its original sense—means merely and simply "The Science of Housekeeping." The Greeks invented it. Casting about to find a word to describe the art of managing the business affairs of a government, they realized that . . . keeping a nation in good order and in a condition of prosperity was best compared to keeping the furniture dusted, the oil lamps filled, and the right kind of pork and Thessalonian grapes in the larder. They chose "economics" as properly descriptive of the art of maintaining the best standards of living.—James D. Mooney.

Maybe the fellow who boasts that he is just as good as he used to be didn't used to be as good as he thinks he was.

The two agencies that do most to complicate the problem of unemployment are machines and the stork.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Community Cooperation Needed To Control Communicable Disease

Health is that quality of life which enables one to live most and serve best. To live most and serve best means to get the most we are capable of getting out of life and to give the best we are capable of giving to society. It is toward such an end that school health work is directed.

Modern school hygiene is chiefly concerned with matters of positive health. Formerly the control of communicable diseases was held to be all important. The school was recognized as a possible hotbed for the spread of infection. Today the importance of communicable disease control is still recognized, but the discovery of physical defects and the improvement of the child's general physical condition are of first importance. The effort is to forestall disease. This attitude, plus the practice of teaching the child to live rightly and healthfully, makes the modern period truly a period of positive health promotion.

Positive health is not only preventive but provides for the adding of something to a person's body machine it has not had before. For instance, the school lunch is designed not only to prevent the malnourished child from being taken down with disease but to aid children who have no ailments to build up stronger and stronger bodies.

However, the school cannot work alone with any great success. Cooperation between the home and the school is indispensable to successful school health work. The parent and the school must together share the responsiblity for the child. In control of communicable disease the parent best cooperates by keeping at home children with suspicious signs of such a disease. By telephoning the school as early as possible in such cases the parent enables the school to take the necessary steps for the protection of other children. On its part the school may well provide the parent with directions for the handling of such matters. In case of exclusion for disease, the parent should secure medical attention at once and return the child to school in suitable health as soon as possible.

The child is expected to come to school clean and to observe personal habits which will in no way menace the health of other pupils. Cleanliness is next to godliness we are told: cleanliness of the person and cleanliness of the mind.

Attempts should be made by the parent to promote various physical activities, and the necessary protective measure, such as vaccination against smallpox and immunization against diphtheria. If the child is unable to take part in the physical activities of the school, this fact will soon be known to the school. Exemption for any reason but a serious disability is unwise procedure. Exemption from vaccination and immunization is not advisable, and is dangerous in case of an epidemic.

CENTRAL LAKE

Sixteen above zero Monday morning. Coldest yet.

Forty-two dollars and 55 cents was taken in at the Grand View school social.

Mrs. Eben Dawson and son spent the week-end at the James Dawson home.

Ivan Morse and "Red" Chambers left the first of the week for Detroit to seek employment.

Walter Anderson and family were over from Creswell Thursday to visit at the J. Dawson home.

Bay View had 12 present for Sunday school last Sunday. No session was held the Sunday before.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Babcock, of Mesick, visited Saturday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. G. A. Liscum.

Allen Aardema and family have their new house on the Wilkinson farm about ready for occupancy.

No Sunday chool was held last Sunday at Grand View on account of the funeral of Mrs. Clow in the afternoon.

Pentecostal missionaries held services at the Gospel Tabernacle Saturday evening and Sunday, attended by a good crowd.

Rev. Bolitho, Methodist pastor at Harbor Springs, and his wife, visited last week with her aunt, Miss Brouwer, and A. Snitsler.

One hundred per cent credit meeting was held at Bay View school house last Thursday evening. Lyle Morse is sponsoring the meetings.

C. H. Morse, Gordon Dawson and Maurice Dawson returned Saturday from deer hunting east of the Jordan. The two latter brought home their deer.

Eben Dawson's people moved Saturday to the William Norton farm from the E. C. Rowe farm, at Bay View. Mrs. Dawson stopped for the week-end at the James Dawson home.

Ye correspondent went to Ann Arbor again last week Monday, returning Friday after having the physician go down into his windpipe a dozen times for proud flesh on the operation first performed. He is to return in four weeks.

Mrs. B. B. Ferris, wife of Rev. Ferris, Holiness pastor at Bellaire, returned from Ann Arbor Friday, where she visited a week with her husband, who is at the hospital on account of a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Ferris expects to return next week.

We have the sad duty of recording this week the death of Mrs. Clow, for years mistress of the Clow Hotel. Mrs. Clow was famed probably the whole state over for her fine cooking. She was an amiable lady, seldom complaining, though ill for many years. She will be greatly missed by many friends and relatives. She was the mother of Blaine Wilson, editor of the Torch. Funeral, in charge of Rev. Snyder, was held Sunday.

Services of the American Legion were well attended at Bay View and Grand View and good programs given. Useful literature in regard to the flag's use was presented to the school, together with a fine American flag. We remember the time a few years past when we gave a patriotic program at college, that we could find but one old U. S. flag, and of 700 people attending a patriotic meeting only about a dozen people could properly give the flag salute. With so much Communist propaganda, it behooves all patriotic citizens to teach poetry in reference to the flag, constitution and country, as did the former H. R. Pattengill, superintendent of public instruction.

BEAVER ISLAND

Mrs. W. J. Gallagher, Sr., Eddie B. Gallagher, and Mrs. Joseph Lett and children left Friday for Chicago, where they expect to spend the winter.

Warren (Chub) Wilmott, of the local coast guards, was transferred to Holland, Mich., and left for that place Wednesday, November 18. During "Chub's" stay on the Island he made many friends, all of whom wish him well in the new place.

ROCK ELM

Mrs. William Whitten passed away at her home Friday night from a heart attack. Her sudden death came as a shock to the community for, though her health had been poor for some time, she had not been confined to her bed. Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon by Rev. Leach, of East Jordan, from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Danforth. She leaves, besides her husband, a little son nine months old, her father and mother, three brothers, and many other relatives and friends, who will long miss her.

AT THE MOVIES

Starr-Studded Cast Marks "Libeled Lady" at Palace

Jean Harlow, William Powell, Myrna Loy, Spencer Tracy all in one picture! There's a collection of outstanding vim names each of which is capable of ruling a motion picture east in his and her own right. Only once in a movie moon is such a stellar aggregation of stars gathered together for one production. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has assembled them for its extravagant production of "Libeled Lady," the new season "special" which comes to the Palace Theatre Nov. 28, for a run of three days.

Mystery and Laughs Mixed In "The Longest Night"

It may seem incredible that despite the number of mystery stories on the screen an entirely novel plot is possible but here it is. "The Longest Night," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer brings to the screen of the Place Theatre Dec. 2-3, is placed entirely in a mammoth department store.

There amidst lingerie, cooking utensils and basement bargain hats there is murder along with mystery, mirth and a corking good romance between the store owner's son and, of course, a pretty saleslgirl.

Robert Young plays the lead with Florence Rice, an extremely attractive young lady who is on the way to stardom according to Hollywood indications. An unusually capable cast includes Ted Healy, Julie Haydon, Catharine Doucet, Janet Beecher, Leslie Fenton, Sidney Toler, Paul Stanton, Olin Howland, Kitty McHugh, John Hyams, Minor Watson.

Burning, Gnawing Pains In Stomach Relieved

Neutralize irritating acids with Dr. Emil's Adla Tablets. Prevent a sore, inflamed stomach, yet eat what you want. Adla gives relief or your money back. F. J. Fessenden & Son, Druggists.

Milljonaire ship-owners' four marriage wrecks. An unusual series of matrimonial upsets. Read about them in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Error Delays many Drivers' Licenses

From 15 to 25 per cent of the applications for licenses to operate motor vehicles in the state of Michigan, are returned for necessary correction or completion, with consequent delay, Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State has pointed out.

On days when as many as 2,000 to 3,000 applications may be received at the capitol, from 300 to 500 may be returned to applicants. While the state is pinced to some expense in making a refund of the $1 fee, the greatest inconvenience is caused to the applicant.

About 20 days are required to send the license out, once it is received at the capitol, and this period is doubled when it becomes necessary to return the application.

Commonest errors include that of failing to have the applicant's name spelled the identical way on all three places where such entry is required on the application. Large numbers of applicants fail to answer all questions, though the application bears the caution that all must be answered.

P. O. Rules Trip Stale Fee Orders

Officials of the Department of State at Lansing are pointing out that postal money orders sent to the Secretary of State should be made payable at Lansing, rather than at any other point. A fee is charged for cashing postal money orders at any place other than that designated for payment; as the department has no appropriation to meet this, such money orders are returned to their makers. Great inconvenience to those sending fees is thus caused. The regulations concerning the extra fee were passed at the last session of Congress.

HOW THOUSANDS WERE RESCUED IN SPRING FLOODS—With the cooperation of the Coast Guard and many private agencies, the Red Cross rescue crews took the aged, ill, infirm from their homes when flood waters rose in Pennsylvania cities. Hundreds of refugee centers and canteens were waiting to shelter them, with Red Cross medical aid at hand

JOBS OF ALL KINDS FOUND BY THE NRS

Engineers, Pharmacists, Ditch Diggers, Farm Hands Get Jobs

How u public employment service can have an economic as well os a sorial value to the community is illustrated by the kind and unmber of jobs furnished through the National Reemployment Service, according to Major Howard Starret, State Reemployment Director.

While other offices throughout Michigan have a smaller volume of business than the Detroit office, as wide a variety of persons and employers ure served. Farmers, small employers, large manufacturers as well as the unemployed share the benefits, he said.

An analysis of the October placements in Detroit shows that practically every kinn of local gainful occupation was represented among the 3,099 jobs in private enterprise.

Professional and clerical workers received 226 jobs. A trained nurse, pharmacist, 21 credit, department, retail stnre, restnurant, office and traffic manngers were hired. Also in this group were typist, clerks, messengers and similar persons.

The office placed 344 persons in sales jobs in some of Detroit's largest stores. Chauffers, cooks, houseworkers and other service and maintenance workers got 736 jobs. Bricklayers, carpenters and butchers were sent to many of the 635 skilled jobs. Among the 517 semi-skilled jobs were many for truck drivers, farm hands and machine operators.

There were also 641 physical labor jobs. Included were cement yard laborers, construction laborers, and factory laborers.

Altogether, approximately 5,000 employers are regularly using the service in the Detroit area. The service is free to them as well as to applicants. They call the office for prospective employees because they are sent out quickly and because they are qunlified for the jobs, Major Starret said. Applicants find a great saving in time and money in their search for employment when register in public employment offices, he said.

"I believe that a public organization should pay its own way ob be able to save the community money," Major Starret said. "Every time our service sends out a qualified capable employee, resulting in one less labor turnover, this saves the employer from $40 to $50 depending on various estimates. When an employer wants an employee he frequently needs him immediotely so that production may be continued. Here is additional saving which we can indirectly bring about.

"Then there is that big contribution to the unemployed person not only in actual dollars and cents but as a humanitarian measure. The persons receiving jobs through the NRS did not wait hopelessly in long lines for jobs for which they were not qualified. They did not spend useless carfare. Hundreds of them would not be happy with a secure job, if they had not used the service we offered ot them.

"The public employment office is one of the finest public services that may be given a community for both its economic and social values."

NEARLY HUNDRED MILLION FINGERLINGS ARE PLANTED

Fingerling Plantings from state hatcheries completed so far this year total more than 94,500,000 baby fish, according to figures compiled by the fisheries division of the department of conservation.

Large numbers of bluegills, brook trout, rainbow trout, perch and bass have yet to be planted.

A New Serial By Maysie Greig

Opening chapters of a facinating, romantic novel, "Challenge To Happiness," will be found in The American Weekly with next Sunday's issue of The Detroit Sunday Times. It is a gripping tale about three men and a girl —which raises the question "Is success a challenge to happiness?"

HARD TO BELIEVE

Thanksgiving!

Not for years has America had so much for which to be thankful as at the present time. We need not pat ourselves on the back nor indulge in any undue optimism, but on this Thanksgiving Day we can be glad, and truly thankful, that our country has survived a dangerous period and is apparently headed for n genuine revival of prosperity. Let us give thanks that an increasing majority of us are returning to a typically American standard of living.

4-H Club Winter Projects Being Organized

Plans are rapidly being formulated by the various communities in the county for the organization of the winter projects. Of interest to the girls is the clothing club project, for the boys manual training, and for both the hot lunch project.

Thus far 19 schools have been visited by the county agent and in every case clubs will result, as far as we can tell at the present time. It is highly gratifying to note the additional interest in hot lunch projects. Last winter there were nine schools in the county that served a hot dish daily, while this year there will be quite an increase. This activity lends itself very nicely to the entire school, as the younger children participate in it as well as the older ones.

Last spring those who finished their club program on Achievement Day will now receive their premium money, which was held back until the schools organize for the new year. By the end of the week all schools in the county will have been visited in the interest of this nicely balanced 4-H club program.

Child Care Project Leaders Have Now Received Second Lesson

Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde met with the leaders selected from eight communities last week Tuesday in the East Jordan community rooms. This project pertains entirely to children, children's problems and methods of creating proper habits and proper responses in children. The lesson was largely devoted to child health and clothing. Mrs. Lynde brought out the fact that garments commonly bought for children are very often improper for the child's comfort, well being and the development of the proper habits.

Up to the present time the following leaders have been selected by their communities to receive the instruction and to transmit it back to the communities: East Jordan Group 1, Mesdames Hazel Conway and Rita Hickox; Group 2, Mesdames E. E. Wade and H. P. Porter; Group 3, Alex Sinclair and Harriet Malpass; Group 4, Alice DeForest and Opal Eggert. There are two Ironton groups headed by Mrs. Ross Alexander, Mrs. Pearl Dean, Mrs. Mary Bennett and Mrs. Mae Nuckles. Boyne City group, Mrs. James Davison; Phelps and Marion Center groups by Mrs. Mary Balch and Mrs. Countis Mascho.

The evident enrollment is something like 100 group members. The interest is fine. The above groups added to the 15 communities studying the nutrition project gives this county 23 different communities that are participating in the extension program this winter.

Soil Conservation Measurements Nearly Completed

The work of measuring the farms in the county is very nearly completed. It is expected that within the next week or 10 days that the job will be completed and the applications for payment made out.

At the present time 160 applications for payment have been approved in the office are are being sent out to be signed up by the farmer. These applications then can be sent to Lansing and the payments should be received within the next two weeks or so.

In case you have not requested measurements by returning the card sent you some time ago and if you still want to have your farm measured, it will be necessary to see the farm reporter or contact Mr. Ferris at the office for a card. The work must come to a conclusion within the next week or so, so please be prompt if you desire to have your farm measured. We don't want to leave anyone out who desires to participate, but cards must be executed for each farm that is measured. Up to date there are approximately 700 farms that have requested measurement out of slightly more than 1300 farms upon which work sheets were made this spring. This seems to be about the general average of other counties in this district.

If you do not happen to have an application presented to you for signing, it is due to the fact that your map varies from the figures given on your work sheet in the spring, and is being held up in the office until the adjustments can be made. These adjustments cannot be approved until the entire county is completed.

CURTIS W. PARKER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Died Sunday at Son's Home Following An Extended Illness

Curtis W. Parker, father of Rev. G. R. Parker, of this city, died Sunday evening at his son's residence on State street, following an extended illness.

Deceased was born August 13, 1857, in Delta township, Eaton county. He remained on the homestead until after he was 22 years old. His home was in Eaton county until after he was 70 years of age. For the past few years he had spent his winters in Charlevoix.

He was united in marriage to Ida May Fox on May 12, 1877. To this union four children were born, of whom two survive. With his wife, he celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary during the summer of 1928.

His young manhood was spent surrounded with all of the hardships of pioneer life. When he was not working on the farm he was clearing new land. He was an expert with the scythe and cradle, being chosen many times to set the pace for the gang that entered the field of hay or grain. He was also a fast binder, when grain was bound by hand, and was quite familiar with binding grain at night so that the grain would not shatter so much. He had threshed many bushels of grain with the flail, which was the only mode of threshing before the threshing machine made its appearance. He was interested in the sports of his day. There were six boys in his family and he was one of the team known as the "Parker Baseball Team." His father helped to clear the land upon which Lansing is now situated, and cut trees from the present Capitol Hill.

Early in his life Mr. Parker became a Christian and united with the Methodist Protestant church. He always took time to do what he could in religious work. For many years he was a Sunday school superintendent and teacher.

He is survived by his widow and two children, Mrs. Ella A. Pitzer, Lexington, Ky., and G. R. Parker, this city; also four grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted here Tuesday afternoon and burial will be in Delta township, at a spot two miles from his birthplace, situated between Lansing and Grand Ledge.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 41. NUMBER 49. EIGHT PAGES THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1936 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

WILL SEEK RAISE FISHING LICENSE

DEPARTMENT FAVORS RESIDENT ROD FEE OF $1

Cites Increase in Number of Anglers as Necessity of More Planting to Maintain Fishing

Increasing the resident fishing license fee from 50 cents to $1 will be asked of the next Legislature, it has been decided by the Conservation Commission.

Higher costs of operation, need of increased salaries among the field staff, sharing a larger burden of law enforcement and a more extensive fish propagation program, are the reasons for the need of additional funds, it is pointed out.

Figures for 1936 are not available but from all sources the license fees in 1935 produced $369,386, of which resident anglers contributed $239,401. The balance came from non-resident and special licenses.

Fred A. Westerman, chief of the fish division, in support of the department's need of additional revenue, says:

"We feel the necessity of a greater planting program, compensation of the field men should be brought up to a point where it is comparable with the cost of living, a more extensive research program should be provided and more money is needed to finance our hatchery program."

Costs Are Mounting

Westerman points out that during the last three years the federal government through WPA and the CCC has been a heavy contributor to conservation, particularly the fish program. Hatcheries have been expanded, requiring larger appropriations for maintenance and operation.

Fish plantings have been curtailed beenuse of increased costs.

A number of years ago fish food consisting mostly of liver was purchased at from 3 to 3½ cents a pound. A 60-day supply purchased this week cost 8½ cents a pound.

The state would feel the results keenly should the federal government curtail PWA and CCC activities as far as the fish division is concerned. Westerman says the government has made large contributions for various activities and the minute it withdraws, the state will be called upon to contribute additional funds to finance expanded hntcheries and other phases of the program.

State's Fee Is Lowest

"We believe a larger planting program is essential," Westerman says. "Compared with other states, our resident fishing license fee is the lowest."

The division chief says it is important that some recognition be given the field staff, the great majority of whom now are employed at monthly wages ranging from $81 to $90.

Some season changes in fish laws may be urged also. Westerman says bills will be drawn closing all lakes in the state to fishing during April. Pike lakes are not closed at any time.

Opening of lakes would be controlled according to their classification. For example, bass lakes would not be reopened until June 25 when bass may be legally taken.

While hook and line fishermen may now take as many perch and walleyed pike from the Great Lakes without license as they care to, an effort will he made to limit perch to 50 and walleyes to five in a day.

COMMUNITY INTEREST BECOMES CENTERED ON CHRISTMAS

With Thanksgiving Day of 1936 marked og the calendar, the community has turned its nttention toward Christmns and the holiday season.

Window displnys of Christmas toys and holiday merchnndise, which are now being put in place, have all helped focus attention on the coming event. Festive appearnnce of the business district is also being enhnnced by the decoration of boulevnrd lamp posts with cedar boughs. A huge Christmas tree, decorated with colored lights, will be placed at the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets again this year.

The fnct that only 22 more shopping days remain before gifts go on the Christmas trees on Christmns Eve is also helping to stimulate holiday interest and impress upon shoppers that their time is limited.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS FRIDAY

TRAVERSE CITY TROJANS HERE FOR INITIAL GAME

Second Teams Open Double Bill at 7:15—With Three Veterans in Line-Up, Rayders Look Good

Friday evening, December 4th, brings the opening of the 1936-37 basketball schedule for Charlevoix High school and during the halunce of the winter this sport will provide the major interest for followers of high school athletics.

The initial contest on a 14-game schedule provides a double bill, with Traverse City first and second teams furnishing the opposition. That circumstances have brought about a deviation from the usual custom of taking on a Class D opponent for the initinl game should prove a good test of strength for the Red Rayders, for Traverse City's Trojans are among the strongest of Northern Michigan Class B outfits.

If their performance in practice is any indication, Coach Kipke's 1936-37 team will be good. Built around Ed. Radle, Keith Carey and "Chick" Gallagher, veterans of last year's district and regional championship squad, the first string quintet will be composed in addition to these veterans, of Chnrles Richardson and Leslie Shupton, with Bert Pearl a close choice with Richardson. Gallagher plays at center, Shapton and Radle at guards, and Carey and Richardson at the forwards.

In the second team line-up are Neff at center, Bob Livingston and Bruce Withers at guards, Bert Pearl and Louis Orlowski at forwards. Both teams will see action Friday night, also players from the third and fourth line teams. A wealth of material has been out tbis season. Starting with over 40 candidates, Coach Kipke hns cut down to around 30 players who are receiving nightly practice.

The initinl contest on Friday night's bill will open at 7:15, and the second game at 8:15. Charlevoix plays at Petoskey on Decemher 11, and returns to the home hardwood for the Kalkaska-Ellsworth double bill on December 18.

School athletic officials would appreciate a large turn-out for the initial contest.

STR. FRED W. GREEN RAISED AT MUSKEGON

Charlevoix citizens will be interested in learning that the Str. Fred W. Green, which sank in the Muskegon harbor entrance November 24 after striking the pier while attempting to make port in a heavy storm, has been raised.

Harold Isaksen, a crew member who returned here Wednesday morning, stated the vessel hns been towed to Manitowoc, Wis., where it will be placed in dry dock for repairs.

The crew, which included Henry Isaksen, Harold Isaksen, Elry Pontius, Douglas Knudsen, Emerald Chew and Wesley Rider, of this city, remained on the Green until it was raised. The ship is owned by John Roen, formerly of this city.

OFFICIALS EXPECT RECORD DEER KILL

ESTIMATE 35,000 BUCKS TAKEN DURING SEASON

Season Closed Monday for Army of 110,000 Hunters; Eight Nimrods Killed, 9 Others Meet Death

The bombardment of a deer hunting season deserihed by State Conservation Department officials as the most successful in recent years, reached its final crescendo Monday.

Chilly weather and ample snow for tracking favored the remnunts of a hunting army of 110,000 which opened its last offensive. The season closed Monday night.

The Conservation Department estimated the deer kill at 35,000 bucks. The mortality list of hunters stood at 17. Four hunters were killed by the accidental discharge of their own guns. Four were killed by other hunters. Four were killed in traffic accidents and five died of natural causes with over-exertion presumably a contributing factor. Only seven hunting deaths were recorded last season, three of them from gunshot wounds.

Amateurs Cause Trouble

Harry D. Ruhl, chief of the Conservation Department's game division, said the unusual number of inexperienced hunters in the woods this year accounted in part for the increase in deaths.

Inexperience, he said, also was a factor in the heavy slaughter of fawns and does and in the large number of game law violations. At least 1,000 protected deer were killed illegally, Ruhl said, and conservation officers were able to retrieve only half of the slaughtered animals left in the woods. Carcasses recovered were given to charitable institutions.

Approximately 500 hunters were charged with infractions of the game code and Ruhl said the 75 wardens sworn in for the hunting season would be retained in the service until law violation cases are concluded in court.

At Manistique, a warrant charging involuntary manslaughter was issued Saturday against Lawrence Paull, of Hawks. Prosecutor William J. Sheahan said Paull admitted a shot from his gun killed Walter Gordier, of Seney, Friday.

An inquest was cancelled at the request of the prosecutor.

One other criminal case growing out of a hunting fatality is pending at Tawas City, where Theodore Longsdorf, of Howell, is charged with negligent homicide in connection with the death of Clare Franks, of Whittemore.

At St. Ignace, Saturday, conservation officials estimated that two-thirds of the hunters had returned home across the Straits, taking with them an estimated total of 3,900 deer and 67 bear.

NATION'S AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES INCREASE

Expect Final Count for 1936 Will Give 37,500 Dead for Year

More people are being killed in automobile accidents this year than in any other year in history, the National Safety Council has announced.

A final count is expected to show 37,500 dead for 1936, an increase of 500 from 1935.

The increase was mostly among children who walked into the paths of automobiles. Ten per cent more boys and girls five to 14 years old are being killed that way this year than last.

STATE BANK WILL RELEASE DIVIDEND

10% FROZEN ASSETS AVAILABLE DECEMBER 1

Pay-Off by Both Local Banks Prior to Christmas Season Will Release Approximately $36,000

Providing the second important financial announcement in as many weeks, the Charlevoix State Savings Bank has given notice of a distribution of cash to the extent of 10 per cent of the certificates of indebtedness of the Charlevoix Depositors' Corporation.

The dividend, available as of December 1, will release $24,334.43. Last week the Charlevoix County State Bank announced a dividend of five per cent, its second in two years, aggregating approximately $10,200. Taken together, the two dividends will total $34,534.43, which, coming at the height of the Christmas season, should prove of no small impetus to business.

Officials of the State Savings Bank have announced that, in order to secure payment, depositors are required to present their certificates of indebtedness for proper endorsement. Voucher checks are now ready for delivery.

Funds for the dividend have been accumulated through the liquidation of assets and, as fast as additional assets can he liquidated, further payments to depositors will be made. The sale of real estate acquired through foreclosure and liquidation of honds will be accomplished by the Depositors' Corporation as rapidly as mnrket conditions warrant. It has not been necessary to borrow from the RFC to pay the dividend, officials of the bank stated.

COUNCIL LETS SNOW PLOWING CONTRACTS

Forrest Plum Named Superintendent of Public Utilities by Council

At an adjourned meeting Monday night, the city council made preparations for removal of snow from sidewalks during the winter.

Three contracts were awarded. The south side district was allotted to Jack Gallagher, the valley to Edgar Smith, and the north side district to Robert Mitchell. The contract calls for payment of $2.50 for each plowing.

By a split vote of three affirmative and two negative, Alderman Ranger, absent and not voting, Forrest Plum was named superintendent of public utilities. Mr. Plum has been serving as acting superintendent since the resignation last spring of Vincent S. Madison.

TOURISTS ADOPTING HOUSE CARS

NEW TREND IS CITED BY STATE PARK OFFICIALS

Use of Modern "Covered Wagon" Brought State Park Attendance Up to 1931 Figure

Due largely to the modern "covered wagon," camping in Michigan's state parks during the past tourist season practically equalled the peak of 1931.

This is the most significant fact uncovered by parks authorities in their annual compilation of attendance figures for the tourist season.

"The trend of tourist travel is swinging heavily and swiftly toward the trailer car," commented Walter J. Kingscott, superintendent of state parks. "And the use of this type of vehicle undoubtedly has been responsible for a substantial increase in the number of tourists coming into Michignn, most noticeably during the past season.

"Our tallies show that 15,036 trailer camps were established in the parks in which camping is permitted. Next year we will expect more and doubtless can continue to expect more. Not only that, but we must provide a new type of special facilities for these trailer uses, such as more definitely outlined camp sites, improved sanitary facilities, electricity; perhaps in a few cases on request—telephones."

Kingscott said that the bulk of the 8,911,319 visitors to the 55 state parks during the past season was formed of local residents; it is the number of camps chiefly, he says, that indicate trends of tourist use. During the 1936 season a total of 173,765 campers were counted by the park attendants; 48,399 camps were tallied, of which nearly a third were trailer cars. The all-time peak in the number of camps built in the state parks was 49,410 in 1931.

Some of the significant facts revealed in the park attendance compilation follow:

Visitors were present from 46 of the 48 states and from Canada and the District of Columbia.

The number of non-resident camps built increased 30 per cent.

The number of Michigan camps built increased 23 per cent.

The state of Ohio sent the greatest number of non-resident park campers, 10,565. Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin were next in order.

A total of 10,238 Michigan automobiles encamped was counted in state parks.

Attendants counted a total of 3,051 camps by Ohio automobiles; 1,791 from Illinois; 1,508 from Indiana; 359 from Wisconsin.

The average number of persons per camp established was 3.59.

The percentage of totnl campers to total park attendance was 1.95.

A comparatively new feature in the state parks are the facilities for group camping, such as by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, family reunions, club outings. These facilities, which consist of a large building with two kitchens and a spacious dining room, have been built in nine state parks, as follows: Bay City, Bloomer No. 3, Dodge Nos. 9 and 10, Walter J. Hayes, Interlochen, Munuscong, Van Buren and J. W. Wells.

Since these buildings are available to all without charge on arrangement with the park attendant, their popularity is increasing. The facilities are availnble to picnic, club and family groups for one day only, but groups of boys or girls between ages of eight and 18 are allowed dormitory facilities and the nse of kitchens for as long as two weeks if accompanied by chnperones.

Mrs. Lynde speaks the first Monday of each month at 3 p. m. over WKAR at Lansing, on "Understanding Your Child," December 10 she will broadcast at noon during the Farm Home Hour on "Toys That Teach." The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

Within a month Michigan will be introduced to a state administration that has already promised to make of this state the greatest New Deal State in the Union. Proponents of bills who have introduced them periodically for the past ten years have taken that to mean that their pet projects will be received in a favorable light and the next Legislature can expect to be confronted with the greatest hodge-podge of political panaceas ever designed to relieve the human ills of a theoretically stricken populace.

The administration's leader campaigned on the laudable if somewhat ephemeral issue of "Social Justice" and bills for the promotion of more justice for society can be expected by the gross in the expectation that this administration will receive them fondly and immediately enact them into law.

We can only hope—both for the sake of the people of Michigan and the incoming administration — that many of these legislation promoters are doomed to disappointment. As a matter of actual fact the bills in which the populace of Michigan stands in dire need are few. It could probably lead a passable existence if no bills were enacted at all—but this is far too much to expect.

There will be bills passed, but not in the numbers with which they will be proposed. Fortunately for the new governor, he takes office with the state's finances in such order that he can devote his considerable energies to the solution of legislative problems. He will not have eternally upon his mind the primary duty of keeping the government running at all—a duty that confronted both Governor Comstock and Governor Fitzgerald. By the enactment of the sales tax Governor Comstock added a method of addition to the state's revenues that pulled it through its most trying period. By means of these increased revenues and a business-like management Governor Fitzgerald pulled the state's treasury back into the black. Governor-elect Murphy takes office with no immediate problems of an emergency nature to puzzle him. It is only to be hoped that he devotes his capabilities to a sound program — supporting those few measures that will place Michigan in the forefront of the states for its sane humanity and eradicating those statutes or sections of them that have been found to be unnecessary or irksome to a people already overburdened with laws. He has a brilliant opportunity to serve his state well; may he make the most of it.

Opponents of Civil Service, avowed or undercover, would have found much to set them thinking had they conversed with state employes in Lansing and throughout the state following the Democratic victory November 3rd. Many of these persons have served their state well for insufficient wages for many years. The caprice of an election has turned them out of work, they understand, to seek employment elsewhere. Much of the improvement in state office work is due to their study and experimentation. They deserve better of the State of Michigan than summary dismissal.

This is not to be construed as any criticism of the incoming regime. Since Michigan is not under Civil Service the new officials are under no obligation to retain present employes, no matter what their qualifications. The victor and the spoils have always gone hand in hand in Michigan politics and will until an iron-bound state law ends a time-honored abuse.

Such a law will probably come before the next Legislature and in all likelihood will be passed. There will also probably be attempts to hamstring and qualify provisions of the law. It is too much to hope that such attempts will not be made. In any event, Michigan will get Civil Service in one form or another and it is high time.

RED CROSS HIGHWAY POSTS AID INJURED

1,000 Function At Key Points To Give Emergency Care To Traffic Hurt

Highway first aid stations, set up by the Red Cross to give emergency care to victims of traffic accidents, are saving lives, according to James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations.

"More than 1,000 of our emergency posts are already operating in 47 states and thousands of others will soon be established at key points along America's highways," Mr. Fieser stated.

The Red Cross highway posts are concentrated at danger spots in rural areas where medical aid is not readily available. The importance of this coverage of the open road, the Red Cross holds, is given sharper emphasis by the fact that there has been a 150 per cent increase in rural traffic fatalities during the past twelve years.

The project was initiated last year on a national scale as a practical approach to the highway accident problem. The Red Cross felt that it could best apply its strength by succoring those who continue to be injured pending a reduction in the highway accident rate through legislation and safety education.

"Our program brings first aid skill to the scene of accident in an effort to reduce the number of persons killed and maimed in automobile mishaps," Mr. Fieser said. "Our highway first aiders are not medical men in any sense, but it is their job to turn the injured over to the medical profession in the best shape possible."

The Red Cross highway posts are established at gasoline service stations, tourist homes, rural police and fire departments. The personnel of the posts are trained by the Red Cross in first aid, standard first aid equipment is installed at each station, and identifying signs for the benefit of motorists are erected beside the highway at both approaches to the station.

The attendants of these roadside units who qualify as first aiders volunteer their services through the Red Cross and may under no circumstances accept pay for caring for the injured.

To complement the highway first aid stations, the Red Cross has announced formation of mobile units. Several thousand trucks which regularly ply the highway in the course of routine work will be equipped with first aid kits. Drivers and crews will take courses in both standard and advanced first aid, and each truck will be identified as a Red Cross mobile unit. More than a hundred trucks are already operating.

"The highway police of eight states who have finished first aid training will join this army mobilized to cut accident fatalities and prevent complication of minor injuries through mishandling at the scene of accident," Mr. Fieser said.

"We receive reports from our first aid stations daily, telling of essential care given to traffic casualties on the spot and of lives actually saved."

This and many other Red Cross programs of equal value are supported by the people of America during the annual Roll Call for members. This year the Roll Call will be held from November 11 to 26.

Red Cross Potential Life Savers Number Nearly 2,000,000

First aid and life saving certificates issued by the American Red Cross since the start of the service 26 years ago now number 1,888,702. During the past year the Red Cross qualified 222,693 persons in first aid and taught water safety and rescue methods to 80,961.

This army of First Aiders and Life Savers is one of the great safety factors in the nation. They are trained to give immediate first aid at the scene of accident, thus saving many lives and preventing permanent injury. Red Cross training includes skill in treating for shock, splinting fractures, checking arterial bleeding, applying artificial respiration, towing drowning persons to safety and in the safe handling of boat and canoe.

Red Cross volunteers, framework of the organization, last year gave a total of 1,707,220 hours of service, producing 685,074 garments, 4,356,719 surgical dressings, 16,773 Christmas bags for soldiers, sailors and marines serving overseas. Perhaps the most important undertaking of these generous contributors to the public welfare is the making of braille books for the blind, with 342,000 pages printed during the past twelve months.

Of the 16,500,000 school children enrolled in the Junior Red Cross societies of 52 nations, more than half are members of the American Junior Red Cross representing 34,882 schools in this country.

Red Cross chapters aiding the needy in their communities act on approximately 22,674 family problems each month.

RED CROSS AID TO MORE THAN 500,000 DISASTER VICTIMS

Large Urban Areas Devastated As Elements Hit 20 States East of Mississippi

"The number of disaster victims assisted by the Red Cross during the fiscal year ended June 30, was more than four times the number aided in the previous twelve month period," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman, said in commenting on highlights of the annual report just issued. "Over 131,000 families were given food, clothing, shelter and medical care, and thousands of homes were rebuilt or repaired by the Red Cross to enable them to carry on."

Pointing to the many-sided problems created by the wide variety of types of disasters which occurred during the year, Admiral Grayson said, "The Red Cross sent hundreds of trained workers into 39 states to meet the many exigencies of catastrophes which included earthquake, epidemic, explosion, fire, hurricane, ice lock, landslide, refugee relief, shipwreck, tornado and typhoon. The Red Cross took charge at the scenes of 105 domestic disasters of major severity."

The report emphasized the marked value of Government-Red Cross cooperation when disaster strikes, giving as example the flight of Army bombing planes which dropped Red Cross food to marooned refugees at Renovo, Pennsylvania, during the Spring floods. More than 10,000 persons were rescued from the second floors of homes in Wilkes-Barre and Kingston through Coast Guard-Red Cross cooperation at the height of these same floods.

"Government agencies and relief groups were of invaluable assistance to Red Cross relief forces at all times," Admiral Grayson stated.

The complete resources of Red Cross leadership, training and disaster experience were brought into play by the Spring floods and tornadoes which took so heavy a toll of life and property in eastern and southern states this year, the annual report reveals.

Red Cross Nurses Combat Disease on Wide Front

At the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, there were 573 Red Cross nurses bettering health conditions and caring for the sick in 604 communities. These Red Cross public health nurses cared for a total of 233,616 persons during the year and made more than a million visits on their behalf.

The annual report of the American Red Cross states further that these nurses cooperated with doctors in examining 671,057 school and pre-school children with 342,861 physical defects found and curative treatment arranged in 209,080 cases.

In 979 Red Cross chapters 1,733 graduate nurses taught Red Cross home hygiene and care of the sick, issuing certificates to 53,126 persons completing the courses. In addition, 1,777 Red Cross reserve nurses were called upon during the year for disaster and epidemic control work.

Keep Ahead of the Joneses

There's just one way to be "better off" than the other people on your street. . . . In order to keep ahead, you must think and act first. And that can be done by any one who decides to do it, whatever the family income.

For instance, some people are smart enough to buy things when prices are down. Right now, of course, you can find sheets and towels and other supplies for the house at lowest-this-year prices. And that isn't all . . . Some time this winter you will find underwear for the children, gloves for yourself, pajamas for the head of the house — and many, many more things offered at 'way-down prices.

All sorts of special buys will keep bobbing up, if you watch the advertisements in this newspaper — and keep thinking ahead, and buying ahead.

Where will you get all the money, you ask? Well, it doesn't take more money to be better off, this way. Actually it takes less. The pennies you save by timely buying add up to dollars in the end.

ELIMINATE UNDESIRABLES

Since enforcement of the liquor law has been turned over to the police by the Liquor Control Commission, the Criminal Identification Bureau of the State Police has been lending its assistance in eliminating undesirables from entering into the liquor business. This department of the State Police is one of the largest of its kind in the United States, ranking second only to the National Bureau in Washington. At the present time it has on file the finger prints of 1,022,107 persons, as well as 1,100,847 index cards.

It is the policy of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission enforcement division, under the direction of Larry Ehrmann, to inspect, with the State Police, the record of each applicant to the Commission for a license. The fingerprint of the applicant is attached to the application, and is immediately checked by the police in an effort to determine whether or not the applicant has a criminal record. If it is determined that the individual applying has a questionable record, the State Police then refuse to recommend him for a license. The Liquor Control Commission, in turn, acting upon this refusal, then refuses to issue the license. In this manner the police are eliminating the undesirables from the liquor business in the state. This is an excellent method of keeping the business free from the many abuses it could suffer if such a method were not followed. We hope this system of identification will be followed by all succeeding administrations of the Commission. If it is, we can look forward to the time when this business will be placed upon a plane comparable to any other legitimate business in the state.

INSURANCE

What a terrible power is in the hands which drive an automobile! A turn of the wrist in the wrong direction can inflict untold agony and suffering. One cannot help questioning how many people would be able to pay for damages they might incur to others in case of accident. How mnny drivers carry insurance covering this possibility? There may be statistics on this point but we have not seen them. Our feeling, however, is that the figures would surely be startling, that millions drive cars who carry no insurance whatsoever.

It does seem that if a man can scrape up enough money to drive u car, any kind of car, he could get together enough more to carry insurance.

Legislation could be passed making insurance necessary, along with a driver's license.

EXPECT DEER KILL TO ESTABLISH A RECORD

Conservation Dept. Estimates License Sales to Reach 110,000

The largest "kill" of whitetail deer in Michigan's history was made during the past deer hunting season, in the belief of H. R. Sayre, chief of conservation law enforcement.

Sayre estimated that more than 30,000 buck deer were legally shot in Northern Michigan.

The number of 1936 deer-hunting licenses sold will not be known until early next year when sufficient reports from license dealers are received to indicate a total, but conservation authorities believe that approximately 110,000 bought licenses, another new high figure.

GIFTS NEED SENSE PLUS SENTIMENTS

Practical Presents for Christmas Are the Proper Thing

Of what use are Christmas gifts, expensive or inexpensive, if they are only valuable enough after the holidays to be "buried with Rover's bone" is the question asked by Margaret Partlow, member of the textiles and clothing department at Michigan State College.

As a reminder that gifts need not be expensive to have utility, Miss Partlow offers u list of suggestions that may help out in the pre-holiday shopping.

oFr an office Christmas tree party or for a bridge or social program where ten cent limits are used to govern the price of the gifts, Miss Partlow finds that there are gifts which can be economical and yet useful enough so that the comparison with Rover's bone need not be used.

Included in such a list would be gifts such as a desk calendar, hand lotion, powder puff of fluffy wool, soap, nail polish, paper cocktail cups, rubber mat for sink or shower, ivy plant, narcissus bulbs, hall of cord, kitchen scissors, waxed paper.

Then there is another type of puzzler that confronts those who have many gifts to buy. What can be purchased that will be useful and yet not cost more than a dollar?

Miss Partlow suggests turning to products of the hand weavers and hand craft workers. Gifts can include hooked mats, ties, hot pads, sweet grass mats, linen towels, hearth brooms, pewter tie clasps and clips, wooden trays, candle holders, carved animal ornaments or napkin rings.

BOWLING LEAGUE ORGANIZED FOR WINTER

Officers Elected Monday Night—Winter Tourney Starts December 7

Impetus was lent to bowling, already a popular local sport, by the organization Monday evening of a bowling league.

At a meeting held at the information bureau and attended by a representative group of enthusiasts, Robert Miles was chosen president, Chester Buddy, vice-president, and Dave Livingston, secretary-treasurer.

The league, when completed, will be composed of eight five-man teams. Competition in a city-wide tournament, to run through the balance of the winter, will start Monday evening, December 7. Handicaps will be set after the first six games and the tournament will be conducted on a handicnp basis thereafter. Matches will be conducted four nights each week, it is expected, the schedule to be arranged and announced later.

Individual and team prizes will be awarded and the tournament will close with a banquet in early spring.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT PREPARES FOR WINTER

New Equipment and Additional Snow Fence Bought for Battle

The State Highway Department prepared today to fight the winter bogey of motorists—snow and blizznrds—by ordering $100,000 worth of new equipment.

Snow removal during last winter, generally agreed to have been the most severe in recent years, cost $1,150,000 and took a heavy toll of maintenance equipment. New apparatus will be ready for use before heavy snows make highways treacherous.

At least two new ideas to benefit the motoring public in winter travel will be attempted this winter. One is a daily radio broadcast of road conditions throughout Michigan over the state police station, and the other will be the location of 50 gallon drums full of sand and chloride near curves and hills.

New equipment ordered includes two "snow-go" removal machines, four 10-ton, four-wheel drive trucks, 117 new plows and 56 miles of snow fence.

WINTER SPORTS OFFER NORTH HEAVY BUSINESS

Several Communities Planning Extensive Snow Programs

Michignn resort interests turned to winter sports preparations today as the end of the deer season brought to a close the most successful summer and fall tourist season in recent years.

Snow sports, a comparatively new development intended to help Northern Michigan communities profitably bridge the gap between the deer hunting and trout fishing seasons, are due for more emphasis this winter than ever before.

Grnyling, pioneer city in this held, will set the pace again. Petoskey, Alpena, Traverse City nnd Cadillac are also drafting extensive programs of cold weather sports and entertainment. Snow trains will take metropolitan residents north every weekend during the snow season.

Members of the Grayling Winter Sports Association have been operating for 10 years and the state will finance a new pavilion this season. Petoskey's Winter Sports club is already laying plans for the 10th nnnual winter carnival February 5-14, and a new six-lap track for speed racing, the only one in Michigan, will be ready after the first hard freeze in December. The Alpena winter sports program has not been definitely formulated, but the Chamber of Commerce hopes for a big snow season.

Acclaimed

Officials of resort associations were unanimous in acclaiming the summer and fall seasons as the best in recent years, and some say resort trade hit an all-time high.

A longer summer resort season is the most interesting angle of 1936 warm weather tourist trade. Cottages were generally occupied in October, increasing the income of the state's second industry which staged a decisive comeback.

At Alpena, Secretary-Manager Ben G. Wright of the Chamber of Commerce said:

"With the end of the big game season, Michignn's great tourist and resort areas can settle back and reflect on the greatest summer in all history. There wasn't an available cottage in the region and hotel rooms were at a premium during July and August. Many cottage and resort owners report a prolongation of the season into the fall months with many visitors staying well into the shndows of October."

A 30 per cent increase in resort trade over 1935 is reported by Hugh J. Gray, of Grand Rapids, secretary-mannger of the West Michigan Tourist Association.

"Cottages were occupied for a longer period of time during the past season than for the last five or six years and practically every livable cottage was rented," Gray said. "The cottage business wns marvelous this year so far as Western Michigan is concerned."

Concurs

T. F. Marston, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association, with headquarters in Bny City, concurs in this opinion about the resort boom. He believes better business conditions, with more vacationers able to go north from metropolitan areas, was a chief factor in summer resort success.

Although not as well organized as summer activities, winter sports nppear certain to enjoy record development in the wake of the sensational warm weather season. Tobogganning, ice skating, skiing, snow shoeing and old-time cutter rides will all have their place in the Northern Michigan program which will get under way as soon as snow and cold weather prevail.

STATE FORD DEALERS HEAVY ADVANCE SALE

Order 2,000 Trucks, Commercial Cars for December Delivery

Ford dealers of Michigan already have placed orders for 2,000 new Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars for December delivery, it is announced.

For the United States as a whole, December dealer orders for trucks and commercial cars are the largest in the history of the Ford Motor Company, with 35,043 units already on order.

Public acceptance of the new 60 horsepower engine and other new features, as well as general improvements in business and agricultural conditions, have been credited with the record-breaking December total.

An improved 85 horsepower V-8 engine is offered in addition to the new 60 horsepower V-8 engine. Both incorporate many advanced engineering prineiples.

A new body type—the 112-inch stnke—has been added to the commercial car line. Both trucks and commercial units have been improved in appearance through new styling and changes in the design of hood louvres, radiator shell and rndiator grille.

OLDSMOBILE SALES SHOW BIG INCREASE

Gain of 130 Per Cent Reported from Auto Shows in Nation

Better than 130 per cent more Oldsmobile Sixes and Eights aro being sold at current automobile shows throughout the country than were sold at the same shows last year, it was announced today by D. E. Ralston, Oldsmobile'a vice-president and general sales manager.

Oldsmobile's modern factories, on which six and one-half million dollars was recently spent in preparing for the production of the 1937 models, are now turning out more than one thousand cars daily. It is expected that more than twenty-five thousand cars will be built and shipped from Lansing during the month of December, with still larger schedules laid down for the following months. Both public acceptance and expanded production facilities point to a new all-time record for Oldsmobile in 1937.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

State's Electors to Meet Earlier

Attention is called by Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, to the fact that, in conformity with the so-called Norris "lame-duck" amendment to the federal constitution, presidential electors of this state will meet at the state capitol on December 14 this year to formally cast their ballots for President and Vice-President of the United States.

The amendment which provides that the President shall take his oath of office January 20, instead of March 4, also sets up changes in formal election machinery to conform with this change. The federal enactment resulting from the constitutional amendment provides that presidential electors shall meet on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December. The 1937 Legislature will be asked to amend the state's election laws so as to conform with the federal constitution and resulting congressional enactments.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Scarlet Fever Often Called Scarletina and Scarlet Rash Demands Community Cooperation

Perhaps in no other disease do we find so many mild cases difficult to recognize and so many which a physician is not called to attend because the child "is not sick" as we do in scarlet fever. The many mild, missed cases, together with some that may be called carriers because they have the organism yet have no symptoms, account to a great extent for the wide prevalence of the disease.

According to the rules and regulations set forth by the State Department of Health for the control of scarlet fever, very often referred to as scarletina, and scarlet rash, all cases and suspected cases shall be referred to the local health officer who shall placard such home in which the disease occurs. All cases shall be quarantined until recovery is complete and all abnormal discharges from the nose, ears and broken down glands have ceased, provided that quarantine shall not cease until 21 days from the onset of the disease. Exposed children shall he isolated for a period of seven days from the date of last exposure to the disease.

When a case of scarlet fever, scarletina, or scarlet rash has attended any public, private or parochial school, all children and teachers in the schoolroom shall he carefully examined each day for the following seven days for any symptoms of this disease. Upon an outbreak of an epidemic it is the duty of the local health officer to inspect all children and see that such measures are carried out to prevent the spread of this disease, states the State Department of Health.

Scarlet fever is a contagious and serious disease. Grown people may catch scarlet fever, but children under 15 years of age are most likely to have it, if exposed. About one to two per cent of all cases of scarlet fever die of the disease. Those who recover very frequently do not regain their full health. This means that a community's cooperation in controlling the spread of this disease by isolation and a doctor's attention will do much to preserve the health of the community. It is well to remember that a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with someone who has only a light attack and which is often erroneously called "scarlet rash or scarletina."

THE MOTOR INDUSTRY

Discussing the part the motor industry is having in pushing forward economic recovery — disregarding dizzy theories and applying sound judgment — the Saturday Evening Post concludes with this paragraph:

"In refusing to be regimented by men whose knowledge of the motor business was largely confined to free cars provided them by the government; by working out their salvation under the American system; and by giving a demonstration of how that system works in the hands of intelligent, farsighted men who face realities, the motor industry has placed the country under a great debt of gratitude.. Throughout the depression it has applied horse sense and horsepower to its problems."

CAPITALISM

Capitalism offends some people because it is erroneously interpreted by them as meaning oppression. It is often employed to distinguish the rich from the poor. But as we understand, a capitalist state refers to a condition in which people are free to invest in a farm or business and run the chance of gaining or losing. If we were to abolish capitalism we would abolish democracy and liberty, accepting in its place one of the different foreign varieties, all of which are equally objectionable. Writing for The Atlantic Monthly, George E. Sokolsky says that it is a "self-evident truth that democracy continues to flourish in countries where capitalism is most developed." He explains. "It declines and disappears in those countries where the capitalist system is undeveloped. Thus, the capitalist system is most perfectly developed in the United States, France, Great Britain, the Scandinavian countries, Holland, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia. These are, in exact parallel, the most democratic countries in the world. In communist, fascist and pre-capitalist countries, democracy does not exist."

THE BEST SELLING BOOK

Every year a number of books are written which become best sellers; but there is still one book which year after year ranks in a leading place as a best seller—The Bible.

If you haven't already read about or purchased a copy, we believe you will be much interested in the new edition of "The Bible" which has been designed to be read as living literature. The Old and New Testaments are faithful to the King James Version, but are presented in new form. Prose is priated as prose, and verse as verse, drama as drama, letters as letters; and the books have been arranged according to time and subject matter. This new edition is one for reading and enjoyment, not for theological or reference purposes, as the whole arrangement is designed to make this greatest book enjoyable reading for everyone.

Charles Dickens once wrote to his son: "I put a New Testament among your books—because it is the best book that ever was or ever will be in the world, and because it teaches you the best lessons by which any human creature who tries to be truthful and faithful can possibly be guided."

POST WAR GENERATION

In a news reel some German youth were shown leaving for training stations. They seemed jubilant, and the announcer stated that these boys had been born at the end of the World War. The terrible thought came that here a new generation had arisen, one which knows nothing of the horrors of war. It is only a story they have heard at father's knee. And knowing not they fear not. What is only ugly slaughter and agony, and waste and foolishness, may to them be bravery, enormous adventure, and service.

Can't they be warned! Can't they be made to see. For unless they do realize and make strength in their objective thinking, they will awaken some day to find the trap has sprung shut on them.

HELP WHICH IS NOT HELP

If you chance to be in the neighborhood of an accident ascertain if any messages for help can be sent and then drive on. More often than not people congregating around an accident have complicated conditions rather than improved them. They prevent help from reaching the victim rapidly, and frequently their eagerness to relieve the injured person by adjusting his position will increase the injury. This is particularly true in the case of spinal injuries, when the person is best left exactly in the position injured. An attempt to help such a victim to his feet might result in crushing the spinal cord, causing death or paralysis.

A FALLACY EXPOSED

The generally accepted theory that the great industrial movement in this country under constitutional industrial freedom has crushed small industries and made it impossible for the man of small means to own and direct his own business is totally without foundation in facts. Never before in the history of our country were there so many opportunities for the man of character and ability with small means to go into business for himself and succeed as today.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Just as Mark Twain said about horse races, election campaigns are primarily due to a difference of opinion. For example, in a nearby town the editor referred to an address by one of his party's orators as a high minded speech sprinkled with fine irony. The editor of the opposition said it was a partisan political harangue full of personal invective.

All appreciate appreciation.

PLAYERS! LEARN WITH THE AMERICAN BOY

Boys and young men who want to improve their crawl stroke, their basket shooting, their hurdling, their tennis backhand, or their ball carrying, can enlist the aid of the nation's foremost coaches and players by subscribing to THE AMERICAN BOY magazine and following the sports interviews and fiction stories that appear each month.

For the coming year staff writers have gone to two of the greatest football teams in the country — Minnesota and Southern Methodist — for first hand tips on strategy, blocking, ball carrying, passing, and the fine points of line play. They have written the story of Bobbie Wilson, All-American halfback.

They have interviewed famous track coaches like Bernie Moore and Bob Simpson. Have gone to the University of Oklahoma to learn how college champions wrestle, to Notre Dame for the story of the building of a great basketball team. They have sought out famous baseball players, swimmers, tennis champions and All-American backs, to get their story of how to play the game.

AMERICAN BOY fiction is jammed with instructive background details telling how to play a better game. And the rest of the magazine is jammed with adventure, exploration, vocational help and articles vital to boys.

Ohio State University's track head, coach of the famous sprinter and low hurdler, Jesse Owens, and himself a former hurdling star, first learned to hurdle from articles in THE AMERICAN BOY. "I used to cut out hurdling pictures and duplicate them in front of a mirror. Then on the track I'd follow that form."

Today thousands of future champions are just as eagerly following THE AMERICAN BOY. Send your subscription to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. Enclose with your name and address $1 for a year's subscription, $2 for three years, and add 50 cents if you want the subscription to go to a foreign address. On newsstands, 10 cents a copy.

Sally Save's KITCHEN CLUB

A Balancing Dish

Dear Club Members:

THE salad is, of course, the dish supreme of Spring. But we Americans have learned to know it and to eat it all year round. It is a little more difficult to vary salads in the fall and winter time from day to day, because there are not so many salad greens and fresh salad vegetables to choose from. However, there is a simple way to change the taste of plain lettuce so that it does not lose interest.

And that is to serve all kinds of dressings on it.

After all it is easy to get into a rut with plain mayonnaise or French dressing. And monotony sits in at the family table. Then, alas! The salad plate remains untouched. And Mother's balanced meal gets sadly unbalanced.

One way to revive lagging interest in the salad is to make your French dressing at the table and with a flourish mix it with the greens in a large bowl under the eyes of your family. If that doesn't make their mouths water for salad . . . .

Here is another variant in the salad bowl. A cream dressing that I'm sure you'll like, sent to me by Mrs. C. W. M., of Homer, N. Y. It is exceptionally good on shredded lettuce.

Cream Dressing

Put a level teaspoon of salt into a small bowl. Mix with half a cup of sweet cream. Pour into this two tablespoons of vinegar. Stir rapidly, so it will not curdle.

Winter be blowed!...

OIL-PLATE YOUR ENGINE

This is exactly true: Oil-Plating supplies lubrication in LESS THAN NO TIME AT ALL!

Faster than "instantly"... faster than the fastest-flowing Winter oil might even begin to flow, Oil-Plating is ready-to lubricate.

That's because a genuine Plating of Conoca Germ Processed oil is always left firmly banded to every working part. Like any other real Plating, this Oil-Plating cannot run off. After hours or days of standing in the cold, Oil-Plating is still perfectly ready-to-go.

Now these days you read on every side, how poorly-oiled starting causes most engine wear, and how fast a Winter oil ought to flow. But you cannot have even a doubt of sure starting-lubrication, when it is always UP IN ADVANCE. That's Oil-Plating a plain, straight, economic reason for changing to your correct free-flowing Winter grade of Conoca Germ Processed oil — patented. Costs no more than changing by hunch.

PHOTOGRAPHIC CONTEST OPENS DEC. 1ST

Wildlife Picture Contest Sponsored by Federated Garden Clubs

Several thousand junior and senior high school pupils of Michigan are expected to compete in the wildlife photographic contest which officially opened throughout the state December 1.

The contest is being sponsored by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan in cooperation with the Department of Conservation. Clubs in many localities will conduct local elimination contests, entering the prize winning photographs for final judging at Lansing next spring.

Four capital prize winners will be selected, two boys and two girls, who will be taken on a scenic tour of the Upper Peninsula next summer as an award for their photographic skill, the sponsors announce.

The contest is open to all junior and senior high school pupils of public, parochial and private schools, rural and urban, who build and maintain wildlife feeding stations during the winter months. To qualify in the contest, the photographs must show the wildlife subject feeding at the station.

Pupils in communities where local contests are not being conducted as part of the state contest may enter on their own initiative by applying for instructions through the Department of Conservation at Lansing.

PROFESSOR PRODS PICKLE PROBLEMS

Leadership in Cucumber Production Encourages Expericents at M.S.C.

Thousands of pickles and some of their most intimate problems have fuced Dr. F. W. Fabian at Michigan State College for six years in his search for means of utilizing Michigan's tremendous pickle crop which surpasses that of any other state.

For two years he and his associates in bacteriology at the college have been seeking ways to preserve pickles with agricultural waste by-product acids that are conceded to be more edible and less harsh than the commonly used acetic acid.

Dr. Fabian's experiments are among the forerunners of a movement known as the science of "Chemurgy," which seeks to harmonize industry with agriculture. Leaders in industry and agriculture appreciate that the future for farmers lies in greater diversion of primary crops into higher price brackets than is now obtained for them as foods. The process would include utilization of crops for the production of chemicals such as acids. Acids with which Dr. Fabian has been working are acetic from waste products, lactic acid from milk and citric from fruits.

Pickles of the sweet, sour and dill kinds as well as relishes and salad dressings have formed the parade of tasted products across the laboratory tables and shelves in the bacteriology department. Clarence E. Wadsworth, graduate student from the University of Maine, and Arnold E. Hook, University of Wisconsin graduate, now are assisting Dr. Fabian in the experiments.

Although the work is interesting, they claim to have a type of disease called organoleptitis. The "test by taste" has just about made them "sick" of pickles. One of the latest phases of the experimental work is the problem of maintaining an attractive green color in the product after preserving. Salting takes nut the color and the men are seeking the secret of awakening the chlorophyl to put back the green color.

Discontinue Milk Route

Thanksgiving Day marked the discontinuance of the milk route operated by Henry Howe, delivering milk and cream furnished from the John Struthers farm in Hayes township. The route has been operated since 1932. Messrs. Struthers and Howe have extended their appreciation for patronage during that period.

E. M. GREER FIRST LOCAL TB SEAL BUYER

Congratulated by Dr. Douglas, Michigan Association President

First in Charlevoix to buy 1936 tuberculosis Christmas seals was E. M. Greer, the Michigan Tubercuiosis Association announces. The thirtieth annual sale of the tiny messengers of health opened on Thanksgiving Day and will be continued through to Christmas. Sixty million of the Christmas seals were distributed in the state this year by the Association and its affiliated organizations, to provide funds to carry on the fight against the White Plague in 1937.

Thanking and complimenting Mr. Greer on his early purchase, Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tubercuiosis Association, this week urged that all others in the state who have received seals make their returns as soon as possible so that expense of follow-up letter might be spared.

"Never was the need so great for an intensive anti-tuberculosis program in Michigan," Dr. Douglas declared. "Now, with a complete victory over the White Plague nearer than it has ever been, is the time to redouble our efforts. The 2,044 deaths from tuberculosis in Michigan last year are a challenge to every thinking individual, in the light of the utter needlessness of the disease."

Since 1931 the Michigan Tuberculosis Association has brought two of the modern weapons of medical science — the tuberculin test and the chest X-ray — to more than 100,000 Michigan people. Funds raised during the present sale of Christmas seals will help to carry on this work.

MORE HUNTERS GET MORE DEER IN U. P.

Ferry Officials Estimate More Cross Straits This Season

More deer were killed in the Upper Peninsula by Southern Michigan hunters this year than last, officials estimated at the Michigan state ferry dock at St. Ignace.

Conservation officers checked deer in Mackinaw City during the last few days of the hunting season, making an accurate count availuble. However, ferry officials said the rush of Lower Michigan hunters this year was heavier than a year ago. There were exactly 26 more cars this year than last in upbound traffic. Last year there was one heavy day of traffic as hunters returned to their homes. This year there were three such heavy days.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES
Charlevoix and Irontoo
G. Russell Parker, Pastor

* * * * * * * * * * *

For several years this church has termed the month of December "Joy Month." There is no organization that has a better right to that name than the church. To the church "Joy" means more than mere pleasure. It means the experience that comes from satisfaction, peace, spiritual exhilaration because of a definite relationship with God. It is through the church that this spirit has been coming to the world for centuries.

In order that we may help to continue the "Joy to the World" expressed nearly two thousand years ago by the angel and the heavenly host, the sermons at our church will entirely reflect the Christmas message.

Sunday morning we will begin in a very appropriate manner by observing Universal Bible Sunday. Dr. Paul B. Kern has suggested a very suitable subject for next Sunday's services, perhaps we will use it, "The Bible In a Time of Confusion."

The subjects for the remaining Sundays will be announced later.

The young people's society will meet at 7 p. m.

The pastor will reorganize his Young Men's Bible class next Sunday. It is not possible to hold this class the year around because of the change in the time of services at Ironton during the summer months.

STATE PROVIDES AID FOR DISABLED PERSONS

Earning Power of 4,854 Individuals Increased by Training

Some interesting facts have just been disclosed by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, superintendent of public instruction.

The information concerns 4,854 disabled persons who have applied for assistance at the rehabilitation division of the department, during the last eight years. The average weekly earnings of these persons before disability was $15.97. The average weekly wage at the time they called at the department was $2.94. The average weekly wage after rehibilitation is $19.80.

This improvement was brought about by physical restoration and vocational training and guidance.

By Ann Page

* * * * * * * * * * *

Luncheons and dinners based on the one-dish meal idea are popular with housewives and most families after a week-end of holiday feasting. Soups, stews, casserole dishes and even a planked steak with its accompanying vegetables all fit this category.

The usual winter vegetables are plentiful and cheap, peas are again reasonable, green beans, while higher, are moderate in price since one pound goes as far as two pounds of peas.

Lamb is the most economical meat but pork and beef are moderately priced. Fish is none too plentiful. An increased supply of fresh eggs is expected before long. Oranges and grapefruit are the outstanding fruit buys.

Here are three menus made to fit different budget levels.

An Open Letter To The Public

(By Ivan J. Falconer)

The moving of Mr. C. P. Wertzbar to California has caused some confusion and misunderstanding relative to the ownership and management of the Radio & Electric Appliance Co. and the Radio & Electric Service Co.

It was natural for the people of this city to assume that, because we occupied the same building, we were partners. No partnership of any kind ever existed between myself and Mr. Wertzbar. Our businesses were entirely separate, both as to ownership and management.

An examination of the records in the office of the County Clerk will show that I am the sole owner of the Radio & Electric Appliance Co., and the Radio & Electric Service Co. Mr. Wertzbar never had any interest in either company.

I am now conducting my business at 311 Bridge Street, next to the Home Bakery, and will continue to give my customers the same honest, faithful and reliable Electrical Service and, in addition, first quality electrical appliances.

I trust I may have your continued patronage.

Sincerely yours,

Performance, Beauty and Safety Mark Chevrolet's Completely New Cars

Chevrolet's 1937 engine is completely new, but adheres closely to time-proved Chevrolet engineering principles. It is of six-cylinder valve-in-head type, smoother, more powerful, more economical, and lighter.

A representative model from Chevrolet's new line, typifying its beauty and grace—the Master De Luxe Sport Sedan with trunk. Note the distinctive "speed line" extending back from the side of the hood.

Unisteel construction joins the floor, cowl assembly, panels, and Turret Top of Chevrolet's all-silent, all-steel body, to form one integral structure, welded in all joints, and reinforced and braced for permanent silence and safety.

Luggage capacity in Chevrolet's new trunk models has been greatly increased, as has interior luggage space in other models.

Beauty and utility mark the new Chevrolet instrument panel. The windshield is of greater area, with narrow corner posts, affording better vision.

New power, economy, durability, safety and comfort, coupled with striking new beauty, characterize Chevrolet's new models for 1937. They are offered in two series, Master and Master De Luxe, virtually identical in appearance.

Chevrolet's fully-enclosed Knee-Action is furnished at no extra cost on the Master De Luxe models; and new Syncro-Mesh transmission, and safety plate glass all around at no extra cost, feature all models of both series.

FINE RESPONSE IN TB SEAL CAMPAIGN

UPWARD TREND IN SALES INDICATED SO FAR

Michigan Associatioo Urges Delinquents Send Returns — Need More Urgeot Than Ever

That Michlgan people are ngain ready nnd willing to contrihute to the relief of human needs — a practice that many of them were obliged to forogo during the depression years— is clearly indicated by early returns from the 30th aanunl sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals, officials of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and affiliated organizations in the state declared this week. Reflectiag better times throughout Michigan, receipts during the first few days uf the Thanksgiving Day-to-Christmas campalgn showed a definite upward trend.

The need for continuing the enrly pace if an iacrease over the 1935 sale is to be realized was stressed hy the aati-tuberculosis forces. While returns have been good, a slight falling off of receipts has been noted in the past few days, they declared.

To several thousand persons ia the state whu have not yet been heard from it will be necessary to send a follow-up messnge, a procedure iavolving considerable added expense, Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Associatioa, explained.

"We realize," said Mr. Werle, "thnt many of those from whom we have not yet heard intead to give later on, but we have no way of knowing who they are. So much more would be available for the campaign against tuberculosis if it did not beeome necessary to make a second contact in so many instances. We are sure that if people realized how much is saved through early returns, they would not delay their contributions.

"This year there is a special aeed for a substantial incrense over the 1935 receipts. We are within striking distance now of the goal that will be won largely through money. Medical seieace has done its part in providing the modern weapons against tubereulosis. The task that remains is to bring those modern weapons to people who otherwise would never know their beaefits. It is that work that will be made possible through Christmas seals. The 2,044 deaths from tuberculosis in Michigaa last yenr are proof sufficient that a vigorous campaiga in 1937 is a prime need."

SEE GREATER DEMAND FOR LOCAL POTATOES

Tuber Show Just Closed at Detroit Shows Encouraging Trend

Predictions of iacreased demaad for quality Michigan potatoes in the metropulitan markets are made by H. C. Moore, extension specialist of Michigan State College, as the state tuber show drew to a close.

The increased demand, the extension official said, is in part due to the efforts of growers in placiag the product before the public in aumerous displays in shops, stores and other buildings during the past four days. Approximately 30 tons of potatoes were displayed.

"Dealers, restaurnts aad hotels have iadicated already that they will use ur handle more Michigan potatoes than ia the past," Moore said. "This followed the displays at the show."

PLOWING CREWS MUST HAVE HELP

PARKED CARS A MENACE IN SNOW REMOVAL

Street Department Seeks Public Cooperation to Keep Cars Off the Streets After Midnight

With the advent of winter, now apparently here to stay, comes the old problem of plowiag streets lined with automobiles.

Iaasmuch as Charlevoix has no ordinaace making it illegal to leave cars staadiag on a street after 2 o'clock ia the morniag, the matter has to be left eatirely to the public to cooperate. Many neighboring cities have such aa ordinance designed as an aid to the street department, whose men turn out in the middle of the night to open up streets in time for morniag traffic.

It is often the case that they find maay busiaess aad residential streets liaed with cars which are parked for the night, aad they either have to move these cars ur plow around them, leaving a had looking job of street cleaniag behind.

So with winter here, the street department has nsked for the cooperation of automobile owaers to help them keep the streets clean. A special appeal is made to hotel nnd rooming house proprietors, who are asked to aotify their guests.

The matter is not yet serious because the saow has just started, but ia the weeks to come when the big plows are combatiag heavy storms, it it more than likely they may crash iato parked cars, causing damage to the car aad possible personal iajury to the men on the pluws.

It is understood Beaver Island const guards performed a similar duty in removing the crew of Lansing Shoals lighthouse.

CO. HEALTH INSTITUTE HAD LARGE ATTENDANCE

Excellent Talks Given on Medical Subjects at East Jordan

The Charlevoix County Health Iastitute, which was held at East Jordan last week, was attended by approximatcly 115 people. This number shows how williag the people are to leara what such excellent speakers as Drs. Lashmet and Sheets, aad Gladwin Lewis can give them.

Dr. Lashmet ia his uaique style combined kaowledge aad humor so simply and cleverly that even the fat people ia the audience had to joia ia many a hearty laugh when he discussed "Obesity and Its Relationship to Health aad Disease."

Dr. Sheets wns greatly appreciated when, in his quict, soothiag style, he presented some of the salient points in Mental Hygiene for Growing Children.

Gladwia Lewis, as dinner spenker, very strikingly presented the overcrowding coaditioas in our state institutions for the abnormal child. Whea he gave the stupendous figure of over a thousand children on the waitiag list, it gave everybody food for thought not oaly as to the enlargiag of these institutions, but also from the preventive angle. What can be doae to prevent this waiting list from contiauing to grow?

RED RAYDERS WON INITIAL CONTEST 46 TO 13 COUNT

Charlevoix Showed Class io Downing Class B Outfit—Reserves Wineer by 24 to 16 Score

Any apprehension as to the caliber of the 1936-37 Charlevoix High school basketball team was dispelled Friday aight as the Red Rayders opened their season's schedule with a 46 to 13 victory over Traverse City's Class B Trojaas.

While the lop-sided score may have been due to some extent to the fact that the Trojans were not up to their usual streagth, Charlevoix's smooth team play aad accurate shotmaking gave every iadication of a team having the caliber necessary to "go places" during the coming cage season.

Radle, playing the pivot position on offense, led his team in scoriag with a total of 26 points. Fed the ball through a series of fast-breaking plays, Radle pivoted first from one side aad thea the other to score from beneath the hoop. Carey, forward, netted a total of 12 points, Gallagher, guard, added four, aad Richardson aad Orlowski scored single goals. Charlevoix led at the half time by a margin of 23 to 4.

COMMERCIAL FISHING BIG INDUSTRY

CATCHES, EQUIPMENT VALUED AT SEVEN MILLION

Lake Michigan Leads Great Lakes in Value of Fish Produced—3,000 Are Provided Employment

In his 1937 report to the State Legislature for the past biennium, P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the Department of Conservation, will apprnise Michigan's commercial fishing industry at a value of approximately seven million dollars.

This appraisal will cover not only the aggregate anaual catch which yielded a revenue of acarly $2,900,000 in 1935, but also the value of acts, boats, buildiags and grounds, estimated at $4,000,000.

The figures on which these appraisals are based were compiled by the fisheries division of the department from reports submitted regularly by commercial fishermen themselves as required by lnw. Nearly 3,000 men, it is revealed by these reports, are provided with employmeat through eamaercial fishing.

"It is highly essential that we give our best efforts in the administration of an industry of such proportions, not only to insure the future employment of hundreds of men, but to safeguard a highly valued public food supply," Director Hoffmaster commented.

The latest complete dnta on the commercinl fishing industry nre those for 1935 during which year 30,646,544 pounds of commercial fishes were tnken from the Great Lakes waters under Michigan's jurisdiction. More herring were taken than any other siagle species, aggregate weight beiag 7,878,173 pounds; lake trout raaked second, 6,789,820 pouads, and whitefish third, 3,757,541 pouads.

In addition to nearly a score of other varieties of commercial fish listed with their respective yields in pounds, 1,395,250 pouads of smelt, valued at $46,260 were taken from the streams and lakes tributary to the Lake Michigan duriag the year.

Lake Michigaa coatinued to be the most productive of the Great Lakes waters. The aggregate "tnke" in the various waters duriag the year follows:

Lake	Weight of Fish
Lake Michigan	9,659,379
Saginaw Bay	7,383,580
Lake Huron	6,284,953
Lake Superior	6,188,904
Lake Erie	1,129,728
Total pounds	30,646,544

The aggregate catch of 1935 from the Great Lakes wnters showed an increase of nearly 2,000,000 pouads over that of 1934 due to a large increase ia the herring catch over the average of the past three years. Ia value by the pound whitelish aad lake trout rank first and second, respectively, aad the total cntches of these two species constitute 66 per cent of the total value of the entire commercial fishing catch. Fisheries authorities, however, express coacern over n noticeable decrease ia the catch of whitefish during the past five years. It is anticipated that when all the 1936 reports are received and compiled early aext year, that a further reduction in the whitefish catch may be revealed as a result of the trend of decrease plus the elimination of the deep trapaets from Lakes Michigan nnd Superior.

Other statistical figures on the commercial fishing industry reveal that there is a total of 1,367 bonts engaged in fishing with an nggregnte value of $1,100,000. The majority of these honts nre propelled by gasoline engines, the compilntion shows; only one sail-bont was listed as opernting in 1935.

The totnl vnlue of fishing nets of the various kinds, including trolling lines, is placed at $1,592,400 and the value of hnildings and grounds $1,326,437.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

1936 Soil Conservation Program to End December 15

The 1936 Soil Conservation program for Charlevoix county must end by December 15, according to a late telegram. Already announcements have been sent out to farmers whose farms have not been measured notifying them that December 10 is the deadline for farm measurements. Also that all maps must be completed by that time.

Additional help will be employed if necessary to speed up the completion of the program. The 1937 program will be launched beginning January 1. Recent information indicates that nround 600 farms will have beea measured for payments this year. One hundred forty applications for payments went in some three weeks ago, and the checks should be received soon for payment. Farms upon which corrections must be made are delayed until the correct maps have been approved.

It is expected that the 1937 program can be administered somewhat more efficiently as a result of the experience gained this year. All efforts will be devoted to carrying on a more perfect program. Any help farmers may extend to the farm reporters will be deeply appreciated.

4-H Club Leaders Held Important Meeting Last Week

The new 4-H club program started off auspiciously last Wednesday when 46 folks attended a training meeting in the Boyne City gym. Miss Olga Bird, state club leader, and Orville F. Walker, district club leader, discussed the girls' and boys' programs, respectively. Already many schools have organized winter clubs and are busily engaged in making the articles necessary. Many others will wait until the first of the year before they start the club program.

One of the most gratifying features of the project is the increased interest in the hot lunch activity. Last year nine schools served a hot dish at noon. This year there will be at least 12.

The work in the office of finishing up the 1936 program is nearly completed. The premium money for the East Jordan Potato and Apple Show has been paid out with the exception of three accounts. The premiums in connection with the summer Achievement Day have not been received in the office, but will be paid out immediately upon its arrival.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 151): "The divine Mind that made man maintains His own image and likeness."

AUTO REGISTRATIONS EXCEED 1929 RECORDS

Records of the Department of State today showed that motor vehicle registrations for the first 11 months of 1936 exceeded the previous record set in 1929. The November 30 total was 1,502,322 compared with 1,435,587 for all of 1929.

Revenue from registrations is $17,758,349 as against $21,704,194 because of the weight tax reduction made March 15, 1934.

CHRISTMAS TREES ARE BEST IF SIMPLE

Michigan State College Offers Suggestions for Decorating

More simplicity and resultant beauty in festooning the Christmas tree is suggested by Winifred Gettemy in the home economics department at Michigan State College. The old-fashioned "conglomeration" of many kinds of ornaments defeats itself in too many households in her opinion.

"Simple decorations with real greens instead of artificial ornaments are most desirable," says Miss Gettemy. "If there is a fireplace available, then make that the center of the holiday display instead of scattering the decorations over doors and windows.

"If a fireplace is not available, then use a Christmas tree or a group of windows for the center of attraction. Greens can be those of pine, spruce or ground pine-banked on top of the mantle or made into festoons or wheaths. A wreath makes a good center of interest."

Miss Gettemy does not relegate this work to just one person in the family who might have the eye for beauty in decoration. She thinks it still is proper and the best stimulant to Christmas spirit to have the whole family including the children participate in the decorating.

When it comes to dressing up the tree, however, she again suggests simplicity. Four schemes are useful. One includes the use of ornaments of the same color but of different sizes. Another type of ornament would be all sizes in different colors. A third type of decoration can include tinsel strips with ball decorations, and the last suggestion is for the use of just tinsel trips and bulb lights for decoration.

Honeymoons might last longer if she looked the same after washing her face.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Common Skin Infections

The common skin infections constitute one of the most annoying health problems confronting the teacher. It is often difficult to obtain a correct diagnosis. Parents are sometimes reluctant to take their children to a physician for diagnosis, or they may even refuse to do so. They may be sensitive or express resentment when informed that their children have such a condition. The best way to overcome these difficulties is by prompt and vigorous action, by straight-forwardness and frankness in handling the situation and by taking the attitude that it is no disgrace to have such a condition—the only disgrace is in allowing it to continue.

Scabies, or itch, is very common among school children. The rash, which results from the itch mite, is often mistaken for eczema, and is sometimes labelled "stomach rash," poison ivy and, in fact, almost anything. With proper treatment thoroughly and vigorously administered, not only to the children obviously infested, but also to all members of the family, this condition need not persist. In fact, it may be cleaned up in a few days.

Pediculosis, or lice, may be recognized by observing the adult lice or the nits which appear as tiny, oval, glistening bodies attached to the hair a short distance from the scalp. Nits may at first be mistaken for particles of dandruff but close observation in a good light will reveal the difference. Children should be excluded until all adult lice and nits are exterminated. All members of a family must be considered because it does no good to have one or two cleaned up only to be reinfested by others.

Impetigo, although one of the common infections of the skin, is often not recognized and it is surprising how few people are familiar with the term. Often impetigo is mistaken for cold sores and fever blisters. Cases should be excluded from school until, under vigorous treatment, the condition has so improved as to reduce to a minimum the possibility of infecting others. A few days in most cases is sufficient.

Ringworm has a variety of forms, all due to some type of fungus organism. Certain forms involve only the scalp, others affect the body. The most common form involves the feet and results in the condition known as "athlete's foot." The condition is often persistent and resists treatment although it is seldom anything more than annoying as a result of the itching and burning. Those forms of ringworm which involve the scalp and general body are less common and cases should be excluded from school. The condition begins in a small reddish, scaly patch, the center of which clears as it spreads, forming a ring. Such rings are most often located on the face, neck, wrists and hands. Cases should be under treatment of a physician.

ONE OF FOUR AMENDMENTS GOT MAJORITY

Michigan Voters Turned Down Three Proposals in November

One of the four proposed constitutional amendments carried and the others were snowed under in the November general election, according to the official canvass now completed.

Voters adopted the legislative amendment to the constitution permitting police officers to introduce weapons seized in cars as court evidence, 815,221 to 574,324 against.

A proposal to remove the three per cent retail sales tax from food and prepared meals lost, 944,573 to 581,485.

An amendment to remove the general property tax, which would pave the way for a state income tax, was buried, 1,032,384 to 382,262.

A county home rule proposal was defeated, 753,315 to 583,057.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

State Department Aids Are Named

Two Detroit men have been appointed to important posts in the Department of State, effective January 1, 1937, by Leon D. Case, secretary of state-elect. Both are well known.

Bernard J. Youngblood, deputy register of deeds of Wayne county, takes the post of deputy secretary of state, succeeding Dr. Louis Webber, who was appointed to that office two years ago by Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state.

Mr. Youngblood was born January 21, 1898, in Detroit. He was educated in St. Anthony's parochial school and high school. For 12 years he was employed by the Detroit Edison company in the steel department and in charge of truck dispatching.

During a year's leave of absence, he entered private business in 1929. He was in the ice and coal business when he entered the office of Wayne county register of deeds as a clerk, rising to his present post through promotion.

Mr. Youngblood's grandfaather, B. J. Younghlood, was Wayne county treasurer from 1892 to 1896; his father, Edward B. Youngblood, was superintendent of Belle Isle from 1913 to 1916, and at the time of his death in 1926, was superintendent of the Detroit city garbage department. The Youngbloods have one child, a 10 year old boy.

Hoyt Morris, who will succeed Lee C. Richardson as head of the Detroit branch office of the Department of State, has been in the real estate business in Detroit for the past 12 years, coming to Michignn from Illinois. His real estate operations were carried on in Florida for several years. Mr. Morris is married and has one child, a young girl.

THE KING CAN DO NO WRONG

The old saying, "A king can do no wrong," does not hold true in England. At least there are news stories coming out of London which tell that definite pressure is being brought against the king to prevent his marriage with Mrs. Simpson, of Baltimore. Not that it would be morally wrong, but rather that, in England, when a thing is not done it must not be done. And, up to date, no king has married a divorced commoner.

We can not remember just when the English people became this exacting for history is still fresh with a tale about a king who had eight wives — and a divorce was not the only means he used to rid himself of them.

Be that as it is—we in America with a romantic turn of mind who have a yen for the fairy tale kind of romance, can't help wishing the king luck.

CANNOT SEND LIQUOR THROUGH U. S. MAILS

Heavy Penalty Set for Violation by Law Passed in 1909

A quart of Scotch might be considered a noble Christmas gift by an old college chum miles away, but don't try to send it to him through the mails, the post office department has warned.

The bottle of liquor might turn out to be an exceedingly expensive gift because intoxicating liquors — prohibition repeal notwithstanding— may bring harsh penalties if sent through the mails.

The post office department isn't certain why liquor should be barred from Uncle Sam's mail sacks. But it is sure that Congress passed a law back in 1909 ruling liquor non-mailable; and it intends to enforce the law.

A $4 bottle of Scotch, for instance, might cost the sender as much as $1,000 in fines and send him to jail for two years, if inspectors happened to spot it going through a post office.

Department officials said they hesitated to spank for the 1909 Congress as to the reason for the statute, but said they supposed the prohibition supporters of the period pushed it through the House and Senate. Then, too, there is the possibility the bottle might break and drench other packages with alcohol. Three years ago Congress considered repealing the law, but took no final action.

WILL GET REBATE OF SALES TAX PAYMENT

State Supreme Court Rules Against Collection — Credit on January and Future Bills Planned

Customers of the Charlevoix municipal electric utility will receive a credit for payment of the three per cent state sales tax, it has been unofficially reported.

In a decision handed down Tuesday, the State Supreme Court upheld an Ingham county circuit court ruling that municipally owned power plants are exempt from collecting the sales tax.

Since October, 1935, the city has been collecting the three per cent sales tax on all electric light and power bills, but has segregated the monies so collected in anticipation of the court ruling. The suit was brought by the cities of Wyandotte and Lansing and the village of Lowell to determine whether the tax should be collected. Many other Michigan municipalities intervened in the suit.

When official notice is received, the city will make plans for allowing light patrons a credit on their January or subsequent bills for the amount collected in sales tax since collections were started.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES
Charlevoix and Ironton
G. Russell Parker, Pastor

The subject for the second address in our series for "Joy Month" will be "Behold, There Came Wise Men." For December 20, "The Story That Never Grows Old," and for December 27, "The Christmas Afterglow."

The young people's service will be held as usual beginning at 7 p. m. Miss Jean Campbell will be leader.

The young people's group will sing Christmas carols again this year. The young people will leave the church soon after the Christmas program.

We are attempting something new and hope that it will be in working order next Sunday morning. It will be what is known as a wired radio broadcast. The system will carry our morning church services from a little after 11 to 12. The system catries for a radius of about four miles, and can be heard over any radio within that range. At first we were planning to place loud speakers in the belfry and broadcast Christmas music, but will not attempt it on Sunday for fear that it might interfere with the services in other churches. We are planning to broadcast music during the week of Christmas. If the broadcast works well enough, arrangements might be made for regular morning devotional services under the direction of the local churches.

We are making this request: if you tune in Sunday morning, a card or phone message from you telling us how the program came in, with any suggestions you wish to make, will be greatly appreciated. Tune in to about 1400.

CHARLEVOIX M. E. CHURCH
John W. Alexander, Minister

10:30 a. m., regular morning worship. All are cordially invited.

11:35 a. m., church school. There are classes for all who desire to attend.

2:30 p. m., Indian Mission service. This little church is doing a fine work this year. You will enjoy being present at the service next Sunday. If it were possible to have the road plowed out to the church, it would save us parking our cars on the highway, removing a traffic hazard.

6:30 p. m., Epworth League devotional service. All young folks are cordially invited.

BAPTIST CHURCH
W. H. Rauch, Pastor

Morning service, 10:30.
Church school, 11:45.
B. Y. P. U., 6:30.
Evening service, 7:30. Praise service, evangelistic message from the chart. The age of law will be given.
Prayer service on Thursday evening, 7:30; choir practice at 8:30.

POULTRY

LAYING HENS MUST HAVE PROPER CARE

Comfort, Fresh Water, Rigid Culling Cited.

By O. F. Parrish, Extension Poultryman, North Carolina State College. WNU Service.

The decline in egg production during the hot summer months can be partially or wholly offset if the flock is given the right kind of care.

The main factors to observe are: checking for mites and lice, proper ventilation of laying houses, adequate shade, full feeding, an ample supply of fresh water, and rigid culling.

Mites inhabit the laying house and are usually found on perch poles. They attack birds at night and return to secluded spots in the day. A thorough spraying of the house with carbolineum or a mixture of old cylinder oil and kerosene is recommended.

Lice stay on the birds all the time. Nicoline sulphate painted on the perch poles will drive lice away from the birds. Or the individual birds may be dusted with sodium fluoride or a similar preparation or dipped into solution of one ounce of sodium fluoride to one gallon of water. The treatments should be repeated every ten days if necessary.

The houses should be well ventilated, but without drafts. Shade is a necessity, since the temperature of the birds influences their profuctivity. Sunflowers grown around poultry houses or brush arbors provide good shade.

The body weight of birds should be watched closely. Excessive fat or leanness should be avoided by decreasing or increasing the amount of fattening feed as necessary. The feeding of a moist mash at noon will stimulate the production of birds which do not lay well while at the proper weight. Two and a half pounds of dry mash mixed with water or milk is enough for 100 birds.

Sally Save's KITCHEN CLUB

Christmas Cookies

Dear Club Members:

GET your fancy cooky cutters out and line up your sugar and spices, for it is time to make cookies for Christmas. Three weeks before Christmas is not too early to bake them. Christmas cookies all over the world are cut into shapes symbolic of Christmas. In Italy the cookies are cut into star shapes or made to look like doves. In Sweden, cookies are made to look like elves. In France cookies are cut in the shape of "sabots" or wooden shoes. For Holiday snacks with a glass of milk they are good in any country.

Hard Pepper Cookies from Sweden

1½ cups cooking syrup	2 teaspoons cinnamon
¾ cups sugar	4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons ginger	2 eggs
½ cup shortening	5 cups flour

Cook the sugar and syrup until the sugar is liquid. Let it cool. Beat into it the eggs, cloves and other spices, the baking powder sifted, half the flour. Mix the other half of the flour with the shortening and fold into the syrup dough. Roll out moderately thin, adding more flour if necessary. Cut into star, elf, animal shapes, etc. Almonds are used for eyes, buttons, etc. Bake on greased cookie sheet in moderate oven (350° F.) about 20 minutes.

Colombos from Italy

1 cup flour	Pinch of salt
½ cup sugar	1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup shortening
1 egg yolk	2 tablespoons milk

Cream sugar and shortening, add egg yolk and dry ingredients and only a little milk to form stiff dough. Knead well, roll to desired thickness, cut with bird cooky cutter. Mark eyes with caraway seeds or currants and bake until a pale golden color.

Almond Croissants from France

½ cup shortening	Pinch of salt
1 cup flour	½ cup sugar
¼ cup pulverized almonds	2 egg yolks
	White of egg

Mix shortening and sugar, add egg yolks, beat well and then sift in slowly the flour and salt. Finally add the almonds, which should be as nearly powdered as you can make them. Roll to ¼ inch thickness. Add more flour if necessary to make it roll out smoothly. Cut with small crescent shaped cutters. Brush with egg white, sprinkle with chopped almonds and bake in moderate oven until golden brown.

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

Official canvass of the November 3rd vote just completed by the Secretary of State merely reiterates the importance of the Detroit and Wayne county vote in the Democratic victory. It brought out further that the total vote cast was at least 50,000 greater than was generally expected.

The big city versus rural area aspect uf national and state elections has been a growing phenomenon in the American political scene and nowhere has this division been better demonstrated than in the Detroit-Wayne County vs. out-stnte poll returns.

Using the figures in the gubernatorial race us the extreme example of this geographical conflict, we find that Governor Fitzgerald came into Wayne County with 603,524 votes to Governor-elect Frank Murphy's 533,016—a Fitzgerald lead of 70,508.

The governor's lead melted when he entered the "Eighty-Third" County. Murphy polled 359,758 to Fitzgerald's 240,331—u Murphy lead of 119,427.

Thus the Wayne County vote elected Murphy to the tune of 48,919.

The strange tale the figures tell is that the Wayne County vote of 600,089 was from 25,000 to 50,000 less than the estimated vote for that area and the vote out-state of 1,205,009 was about 100,000 greater than antieipated. The total Michigan vote was 1,805,098, a record.

The Republican Purty in the state was depending upon the out-stute vote to carry its candidates. The fnct is that its contemplated majorities out-state were optimistic, as it turned out, and its view of the Democratic majorities in Wayne County was pessimistic. Despite the fact the out-state vote—the Republican vote—was larger than antiefpated and the Wayne County vote—the Democratic vote—was less than expected, still the Democratic landslide occurred.

The official figures go on to show that Governor Fitzgerald polled 144,722 more votes than did Governor Landon and that Murphy received 124,050 less votes than President Roosevelt. Roosevelt led Landon both in Wayne County and out-state, defeating him by a margin of 317,061 votes. The President's out-state majority was 104,288 and his Wayne County lead wss 213,323. Of the 594,787 votes cast in Wayne County for the two major presidential cundidates, Landon recelved 190,732.

In percentages, Wayne County voted 33 per cent of the state total. It voted 40 per cent of the Democratic total vote for president and 42 per cent of the Democratic total vote for Governor.

Official figures for all national and state candidates were as follows: President — Roosevelt, 1,016,794; Lanndon, 699,733; Lemke, 75,795; Thomas, 8,208; Browder, 3,384; Aiken, 600; Colvin, 579; scattering, 5. For Governor—Murphy, 892,744; Fitzgerald, 843,855; Monarch, 6,631; Martin, 3,289; Raymond, 2,071; O'Donohus, 524; Fuller, 433; Mann, 170; scattering, 22. H. J. Gray, secretary-manager of the association, has urged the various communities to complete their programs early so the new booklet may be completed and ready for circulation about March 1.

The directors also instructed H. J. Gray, secretary-manager of the association, to continue cooperation with other tourist associations in efforts to obtain legislatiun for regulation of various kinds of establishments, now unregulated, which cater to tourist trade.

Twenty-four members of the board of directors attended the session.

WILLIE, THE WEAVER.

Therg is always at least one of these pests in every considerable group of automobiles on the highway.

No matter what the speed of other cars, he comes dashing along and must pass them all or he isn't happy. He steers either to right or left, it doesn't matter, just so long as there seems room to squeeze by. He cuts in front of you, and before your nerves are quiet, you must brake again bastily to avoid the car ahead, around which he has flitted in a simllar hair-brained fashion.

Road conditions are of little concern to him. Wet or dry, wide or narrow pavement, his one idea is to "beat" the car ahead. He rushes by on the hillside, and if he is still on the wrong side of the road at the crest, with another car uppronching—well, let the other fellow wait or get out of the way!

But Willie doesn't always escape an accident. Besides numerous sideswiping encounters, sooner or later he meets with another speedy car head-on. In five representative states last year, from 15 to 32 per cent of accidents were caused by driving on the wrong side of the road.

Better take youf time, Willie, and stay alive!

EDITORIAL

MURPHY IS FOR IT

Fear is being expressed in certain headquarters that the civil service bill, drafted at the behest of Governor Fitzgerald, will be scuttled by Governor-elect Murphy. The measure is non-partisan tn its core, of course, but the fact remsins that it was drawn up under a Republican regime.

Persons entertaining such doubts evidently are not aware that Mr. Murphy, who has proved himself in the past to be a man of his word, definitely went on record in favor of civil service during the campaign. Not only did he come out strongly for the principles of the merit system, but in addition—and perhaps more importantly—he committed himself to the specific bill which the Civil Service Commission, under Mr. Pollock, has drawn up.

This means nt least two things. In the first place it indicates that prospects nre hright for the early adoption in this state of the Pollock merit system bill, with all it implies in the way of the elimination of the spoils system and the scientific introduction of clean, honest, efficient, and economical government.

In the second place it demanstrates that Frank Murphy, admittedly a first-rate politician, also intends to be something more than a politician, namely a statesman. The essence of statesmanship is the ability to rise to non-partisanism at those times when nonpartisanism is best for the good of the people. Governor-elect Murphy gives promise of being a genuine statesman, because in committing himself to the Pollock bill, he hss indicated his intention to ndhere to non-partisanism in the matter of the merit system; the adoption of which is so clearly in the best interest of all the penple in Michigan.

CONSTIPATED 30 YEARS AIDED BY OLD REMEDY

"For thirty years I had constipation. Souring food from stomach choked me. Since taking Adlerika I am a new person. Constipation is a thing of the past."—Alice Burns. Central Drug Store.

THE SCIENTIFIC WAY

Automobile accidents in the United States brought desth to 36,000 people, and injury and disahility to 1,300,000 others. In Michigan alone, over 2,000 people were killed in this manner. The Michigan State Police, aware of this record of death and suffering, are approaching the problem of bringing about n decrease in accidents, by the study of thousands upon thousands of accident records.

When an accident occurs the first duty of the citizen is to report it to the police. The police then make a diagram showing position of all cars involved. This diagram is studied and driver responsibility is placed, and the causative factors tabulated for statistical, engineering, educational and enforcement purposes. Basic conclusions, intelligently arrived at, have resulted from the study of these accident reports. The police are now directing their activities along the two lines that these "case-histories" show will bring the best results.

The records prove that speed, weather, road conditions and equipment, are not the controlling factors in causing automobile accidents. It is the HUMAN ELEMENT which is to blame. Certain drivers are—"accident prone." Therefore the police are making a steady effort to eliminate the "accident prone" driver from the highway. This is the first of two lines of activity being followed by the safety officers now, and the second is the operation of patrols throughout the entire state.

EMPLOY JOBLESS

Two pleas went forth this past week for the unemployed. President Roosevelt centered his plea around the man who is past 40 years of age, and the man who is unskilled. He requested industry to make room for these two. And in New York City a plen went out for young people, asking employers to give greater consideration to those who nre just leaving school.

It is pitiful to be young and jobless ns it is to be old and jobless. The young despair and turn to crime, the old despair and become parasites.

We know that our feseral government cannot take care of all unemployables, but there is one way in which millions could be absorbed. If each employer in the United States would stretch his ranks to admit one extra man, one who is not wholly needed, much would be accomplished to relieve unemployment.

If any employer hesitates to pay that extra wage, let us remind him that the benefit would return before the year would be over. And if each person hired extra came from the ranks of the old or the ranks of the young, we would soon find the loose ends had been gathered up.

GIVE YOURSELF A PERSONALITY

Some energetic people, a few years ago, located an "average" man. They struck a center of the country's population, and singled out a man in that center who came near to being the most representative of American people in general. He did business in an average store, lived in an average house, smoked 3-for-10 cigars, was Methodist, Republican and an Elk.

Recently this gentleman stated that he is "sick and tired of being an average man," which makes us wonder if perhaps it is not only monotonous but meaningless to be an average person. Most of us spend our lives trying to conform to a pattern. We inhibit or exhibit as the pattern requires, and try to be exactly like everyone else, when perhaps we would be better to allow our personalities to develop naturally. The man who is himself, individual and personable, who follows his beliefs independently is the man we admire, and he is the man whom we listen to.

Be yourself. Grow your own personality.

SEALS VS. DISEASE

This morning I was attracted to a picture of a smiling girl of twelve who happily told her experiences at a tuberculosis camp, where she was sent to recover her health. Part of the maintenance of such camps comes from your support and mine.

The yearly drive for support in the campaign against tuberculosis has started and you again have opportunity to buy the penny tuberculosis seals. Buy them as generously as you can nfford, for contributions grent and small are life-giving opportunities to some tuberculosis victim.

It is well to call to mind again that this dread disease prevails among the youth, it being the greatest cause of death between 15 and 35 years, and is the greatest cause of death among school children between the ages of five and 20 except accidents.

Organized campaigns to fight this disease have made great progress in checking and combating it. Plan to buy 1936 seals for grenter strides in fighting tuberculnsis.

SHOULD BE NO TIME LIMIT

The demand of the American people not to be entangled in foreign wars is a long-standing, permanent demand. There is no reason why the legislation to meet that demand should have to be renewed periodically.

A clearly defined permanent neutrality policy will serve notice in advance that no belligerents can look to this country as a base of supplies and thereby exert pressure on all nations to avoid war.

GOOD BOOKS

W. Somerset Maugham says he never reads n book until it is several years old, if it lasts that long, it is good. There are many, many, books which nre time-tested and which withstand Mr. Maugham's test. And there are also numerous new books which give reading pleasure.

Among these are "Life With Father," written in a delightful style—"Gone With the Wind," that amazing best-seller, which everyone likes—the Mencken masterpiece, "The American Language"—"Drums Along the Mohawk," stirring novel of the band of homespun militia of the Mohawk Valley in Revolutionary Days — and "The Exile," which portrays the noble character and full life of the mother of the nuthor, Pearl Buck.

We also include again in "new" books the new edition of "The Bible," of which Alexander Wollcott says: "I have begun to distribute this book like a one-man Gideon Society."

UPPER COUNTIES HUNT RABBITS UNTIL JAN. 31

Season Closes January 1 for Counties Below Townline 16

Cottontail and snowshoe rabbit hunters in the southern half of Michigan's Lower Peninsula have little more than three weeks left in which to do their hunting.

The open season is shorter in the lower half of the southern peninsula this year, due to a change in hunting regulations by the State Conservation Commission.

Under present regulations all counties south of Townline 16—including all of Huron county—are closed to rabbit hunting after January 1. Townline 16 crosses the Lower Peninsula at a point north of Pentwater from Lake Michigan to Saginaw Bay. It is the south line of Mason, Lake, Osceola, Clare and Gladwin counties.

In all the rest of Michigan north of Townline 16, the rabbit-hunting season remains open to and including January 31.

To summarize, the regulations provide the following: A longer open season on rabbits in that portion of the state which has both snowshoe and cottontails and where snowshoe rabbits are most abundant; a shorter open season in that portion which is principally cottontail territory and where the supply is relatively limited.

CHARLEVOIX WINS PETOSKEY CONTEST

SCORED 33 TO 9 VICTORY THERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Reserves Win Second Straight by 32 to 17 Count—Kalkaska and Ellsworth Here Friday Night

Charlevoix's Red Rayders chalked up their second basketball vietory Friday night, winning by a 33 to 9 eount from Petoskey's Northmen, at Petoskey.

Functioning with the same speed and smoothness which prevailed in their vietory over Traverse City a week previous, the Rayders found the green Petoskey combination, minus the stars thnt took them into the state Class B finals last season, rather easy picking.

Getting off to a slow start in the first period, Charlevoix earned a 7 to 3 margin at the quarter. Finding their bearings on Petoskey's large court, they lengthened their advantage to 16 to 4 at the half, allowing the Northmen a single point. They repeated again in the third period, scoring 12 points to one for Petoskey. With reserves carrying the battle in the final quarter, Charlevoix managed to score five points to four for the losers.

Carey, forward, led the Rayders by scoring 15 points. Richardson contributed nine points, Gallagher six, Shapton two and Radle, who chalked up 26 points against Traverse City a week ago, was limited to a single free throw. Charlevoix made good on four out of 13 chances on free throws, while Petoskey netted five out of 15.

Charlevoix's reserves hung up their second victory also, winning 32 to 17 from Petoskey. They led 15 to 0 at the close of the first period, and 16 to 6 at the half. Coach Kipke used two complete teams in the reserve game and also substituted freely in the other contest.

The Rayders play at home this week with both the varsity and reserve teams getting into aetion in n double bill. The first team takes on Kalkaska in the maia attraction, while the reserves play Ellsworth's Class D. outfit in the preliminary contest.

FISHING LICENSES EXPIRE JANUARY 1

ANGLERS ARE ADVISED TO OBTAIN 1937 TAGS

Conservation Department Officials Expect Sale of Over Half Million Licenses Next Year

The Department of Conservation today reminded fishermen that their general fishing licenses expire on January 1, the date on which the new fishing licenses for 1937 go into effect.

All dealers and conservation officers in various parts of the state will be fully supplied with the new licenses before that date.

With hunting on the wane due to the expiration of legal open seasons, fishing through the ice will be one of the outdoor pastimes that will help sportsmen bridge the long winter months. Authorities expect that well over n half-million licenses will be sold in 1937.

There are no major changes in fishing regulations for the new year, fisheries men say. Regulations limiting the number of lines that may be used legally remain in effect. Not more than two single ice lines, with one hook to each line, is permitted each fisherman and these lines must be "held in the hand or under immediate control." In the case of smelt fihing any number of hooks may be used on a line.

Authorities construe the "tip-up," an ice-fishing device, as a single line and rule it is legal so long as the operator remains within reasonable sight distance.

Hampton, of Ann Arbor, also a veteran local Pythian, a past Grand Chancellor, and for many years Grand Keeper of Records and Seal of the Michigan Domain. Homer Arnold writes that he has work at a restaurant, but Ivan Morse is still looking for work. Homer says there were three or four thousand lined up in front of the Ford factory in search of employment.

John Dawson is doing chores for Maurice Dawson and William McGuire, while they are in search of work at Detroit. Johnnie Dawson decided to wait until he saw whether others got work or not before he goes.

Rev. J. H. Snider preached his farewell sermon to a crowded house at Pentecostal Mission last Sunday evening. They attended fellowship meeting at Petoskey Monday, and Tuesday left for Bad Axe, on their way home to Nebraska. Next July they intend to go as missionaries to China.

Rev. Weaver, missionary of Petoskey, writes that the Christmas gifts will be sent this week for the Sunday school children at Grand View. He says the poverty he sees is terrible. So many needing help, and no money to get it with, and prices of everything so high. So many are unable to get work. They don't want help, but work. Yet the papers tell us the depression is over.

All WPA work has stopped here, we are informed, and many have been laid off of the water works project. There appears to be no work of any kind, much worse than a year ago. Central Lake is without a hotel or boarding house; the first time that we can remember of such a happening since the village was organized. Meals, we hear, will be served at the E. B. Gill home on West Bridge street.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

The season's greetings to all.

Some beautiful weather these days.

The way the weather indicates now we will have a green Christmas.

H. J. Timmer and son, Jacob, were callers at the county seat Saturday forenoon.

A lot of our young people are going down south at present to find employment for the winter.

Peter H. Timmer and Miss Anna Drenth, of Charlevoix, were callers in this locality Monday evening.

With our taxes paid again for this year, we breathe a little easier, although they were very moderate this year.

Mr. and Mrs. U. Senneker and family, who have been visiting in the southern part of the state for a couple of weeks, returned home last week Wednesday.

Our community again lost one of its old pioneers by death last week in the death of Ralph VanDerHeide, at the age of 72 years. Mr. VanDerHeide was well known, having lived here and in Atwood for a great many years. We sympathize with the bereaved relatives.

H. J. Timmer and daughters, Kathryn and Cora, have returned from Zeeland, Mich., where they were called on November 28 by the serious accident of their son and brother, Benjamin, who was hurt in a runaway, with horses and wagon, when his liver was ruptured, and was in a very bad condition. Mrs. Timmer will stay there yet for a couple of weeks. At present the condition of Ben is favorable, and he is on the way to recovery.

PHELPS

We are enjoying skating again this winter on Lake 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Drost were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Drost.

Helen, Frank, Otto and Mrs. Saganek were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Sharrow, of Charlevoix.

Last Wednesday evening, the school children were all invited to the home of Franklin Mascho to help him eat his birthday anniversary dinner. There were 17 present. All had a splendid time, and we hope he has many more returns of the day.

The pupils of Marion Center school are having a Christmas tree and program, Friday evening, December 18, at 7:30. All are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ogden, of Mancelona, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Pearl and daughter, of Charlevoix, were callers at the home of Mrs. J. Lakies, Sunday.

Mrs. Henry McClanaghan has returned home from Wyandotte with the news that her son, James, is slowly recovering from the injuries he received in an auto accident weeks ago.

BARNARD GRANGE

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Warner spent Sunday at the Ed. Gregory home.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hilton were shopping in Traverse City one day last week.

Miss Katherine Krchak spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Clara Douglas, in Traverse City.

The losing side of the game hunt treated with cigars and candy to the winners last Grange meeting.

Clyde Dimick was taken Friday to Ann Arbor hospital. We hope to hear of his improvement soon.

The regular Grange meeting will be held Friday night, December 18, and also the Christmas program.

The Barnard ladies' next Nutrition Club meeting will be held with Mrs. Gornell, on Friday, December 18.

There were 41 members present at last Grange meeting and Mr. and Mrs. Blood were initiated in the first and second degrees.

CLARK SCHOOL NOTES

We now have our school house almost decorated. Our Christmas program will be given December 24. Everyone invited.

We started our hot lunch club December 1. We have Hazel Mntchett for president, Marie Matchett for vice-president, and Anna Mae Holmes for secretary and treasurer.

We have elected the officers for our sewing club. They are; Edna Boss, president; Bessie Skeel, secretary-treasurer; Junior Boss, vice-president, and Donald Yell, leader.

BARNARD

Our school program will be given at the church on Christmas Eve.

No church services on Sunday on account of a funeral service in East Jordan.

Clyde Dimick left Friday for Ann Arbar, where he will receive medical treatment. Mrs. Dimick accompanied him.

The regular Grange meeting will be held this week Friday evening, instead of the next week, on account of the Christmas festivities.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Aid Society was held at the William Ager home on Wednesday last. A fine dinner was provided by the hostess. A Christmas program and exchange of gifts were features of the day. They meet next month with Mrs. Clara Whitley, of Charlevoix.

Your children are influenced more by your life than by your lectures.

FORD

advances into 1937 with the LOWEST PRICE IN YEARS and new operating economy

THE ADDITION of a new 60-horsepower engine to the Ford line for 1937 brings you a new, low price and gives you a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines, 85 horsepower for maximum performance, 60 horsepower for maximum economy.

The 60-horsepower V-8 engine was originally developed for use in England and France, where fuel costs are high. It has been proven there for two years with brilliant success. Now, brought to America, it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy!

The "60" engine, available in five body types, is built in exactly the same body size and wheelbase — to the same advanced design — with the same comfort and convenience as the "85." And it delivers V-8 smoothness at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Two engine sizes—but only one car and one purpose—to give you more miles and more satisfaction for your money in 1937.

SHORT COURSES AT M.S.C. TO OPEN JAN. 4

Ten Courses Include Chance to Learn Care of Farm Machinery

Getting their own tractor in shipshape for the rush of spring work is one of the opportunities available to students attending the Michigan State College eight-weeks' agricultural engineering short course which starts January 4, the same date for opening nine other special short courses.

Work offered in agricultural engineering consists of a variety of practical problems from which the student may choose one subject or several according to his needs. Subjects available are farm buildings and construction; farm mechanics and home equipment, including water supply systems and plumbing problems; engines, tractors, and electric motors; and wood and metal work.

"A considerable portion of the 15 million dollars spent annually for upkeep on Michigan's farm implements and machines, valued at more than 100 million dollars, might be saved through timely repairs," says H. H. Musselman, head of agricultural engineering at the college.

In step with the rapid progress of rural electrification in Michigan, the agricultural engineering short course will offer work in the uses and costs of electrical equipment.

Other eight weeks' short courses to be started January 4 are those in general agriculture; dairy production; dairy manufacturing, including butter making, cheese making, and market milk; poultry; practical floriculture; home economics; golf course management, and forestry and wildlife conservation. A four-weens' special course in commercial fruit production also will begin January 4.

Information on these short courses, as well as the other 20 special courses and conferences mny be obtained by addressing Short Course Office, Michigan State College, East Lnnsing.

The Queerest Accidents of 1936

An article in The Amcrican Weekly with Sunday's Detroit Times will discuss odd twists of fate during the year now ending, iacluding, among many others, the story about a lion who speared a hunter to denth, the spark from a eat's fur that blew up a gas chamber, and the careless cigarette that broke a lineman's back.

CHEER UP MEN, SIMPLE FARE RATED HIGHEST

Found, a professor of foods who asserts that the art of cooking and the art of dining are exempt from the caprices of fashion.

She is Miss Beatrice Grant at Michigan State College, assistant professor of foods in the home economics division. And her logic will please families whose households are sometimes treated to such departures from the best liked foods that these innovations fail to draw any praise.

Especially at holiday time, says Miss Grant, there are certain family traditions about foods that must be upheld if the family is to feel entirely satisfied with the menu for the feast. If it's turkey, cranberry sauce and plum pudding that are expected, something else may prove disappointing.

As an example she points to the woman who dared to surprise the family at New Year's dinner with a small whole roast pig to replace the anticipated ronst goose. And the cook couldn't figure out the amazement and disappointment. The family had looked forward to carving the unfortunate goose but were almost moved to tears of pity for the little pig with the red apple in its mouth.

Most pleasing ways of preparing and serving food usually are the simplest. These are the methods, Miss Grant concludes, that result in food looking like food. And many agree with Oliver Cromwell's "clerk of the kitchen" for observing that the perfect cook is single minded and disguises nothing.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science nnd Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 505): "Spirit imparts the understanding which uplifts consciousness and leads into nll truth. . . . . Spiritual sense is the discernment of spiritual good. Understanding is the line of demarcation between the real and the unreal."

PENALTY FOR VIOLATIONS A HEAVY ONE

Social Security Act Has "Teeth" to Enforce Compliance

A $10,000 fine, a year in prison, or both, is the club the government holds over employers to force compliance with its old age pension program.

The penalty, making it the responsibility of the nation's commercial and industrial operators to support the plan, becomes effective January 1, 1937. The bureau of internal revenue will prosecute violators.

On that date the government will collect a two per cent federal payroll tax shared equally by employers and employes to finance the program. Internal revenue regulations make it mandatory for employers to collect their workers' contributions, add their own and make payments to the government. There is 50 per cent penalty for employers refusing to make tax returns or falsifying their statements.

The administration's attitude toward non-compliance was shown by Secretary of Lahor Frances Perkins.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Lyle Miles

Chnrlevoix's cannon ball bowler, Joe Troyer, stepped up his game a little to howl a new alley record of 252. Joe came close to the state record, which I think he will break one of these fine days. Besides being a top-notch bowler himself, Joe has a top-notch league team. Two of his fellows, besides himself, belong to the "200 Club," and the other two nearly qualified.

This "200 Club" is comprised of fellows who have bowled 200 or better. So far the club has about 15 members. Bill Supernaw was the first member with 221. He retired, ns you might say, from bowling in the summer nnd this fall, when he started rolling 'em agnin, he found he couldn't hit the broad side of a harn. But nevertheless he found his eye and jumped his avernge 50 pins, which is plenty.

This has happened to quite a few bowlers, including Jim Bellinger nnd Art Nettleton.

From the way things look, we are going to see some excellent bowling this season, which is our first.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Spidle and daughter were guests at the home of Mrs. Spidle's parents nt Mancelona, Sunday.

The Christmas program at our school will he December 18 at 8 o'clock. A good program is nnder wny. There will be two weeks vacntion.

The second apnual indoor soft hall game directed by Everett Spidle, the WPA recreation leader, was held at Charlevoix between the Board of Commerce and Ironton, the score 9 to 21 in fnvor of Charloyoix in a neven inning game.

HE LIVED AND REJOICED

Once upon a time there lived a king who requested his philosopher to write for him the history of mankind. The philosopher departed and years passed before he returned to say he had completed his task. He presented the king with so many weighty volumes that the king bade him condense the materinl for he hnd not time to read it.

The second time the philosopher remaianed a year, and when he returned the king found the books still too lengthy. So once again the philosopher was commanded to shorten his writing. When he returned the third time the king was on his dying bed, and he handed him one sheet of paper upon which he had written the history of mankind in three sentences. "Man was born. He suffered. He died." And with this sad knowledge in his heart, the old king died.

How much better it would have been for the philosopher to have believed and therefore to have written: "Mnn was born. He lived and rejoiced. He died."

It is always possible to take the pessimistic view of life. However, it is not only a futile view, but a silly one. We should, instead, think of each day as a day of rejoicing, as a time of being grateful for the blessings of nature and life. We are alive, therefore we should rejoice."

"JUST ANYTHING WOULD BE ALRIGHT"

So goes the plea for a little cheer from an impoverished home.

For many of us who have nlways had Christmas happiness and are looking forward to it this year, it is hnrd to realize that Christmas to millions will be only a day of disappointment and heartache. Children write to Snnta Claus usking for gifts. Their wishes are never extravagant, but will they get even the small doll or cradle they ask for?

Probably not, for the slogan of most welfare societies is to give only what is needed. And their funds can do little else but provide dire necessities.

It is up to some of us who have a little to share to see that Christmas brings to these homes things which are not on the "must" list, extras such as toys, oranges and candy. We can work through our schools and churches to find names of children less fortunate than our own. What joy will be ours on Christmas if we can know that by a small gift from us the shadow of tragedy has been removed from one child's face for at lenst one day out of a year, filled with wretchedness.

CARTIER-LOVELACE WEDDING A PRETTY EVENT AT PETOSKEY

At a pretty wedding solemnized last Wednesday at the St. Frances monastery in Petoskey, Miss Betty Jean Cartier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Cartier, was united in marriage to Robert Lovelace, son of Mrs. Dan Lovelace, of Petoskey.

The service was read by the Rev. Fr. Donolus Evers. C. Frederick Curtis, of Petoskey, and Miss Marguerite McDonough, of Muskegon, were the attendants.

The bride was lovely in a brown dress with matching accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony a two-course luncheon was served at the Perry Hotel. Places were marked for 15 guests at one table attractive with a center bouquet of red roses and tall white tapers in crystal holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace left immediately after the luncheon for a motor trip to Chicago. On their return they will reside in the home of the groom's mother on Wachtel avenue, Petoskey.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were the bride's parents, and the bride's brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. W. Clair Cartier, of Grand Rapids, nnd Miss Bernice Lamphere, of Charlevoix.

REPORT PLENTY DEER LEFT IN LAKE COUNTY

Estimate 7,000 Hunters Killed 3,000 Bucks During Season

Are there many deer left in Lake county?

Starting out with that question in mind, I. H. Bartlett, game division worker of the Department of Conservation, made a 60-mile drive through the deer areas of Lake county, Tuesday morning, December 1—the day after the open deer-hunting season ended.

With the help of an assistant, Bartlett was able to count 1,335 fresh tracks where deer had crossed the road along the route driven during the preceding night—an average of more than 22 tracks per mile of road driven. The drive crossed most of the important deer areas of the county.

Although Lake county had a heavy influx of hunters, no one was killed by stray bullets although there were two hunting fatalities. Game authorities roughly estimate that there were 7,000 hunters in Lake county and that between 2,000 and 3,000 buck deer were killed.

INLAND LAKE SPEARING IS LEGAL JANUARY 1ST

Several Species of Fish May Be Taken During January, February

Spearing on the inland waters becomes legal in Michigan January 1, for a two-month period, conservation authorities say. The law permits spearing through the ice only during the months of January and February.

Great northern pike, grnss pike or pickerel, lake trout, muskellunge, suckers and the various species of non-game fish may be legally taken from the waters where the spear is permitted.

The spear is permitted by law to be used through the ice only and without the use of lights. Where lakes open to spenring during the two-month period do not freeze over, if such happens, the spear automatically is illegal.

It has been stated unofficially that Charlevoix has been chosen for headquarters of the 1937 cruise of both divisions, with the banquet and annual ball scheduled to be held in this city.

PARADE OF THE SLEDS

Before there are any fatalities resulting from children sliding down hill into danger zones, townspeople might rope off certain streets where the children can slide to their heart's content.

Sledding is an ancient sport and with the first whiff of snow every child longs to skim down a hillside. But children are heedless and must be protected by older heads.

Flint city boasted no child fatalities for a year, due to the provision of adequate play centers. We do not know but presume that the provision included safe centers for winter sports, as well as summer.

MORE ABOUT MOVIES

"We Americans are too good natured. Apparently we don't care which way a film points — toward peace or war—so long as it is entertaining." The statement is made by Meyer Levin, a movie reviewer who writes for Esquire magazine.

Mr. Levin continues by saying that while we have a terrific sentiment in the United States against war of any kind, still we accept war propaganda, because our movies are made for the world market. For instance, films which agitate for peace by exposing the horrors of war nevertheless carry all the old sentiments about honor and glory and create a readiness for war and sacrifice in the public mind. Many people in the movie industry would like to make an anti-warm film, but the foreign trade will not accept such films. "The Lost Patrol" for example, was banned in Hungary because "it is of a pacifist type, and also shows the horrors of war." Japan censors scenes uncomplimentary to soldiers. Germany's threat to boycott all their films if a certain studio made "It Can't Happen Here," caused the picture to be abandoned.

Besides government censorship of anti-war films, the voice of the people of foreign countries is heard and heeded by the U. S. movie producers. Mexico raged because cowboy pictures usually made the villain a Mexican. Certain Balkan countries objected to their countrymen being portrayed as spies. And so on, until Mr. Samuel Goldwyn, producer, says today the only villain they dare show is a white American, over 21, with a completely fictitious name. Hollywood listens to the "foreign protests" because the foreign market for the better films is a considerable factor.

However, Hollywood listens to the "home" voice as well, and if it protests films featuring war propaganda, and fails to support them, Hollywood has its eye on the home trade box office, too.

HIGHWAY DISTRACTIONS

"The trained driver rarely moves his head when driving—he moves his eyes when necessary, but especially in heavy traffic, his attention should ever be straight ahead. If the unexpected never happened, we would have few highway crashes."

This is an extract, in substance, from a recent dictum of a nationally known street and highway safety expert who has been quoted by officials of the Michigan State Safety Council. The expert is probably right.

There is one thing that's wrong—however, and that is the expectation that the average driver is going to be able to keep his eyes to the front when there is such a mass of roadside advertising—in some cases almost as big as "all outdoors"—scattered all too closely along the roadsides.

Many a road warning sign is nearly nullified by a garishly colored advertisement extolling the virtues or advantages of some commercial product. Many a road and railroad intersection is made doubly dangerous by the existence of distracting and sight-obscuring signboards. Even when there is no direct danger traceable, the fact remains that every distraction offered to a driver is a contribution to his inattention to the full-time job of putting his automobile over the roads safely.

The whole situation points to the growing need for intelligent study of the outdoor advertising situation — from the standpoint of greater safety, if for no other reason. And the appearance of many signs offer plenty of other reasons!

OPEN YOUR HEARTS

This is the season of the year when extravagance becomes a virtue. Extravagant words, extravagant decorations, and extravagant generosity combine with love and unselfishness to add brightness to the holiday season.

When the bills come in next month we all find that we have overspent, but few people regret holiday spending. It is justified by the happiness which is passed out freely. When we talk a little louder, sing a little louder, or stretch pocketbooks a little wider in making happiness for a child, we are shaking hands with the world. The Christmas spirit spreads like a forest fire, warming all hearts.

So let down the latch string and open your healts. Christmas, nineteen and thirty-six is with us.

FRESHENING BREEZES

A word of advice; Don't give it.—Life.

The first law of repartee — better never than late.

Then came the divorce, she got the car and he got the trailer.

The American pioneer didn't want all the land. He just wanted the land next to his own.

Be sure to remove shells or cartridges from your gun after that hunting trip.

A woman is annoyed if her friends drop in and find the house looking as it usually does.

Another frequent cause of remorse is a telephone pole just where you decided to go around a truck.—Michigan Tradesman.

It is the final test of a gentleman —his respect for those who can be of no possible service to him.—William Lyon Phelps.

A long suffering Englishman requests, instead of art calendars and ash trays, presents more practical such as a ton of coal or a pair of trousers.

Americans like King Edward's democratic manners and humane instincts. They like his visit to poverty-stricken districts in Wales and his determination to reduce distress.

When you can't get more than two shaves from the average razor blade it's usually due to a poor blade, a tough beard or your wife doesn't clean and dry it.—Rochester Clarion.

In contemplating a comfortable berth under governmental paternalism, let us keep in mind Benjamin Franklin's warning: "He who seeks security through the surrender of his liberty will lose both."

"Industrial freedom is as essential to human happiness and human welfare as political freedom. Let us hope that our nation will always remain free from governmental, autocratic and dictatorial control of its industries and workers," William Green, President American Federation of Labor.

And Now In Closing—

"There will be foun hundred and nine Democrats in Congress this winter, a bumper crop. Finding desks for them in the Capitol is going to be something of a problem. Last winter the excess of Democrats overflowed to the Republican side, occupying a section known as the Cherokee Strip. This winter the Democrats are going to need both sides of the House and Senate. The Republicans will make their headquarters in the Smithsonian Institution." — The New Yorker. Probably assuming the Republican minority will be as silent as Egyptian mummies.

Sally Save's KITCHEN CLUB

Picking A Bird

Dear Club Members:

THE joyous feast of Christmas isn't so very far off. It's just around the corner to those of us who have to plan and prepare the wherewithal for the festive board.

In most homes the principle dish will be a chicken, a turkey or a duck . . . probably roasted with mother's own special dressing, and fixin's. So here are a few tips furnished by Mrs. F. W. J., of Newark, N. J., on the selection of that bird whatever your choice is. And don't forget it's not too early to put your order in right now today with your butcher.

Select a bird with a dry-skinned carcass. The skin should be firm but tender and should not be dark or dull colored. Choose a bird with a well-distributed layer of fat rather than one having large lumpy fat-deposits. Be sure the breastbone is straight and long. The tips of the pelvic bones should be well-covered. The more flexible the end of the keel bone the younger the bird.

The size of the bird depends of course on the size of the family he is to feed. With turkeys a good general rule is to buy ¾ to one pound for each person to be served that is, if you buy a bird with head and feet on and not drawn.

These rules go for roasting chickens, too.

And here's a suggestion: in roasting a bird allow about twenty minutes to the pound, basting every fifteen minutes. Start in a hot oven (450 degrees) and then lower the heat to moderate (350 degrees) after half an hour. Try roasting some Canadian bacon and pork sausages with the chicken or turkey; hang the sausages over the bird forty minutes before you take it out of the oven.

Fat and Forty

By ELIZABETH ALDEN
© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate WNU Service.

DONNIE hadn't been himself for days. He'd sit back of the stove and whittle and let the boys wisecrack all around him without ever rising to the bait.

Donnie's an especial favorite of mine—he's so darned good-lookin'—and the first time he come in when I was alone I asked him right out what the matter was.

"How would you feel, Min' Harris, if the girl you was practically engaged to got crazy about a married man?"

"I s'pose you mean Idella," I said. "But who's this man?"

"Joe Lawrence."

"Heevenly day! Is that old bumblebee still buzzin' around? Why, he was one of life's dangers when I was eighteen. He must be—"

"Sure, he's old enough to be Idella's father. But he's lived in Boston all these years and he's smooth. He's got all the girls running around in circles, but Della's the one he's after. Just happens to be driving by and brings her home, and then they talk and talk. And they dance together a lot—"

"Well, you aren't going to set still and let him get away with it, are you?"

"But, Mis' Marris, what can I do?"

I considered while I put up Old Man Wilson's order. "If you could make him look ridiculous—"

"Fat chance with that big sports model and all those snappy clothes!"

"Or you could go to his wife, but that's kind of mean. Let me see. You tried paying attention to some other girl?"

"I don't want any other girl."

"Try it anyway," I advised him. "You'd be surprised how often the old gag works."

A few days later Donnie come in and hung around till we was alone.

"How're things coming?" I asked, seeing he wanted an opening.

"Not so hot. She's meeting him up by the Point. I happened to be coming home through the woods the other night—lines stood out along his jaw—and I saw him kiss her."

"Well, one kiss from a married man won't ruin her life, but many of those meetings will go a good ways towards ruinin' her reputation."

"I'd like to choke him!"

"Yes.. And spank her."

Amos Benson come in just then for some nails, and I didn't get a chance to ask Donnie if he'd dated up any other girl. But I could see this latest development had him set so high he wasn't capable of much guessing. So I decided to take a hand myself in this little game.

I got out the good old law of averages and figured that since Idella waited in the store for the night mail five days out of six, and Joe almost always went by from the mill while she was there, it was fairly apt to so happen on any given date.

Then I wrote a letter to Milly Barlow, an old crony of mine who lives in Wauhoxit. Milly's still slim and weare smart clothes, and the fact that she's a Vance Falls girl who's made good as a radio singer puts her ace-high with the young crowd.

Wednesday afternon Idella and Annie White sat on cracker boxes, giggling as usual, when Milly's car drove up. She come along in and we stood gossiping till the whistle blew and the weavers began straggling by.

Milly leaned to get a better view of one figure. "My heavens, is that Joe Lawrence? Why, Maud, he's got a paunch!"

"'Fat and forty,'" I quoted, "only he's a good ripe forty, wouldn't you say?"

"Oh, he was years older than we were! Well, well," Milly couldn't seem to get over it, "Joe Lawrence fat. Perhaps that's recompense for all the girls he made fools of. Wouldn't Hattie Allen love to see him now?"

"Poor Hattie—he did that just to break up her affair with Chet, didn't he? And she never did get another beau. But Joe couldn't resist turning the head of any silly girl he ran across, with that charm that didn't mean a thing."

Milly laughed. "The world's boy friend. But I should say there wasn't much chance of his charming a nigger doll now."

Idella had taken it all in, though she pretended to be deep in gabble with Annie. Her face was plenty red, and the different emotions on it would have given Hepburn lessons.

And then fate co-operated and I witnessed a little scene I hadn't expected. I was on my way home when I spied a couple on the fence under the courtin' willows. A couple that I should have taken for one person if it hadn't been for the voices.

"—flattered me," protested one voice, "I didn't really care anything about him. Why, Donnie, he's middle-aged and fat!"

"Okay," replied the other voice, "we'll let it pass. But from now on—"

I didn't see Donnie for several days, then one night he was back in his old place, swapping wisecracks with Bill and Charlie.

"Women," I heard him declare, "are a lot like bees. Apt to swarm and sting and make it hot for a fellow; but, boy, will they produce honey if you know how to handle 'em!"

Growing Mash to Turkeys, Poultry Experts' Advice

The Michigan State College poultry department advises feeding a good growing mash to turkeys. One which can be mixed at home is made up of twenty pounds course ground yellow corn, seventeen pounds fine ground oats, ten pounds bran, ten pounds flour middlings, five pounds alfalfa meal, fourteen pounds meat scraps, ten pounds dried milk, ten pounds soybean meal, two pounds calcium carbonate, one pound salt and one pound cod-liver oil. Scratch grain, equal parts cracked corn and wheat, is fed in addition to the mash after the birds are six weeks old.

The feed should be kept in hoppers where the birds can get it at all times. The hoppers should be moved often enough to keep them on clean ground.

The Michigan State college brings up a further important consideration for the man raising a few turkeys but interested in making them pay out the best possible. Why consider Thanksgiving and Christmas as the only two marketing seasons? A more advantageous price might be secured by having your finished product ready for the market when others are not there in competition. Restaurants, hotels, summer resorts, and others might be easily interested in paying you a premium for your turkeys finished "out of season."

Gluten Meal for Poultry

Results of experiments at Cornell university indicate that corn gluten meal may be used to a considerable extent in poultry feeds, provided it is properly combined with other feeds. One half the protein requirements of laying hens may well be made up of corn gluten feed, with the other half supplied by meat scrap. Hens fed in this way laid just as heavily as hens fed on rations containing meat scrap as the only source of protein. For growing chicks, gluten feed gave good results when combined with wheat middlings and wheat bran, along with 10 per cent dried skimmilk. If meat scrap were used, along with the gluten feed, the per cent of skimmilk could be reduced to 7.5. The chicks made good growth on rations of both types.

Poultry Helps

City dwellers purchase more poultry and eggs from Iowa than from any other state.

The raising of poultry ranks fourth financially among the agricultural industries of Florida.

Carrots, fed whole, chopped or shredded, are said to rapidly improve color of yolks, giving them a richer color.

Since one dozen eggs contain about one pint of water, clean, fresh, pure water should be kept constantly before the hens.

• • •

Repair the poultry yard fences and other brooding equipment. It is easy to have a good garden and lawn without letting it be a chicken range.

Keep Ahead of the Joneses

There's just one way to be "better off" than the other people on your street. . . . In order to keep ahead, you must think and act first. And that can be done by any one who decides to do it, whatever the family income.

For instance, some people are smart enough to buy things when prices are down. Right now, of course, you can find sheets and towels and other supplies for the house at lowest-this-year prices. And that isn't all . . . Some time this winter you will find underwear for the children, gloves for yourself, pajamas for the head of the house — and many, many more things offered at 'way-down prices.

All sorts of special buys will keep bobbing up, if you watch the advertisements in this newspaper — and keep thinking ahead, and buying ahead.

Where will you get all the money, you ask? Well, it doesn't take more money to be better off, this way. Actually it takes less. The pennies you save by timely buying add up to dollars in the end.

LEGISLATURE WILL CONVENE DECEMBER 21

Session Called to Consider Social Security Legislation

Governor Fitzgerold on Tuesday colled the Legislature into special session commencing ot noon Monday, December 21.

The session will be limited to consideration of legislation to qualify Michigan under the federal unemployment insurance act.

Governor Fitzgerald colled the session immedintely after he received a message from Governor-elect Frank Murphy recommending that he take this action. He wired Murphy for his opinion after he had been informed there is little likelihood of an extension of time for states to qualify under the social security act.

"For several reasons further extension of time by the next Congress is considered uncertain if not unlikely," Murphy wired. "Special sessions are being held in several states.

"Under these conditions I believe it advisable to call n special session for this purpose only."

Governor Fitzgerald was emphatic in his statement thot the special session will be confined to the problem of unemployment insurance. He soid he will not even submit to the Senate for confirmation appointees whom he has named since the regulnr session.

Nutrition

Do you eat to live or live to eat? In either case you probably enjoy eating. The difference is to be found in the fact that in the former case you eat intelligently; in the latter you do not.

The growth of our knowledge of nutrition has made it quite plain that a freely chosen food supply, adequate both to please the palate and to satisfy our appetite, does not always meet the full requirements of diet. From the point of view of our present knowledge of the subject an adequate food supply must do a number of things. It must furnish (1) sufficient amounts of carbohydrates, fats and protein to yield, when burned in the body, the necessary number of calories of energy; (2) enough protein for tissue building and repair; (3) adequate amounts of mineral matter for various purposes; (4) enough of at least five kinds of vitamines to insure body growth and healthy tissues; (5) water as an aid to the chemical processes that take place in the body; and (6) cellulose to give a proper balance to the rest of the diet.

And how are you to be sure to get these various food materials in your diet? The best way is to study a food table, some consideration of which is given here for your benefit.

Bread and other grain products are economical sources of energy and of protein, but are not satisfactory in their mineral—and vitamine content unless the whole grain is used. That is why whole wheat bread is better from a nutrition standpoint than is plain white bread. Sugars and fats are chiefly important as sources of energy. Certain fatty foods are also important as sources of one of the vitamines. Meats, including fish and poultry, furnish protein and fat but are deficient in their mineral and vitamine composition. Fruits and vegetables are greatly variable in their protein and energy values, but are very important sources of mineral elements and vitamines. Milk is of very great importance as it insures an all-around adequacy in the diet. It makes good the deficiency of other foods. It is an important source of energy, of protein, of vitamines and of mineral elements with the exception of iron.

Why has the average American diet been inadequate heretofore? Because it has been made up largely of bread, meats, sweets and fats which may be satisfying to the palate and may furnish an adequate supply of protein and of energy, but which have neglected the mineral elements and the vitamines. It is to vegetables, to fruit and to milk that we must turn for our principal supply of these materials.

PLENTY OF TREES FOR XMAS SUPPLY

Michigan Can Stand Cutting, Conservation Officials Believe

Forestry specialists of the Department of Conservation expressed the belief that Northern Michigan can continue to supply the entire state with Christmas trees without "serious" damage to forest cover.

The Conservation Department authorities took cognizance of the heavy cutting of young spruce, balsam, pine and even cedar trees, but did not believe that removal of the young trees is a "very serious deforestation factor."

They pointed out that while more than a million or more young Christmas trees are cut annually and sold in all parts of the state and exported, a good-sized Southern Michigan farm, growing 4,800 trees to an acre, could produce sufficient trees to meet the demand.

Forestry specialists said the Conservation Department forbids by law the cutting of trees on state-owned land.

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

The conduct of the leaders and of the rank and file of the Republican Party in Michigan since the November landslide has been admirable in the extreme. They have taken the beating without bitterness, have engaged in no recrimination of the opposition, and have voluntarily voiced a willingness to wish the new administration well.

In any reference made by Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald to the new administration he has indicated nothing but good will toward the Frank Murphy regime and has made it a point to advise fellow Republicans to do nothing to impede or obstruct any good measures the Democratic administration may propose.

The same tone of good sportsmanship prevailed at the recent meetings of Republican State Senators at Lansing. The minority group announced that while they took their duty as the "party of opposoition" seriously and would be vigilant in opposing any measures detrimental to the interests of the citiens of Michigan, they would not consider themselves pledged to any obstructionist policy.

The same reasonable tone prevailed throughout the recent campaign in Michigan. There was no attempt made within the recognied Republican leadership to carry on a "smear" campaign—a form of attack which attained considerable prestige because of its admitted success against President Hoover. Governor Fitgerald made no mention at all of his opponent, even when strongly tempted to do so, and confined his discussions to the conduct of his own administration. There was no attack made upon the records or personalities of the other Democratic state candidates. The Republican campaign in this state followed the issues involved.

The entire party now has executed an abrupt about face. It no longer gaes somewhat dolefully nt the November wreckage, but looks straight into the future, the future that contains the electiona in April of 1937 and the state elections of 1938. Machinery of organiation has been set in motion. An enlarged state headquarters has been set up. While Democrats are busy with the unwanted problem of patronage and its attendant vexations, the Republican Party is free to set itself for what is to come.

The unanimous decision of the State Supreme Court upholding the sentence of Senator Anthony J. Wilkowski, Detroit Democrnt, convicted of participation in the fraudulent 1934 recount, nearly brings to a close a dreary incident in Michigan politics. Outrageous as the recount was it has served a purpose. It will be a long time before any group attempts to emulate the conduct of the promoters of the 1934 recount in this state. Those men have demonstrated that the findings of justice in such a case are inexorable, fight them though you may. These defendants have used every process of law in an attempt to wiggle out of the original verdict of guilty and they have found that it cannot be done. Polluted elections mean the end of democratic government; democratic courts will forever take care that that never happens.

AT THE MOVIES

Every Kind of Dance Done In "Born to Dance"

"Born to Dance," which comes to the Palace Theatre December 19-20, is hailed as the senson's most lavish pot-pourri of music and dancing. Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mnyer the vehicle presents the dynamic Eleanor Powell as its star and just about runs the entire gamut of rhythm.

In all there are more than 250 dancers and more than 200 instrumentalists and singera in this new production with a nautical background with music and lyrics by Cole Porter, for several seasons Broadway's number one tunester and lyricist.

Famed Tarzan Again Battles Jungle Odds

Tarzan, amazing character of the fiction of Edgar Rice Burroughs, comes once more to the screen, as Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan are reunited in "Tarzan Escapes," Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer'a latest jungle adventure romance to be seen commencing December 23 at the Palace Theatre.

The present story marks the closest approach of Tarzan to civilization. He is captured by a "hring-'em-back-alive" animal collector who locks him in a cuge and plans to take him to London to exhibit. In a thrilling and dramatic climax the son of the primeval wilds outwits his civilized enemy, saves himself, and also his animnl friends.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Ann Page

It is time to begin to make Christmas dinner plans and preparations, cookies and candies for gifts and not too late for mincemeat and plum pudding.

If it is not already ordered your turkey or goose should be, bread should be purchased to allow it to dry out for stuffings, and cranberry sauce or jelly may be made at any time convenient.

For this week-end we find lamb still the best value with pork second, eggs definitely lower, Iceberg lettuce cheap and good along with a variety of other greens and vegetables.

Oranges, grapefruit and tangerines are cheap and plentiful, apples and bananas moderate in price.

Here are three menus suited to different budget levels.

Low Cost Dinner

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Giant Rise Shown In Diesel Oil Tax

Sale of Diesel motor horsepower in the nation jumped some 60 per cent in 1936 as compared with 1935, but Michigan's motor fuel tax collections on this commodity showed a far greater increase.

Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, points to the $10,542.66 collected in 1935 on Diesel motor fuel, as contrasted with $18,991.77 collected in the first 10 months of 1936.

The state collects its three cents a gallon motor fuel tax on that Diesel oil used only for highway purposes. While collections are almost negligible when compared with gasoline collections, developments in Diesel motor experimentation might ultimately change the picture.

The so-called "gas tax law" under which the Diesel motor fuel tax is collected, was amended by the 1035 Legislature so as to clarify the state's right to levy the gallonage tax on any liquid used to propel a motor vehicle along a highway.

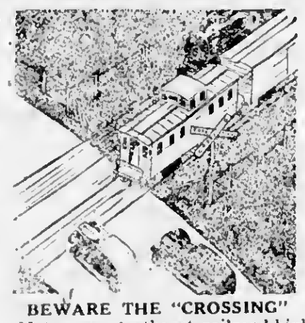
Safe and Sane DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

and Michigan State Safety Council



BEWARE THE "CROSSING"

Motor car deaths at railroad-highway grade crossings were up again last year. Interstate Commerce Commission figurea for the first eight months of 1935 show an increase of three per cent over 1934, when 1,325 persons died and 4,099 were injured.

Highway signs, warning bells, crossing gates, watchmen waving "STOP" signs, and the screaming of engine whistles, all combined, do not seem to be enough to stop some motorists. Many times they drive pell-mell into the sides of trains.

There is a safe way to pass every "crossing." At a single track, if the view in both directions is unobstructed, and if there is no law requiring a full stop, you may approach the rails at moderate speed, prepared to stop quickly. But if the view in either way is partly obscured (as many are), stop, look and listen; shift into second gear to pass over.

If several tracks are to be crossed, never drive out upon them until you are sure the way is clear. Never come up to any crossing at high speed; brakes do not always hold. And it is a good plan to shift into second gear before you start across any railroad tracks. If you kill your engine you may kill yourself.

LARGE FUND MARKED FOR GAME REFUGES

State to Spend $150,000 for Public Hunting Sites in 1937

At least $150,000 will be added to the fund set aside for the purchase, maintenance and development of game refuge lands and public hunting grounds from the sale of 1936 deer-hunting licenses, conservation authorities believe.

The game law requires that $1.50 from the sale of each deer license be made available for the above purposes, and conservation authorities estimate that the sale of 1936 deer licenses exceeded the 100,000 mark.

Open Evenings the Week Before Christmas

DEMOCRAT PATRONAGE COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Mrs. L. S. Orlowski Local Member—Liquor Store Proposal Smothered

Boyne City was the gathering place for Charlevoix county Democrats Monday evening at a meeting which dwelt largely with patronage problems reaultant from the Democratic victory at the November polls.

Robert F. Sloan, of this city, county chairman, named a patronage committee with representatives from the cities and villages of the county. The committee named was Fred Mitchell, Boyne City; Mrs. Pearl McHale, East Jordan; Mrs. Louis S. Orlowski, Charlevoix; Frank I. Pierce, Boyne Falls, and Lee Sneathen, Hayes township. In a surprise move demanded by the delegation, the county's four Democratic postmasters were deprived of membership on the patronage committee as well as influence otherwise.

An anticipated movement aimed to move the liquor store from Charlevoix to Boyne City was smothered at the meeting, it was stated by one of the delegates in attendance, although those who claim to "be in the know" state the proposal will be threshed out at a subsequent meeting to be held at East Jordan.

Two games will be played next Tuesday at Charlevoix. Ironton plays Penney Store at 7:30 o'clock and at 8:30 the K. of P. team takes on Olsen's Service, Boyne City.

ELLIOTT PLAN BENEFIT RURAL SCHOOLS

PROPOSALS WILL GO BEFORE NEXT LEGISLATURE

More State Aid on Tuitions, Relief From Over-Crowding, Among Suggestions Outlined

The cause of public school education, particularly in the state's rural areas, would be greatly aided if the 1937 Legislature adopts the major portion of the program of improvement publicly advocated this week by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, superintendent of public instruction.

While the whole program constitutes a comprehensive plan for betterment of the entire public school system, much emphasis was laid by the state's school head on educational problems peculiar to the areas outside metropolitan districts.

Underlying the whole proposal, which was in the form of the biennial report of the Department of Public Instruction to Governor Fitzgerald, as required by law, was the basic contention that the public school system must receive substantially more state aid in order to meet existing social and economic conditions. Public schools now receive $38,000,000 annually from the state, including the primary school fund.

Following are the phases of the Elliott plan which would particularly benefit the rural areas:

Payment by the state of all tuition costs now charged non-resident pupils for seventh and eighth grade instruction in city and village high schools which pupils must pay at present;

Increase of the state's payment of tuition for non-resident high school students. The state now pays $65 per pupil per year, but the report points out that in many cases actual costs are considerably higher, the difference being met by local taxpayers;

Relief from the present overcrowded condition in many schools, particularly of the consolidated type, by direct assistance from the state to school districts for the construction of new schools;

Higher pay for county school commissioners "commensurate with their educational qualifications and responsibilities";

Revision of the whole body of school transportation legislation which at present lacks uniformity in different districts, as to legal and financial arrangements;

Reorganization of school districts where economy and increased efficiency would be brought about, with consent of local residents a primary condition.

While enactment of legislation conforming with any one of these recommendations would be reflected in easing the cost of eduention in rural areas, the other points in the Elliott program would be beneficinl throughout the entire state.

Summarized, the more significant recommendations are: removing the office of superintendent of public instruction from partisan politics by making the office appointive by an enlarged State Board of Education; higher salaries for all teachers, modification or repeal of the "teachers' oath of allegiance" law to avoid certain abuses; a tenure act to protect "efficient" teachers from being dismissed capriciously if such a measure can be agreed on; prevention of use of state aid funds for purposes supposed to be met by local taxation.

FRANK G. HINES TAKEN BY DEATH

SUCCUMBED MONDAY MORNING AT DETROIT HOSPITAL

Was Pioneer Charlevoix Business Man, City Official, Veteran Mason —Funeral Date Not Set.

Charlevoix was saddened Monday morning by word from Detroit of the death of Frank G. Hines, one of this city's pioneer business men. Death occurred at Mercy Hospital, where he had gone for medical treatment.

Deceased was born in Ontario, Canada, in 1860. At the age of four years he moved to New York with his parents and later to Pennsylvania and Cincinnati, O., where he received his education and grew to manhood. He came to Ironton with his family when a young man. His father, a carpenter and contractor, was employed in the construction of buildings and docks for the old Pine Lake Iron Co. Mr. Hines worked in the company store and as bookkeeper.

When his family moved to Charlevoix, Mr. Hines took a position with George W. Crouter in Charlevoix's first drug store. About 58 years ago he married Miss Alice Carpenter and entered the drug business in partnership with Egbert Carpenter in the Carpenter building, located where the information bureau now stands. He continued in the business about 45 years before selling to F. J. Fessenden. In late years he has worked as a pharmacist for his successor.

Mr. Hines had served as Charlevoix city treasurer and in other official capacities. He was a Mason since young manhood. He had been worshipful master of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M., and many years a trustee of the Blue Lodge. He was the first treasurer of the Masonic Building and Loan Association, serving in that capacity until recent years.

Surviving him are the widow, Mrs. Alice Hines, and three sons, Karl F., of Detroit, Galo E. and Otto H., of Santa Monica, Calif.

BOYNE CITY-EAST JORDAN ROAD COMPLETED

WPA Project Gives County Another Fine Piece of Highway

A black top surfaced road between Boyne City and East Jordan through Advance, one of the outstanding projects in this district, has been completed by the Works Progress Administration.

Charlevoix county was fortunate in securing $150,000 grant to employ part of the relief load of the county. Federal funds were provided for labor and material consisting of supervision, relief labor, truck equipment, tar, crushed rock, gravel, guard rail fittings, cement and tools. The county road commission furnished the screening plant, grader and tractor, and purchased necessary right-of-way.

The project also includes the grade construction of the Boyne Falls-East road to Lake Louise (Thumb Lake), which will receive an additional $14,000 grant.

The supervisory personnel on the project consisted of Fayette McIntire, engineer; Jason Lockhart, construction superintendent; Lyle Wangeman and Cliff Goodman, construction foremen, and John Judkins, timekeeper.

LOOK FOR HARD WINTER FOR WILD GAME

Deer Food Problem Is Serious As Heavy Snow Comes Early

It's beginning to look as though the coming winter months may be severe ones for northern wild game, particularly deer in the yarding areas, game authorities believe.

Deep snows have come unusually early this year. Readings from snow depth-gauges established in various parts of the northern counties to correlate snow conditions with winter observations of deer and other game, indicate that in various places snow is already as deep as two feet. Depths of from one to two feet are reported December 8 mainly in Ontonagon and Gogebic counties, and along the south shore of Lake Superior from Grand Marais to Whitefish Point.

Further heavy snowfalls would aggrevate conditions for the deer in the deep-snow areas, but it is agreed by game men that while this is true, snow-depths alone cannot be held as a forecast of future weather or yarding conditions.

COUNTY PROVIDES FUNDS FOR RELIEF

DECEMBER EMERGENCY AVERTED BY BOARD ACTION

Shortage of Funds for Balance of December Aggravated by WPA Lay-Offs—Case Load High

Action of the poor committee of the Board of Supervisors in granting a request of the Charlevoix County Relief Commission for funds to meet needs of late December, has averted an emergency in Charlevoix county, according to Harold F. Lamb, relief administrator.

On Thursday, December 17, it was deemed necessary, due to a lack of funds, to cut off all relief for the balance of December. However, regular seasonal needs for relief were aggravated by lay-offs from the WPA, until on December 18 the case load in the county stood at 326 cases, an increase of approximately 50. Additional applications were still to be considered also.

To relieve the situation, a meeting of the poor committee of the Board of Supervisors was called last Friday on request of the Relief Commission and arrangements were made whereby relief to those in need will be continued through the month.

Additional funds from the state will become available for relief on January 1, 1937.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Glenn S. See on Committee Named to Draw Up By-Laws

Twenty funeral directors from the seven northern counties of the Lower Peninsula met at the Hotel Perry in Petoskey last Thursday evening to organize a district association.

Frank Spence, of Lansing, secretary of the state association, and Harry Weaver, of Traverse City, member of the executive board, attended the session at which Frank Schroeder, vice-president of the Northwestern Michigan Funeral Directors' Association, was named as temporary chairman of the new group.

Mr. Schroeder appointed Ira J. Matthew, of Bellaire, Glenn See, of Charlevoix, and Quinton J. Stone, of Petoskey, as members of a committee to draft by-laws for adoption at a meeting in Gaylord on January 14.

It is planned to organize these district associations throughout the state with the chairmen serving as members of the executive committee of the state association. Already this movement has doubled the membership of the state group, it was declared.

LOCAL FISHERMEN NARROWLY ESCAPE DROWNING

William Gibson and L. S. See narrowly escaped drowning last Wednesday when their fish shanty, mounted on a raft, capsized while they were fishing for perch on Round Lake.

Gibson, outside the shanty when it overturned, jumped into the water, while See, still inside the shanty, managed to get out the door and swim to the surface. Both hung onto the raft until Elmer Poole, fishing nearby in a rowboat, rescued them.

LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION

PROPOSE FOUR PER CENT FOR JOB INSURANCE

Michigan Employers Would Pay Three, Workers One Per Cent If Proposal Is Made Law

A Michigan payroll tax of four per cent—the employe share being one per cent—will be proposed to Governor-elect Murphy's job insurance study commission by the legislators who will write the act this week.

Meeting in Lansing, a sub-committee of the legislative council threw overboard the proposal of Dr. William Haber, state relief administrator, that no tax be levied on the workman's pay envelope and then added to its own recommendation one that employers start the first of the year to contribute three per cent to the insurance pool.

The four per cent imposed on Michigan labor and industry would be in addition to the $19,000,000 which industry will pay into a federal fund which will be returned to amplify the state's collections for insurance.

There is sharp conflict in estimates of what a four per cent tax would yield in the state in a year. Federal figures indicate it would approach $60,000,000 and build up a reserve of $120,000,000 during the first two year period in which no benefits would be paid out.

The legislative committee is of the opinion that this estimate is too high. This conflict was waved aside by members with this statement:

"Since the payment of benefits cannot commence for two years under the federal act there apparently is little reason to go into the details of the bill which will be passed at the special session. All we have to do is set up the legal machinery which will qualify Michigan to participate in the federal fund.

"The law can be changed with the two year period."

"While the suggestion has been made that the employe should not be required to give up an additional percentage of his salary for job insurance, it is the belief of this group that he should," Rep. M. Clyde Stout, chairman, said.

"After all, his interest in the fund is more than that of the employer."

The committee decided upon a three weeks "waiting period" of time after loss of employment before benefits will be paid and in case of partial employment the workman would be eligible to receive only 75 per cent of his normal insurance.

Decision was also reached to back a bill under which all employer and employe contributions would be pooled and distributed without regard to the employment records of the workers; without requiring that benefits be paid the employe from the reserves of his concern, or any combination of these latter plans.

Tentatively it is proposed that the act be administered by a commission of elected state officers.

SOILS PROGRAM FOR 1937 IS ANNOUNCED

CHANGES APPEAR FAVORABLE FOR MICHIGAN

Like 1936 Plans, Program Offers Payments to Farmers Who Meet Specified Conditions

The 1937 agricultural conservation program, similar in many respects to the 1936 program, has been announced by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, and will be outlined at a series of sectional and county meetings.

Like the 1936 plan, the new program offers pnyments to those farmers who meet specified conditions for shifting land from soil depleting crops to soil conserving crops, and for carrying out approved soild building practices.

Salient points of the new plan include:

1. The program provides for expenditures not to exceed the $500,000,000 authorized to carry out the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act.

2. The plan of establishing soil depleting bases for farms has been continued. These bases will be used as a yardstick to measure diversion from soil depleting to soil conserving crops.

3. Payment for shifts from general depleting crops and cotton, tobacco, and peanuts will be continued in 1937, together with payments to sugar and rice producers who participate in the program.

4. Crops will be classified as soil conserving and soil depleting. These classifications follow those established in 1936 but some changes have been made in the light of experience gained in the actual operation of the program and conditions brought about by the 1936 drought.

5. The regional set-up for the administration of the program will be virtually the same as for 1936.

6. The administrative expenses of all County Agricultural Conservation Associations will be deducted from the payments to farmers in their respective counties.

This was true of the North Central, East Central and Western Regions in 1936 but county administrative expenses in the Southern and Northenst Regions were paid out of the general administration funds in 1936.

7. The range program, which applied only to Western Region states in 1936, will be extended to include range lands in western parts of the Southern and North Central Region regions.

8. The allowance which growers of vegetables and fruits can earn through soil building practices will be increased for the 1937 program.

9. Any producer, no matter how small his farm, will have an opportunity to earn at least $20. The minimum allowance in the 1936 program was $10.

CHARLEVOIX WINS FRIDAY CONTESTS

VARSITY AND RESERVES MARK UP THIRD VICTORY

First Team Downed Kalkaska 41 to 13; Reserves Defeat Ellsworth 23 to 7—Petoskey Here Tuesday

Charlevoix basketball teams hung up their third consecutive victory here Friday night. The varsity Rayders swamped Kalkaska by a 42 to 13 score, while the reserves defeated Ellsworth High school 23 to 7.

The victory over Kalkaska was Charlevoix's first in "Little Eight" conference competition, and paves the way for a start towards a championship the Rayders have never attained since the league, first with six schools, was organized several years ago.

Friday night's contest was as lopsided as the two preceding games. The Rayders piled up 21 points to five for the visitors in the first half and duplicated that number of points in the second half. Coach Kipke used nine players during the game, substituting throughout.

Keith Carey scored 15 points for Charlevoix, followed closely by Radle with 10. Gallagher and Richardson each contributed six, Shapton four and Withers one. Nelson, Kalkaska center, was high with eight.

With Chew and Brown leading the way, the Rayder reserves handled Ellsworth's first string players in much the same manner they have other opponents so far this season. They marked up 13 points in the first half while limiting Ellsworth to a single free throw. Fifteen Charlevoix players were used during the contest.

Charlevoix plays a return game with Petoskey on the home court tonight (Tuesday). Both varsity and reserves are scheduled. The next contest for the Rayders is scheduled for December 30, at Gaylord.

PRE-CHRISTMAS MAIL VOLUME SETS RECORD

Monday's Incoming Mail Greatest In Any Previous Single Day

All records for the volume of incoming mail during a single day were broken at the local post office Monday afternoon, according to Postmaster J. M. Foster.

Four large truck loads of mail were transferred from the depot to the post office. Rural carriers were required to make double trips on Tuesday to make delivery of the huge volume of parcel post packages.

The volume of mail prior to Christmas is expected to be the largest in recent years.

KILLS SELF RATHER THAN GO TO PRISON

WILLIAM MOSHER, BOYNE CITY, CUTS OWN THROAT

Dramatic Act in Court Room Saturday Followed Shortly Sentence Imposed for Larceny

Keeping his promise never to serve a day in prison, William Mosher, 49, Boyne City laborer and junk dealer, slashed his throat in circuit court late Saturday just after he had been sentenced to serve a year in prison for larceny by Judge Perm C. Gilbert, and died shortly after in the local hospital.

The dramatic suicide attempt threw the courtroom into wild disorder, already in confusion because of the screams of Mosher's stepdaughter, Jane, who created a scene when her brother, Henry McClintock, Mosher's stepson, who was also involved in the charges, was sentenced.

Tried to Prevent Suicide

Mosher took advantage of the confusion to whip a knife out of hiding. Deputy Sheriff Charles Marshall, sitting beside him, saw the knife, shouted, "Get that knife," and lunged for Mosher's arm. The latter transferred the knife to his other hand and in one sweeping stroke across his throat severed his jugular vein.

Dr. F. F. McMillan and Dr. R. B. Armstrong were called and administered aid before taking Mosher to the hospital, but efforts to save him were futile. He died at 6:05 p. m.

Mosher had appeared voluntarily in court after a warrant for his arrest was issued Friday night charging assistance in the theft of $700 worth of brass journal bearings from Pennsylvania railroad cars at Clarion and Boyne Falls. His stepson, McClintock, and James VanOrmsdale, both of Boyne City, had been in the county jail six weeks on the charge, and plended guilty in justice court Saturday along with Mosher.

Pleaded Against Sentence

Mosher was the first of the three men to be sentenced. When Judge Gilbert pronounced a sentence of one year in the Southern Michigan prison, Mosher asked whether he could not pay a fine instead. The judge replied that that was impossible, and told him that he should have thought of the penalty before committing the crime.

It was then that Mosher said audibly as he returned to his chair: "I'll never serve a day in prison."

Sentence of three and a half to five years in prison was pronounced for McClintock and two to five years for VanOrmsdale. At this point Jane Fuller screamed and Mosher took advantage of the diversion of attention as she was being removed to pull out his knife.

Lieut. J. C. Clifford, Pennsylvania railway detective, said that Mosher had been searched for weapons before he entered the court. Officers believe that the large knife, newly sharpened, may have been handed to him in the courtroom, or more probably been concealed in the cap he held in his hand.

The thefts of brass from Pennsylvania railroad cars had been going on since August.

The body of Mosher was returned to Boyne City, where he had lived for 15 years. He was a World War veteran. Besides his widow and two stepchildren, who were present in court Saturday, Mosher is survived by two sons, aged 14 and four years.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS PROGRAM FINE AFFAIR

Capacity Crowd Filled Gym Sunday for Yuletide Observance

A crowd which taxed the capacity of the high school gymnasium, attended the community Christmas program Sunday afternoon.

A beautiful program of musical selections was presented, including numbers by the city band, directed by Max H. Smith, a mixed chorus of 40 voices directed by Mrs. A. J. Stelter, and by a group of grade school boys. The assembly joined in singing several numbers.

A short opening address was given by Fr. Edward Neubecker, and Attorney Floyd A. Supp expressed the appreciation of the Board of Commerce, sponsors of the program, to Mrs. Stelter and Mr. Smith for their fine cooperation in directing the program. Mrs. Stelter was presented a bouquet of flowers. Benediction by Rev. Alexander closed the very successful observance.

Got Indigestion? Maybe It's A Guilty Conscience

An article in The American Weekly, with next Sunday's Detroit Times, reports that science has discovered your stomach-ache can come from remorse or worry and the chronic dyspepsia of many reformers is caused by their knowledge that they themselves have done wrong.

BUOYS ARE IN AT CHARLEVOIX PORT

And That Means Navigation In This Area Is Over Until Spring

The buoys are in. To experienced seamen that means that the curtain has been rung down on the Great Lakes navigation season in this section.

Starting their hazardous task of dragging in the three-to-five-ton monsters last week, coast guardsmen virtually had completed their task Tuesday. And along the Charlevoix shoreline today stretches a long barrier of tilted buoys—tilted landward and away from the fast-forming fields of treacherous ice offshore.

A Treacherous Job

Severe December weather made the work of bringing in the buoys more difficult than usual. Sometimes imbedded in ice and jutting out from the lake as conical icebergs, the buoys challenged the ingenuity of coast guards who faced the task of bringing them ashore.

In many instances coast guards were forced to chop away the ice before the buoys could be moved.

During the winter season Peter Ance, keeper of the U. S. lighthouse supply station at Charlevoix, busies himself with repairing the big markers and getting them ready for replacement in the spring.

Improvements Made

The modern buoys are a vast improvement over those used a few years ago. Equipped with large acetylene tanks, they carry fuel sufficient to supply a continuous light for three months without recharging.

When this type buoy first was introduced many casualties occurred when coast guard workers attempted to move them in the early winter. In one instance, three men were killed when a worker struck a metal part with a hammer in seeking to dislodge it from the ice, sparks igniting a leak from the tank and causing an explosion.

OLDS FACTORY SETS PRODUCTION RECORD

Demand for New Models Taxes Capacity of Lansing Plants

Continuing with the highest daily sustained production record in the history of the industry's oldest automobile manufacturer, Oldsmobile is repeatedly breaking past sales records in answering the public's demand for the new Oldsmobile Sixes and Eights.

During the first ten days of December, Oldsmobile delivered 6,739 cars to retail purchasers, an increase of 24.5 per cent over the 5,415 cars delivered during the last ten days of November.

This new sales record is an increase of 52 per cent over the same period in 1935, when 4,435 Oldsmobiles were delivered to retail buyers.

Meanwhile the Oldsmobile plant in Lansing is employing day and night shifts to maintain a production schedule calling for more than 1,000 cars daily. It is expected that more than 25,000 cars will be manufactured during the current month.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

Christmas dinner is in most minds this week and no naturally Sunday dinner takes second place. Turkeys are likely to be at least as attractively priced as at Thanksgiving and other holiday poultry usually follows in line.

Lamb and pork are both very reasonable and if smoked ham is preferred to poultry it will be available at attractive retails.

Apples, oranges, tangerines, grapefruit and bananas are plentiful and inexpensive. Nuts, too, are cheaper than often at this season.

Here are three menus for holiday dinners adapted to different budget levels.

Low Cost Dinner

Roast Stuffed Chicken Giblet Gravy
Mashed Potatoes
Sweet Potatoes Boiled Onions
Cranberry Sauce Curled Celery
Bread and Butter
Mince Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Celery Carrot Sticks
Roast Stuffed Turkey Giblet Gravy
Mashed Potatoes
Yellow Turnips Green Beans
Cranberry Sauce
Plum Pudding Hard Sauce
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Clear Soup Wafers
Celery Olives Salted Nuts
Roast Goose, Pork or Ham Gravy
Mashed Sweet Potatoes Onions
Broccoli
Cranberry Jelly
Orange and Grapefruit Salad
Frozen Pudding Sponge Cake

XMAS IN REVERSE!

ROAMIN' HOLIDAY

By THAYER WALDO

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate, WNU Service.

A CROWD of extra girls was clustered about the door of sound stage No. 6 as they went by.

Cora gazed at them curiously and asked her companion:

"What's the congregation for?"

Ann laughed shortly; there was a note of scorn in it.

"Don't tell me you haven't heard! Really? Why, my dear, this is the day they start Grace Monroe's new picture, with that latest imported hero, Barton Burns, as leading man."

Cora came to a full stop, staring at the other girl with amazed disbelief.

"You're not serious? I heard about him getting a contract, of course; but do you honestly mean they're going to give him a lead for his first job?"

Ann nodded solemnly, though a little sardonic smile curled her pretty mouth.

"Exactly that, no less. And is La-Belle Monroe furious! You know, she's been begging for months to be given Homer Austin in this—even got him to learn the lines. It was only last week that they told her about Bartle, and she's been moving heaven and high water ever since to get it changed."

As they moved on toward the building ahead, Cora exclaimed:

"I should think she would! And as for being just mad—well, I'd quit, that's all. Remember when we played with that fat-headed palooka in New York two seasons ago?"

"Do I! I still have chills and fever in the middle of the night thinking about it. Why, he was so dim-witted I always wondered how he used to keep exiting left at precisely the moment when he should have been entering right?"

"Please don't!" Cora begged in mock anguish as they entered through the door marked Zenith Production offices. "I've just had breakfast."

Down a short corridor they walked; at its end a blackboard confronted them. Neatly pink-chalked letters upon it announced,

> Rehearsals for Penny Arcade postponed—Tuesday—8 a. m. sharp.
> (Signed) WILLIAM NEWSOM, Director.

Ann shrugged.

"Well," she said ruefully, "that sort of leaves two perfectly good female bit players hanging in air; what? And to think I crawled out of my trundle bed at six bells just for this!"

Cora was silent a moment; then,

"I know!" she cried. "Let's make a real spree of it—go over and watch the fun on Monroe's set. That ought to be as good as taking in a Laurel and Hardy."

The other girl made a doubtful little grimace.

"Do you think it'll last long enough to be worthwhile? Remember, they chase you for laughing out loud."

"Never mind; we're both wearing big sleeves. Come on, quick, while we still have a chance to get in."

The doorman at sound stage 6 recognized Ann, and Cora's sweet smile melted him utterly.

"Sure—go ahead," he agreed; "they haven't started shooting yet, and everything's so upset no one'll notice you anyhow."

Upset, as Cora remarked when they got inside, seemed to be a mild term for it.

Perhaps two-score various workers were in the great barn-like room, and most of them appeared to be in a state not far from frenzy.

The central figure was a little man with scant black hair that stood on end and a voice like a slide trombone in a tin box.

Up and down the flood he flashed, short arms windmilling, a steady flow of language spouting from him.

"I ain't giving a twinkle's d—n about no alibis!" he was shrilling, as the girls came within range.

"Me, I'm supervising this here picture, and what I'm saying is we can't wait no longer for nobody! What's wrong with this schlemiel, Barking Bolus, anyways? Why don't he show up like he was told? Maybe nobody's realizing it costs us fifteen hundred dollars cash every hour this production ain't working."

Dramatically a fellow in white linen cap and flannel slacks stalked toward the prancing figure, glowering blackly.

Ann nudged her companion and whispered:

"So Nick Hormell's directing! That should mean fireworks."

"It does," replied Cora; "just listen to him."

"Sidney Klinkenbaum," the director was bellowing, "if you rave like that another minute, I'm going to walk out of here and sue the studio for everything it's got. Can't you listen to anything that's told you? This man Burns went to Mexico—to Agua Caliente—over the week-end; he's probably just had some kind of trouble on the way back. . . . All we need is a little patience—and a little less noise from you!"

"Trouble!" yelled Klinkenbaum. "I'm betting he's got it—bottle trouble!"

"Nothing of the sort!" Hormell snapped.

"If you'll only for the love of heaven pay some attention! Miss Monroe just said she was down there herself with a party and met him. He wasn't drinking a drop."

"Too dizzy to need it," murmured Ann.

From a chaise longue across the stage, Grace Monroe chimed in silkily with:

"Yes, that's right, Sidney. Mr. Burns and I had a most delightful little chat. He seemed very anxious to see all the points of interest down there, and I was so glad to be able to give him some information. He was driving his own car, I believe."

"There—you see?" the director expostulated.

"It'll be only a matter of moments until he arrives, I'm sure. So please calm yourself and wait."

The supervisor's face screwed into a look of stubborn defiance.

"Absolutely no! One whole hour already it's gone blooey! and I'm telling you you gotta begin right now, immediately! Get somebody else, or leaving the part out—I don't care. Only start!"

With a savage groan Hormell dung away, smiting his brow.

"Ye gods!" he gritted. "Why did I ever leave Dubuque! Imbeciles—dopes! All right—I give up. We'll—"

He broke off and whirled on Klinkenbaum, a new-born fanatical gleam in his eyes.

"Listen, you genius—how about the time it'll take to rehearse a new actor? Ha! Never thought of that, did you?"

There was a second of near-silence as the supervisor gaped like a pricked balloon. Then, very casually, Grace Monroe sat upsand said:

"Oh, Nicky dear—I just happened to remember; Homer Austin knows the part. Shall we get him?

"Sure—right away you should get him!" Klinkenbaum squealed in triumphant relief. Hormell threw out his hands and let them drop again listlessly.

"Very well; send for him. I have nothing more to say."

A call boy was dispatched. Ann looked quizzically at Cora and remarked:

"Say, now isn't it a funny coincidence that this just turned out the way she wanted it to!"

Cora, however, was suddenly looking somewhere else. A uniformed messenger had entered; he took a yellow envelope from his hat and raucously inquired:

"Grace Monroe? Telegram for Grace Monroe!"

Klinkenbaum made a rush for him and snatched the wire, sputtering:

"Shut up your racket! I'll take it. Scram!"

Ignoring the star's lazy, "Why, Sidney, you familiar thing!" he opened the message and proceeded silently to read it. In an instant Grace drawled:

"What's it, Siddey? Read it to me."

He lowered the paper momentarily to glare at her, then rasped:

"You really want I should, huh? Okay!"

Diet and Its Relationship to Disease

Eating too much, eating too little, or combining foodstuffs improperly is the great American failing.

Dietitians hold that there are two principal ways in which our diet has intimate relations to health or to disease. A correct and properly nutritious diet produces a natural immunity to diseases of all kinds and especially to those diseases spread by organisms arising from outside the body. This is due to the fact that a properly nourished body is more resistant to the attack of disease germs than is an improperly nourished body. In the undernourished there is a decrease in the number of white blood corpuscles. It is the white blood corpuseles that act as policemen in fighting off disease, and when they are relatively few in number, invading disease germs are able to gain a lodging. Once these germs gain lodgment they proceed to multiply rapidly in numbers and end by producing in the individual a case of tuberculosis, of typhoid or some other disease of the germ species.

A too abundant diet renders one susceptible to ailments which are of non-germ origin. These include: disturbances of the stomach, liver and kidneys; indigestion, constipation, apoplexy, gout, hardening of the arteries and fatty degeneration of the heart and other organs. In the train of under-eating are malnutrition itself, rickets and anemia.

Tuberculosis among the germ diseases follows very often in the wake of under-eating. When a person is in good health the white blood corpuscles prevent it from gaining lodgement in the body. If this were not so, the ravages of tuberculosis would be enormous, for specialists tell us that practically all individuals have the infection some time during their life.

The first great function of diet in relation to disease is essentially prevention. In this connection it is important to remember that excess in eating is to be avoided. In adult life the ill effects of over-eating generally manifests itself in obesity which may truly be considered a real disease.

RISE IN FOOD COSTS IN WINTER PREDICTED

Ten Per Cent Increase Expected Due to the 1936 Drought

Food prices this winter probably will be about 10 per cent higher, costing consumers hundreds of millions of dollars, as a result of the drought, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has reported to President Roosevelt.

Despite higher prices, incomes of city workers have increased so that they will be able to purchase more food with the same percentage of their salaries than a year ago, Wallace said. The food supply is about three per cent less than a year ago and five per cent below the 1925-29 average.

Certain vegetables, particularly potatoes, fruits and dairy products will be in short supply, he said. After January 1 the reduced supply of meat likely will send prices to the highest levels in two years.

Increased food prices, Wallace estimated, will increase the cost of living for the nation as a whole about three per cent in 1937. Food, he said, constitutes about one-third of the total cost of living.

TOO HASTY CONCLUSIONS

During these last few weeks we have heard many stories concerning changes that are to be made in the liquor laws of the state by the incoming Legislature. We have also read some stories appearing in the large city dailies in which it is proposed we return to a situation comparable to the old saloon days of the pre-prohibition era. The papers themselves do not advocate this move; they simply state the possible changes that are being discussed at the time by men of high position in their cities, and by the men appointed to the Legislative Council's subgroup.

It seems to us that these men forget that times have changed since the old saloon days. Where the city of Detroit once had 1500 saloons, it later had 15,000 blind pigs. It now has between two and three thousand state-licensed operators in the business. The majority of them will insist on staying in, regardless of what these men may think to the contrary.

We do not believe the public is in favor of making any such radical changes in our present setup of governing the liquor business in Michigan. It is freely admitted that there are faults to be found with some of our present regulations as well as the laws governing same, but they can be changed by the new Legislature convening in January.

In the meantime let us remember that our present system of control is being practiced in a majority of countries throughout the world. It has been found to be the best method yet devised. We must also remember that Rome was not built in a day, and that when our present laws were written, the men who wrote them realized they would undoubtedly have to be amended to meet changing conditions as well as eliminating flaws that were bound to appear in them from time to time. Therefore, let us refrain from passing judgment too quickly upon a system that is still young and practically untried. The bad wrinkles will eventually be ironed out, and we will be glad that we did not return to a system that was a stench in the nostrils of the entire country.

THE SCENERY SELL-OUT

Michigan contains some of the most famed summer resort centers of the nation. The state's scenery is one of its assets, measured in cold dollars left by those thousands who annually come to enjoy it.

The state pays half the expense of advertising its outdoor advantages throughout the country, tourist and resort associations paying the other half. Millions are spent on roads maintained for the service of the motor traveler. Tons of literature designed to lure travelers to this state, are distributed annually. The State Highway Department has had tremendous response to its tourist service and information booths established on main highways at the state's border.

Yet in one conspicuous instance, Michigan is failing its visitors and its own motoring citizens, when it permits untrammelled use of advertising sign boards up and down the state, along virtually every highway from Lake Superior to the Ohio-Indiana line.

Some of the finest views which this or any other state has to offer are marred by roadside advertising, some of which is unconsciously crude. The state, in countenancing this indiscriminate and unrestrained spoiling of the landscape, is doing more than permitting advertising. It is taking liberties with the enjoyment of natural beauty. It is permitting a sell-out to commercial firms of that intangible asset which belongs to all of us for our common enjoyment — scenery.

GENTILITY OF THE ENGLISH PRESS

We have recently seen the most decided contrast in newspaper policies ever witnessed, the English press which told nothing, and the American press which told all. It is a good time to ask ourselves which policy we prefer.

We in America were amazed, quite, to learn that well-read Englishmen knew nothing of the crisis in the life of their ruler until the bomb burst. It was a crisis for the populace, too, because of its constitutional implication.

English commentators spoke of our "gangster press" and inferred our great lack of culture in heralding this news about the king.

We may differ though, and say we prefer too much news to too little. We are at least given a choice in what we care to read.

The difference in policies between the two nations goes deep. One is muzzling news which the people are entitled to know, even if it is done with a sense of respect and good breeding. It is the kind of suppression Stalin might be guilty of, only it is done involuntarily. It has grown out of years of respect for tradition, while our press is traditionally Democratic, just like America and Americans. Which do we prefer?

THE HOPE OF PROSPERITY

In the book, "America's Capacity to Produce," written by the Brookings Institute, the income of the people of the nation is classified. Here are some facts.

"Nearly 6,000,000 families, or more than 21 per cent of the total, had incomes less than $1,000 in 1929.

"About 12,000,000 families, or more than 42 per cent had incomes less than $1,500.

"Nearly 20,000,000 families or 71 per cent had incomes less than $2,500.

"Only a little over 2,000,000 families, or eight per cent, had incomes in excess of $5,000.

"About 6,000,000 families, or 2.3 per cent, had incomes in excess of $10,000."

There is but one conclusion from such facts. It is that any sound method of increasing these incomes will be immediately reflected in the business and prosperity of the nation.

Give America even a reasonable part of the purchasing power which its people actually need and there will be no surplus of any of the great and useful commodities.

THE TRAILER TOPIC

The house trailer is daily making news, for the number of owners and the number of uses is greatly increasing. Many companies have found the trailer an excellent means to display wares which were bulky and very difficult to carry and show to advantage in the past.

But the greatest interest is their use as homes, homes which can go anywhere, park anywhere, free of taxes and rent. Registration fees for trailers are not large. Eight states requiring $5, and the fee elsewhere averages about $10. In 28 states there is no personal property tax on trailers, or much supervision of equipment. It hardly seems possible that this happy state can last; but while it does many families are taking advantage of the nomadic life which it offers.

No one can predict the future of trailer homes, but they continue to improve in construction and conveniences, and indications are that there will be a substantially greater market for these houses on wheels this coming year.

THE MINORITY

Around sixteen million voting citizens represent the minority in the late presidential election, and by wisely directed efforts they may exercise a powerful influence over future legislation in the hands of the majority. An aggressive minority is necessary to prevent abuse of power. It is the force that will steer the ship of state away from rocks of error. Writing five years ago under the caption, "The Hope of the World in Its Minorities," Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick stressed the point that dangers were defeated and forward steps were taken through the driving force of the minority rather than through the power of the majority. Here is one of Dr. Fosdick's paragraphs: "For one thing, we live in a democracy where the only way of carrying on public business is to accept the voice of the majority. In consequence, the notion naturally prevails that the majority in the end probably is right and that, anyway, the majority rules. But neither of these ideas is true. The majority is almost certain to be wrong on any matter of fine taste or sound judgment, and, whether or not the majority is right, it certainly does not rule. The dominant influence in every situation is a militant minority. The decision of public policy in this country is largely determined by resolute militant, compact, closely organized minorities that want something and get it."

CHARITY RACKETEERS

Charity racketeering is in again, and this is the most profitable season of all for people are apt to be soft hearted around Christmas. If we make any contributions let us be sure that nine-tenths of it is not going toward the support of the solicitor's children. Such a case was reported in Washington, D. C., recently.

Often the individual is honest, after a fashion, but has crammed some high voltage salesmanship down a praiseworthy organization inveigling it into a scheme whereby the collector represents the cause and receives about 85 cents out of every dollar for his effort. The group fails to realize the complete gyp until it is all over.

No money given to charity should be side-tracked. Be sure that your dollar buys one hundred cents of comfort for someone who needs it.

TREATMENT OF FROST BITE

True it is that no matter how firmly we believe in a thing sooner or later someone comes along to disillusion us. After having rubbed snow on frost bitten areas for years a medical association now reports it to be the worst possible treatment for such afflictions. It is condemned because the snow is likely to be dirty and contain germs and grit which will irritate the sensitive parts. Strangest of all, the treatment recommended is heat and wool wrappings.

The old saying that "like cures like" has gone—gone with the wind, and we'd better watch the winter blasts for that feeling of numbness in hands, feet or face. If we become stricken we should hurry home for the hot water bottle and a wool blanket.

STOP LIGHT SIGNALS

In trying to get from one side of the street to the other before the light shows red, pedestrians must sometimes wonder how the length of the time signal is determined. Probably several average sized people were found to cross the street in an average length of time. But was the test ever made when the streets were crowded? When cars were trying to get around corners and mothers were struggling to get children and bundles across?

Signals which are too briefly timed result in confusion and save no one any time. If the purpose of such timing is to aid cars through downtown traffic without a change of gear, then it is decidedly unfair to pedestrians. And, after all, there are side streets for cars to travel and park, but the main thoroughfare is for the busy shopper.

CUT AVERAGE 10 MILES

If you are in the habit of driving at an average speed of 40 miles per hour, cut it down to 30 miles during the winter months. The shortest days are here and the time of slippery roads which necessitate extra caution.

Ten miles off your usual speed may take you safely through the winter.

Bertie on a Bust

By CHET GRANT

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate WNU Service.

GEORGIE BLAKE heard his mother's voice coming closer; in the room, now. "Georgie, get up. I want you to go to the city."

At the sound of the magic word Georgie became instantly awake. "Did you say you wanted me to go to the city, Ma? When? Now? Who's going? What for?" He plunged toward the bathroom.

"In half an hour. I want you to take Cousin Bertie to Casey's for some suits. They're having a sale."

"What!"

Georgie's shocked face appeared between the folds of the rubber curtain. "Hey, Ma, are you crazy? Imagine me taking that little hellion to New York. Good night!"

"Bertie is not a hellion," Mrs. Blake said sharply. "How often must I tell you to speak respectfully of your cousins. Besides, Bertha isn't going, just Bertie. He won't be any trouble."

"You're right," Georgie cried. "He'll be a riot."

Casey's was crowded. Georgie kept a grip on Bertie's hand and took the elevator to the children's department. A saleslgirl came tripping up the carpeted aisle. "Some new suits for the little boy? Right this way, please."

There were thousands of suits and Georgie nod the saleslgirl spent a lot of time over them. Suddenly Georgie was conscious that Bertie was missing! It was a horrible feeling. Not the fact that Bertie was lost, no, not that, but the fact that any moment now he might hear a muffled screaming somewhere or behold the sprinkler system operating as it should only do in case of fire.

Bertie found Georgie first. He had gotten into a drawer of masks and wigs in the toy department on the next floor. Adorned in a full flaming red beard he peeked around a counter corner and yelled: "Boo!" at Georgie, then ducked and ran.

Georgie gave chase, but it was futile. Bertie disappeared again.

In the sporting goods department, two floors down, George spied Bertie again. Bertie heard his triumphant shout and leaped into the middle of a large pool of brook trout set low on the floor. Georgie in his mad haste, followed. Water geysered everywhere. Fish flip-flopped on the floor. Women screamed.

It was the blond girl from the children's department who rescued them from the detective. She showed them into a small stock room. "You can hang your clothes on those steampipes," she said. "Nobody'll bother you here."

Georgie stripped Bertie to his shirt and himself to his singlet and shorts. "I ought to sock you," he snapped at a much chastened Bertie, who, sensing the righteousness of a beating from Georgie, expected the worst. He let out a yell of fear and dashed from the room. Georgie roared in exasperation and charged after him into a deserted bundle room just in time to see Bertie disappear down a bundle chute in the floor.

Bertie shot out of the chute onto a long smooth table. He tumbled hastily off and ran for an open door that led out on the street floor. There were thousands of people packed around the counters. Bertie looked for a good safe place to hide. There was no opening in the wall. He stepped into it quickly and all at once there was peace and quiet.

Meanwhile Georgie was upstairs donning his clothes hastily, saying much under his breath. He rushed to the street floor. He sought out a floorwalker at once. "I'm looking for a little boy running around in his shirts," Georgie said. "Have you seen him?"

"It's been a very warm day," the man said, sidling away. "Just a minute please." Georgie didn't wait. He decided to get a policeman. He went outside but there wasn't one in sight.

He became conscious of a thick gathering before one of the windows. Perhaps he might be there. Georgie pushed his way through the crowd. He glanced in the window, and his stomach turned right over.

Bertie was in that window. It had once been a beautiful bedroom suite display, but it wasn't any more. It was upset like Bertie's mother's bedroom at home. The highboy drawers apparently had been used for a stepladder, and Bertie had evidently been climbing up on them, and had leaped down on the bed. Right now he was fast asleep in the middle of an expensive counterpane, his flushed cherubic features belying any recent guilt.

Georgie pushed his way out of the crowd. "That's him!" he heard a familiar voice crow. He wilted. A severe looking man came up with the detective and took him by the arm. Without a word they led Georgie to an elevator and up to an inner office.

Georgie quaked. The damage. The uproar. Probably there would be a good stiff fine for all that. Maybe prison.

"You have charge of that youngster in the window?" the severe-looking man asked.

"Y-Yes, sir." Georgie fought a strangling sensation.

"Listen," the man said. "I'll give you fifty dollars to let him stay there until he wakes up."

Georgie fainted dead away on the rug.

LARGE FEDERAL FUND MICHIGAN HIGHWAYS

Government Had Ninety Million Dollar Investment in This State

The federnl government has an investment of more than $90,000,000 in Michignn's trunkline highway system.

Murrny D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, revealed in a report this week that $90,781,103 hns been spent for construction on the trunkline system in federal funds since the creation of the State Highway Department.

The report showed that more than half of this amount, or $45,882,833, has been spent during Commissioner Van Wagoner's administration which started July 1, 1933.

More than $47,800,000 of the federal government's investment in the trunkline system hns enme to Michigan in the form of normal federal aid. This money is allocated on a matched fund basis.

Only $7,668,768 of the $45,882,833 received from the federnl government during Commissioner Vnn Wngoner'a administration has been in federal nid, or, on a matched fund basis. The balnnce has been in direct grants.

Federnl assistance in financing trunkline highwny construction in Michigan began in 1917 when the first federal aid allocation to this state became available.

While recognizing the generosity of the federal government, Commissioner Van Wagoner emphasized that federal aid funds cannot be expended off the federal nid system. He said state trunklines off this system are badly in need of improvement, a condition that can he remedied only by the appropriation of more stnte funds for construction purposes.

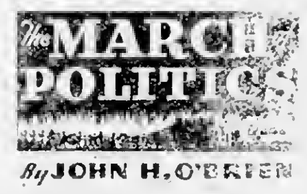
MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM



By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

Now that the day approaches when Frank D. Fitzgerald will step our of public office a review of the man and his career is in order. January 1st will bring to an end a public career starting 24 years ago with a lowly clerkship in the Capitol and terminating with the holding of the highest office the government of this state affords.

The behavior of Fitzgerald since his defeat November 3rd is the clue to his success in that most arduous of all careers — polities. His every thought has been directed toward making the path smooth for the incoming governor, Frank Murphy. He has asked his party colleagues to do nothing to hamper or obstruct the Democratic program unless such action is deemed their duty as representatives of the people. He called a special session of the Legislature to accommodate Murphy and the State of Michigan and he refused to grasp the opportunity of using the session for anything other than the specific purpose for which it was called. He has acted the gentleman, the sportsman, and the statesman, and his conduct lends a luster to the term "politician" which it has too often lacked.

Fitzgerald rose steadily and gradually as it became apparent that he could be trusted to take on greater responsibilities. Just as he rose in the service of the state, so he climbed in the councils of his party. Just as it was recognized that he was the right man for increasingly important state offices, so was it made obvious by his conduct that he was fitted to be a leader of the party to which he gave his allegiance. His success came slowly but inexorably. There was never anything mysterious or hidden about him; everyone always knew where he stood and what he would do under a given set of circumstances. He is no different today that he was years ago, except that he has gained the stature that comes with added years of experience.

Fitzgerald was a good governor just as he was a good clerk—because he learned his job thoroughly, worked hard at it, did the very best he could.

He leaves office a greater man than he was when he took it. He has shown that the sudden interruption of his career by defeat has not embittered him. He has taken defeat as part of the life he has chosen as his career. He has no regrets, no scores to even, no blame to attach to anyone. His defeat only served to bring to everyone's attention that here was an unostentatious man who had tackled the job of the chief executive and left a record in office that every public servant before or after him could envy.

His defeat could well have soured him on the gratitude of the democracy he served so well. It is generally recognized as an unfortunate political accident. He might well wonder if this is the reward for nearly a quarter of a century of work well done. That he does not take that attitude is to his glory.

At a recent meeting of members of his party in fellow Republican rose and said:

"Governor Fitzgerald, I do not regret the fact that you lost as much as I do that the state of Michigan lost you."

And a great many citizens of Michigan could well echo that statement.

BIDS OPENED IN TOURIST HIGHWAY PROGRAM

Will Spend $11,000,000 on Construction and Relocations

A projected $11,000,000 tourist highway program on the trunkline system was initiated this week with the announcement that bids have been opened on the first two projects. R. W. Clark, state procurement officer for the U. S. Treasury, and Louis M. Nims, state director of the Work Progress Administration, revealed the apparen low bidders on wo projects on which 58 bids were received.

Brown Brothers, of Battle Creek, submitted a bid of $28,049 for the grading of a relocation on US-10 for 4.674 miles from Lake Station west in Clare county.

Ray Kebbe, of Wurren, had a bid of $59,969 on a relocation of US-41 for 6.364 miles from US-2 north in Delta county.

Meanwhile, Charles E. Hayes, WPA engineer for the State Highway Department, said he expected bids on eight or ten more projects will be opened the last of the month.

The bids announced today must be approved by Washington before awards are made. Nims said he expected that initial construction can start within ten days.

Work will be carried out under the contract management plan with the WPA furnishing the labor and paying the wages.

The $11,000,000 program will be confined to grading and drainage operations on relocations of tourist routes in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula and in the Upper Peninsula. Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, plans to surface these routes on regular federal aid programs.

The cooperative program between the WPA and the State Highway Department is designed to furnish employment for jobless this winter. As the state sponsoor of the various projects, the highway department participates in 20 per cent of the cost.

ADD 30,000 ACRES TO PUBLIC HUNTING AREA

Conservation Dept. Annouoces Purchases from License Funds

Acquisition of nearly 30,000 acres of private-owned land to be administered and managed for the production of wildlife and for public recreational use was authorized by the State Conservation Commission at its December meeting.

Approximately 24,500 acres will be required from the Michigan Northwoods Club and added to the Escanaba River tract, being located immediately north of that state-administered area. The forest cover of this area is mainly poplar, jackpine, oak and some coniferous second growth through which the Flat Rock River and several other streams flow.

More than 4,000 acres will be added to the state-owned holdings in the Molasses River unit of the Ogemaw state forest, 3,931.64 acres to be acquired from the estate of Louis E. Auer, of Milwaukee, and 99.47 acres from J. Anderson, of Grand Blanc. These purchases will help to "block in" the scattered portions already state owned.

From J. H. Vickers, Chicago, the state will purchase 160 acres within boundaries of the Fife Lake state forest. This plot is crossed by East Creek, a fair trout stream.

All purchases are being made from the $1.50 deer license fund established by law.

MSC SEEKS FUNDS FOR BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

Would Add New Laboratories and Adequate Classroom Facilities

Michigan State College, through the board of agriculture, will ask the Legislature for building appropriations to provide adequate classrooms, laboratories and health facilities, and for an act enubling the college to provide dormitories for men and women.

Although the college has set up a six-year building plan, the entire program must be submitted to the Legislature. The legislators may approve the entire building budget, and college officials hope they will provide at least enough funds to alleviate the crowded conditions on the campus.

First on the program is a college health center and hospital, to give adequate physical care to the 4600 students. Facilities now available are enough for an enrollment of about 2000 students. Student health, college administrators are agreed, is more important than an education, and must be maintained.

Closely following the health center in importance is provision of class rooms in the agricultural building, and the conversion of the woman's building into a class room building to house liberal arts. Likewise, there is immediate need for the erection of at lenst the first unit of a science building. The power plant facilities must be increased to provide heat and light for the additional buildings.

Erection of an auditorium large enough to seat all the students is seen as highly desirable, if not immediately imperative. There is in East Lansing no auditorium that will accomodate more than half the students at one time, and when lecturers appear they must speak twice in one evening so that those who wish may attend.

Michigan State College, it is pointed out, now ranks 17th in the nation in enrollment, and among the ten highest in scholastic standards. In order to continue to give the sound training to which Michigan youth is entitled, administrators of the college believe the facilities should be adequate. That is what they are asking the state Legislature to provide.

INCREASED RESPONSE IN TB SEAL CAMPAIGN

Returns Are Good, But Delinquent Urged to Send Returns

The trend of returns from the 30th annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals continued upward this week as the Michigan Tuberculosis Association urged again that the several thousand in the state who have not yet replied to letters sent to them at Thanksgiving time, mail their contributions as soon as possible so that early increases may be maintained. Additional expense of another follow-up message would be spared if returns were submitted this week, the association pointed out.

"We have indeed been glad to note the increase that means more adequate tuberculosis protection for Michigan in 1937," Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, declared. "And though there are still several thousand in the state from whom we have not heard and upon whose generosity depends an ultimate increase over the 1935 mark, we are confident that they are aware of the great necessity for the work of the Christmas seal and that their returns will be forthcoming within a few days.

"We feel that the majority will be anxious to submit their contribution this week when they know that by doing so they will be eliminating unnecessary expense. In a few days we shall have to send out another follow-up message. Imagine the additional resources for the anti-tuberculosis campaign if the list of those from whom we have not yet heard were cut by several thousand.

"The danger from tuberculosis is still too imminent to allow any easing-up in the fight against it. In fact, to ease-up now would be disastrous. Now—with the battle half won—is the time to redouble our efforts. Two thousand forty-five deaths from tuberculosis in Michigan alone last year convincingly attest the fact that the work of tuberculosis Christmas seals is still of paramount importance."

WILL CONTINUE PROGRAM DEER TRAPPING

Thirty Live Traps to Be Operated In Study of Deer Habits

Continuing their efforts to obtain more information on the migratory habits of whitetailed deer, game workers of the Department of Conservation will conduct another live-trapping and tagging program this winter in three widely separated state-owned project areas. Nearly 30 live-traps, all told, are already in operation.

Five live-traps are in the Luther-Baldwin game area, 10 live-traps in the Crawford refuge, Crawford county, and 10 in the Cusino refuge unit east of Munising. In addition to these, two live-traps are being operated by the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co. in Illaney Park, Schoolcraft county, in cooperation with state game workers.

The primary purpose of the live-trapping, game men explain, is comparable to the finger-printing of human beings; when numbered aluminum tags are placed in the ear of a deer, the identity of that individual is permanently recorded. So if he is ever captured or killed at some later date, he is distinguishable from other deer.

Live-trapping and tagging of deer have already revealed evidences of their migratory or ranging habits, but still more information is needed. When sufficient data are compiled, authorities will be able to have a pretty good idea of how far deer will range from their winter concentration areas to summer feeding grounds and vice-versa. Generally speaking, a picture of this kind is needed to disclose the average area of summer range from which the winter yarding swamps draw their populations of deer.

In addition to the live-trapping, tagging and release work, game men with the assistance of CCC crews will conduct "weighing" activities at two places to get data on the average shrinkage in the weights of deer during the winter months in relation to their available food supplies.

At the Luther-Baldwin swamp, CCC enrollees from Camp Sable River will operate five live-traps throughout the winter, tagging and releasing each deer caught and weighing every deer recaptured to check its normal winter loss of weight. Many "retakes" are expected for deer frequently return again and again to be live-trapped in the same trap. One doe in the Crawford refuge last winter came back to the same trap 13 successive nights to be recaptured and released again.

In the Portage Creek swamp of Crawford county, 10 traps will be operated with the help of CCC men from Camp Higgins Lake. Some of the deer taken will be moved to other swamps to relieve the severely overbrowsed Portage Creek swamp, but only 150 will be thus transported, says Max Wakeman, game worker of the department, who is general supervisor of live-trapping work.

At the Cusino refuge unit CCC workers from Camp Cusino will work 10 live-traps, weighing all retakes and releasing all deer, except just the few needed to continue the winter deer-feeding expriments at the specially built corral in the refuge.

In addition to the general information furnished by the work this winter, attendants at the various traps will check each deer taken for sex identity and for evidences of disease. Important data are collected on the ratios of bucks to does by this work.

State's Auto Toll Shows No Big Jump

Increase of Michigan's traffic death rate in 1936 over that of 1935 is only .3 per cent, rather than the 9.2 per cent indicated by failure to consider vital factors involved. Orville E. Atwood, chairman of the Michigan State Safety Council points out.

Traffic deaths jumped 109 for the first 10 months of 1936 as compared with the corresponding period of 1935, for an increase of 9.2 per cent, but increases of both motor vehicles and of the state's gasoline consumption change the picture.

There were 135,172 more motor vehicles registered with the secretary of state during the first 10 months of 1936 than during the corresponding period in 1935, and total gasoline consumption rose 8.9 per cent.

Calculations of the resultant death rate increase were submitted to Atwood by Trooper Cornelius F. Van Blankensteyn, of the Michigan State Police, secretary of the Council.

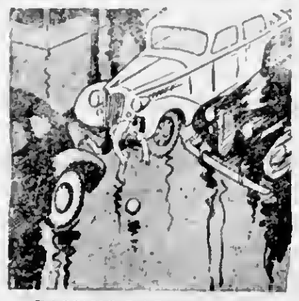
RECOMMEND INCREASE NON-RESIDENT GAME LICENSES

The state Legislature will be asked by the conservation commission to increase the non-resident small-game hunting license fee to $15.

Under the present law non-residents from nearby states may obtain a non-resident small-game license for five dollars. By increasing this fee to $15, Michigan's non-resident small-game hunting license would be comparable in cost to those of most nearby states.

Safe and Sane DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL and Michigan State Safety Council



PASSING PARKED CARS

The careful motor car driver breathes a sigh of relief when he has passed safely down the narrow city street lined with parked cars. His moderate pace and utmost caution are not always enough to escape a serious accident.

For there are many drivers who still rush along such streets at 25 or 30 miles per hour. And many a driver will pull out from a parked place at the curb without either signaling or looking back. Another frequent hazard is the car carelessly parked so that a corner projects dangerously into the traffic lane.

Even a pace of 15 miles per hour may be too fast to let you avoid the child that dashes after a ball between the parked cars just ahead. Or it may be some old lady with poor vision who is living in her memories of old horse-and-buggy days. You are fortunate if your foot reaches the brake in time in such emergencies.

Drive slowly enough to be sure that you are completely in control of your car in case of emergency. Some impatient motorist may blow his horn behind you, but keep your alert attention on the street ahead. Your immediate object is safety.

Got indigestion? Maybe it's a guilty conscience. Latest scientific discoveries of interest to everybody told in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

STATE FERRIES RECORD SEASON

MORE VEHICLES CARRIED THAN ANY PREVIOUS YEAR

Enlargement of Service Cited As Necessity As Traffic At Straits Reaches An All-Time Peak

Officials of the highway department today looked back on a season of record activity at the Straits of Mackinac, where state-owned ferries transported more vehicles and passengers between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace than ever before.

For the first time in the history of the service, the number of vehicles transported in a single season exceeded 200,000. The number of passengers carried on the ferry boats also reached an all-time peak with a total of more than 350,000.

Receipts far exceeded revenues in 1935, but were still below amounts collected during the seasons of 1929, 1930 and 1931. Highway Commissioner Murray Van Wagoner explained that rates were substantially reduced beginning in the spring of 1933.

Nearly 40,000, or 23 per cent, more vehicles were carried during the current season than in 1935. The same percentage of increase held true for receipts.

Passenger traffic increased slightly less—a total of 60,000, or about 29 per cent.

"The state ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac is becoming more and more important," Van Wagoner said. "It is the link which binds together the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan. The development of the tourist industry especially has placed a new emphasis on the necessity for adequate and efficient service at the Straits."

The commissioner pointed out that nearly all Michigan tourists include a trip across the Straits in a vacation journey through Michigan. In fact, he pointed to the comparative volume of traffic across the Straits as being an accurate measure of the annual increase in the tourist business.

"We consider our efforts to improve the service as primarily a tourist service," he said.

The past season brought several new developments in the state ferry service. The regular fleet of three state-owned boats was augmented by the steamer, St. Marie, leased by the State Highway Department from the Mackinac Transportation Co. Formerly a railroad car ferry, the St. Marie was altered to accommodate trucks and busses. The boat was operated from July 1 to September 10, and gave service exclusively for commercial vehicles except during peak periods, when automobiles were also carried. During peak periods, also, the regular railroad ferry, Chief Wuwatam, carried automobiles on its scheduled trips.

With this fleet of boats the State Highway Department three times set new records for number of vehicles and passengers transported across the Straits in a single day. On Saturday, August 15, the boats carried 2,658 cars to exceed the old mark of 2,625 cars established on the Sunday before Labor Day in 1935. On the following day, August 16, the ferries smashed the record for the second time by transporting 2,798 vehicles. The present record of 2,932 vehicles was established on Sunday, September 6, the day before Labor Day.

The season upon which all records at the state ferries are based begins with the opening of navigation about the middle of April each year and ends with the close of navigation the middle of December. In past years, the State Highway Department has provided winter service through a special agreement with the Mackinac Transportation Company. None of the state-owned boats are ice-crushers and their operations were concluded with the close of navigation. The Chief Wawatam, an ice-crusher, carried automobiles on its regularly scheduled trips during the winter months.

In this connection, one of the important innovations in the state ferry service this year was the opening on December 15 of a new winter service during the winter months. This will eliminate the delays occasioned by the loading and unloading of trains as was the case in previous years. The winter schedule provides five trips daily from each port.

SCHOOL DAYS — By DWIG

Suicide Bridge

By THAYER WALDO

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate WNU Service.

LONG uneven shadows were reaching fingerlike across the arroyo as Blair approached. The bridge stretched sinuously from bank to bank; far beneath, already half lost in gloom, lay the cragged floor. A brooding majesty shrouded the scene.

Little awareness of this, however, possessed the man who now drew near along the broad highway. Yet there did come a certain thrill, partly of fear, in contemplating this grim grandeur and thinking of its macabre fame.

In less than a decade some threescore souls had plunged from that bridge to mangling death upon the rocks below. A shudder gripped Blair as he considered it. Suicide in any form was distasteful enough, but this means seemed positively ghastly. Then a bleak smile tinged his lips. Amusing, after all, that he should have such reflections just now. Yet he could afford them; no one here for whom he must pretend—thank God! Later on there'll have to be a little acting, of course, but attended by perfect safety.

Blair consulted his watch and made brief calculations. Six-twenty; in another quarter hour, at most, Rita would arrive home, to find his note placed prominently there upon the newel post. Sardonic satisfaction came at thought of its content. A masterpiece of tragic prose, and one which would most certainly command belief.

She deserved a jolt, a real fright; nothing short of that could bring her to her senses. Somehow Rita wasn't the sort to be effectively handled by violence. No, this was the only suitable way. Reading his message, she would see the conspicuous time notation and think he had been gone but a few moments. Her reaction he could predict with certainty. Ever cool and practical, she would turn at once to the surest means of stopping him: a call to police, sending officers swiftly to the bridge.

Near the span's east end, Blair seated himself upon a small granite bench. From this direction would come the carload of saviors in uniform. Watching for their crimson spotlight, it would be a simple matter to plot his movements properly. An ascent to the rail just as they arrived; strong hands grasping him in the apparent nick of time. It would be realism of a thoroughly fool-proof sort.

Dusk was deepening rapidly. The squat pillars opposite loomed now in stark silhouette against a fading sky. A reflective mood, not untouched by the morbid, settled over Blair. Sketchy reminiscences drifted to him—scraps concerning his life with Rita. It had been a soft couple of years for him, until these past few months; her dissatisfaction with his idleness was a wholly recent growth. At the time of their marriage, she'd been glad to have him give up studio extra work. Why, they had agreed, should he continue at such profitless drudgery when her salary as a star amply met their needs? Yet, now, merely because he occasionally stayed away from home and spent a few hundred a week playing poker, she complained, urged johnhunting constantly upon him.

Well, there'd be an end to all that now. Perhaps she had lost sight of his importance to her, but this would restore the perspective. Something vaguely like pity for her stirred in him. Grief and remorse and a terrible anxious fear—for a little while she would know them with an intensity which could not soon be forgotten.

Night had come. A breeze with a nip in it was singing out of the north. Blair turned up the meager collar of his coat, then struck a match and held it to his watch face. A shock of surprise came. Time had slipped by with astonishing speed; it was nearly fifteen past seven. Odd, he puzzled, that the police should not have appeared by now. He knew quite exactly when Rita would have left the studio. Could it be that—?

A sudden uncomfortable sensation seized him. Might she, in the clutch of despair, have committed some rash act instead of doing as he'd anticipated? A swift succession of harrying pictures swept through his brain: The lotion bottle labeled in scarlet; that gas jet just beside her bed; his long razor's gleaming blade. . . .

He cursed once, sharply, and crowded the conjectures aside. It was this d—d black solitude which fostered such fancies.

He straightened at a fulat sound. Straining eyes through the darkness, he sat forward, tense. Nothing further reached him; but all at once, halfway down the bridge, he made out a deeper shadow against the railing. It seemed to be a figure standing there. Yes! He perceived now a dim shape above the parapet, leaning far out into space.

Then Blair was on his feet, a suffocation crushing upon throat and chest. One lower corner of that shadow had fluttered, and now the entire figure was swaying ever more perilously outward. He started to run; his legs felt numb and flabby. He was silent, for lips would not form the name his mind repeated with deadly insistence.

He stumbled forward, arms outstretched. Suddenly, ten feet ahead, the form shivered once and slipped over the side. Blair lunged out wildly at it. A terrible cry burst from him as he pitched downward, taut fingers clenched on nothingness. An open newspaper fluttered lazily over the canyon, borne on a wind from the north.

CLOSE RECORD YEAR FOR 4-H CLUB WORK

LARGEST PERCENTAGE FINISHED PROJECTS NOTED

Adolph Ecklund Wins Highest Honors With Award of Scholarship at Michigan State College

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The most successful 4-H club program carried on in this county was ended on December 15, at which time the annual report covering all activities was submitted to the proper authorities. In 1936 there were 474 project enrollments as compared with 375 in 1935. There were 451 completions compared with 343 in 1935, and a percent of 95.1 finishers compared with 91.5 the previous year. This is an increase of 99 project members over the previous high record.

The highest award possible was given to Adolph Ecklund, Charlevoix, who as a result wins a scholarship to the Michigan State College. Adolph has spent seven years in 4-H club work, and this last year successfully led two different clubs, one in handicraft and the other in crops and livestock. He has been outstanding in dairy judging and demonstration activity in addition to the required material. We are indeed proud of his accomplishments and know that he has been an inspiration to other club members in the county.

A summary of the winter club activity shows 112 enrolled with 110 finishing in the clothing project; 95 enrolled with 95 finishing in hot lunch; and 98 enrolled with 94 finishing in handicraft. This all totals up to 305 enrolled with 299 finishing, which is remarkably high. Inasmuch as this program was finished some time ago and the county honor roll announced, it will not be given at this time.

There were nine canning clubs in 1936 with 55 members of which 49 finished; two food preparation clubs, with 11 enrolled and 11 finishing; six dairy clubs with 46 enrolled and 41 finishing; seven poultry club members with seven finishing; five corn club members and five completions; four bean club members with four completions; one pig club member who finished, and one colt, also finishing. Thus we find a grand total of 47 clubs carrying on club work throughout the county. Of interest is the announcement that $472.39 was paid out at the three Achievement days held during the year. Following is a list of the county delegates selected from the various projects: Canning, Irene Brintnall, Lorena Brintnall, Elsie Hilton, Jessie McDonald, Evelyn Sneathen, Clarice Johnson. Food Preparation clubs, Evelyn Sneathen and Elinor Howe. Dairy clubs, Ned Anthony, Junior Willis, Jack Urman, Elsie Hilton, Herman Clark, Raymond Fisher, Walter Shepard, Merel Smithingell, Marjorie Smith, Clare McGhan, David Matchett. Potato clubs; Donald Tibbits, Ned Anthony, Melvin Somerville, Einer Olstrom, Wilbur McDonald, Howard McDonald. Bean club, Robert Straw. Corn club, Albert Routley. Poultry club, Lawrence Ecklund. Forestry, Fred Korthase.

BOARD OF COMMERCE ELECTION JANUARY 6

Officers for 1937 to Be Chosen at Meeting in Council Rooms

Election of officers of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce for the 1937 fiscal year will be conducted at a general meeting to be held Wednesday evening, January 6, at the council chambers in the library building.

Immediately following election of officers, plans for activities of the 1937 summer season will be started and the board will be open to suggestions at the coming meeting.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX PROSPECTS GOOD

LARGE ADVANCE ENROLLMENT IS REPORTED

Director L. C. Reimann Tells of Improvements Planned in Anticipation of Bumper Season

If early enrollments may be taken as an indication, Camp Charlevoix, Northern Michigan's outstanding boys' summer camp, located on Lake Charlevoix, will have the biggest season in its history.

According to L. C. Reimann, director, 34 boys have already enrolled and more are coming every week. At the present rate, Mr. Reimann states, the camp will be practically filled by the first of May.

In anticipation of the banner season during the summer of 1937, many new improvements are being made at the camp. Outlined briefly, the program is enlargement by one-third of the playground in front of the clubhouse, also the riding equipment and facilities have been greatly enlarged and improved. The big safety tower started last summer on the water front is being completed. It will have a large storage room below for boating equipment and supplies. From the upper platform one gets a view of the entire length of Lake Charlevoix.

Other additions to the camp facilities include a new shower building and a new office building, both to be added in the spring. A new cabin for Director Reimann and Mrs. Reimann is to be constructed between the Junior row and the clubhouse.

Ernest Reimann, who is a year around resident at the camp, has been directing the work of getting out materials for additional cabins and the improvements outlined above.

BERNARD FOSTER VICTIM HUNTING MISHAP

Struck in Hip by Accidental Discharge of Own Gun Wednesday

Struck in the right hip by a load of fine shot discharged from his own shotgun last Wednesday afternoon, Bernard Foster, son of Postmaster and Mrs. J. M. Foster, is now recovering at Charlevoix Hospital.

The accident occurred near Camp Charlevoix, on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix, when Foster, in company with Keith Nickerson, Warren Shapton and Gordon Neff, was hunting rabbits. The charge from the gun, believed to have fired when Foster slipped from a brush pile, entered the upper thigh, penetrating to the bone. A few shot struck his right arm.

Foster owes his life to his young companions. Shapton held a severed artery while Nickerson made trips to Camp Charlevoix for first aid supplies. Finding Ernest Reimann, caretaker, was not present at the camp, Neff ran to the Charlevoix-Boyne City road for aid and there found Mr. Reimann at a neighbor's home. Returning to the site of the accident, Reimann, with the assistance of the others, carried Foster out of the woods to his car and brought him to the hospital. Perhaps an hour elapsed before he received medical treatment.

Barring complications, Foster will recover.

COUNCIL APPROVE NEW DIESEL UNIT

ADOPT REPORT OF ENGINEERS MONDAY NIGHT

Seek Estimates of Cost Before Placing Proposal Before Public at Special Election

Definite steps toward bringing the production of municipal electric units up to present and future anticipated requirements were taken Monday evening by the city council.

The matter, brought to public attention repeatedly for several months past, was acted upon Monday evening only after other possible alternatives to expenditure for a new Diesel unit had been exhausted as impractical.

In an effort to determine the city's present and future needs to a certainty, the city council had sought the technical services of the engineering firm of Hamilton & Weeber, of Grand Rapids, Mich. After a thorough survey of the municipal system, these engineers recommended the installation of either an 850 or 900 KW engine and elimination of the now useless steam units.

Under the present council plan, the firm of Hamilton & Weeber will be engaged by the city to furnish plans, specifications and supervision of the proposed plant addition to house the new Diesel unit. It will be necessary, before final council action on the proposition, to have estimates of cost, etc. The proposal must finally come before the taxpayers of the city at a special election for approval of a bond issue necessary to finance the project.

An addition to Charlevoix's electric producing units has become a recognized necessity. During certain periods of the resort season last summer, consumption reached within a few kilowatts of the total capacity production of all units. Many electrical appliances which will materially increase the load, have been installed since last summer, indicating that the 1937 season needs will exceed plant production.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT ISSUING WINTER MAP

Shows Winter Sports Centers and Completed Highway Projects

For the first time in the history of the State Highway Department, a winter edition of the official Michigan highway map is now available to the public.

In publishing a winter edition, State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner was motivated by two reasons. The first objective is to emphasize winter-sport development in Michigan and the second to make the map itself more accurate. Since the September issue of the map was published, hundreds of miles of highways indicated at that time as under construction, have now been completed.

Another innovation in the new edition is a detailed map of the southeastern metropolitan district. All types of roads are shown on this detailed map whether they be state trunklines or local highways.

JOB INSURANCE BILL APPROVED

BOTH HOUSES ADOPT MEASURE AT SPECIAL SESSION

Legislation Meets Federal Approval and Snares $19,000,000 Fund for Michigan Workmen

The Michigan Legislature complied early last Wednesday morning with the stipulation of federal legislation and enacted an unemployment insurance act.

The net result of the special session was the approval of a measure which will hold something like $19,000,000 within the state to be credited to a ob insjurance fund. Without the act passed, the monies collected on 1936 payrolls from the employers of the state would have gone toward paying off the general obligations of the nation.

The bill which was finally agreed upon is much the same legislation as was passed by the House. During the night the Senate made many amendments, but these for the most part were discarded as the two chambers sought for adjournment.

The most important of these Senate changes called for an employe contribution of one per cent of the weekly pay envelope after January 1, 1939. It was this issue which caused the House to throw the session into the morning hours.

In addition the Senate proposed that the unemployed be given compensation for 20 weeks instead of the 16 proposed by the House. Both of these changes were discarded.

The only important Senate change incorporated in the conference committee's report was one which reduces the membership of the administering commission from five to four.

But the conferees also made permanent a Senate amendment giving small employers a $6,000 a year exemption from the payroll tax.

As finally approved, subject to amendment at the coming regular session of the Legislature, the bill now provides:

A tax of one per cent per year on the payrolls of employers, a tax which shall increase in three years to 3.3 per cent and after five years to range between one and four per cent, depending upon the unemployment caused by the individual business.

Weekly benefits, after three to four weeks of unemployment, of not less than seven to 16 dollars per week, the amount to be determined by earnings during the last three months of employment.

Benefits to be paid for a 16 week period.

The conference report finally adopted was the second one to be sub-

CHARLEVOIX WON FROM PETOSKEY

SCORED 45 TO 12 VICTORY HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Reserves Won Fourth Straight by 15 to 11 Count — Rayders Play Three Games Away from Home

Charlevoix's Red Rayders made it two straight over Petoskey by trouncing the Northmen 45 to 12 in the local gym last Tuesday night. They had previously won at Petoskey by a 43 to 9 margin.

Petoskey had nothing that would compare to Charlevoix's offense, nor a defense that came anywhere near stopping the fast-breaking Rayder plays. The truth of the matter was that Charlevoix's inaccuracy on short shots was the only thing that kept the score from being a whole lot more lop-sided.

Charlevoix's superiority is well indicated by the first half score. In two periods Petoskey counted a pair of free throws, while the Rayders ran their count to 23. Petoskey's best showing was in the third quarter, during which they made four goals. They were limited to a single goal in the final stanza.

Rudle and Carey had a big scoring night, the former accounting for 16 and the latter 14 points. Bert Pearl, playing part of the game at forward, turned in a good game along with eight points.

Charlevoix's reserves hung up their fourth straight victory, defeating the Petoskey second-stringers by a 15 to 11 count. The reserves found the going rougher than in their previous contest, overcoming a five-point lead in the first period to win.

Charlevoix fans will not see the Rayders in action on the home court again for three weeks. They play three engagements away from home, meeting Gaylord, Harbor Springs and Manceolona before taking on East Jordan here on January 22.

MICHIGAN HIGHWAY WORKS SET RECORD

THIRTY-TWO MILLION DOLLAR PROGRAM DURING 1936

Murray D. Van Wagoner Points to Projects Completed Under "Pay-As-You-Go" Policy

The State Highway Department wrote a record of spectacular activity into the Year Book of 1936.

Into its pages went the greatest highway construction season in all the history of Michigan, the gravest weather emergency of modern transportation, a drastic transition in the administration of local roads, and a national leadership in the building of tourist highways. Preparations meanwhile went forward for a sounder future with a comprehensive highway planning survey nearing completion.

The administration of Murray D. Van Wagoner rounded out three and a half years of stewardship with a $32,000,000 construction record during the 12-month period including right-of-way and engineering charges. The record was written despite restricted state revenue and without going into debt. Michigan highways remained on a "Pay-As-You-Build" basis.

At the end of the year 665 more miles of highways were improved including 270 miles of concrete pavement, 11 miles of concrete pavement widening, six of sheet asphalt and one of brick surfacing, 225 miles of oil aggregate surfacing, and 65 miles of bituminous concrete pavement. Twenty-nine grade separations were constructed at railroad crossings at a cost of more than $5,000,000 and 20 bridges were erected during the year.

Included in the vast construction was a cooperative farm-to-market and tourist highway program with the Works Progress Administration approximating $5,000,000 and including $1,300,000 in state funds. It was this program under which most of the oil aggregate surfacing was constructed. Just before the end of the year plans for an $11,000,000 tourist grading program in cooperation with the WPA were revealed.

Van Wagoner continued emphasis on shoreline and inland scenic resort highway construction, completing the magnificent highway west of St. Ignace along Lake Michigan on US-2. Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, described this construction as the "highest type of shoreline highway in the country."

Preliminary work was started by the Michigan Bridge Commission on the proposed $2,500,000 international span between Port Huron and Sarnia, a part of the proposed Michigan diagonal between Chicago and Montreal. For the second successive year a bridge structure of the department won first place in a national design competition, honors going to the Mortimer E. Cooley Bridge over the Manistee River.

The department came to the aid of farmers and rural letter carriers with the construction of approximately 700 turn-outs to mail boxes on new rural highways. A "Save-the-Trees" campaign using power sprayers in 42 counties protected roadside trees against the ravages of pests.

With the one hundred thousandth visitor registering at the department's tourist lodge on US-12 near New Buffalo in December, a second lodge was under construction on US-41 in Menominee.

Traffic at the Straits of Mackinac passed the 200,000 vehicle mark during the year for an all-time high. A truck ferry was added to the fleet of

XMAS TREE MAKES GOOD BIRD FEEDING STATION

Don't burn a Christmas tree. This suggestion comes from conservation authorities who say that every Christmas tree is a potential feeding station for game and song birds.

By placing the tree in the yard, the butt stuck in snow or in the ground, sportsmen may use it as a place to hang suet or food scraps from the house for game and songbirds. Christmas trees used in that way may help many birds through the winter months.

Farmers' Net Income 80% Higher Than the Low Point in 1932

Buying power of the net income of farmers averaged for the United States is the highest in 17 states, according to n survey report from Washington received by County Agricultural Agent B. C. Melleneamp. C. W. Kitchen, assistant chief in the federal burenu of ngricultural economics, explains that although there have been years when farm income was higher than at the close of 1936, things farmers buy also were higher so thnt the buying power of farm income was less than it is now. Total farm income for 1936 is estimated at $7,800,000,000, which is a 10 per cent gain over 1935 and a gain of more than 80 per cent since the low point in 1932. Other economic gains for agriculture include a reduction in farm mortgnge debt, a rise of about 12 per cent in farm real estnte values, fewer foreclosures nnd more voluntary transfers of farm real estate. The valüe of all farm land and buildings has risen from less than 35 billions in 1933 to more than 34 billions for 1936.

1936 Soil Conservation Program Nearly Completed

The soil conservation progrnm is rapidly drnwing to a close. Mr. Ferris, secretary, makes the nnnouncement that 328 applications for payments hnve nlready been transmitted to Lansing. From this group 140 checks have been received nnd have been distributed throughout the county. It is expected that the balance of the 328 will be received the early part of January. On the 22nd the county committee met at headquarters in Boyne City and made adjustments on some 300 maps that have been completed but delayed until the map work was completed. These recommendations will be sent to Lansing immediately and be approved by the stnte committee before nppliations for payment will be made out covering these different farms. It begins to look as if there would be in the neighborhood of 650 checks received for Charlevoix county farmers. In some 50 cases there are multiple farm units which will have to be adjusted.

Already an announcement has reached the county agent's office that a big county-wide meeting will he held on January 7, at which time representatives of the extension department and the soil conservation department will outline the new 1937 program. Immediately following there will be held the township community meetings for the purpose of electing committeemen to administer the new program. It is expected that the new program will attract the cooperation of more farmers than the 1936 just ended.

To the Editor:

It is my hope that your first issue for 1937 carries so much money on every page that you wouldn't have room for n Department of State bulletin—for once.

This comes as a message of appreciation from me for the many favors which I have received during the past two yenrs from the weekly press of Michigan.

It has been a matter of gratification to me that the weekly bulletins of this department have contained enough news to justify their wide acceptance in the press.

On January 1, 1937, this office will be headed by one of your own clan: Leon D. Case, publisher of the Watervliet Record. Though it may be entirely unnecessary, I commend to your attention future news releases from this department under his administration.

Kindly accept my best wishes for the holidays.

Yours sincerely,

BOYNE CITY MAN KEEPS RECORD LAKE FREEZING

H. O. Wiles has kept n reliable record of the dates Lnke Charlevoix has frozen over since 1925. It should be noted from the following statement thnt the lake froze over twice in 1935, not at nll in 1927. Yes, this record reads strnngely enough, but it seems to be true:

December 25, 1925; December 17, 1926; January 1, 1928; January 8, 1929; January 10, 1930; January 7, 1931; February 15, 1932; January 2, 1933; December 29, 1933; January 15, 1935; December 25, 1935. — Boyne Citizen.

4-H GIRL'S "COLLEGE HOPE" CALF PERMITS HER TO ENTER M. S. C.

Six years of 4-H club competition in livestock projects has put enough money in the bank for Louise Porter, 16, Lapeer High school senior, to count on entering Michigan State College next fall.

Recently the Black Angus calf which she holds in the picture, won the championship honors at the 4-H show in Detroit, adding more than $1,000 to her bank account. Appropriately the animal had been named "College Hope."

Her ability in livestock work and showmanship was evident a year ago when at the Detroit show she won grand championships for single lamb and pen of lambs with some Shropshires.

At East Lansing she intends to enter the Liberal Arts division. After the preliminary two years she will select a major study for a four year degree.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Personal Cleanliness

Ninety per cent of the severe communicable diseases enter the body through the mouth. Among the more common of these are tuberculosis of the lungs, typhoid fever, infantile paralysis, influenza, scarlet fever and diphtheria.

The question is: How do the disease germs get into the mouth? In the majority of cases, the infecting germs are carried to the mouth by one's own hands. In other cases the germs come to us from others who have prepared our food, especially if they are not cleanly in their habits, or from dishes, cups, glasses and eating utensils which have not been thoroughly cleansed. People themselves are the greatest source of the communicable diseases; they are the reservoir from which most of our epidemics arise.

It is fortunate for us that the germs of the common "catching" diseases cannot fly through the air as do insects. Otherwise there would be much more communicable disease than there is. Human beings are the chief means of carrying the diseases and passing them on to one another by close contact. Health officers speak of this transfer from one person to another as contact infection.

Have you ever spilled ink on your fingers and noticed how quickly you got ink on everything you touched? The same thing happens when you cough in your hand when you have a cold or the flu. You soil your hand with thousands of germs. When you soil your hand with ink, most likely you wash it off, but when you cough into your hand, you do not see the germs. You would have to use a microscope to see them as they are too small to be visible to the naked eye and because you do not see the germs, often you fail to wash the hands. If, shortly after coughing into your hands, you shake hands with some other person that means a transfer of the germs to him, and if that person sits down to eat a meal without washing his hands, some of the germs go into his mouth through the food.

Perhaps the transfer of germs is more indirect than that. As for example, after coughing into your hand, you may put your hand on the knob of a door to open it. Some other person shortly afterwards comes along and soils his hands with some of the deposit you have left behind. Is it any wonder that a common cold or the flu goes rapidly through a household or a school room once some one comes down with it?

Perhaps the transfer of germs is more direct than the instances mentioned. Having a cold, perhaps you [illegible] precautions for the sake of the other fellow. Perhaps you cough or sneeze in his face.

Cleanliness is the foundation of all public health work. A large percentage of the common "catching" diseases could be prevented by the observation of proper cleanliness habits.

The surgeon preparing for an operation depends on soap, water and a scrub brush more than on antiseptics. Soap removes the physical dirt and unseen bacteria from the surface of the skin. Since dirt and germs collect under the finger nails, it is important to keep the nails short so that they can be easily cleansed.

You are observing proper cleanliness habits: 1. When you wash your hands before you prepare food and before you eat your meals; 2. When you keep your fingers, pens, pencils and other objects out of your mouth; 3. When you keep your handkerchief handy and use it when you are about to cough or sneeze. When you are ill, if you remain in bed rather than using the house at large or going to school or work, then you do not spread the infection to the other individuals and then you are thinking of the other fellow and in a society such as ours we must think of the other fellow as well as expect the other fellow to think of us.

The ideal husband seems to be a law-abiding fellow that no other woman would take as a gift.

VAN WAGONER MAY NOT BE OPPOSED IN APRIL

Republicans Consider Leaving Field Open for Highway Commissioner

Republican leaders are giving consideration to the advisability of permitting Murray D. Van Wagoner to go without opposition when he seeks re-election as state highway commissioner in April, Howard Lawrence, chairman of the party's state central committee, admitted Monday.

He said that he has discussed the possibility with Governor Fitzgerald and other leaders, but declined to say what the governor's reaction is.

Lawrence explained that if the Republicans do not nominate an opponent for Van Wagoner, it will be to permit a centralized campaign on behalf of Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, superintendent of public instruction, and two Republican justices of the state supreme court who are up for re-election.

Van Wagoner's well organized highway department is recognized by Republicans to constitute their chief opposition in the April voting.

FARMERS PLANT RECORD ACREAGE INTO WHEAT

Fall Planting Reported to Be Largest Since Fall of 1929

Michigan wheat growers planted this fall the largest acreage of this crop in 26 years, according to the December 1 winter wheat and rye report issued by the Michigan Cooperative Crop Reporting Service at Lansing.

The acreage sown this fall for harvest in 1937, has been estimated at 1,040,000 acres which compares with 819,000 acres seeded in the autumn of 1935, 767,000 acres, the average plantings for the years 1927-31, and 1,054,000 acres sown in the fall of 1910. The higher prices received for the 1936 crop have stimulated interest in wheat growing, and with a relatively large acreage of idle and fallow land available, 1936 seedings show marked increases over last fall for nearly all sections of the state.

FATIGUE AT THE WHEEL

Did your friend boast about how many hundred miles he drove each day during his vacation? He was at the wheel not only all day long, but sometimes well into the night?

He was lucky to get home alive. Long hours at the wheel are one of the common causes of automobile accidents. You might tell him that drowsiness—actually falling asleep while driving—accounts for some 20,000 serious accidents every year.

Managers of large motor vehicle fleets, whose trucks make regular long hauls across country, are careful to limit the hours their drivers may work. Fatigue and the monotony of driving often make sleep almost irresistible.

If you feel the slightest drowsiness while driving, do not ignore the warning. Either let someone else drive, or take steps to rouse yourself to alertness again. Get our and run up and down the road. Stop for a cup of hot coffee. Even pull to the roadside and take a little nap.

And on that vacation, or any long trip with continuous driving, plan to drive moderate distances only; and get your regular sleep—plenty of it—every night.

STRIKES AND SPARES

By Lyle Miles

A new high average was bowled last week by Chet Buddy. He rolled the grand average of 195 for three successive games. His highest game of the three was 213.

Bowling fans were due for a surprise, however, for Chet fell down as soon as he began bowling in a league game, immediately after making this record.

As you probably know, Chet belongs to Joe Troyer's team, and his slump nearly lost the game, but the rest of the team rolled up enough points to pull themselves out of the fire.

So far Troyer's team has been undefeated, although their last game was close.

Competition is getting keener in league play and we may see some good games in the near future.

CONTEST AIMED TO ADVERTISE MICHIGAN

"What Michigan Means to Me" Subject for Essay Contest

The help of Michigan's schools was sought today in a campaign to spread further the state's fame.

The Detroit and Michigan Exposition announced $200 would be awarded for essays on "What Michigan Means to Me." The contest will be open to students in four grade classifications starting at the fourth grade and extending to college and university students. Awards will include in each class, $25 for first, $10 second, $5 third, and five awards of $2, and 25 season tickets to the Detroit and Michigan Exposition, April 2-11.

Entries must not exceed 500 words in length and must be in the exposition offices before March 1, it was announced.

"All of us know that Michigan is at the top as a vacation and tourist state," said J. Lee Barrett, executive vice-president of the Detroit Convention and Tourist Bureau, which is sponsoring the exposition. "We do not all know, however, why visitors chose to spend $315,000,000 here in the last year. All Michigan people should know their state and should tell of their pride and reaffirm their loyalty.

"This contest has the approval and support of Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction."

AT THE MOVIES

Edward Arnold Tops "Come and Get It!" Lineup

"Come and Get It!" Samuel Goldwyn's production of Edna Ferber's colorful novel of the lumber camps, brings Edward Arnold, Joel McCrea and Frances Farmer to the Palace Theatre for two days beginning next January 2.

Arnold has his greatest role as Barney Glasgow, the great lumber baron who, in his youth had given up love for power, and years later is mocked by his own decision when he falls madly in love with the daughter of the woman he once loved, and finds his own son his successful rival.

Great Cast

Joel McCrea is seen as the son and Frances Farmer, the lovely blonde newcomer, plays both the mother and daughter Arnold loves.

Mady Christians, versatile Viennese actress, is seen in the important featured role of Aunt Karic, and Walter Brennan, the unforgettable "Old Atrocity" of "Barbary Coast," has his best role to date as "Swan," the colorful old Swedish lumberman.

Others prominently cast are Mary Nash, the distinguished stage star, Frank Shields, the tennis ace, and Andrea Leeds, the beautiful new Goldwyn discovery.

"Mr. Cinderella" Howling Tale of False Identity

Every city and hamlet has a Cinderella happening almost every day of the year. The Goddess of Fortune is forever active in creating happiness and satisfying hopes and ambitions to balance against adversities and disappointments.

The new, novel and highly entertaining screen adventures of a modern masculine hero will be shown January 6-7 at the Palace Theatre when the Hal Roach-M-G-M feature comedy, "Mister Cinderella," opens a two day engagement.

A Color Portrait of Frank Murphy

A fine likeness of Frank Murphy, new governor of Michigan, will occupy a page in next Sunday's Detroit Times. This picture, made especially appealing by the color process by which it is reproduced, is a photo which thousands will want to keep.

CHORES

In the days of oil lamps when most families kept a cow or at least a few chickens, and lived in large houses and raised many children, the same children were required to do their chores.

A chore meant a cooperntive effort on the child's part and he contributed his assistance willingly. It depended on size and age whether the chore was rocking the baby's cradle, dressing younger children, doing dishes, carrying water, mending stockings, cleaning lamps, feeding the chickens, piling wood or any other such task. No one was paid for doing chores as they were distinct duties and not pay-tasks.

People with a heritage of chores give thanks today that they learned the lessons of cooperation and unselfishness at an early age, as well as acquiring numerous by-products of such training.

Why then do we today so often undertake to do the chores ourselves or pay others to do them for the children, or if done by the children pay them well for the ding; denying them one of the richest lessons childhood can teach them?

A FOOD FALLACY

Unconsumed portions of canned foods do not have to be removed from the cans. Doing so may cause the food to spoil for the dish it is emptied in may not have been sterilized while the can is sterilized in processing. The only precaution to observe in keeping opened canned goods fresh is to keep the cans cool and covered.

Good Housekeeping Institute pointed out this fact two or three years ago, but a great many women still believe they can be poisoned from such food. The housewife should accustom herself to a thorough examination of labels on the can. Besides showing the ingredients, labels must state net weight, etc. By comparing one label with another she learns how to get her money's worth. Often the article which appears cheaper is actually more expensive because of difference in volume of product.

WISDOM

Definitions change with the times. For instance, "wisdom" was once knowledge, then it was how to use knowledge; today it is simply ability to distinguish between needs and wnnts.

We may want what we want, but may not need it. We may want what we need, and not get it.

We hnve to make some fine distinctions in order to get anything.

Only wisdom can aid us in solving the problems which confront us, also in deciding what problems must wait until we can solve them.

Our favorite passage of Scripture therefore is: "Be ye wise as serpents and harmless as doves."—Frank B. Craig.

RABBITS NO WAY TO GET RICH QUICK

Prolonged Feeding May Make Rabbit Meat Cost Too Much

Revival of interest in Michigan in the production of rabbits for meat leads to a warning from C. G. Card of the poultry husbandry department at Michigan State College that for most persons the industry has no "get rich quick" possibilities. When rabbits are on mash feedings for as long as seven weeks the cost may reach the peak of $1.61 per pound of gain.

In experiments at the Michigan State College experiment station a determination of cost per pound of gain was made for each week of a seven weeks period with both wet and dry mashes.

Wet mash gave the most economical gains ranging from nearly 10 cents a pound the first week to 23.1 cents a pound for the sixth week. In feeding dry mash the gains cost from 9.9 cents a pound the first week to a peak of $1.61 for a pound of gain the seventh week.

mitted to the two chambers. The first was rejected by the House by a vote of 42 in favor and 20 against. It took 51 votes for approval.

The second report was adopted by the Senate without opposition and the measure was sent to Governor Fitzgerald for approval.

The Senate, after listening to the protests of representatives of the automobile industry, increased the period of waiting before benefits commence from three to four weeks on option of the administering board. It was explained that the process of re-tooling would cause an unemployment period annually of more than three weeks which would impose a heavy penalty upon the industry and heavy administrative work upon the commission.

Chief among its admitted flaws are the provisions covering industries which employ workers for seasonal periods—such as the West Michigan canneries. These concerns offer employment only during a few weeks of each year. They could be penalized under the present bill, but amendments are promised at the coming session.

The approved draft calls for estimated revenues of $55,000,000 a year for the first five years with proper adjustments to he made later. Annual benefits are estimated at $45,000,000.

"Gem of Buildinga" Is an Elaborate Mausoleum

The Taj Mahal of India is a famous mausoleum, erected at Agra, India, by Shad Jehan for his favorite wife. The Taj Hahal, which means "Gem of Buildings," is 186 feet square with the corners cut off, the whole surmounted by a dome 58 feet in diameter and about 210 feet in height, flanked by four octagonal kiosks. The interior is divided into four domed chambers in the corners, and a large central arcaded octngon, all connected by corridors. The central octagon contains two cenotaphs surrounded by an openwork marble rail. The only light admitted enters through the delicately-pierced marble screens of the windows.

The decoration is especially noticeable for the stone mosaics of flower themes and arabesques, many in sgate, jasper and bloodstone. Tha entire structuro stands on a white marble platform 18 feet high and 313 feet square, with tapering cylindrical minarets 123 feet high at the corners. The [illegible] is said to be written in [illegible] precious stones on the interior walls. In the construction of this building, 20,000 men were employed 20 years. Although the labor cost nothing, more than $20,000,000 was expended in its construction. The doors are of solid silver, and an enormous diamond was placed on the tomb itself.

The Panama Railroad

A charter for the building of the Panama railroad by an American concern was granted in 1850. The road was opened for business in 1853 at a cost of $7,000,000. The French canal company bought the line, part of its route being on that chosen for the canal. When the American government in 1001 bought the works of the French company it obtained the railroad also.

state-operated boats for the first time and plans were made for the construction of a new streamlined vessel.

Vagaries of the weather brought blizzards, thaws, and heat waves. Three successive blizzards accompanied hy 60-mile-an-hour winds, 25-foot snow drifts, and sub-zero temperatures hit Michigan in February. Snow removal costs jumped to $1,145,000 for the year. The maintenance division plowed snow on 8,819 miles of trunkline highways and treated 3,879 miles of gravel roads for dust.

The department took over the direct maintenance of roads in three more counties during the year — Clnre, Gladwin, and Ontonagon—to bring the total to 41 in which the department maintnins the trunklines with its own maintenance personnel.

Special snfety studies were embraced in the highway planning survey. Michigan ranked second in the nation in grade-separation construction. A new move was initinted to put teeth into trunkline warning signs and an experimentnl project was set up for dividing four-lane traffic with medial strips of metal nnd bituminous.

A five-year evolution in the administration of local roads ended in April when the counties took over the last of more than 62,000 miles of former township roads. The transition left the township road commissioner a constitutional officer without salary and with only minor duties.

State highway revenues increased $4,000,000 during the yenr hut Commissioner Van Wagoner emphasized that three-fifths of this money, or nearly $25,000,000 was returned directly to the counties and the balance was largely obligated by statute.

WINTER QUEEN CONTEST FRIDAY NIGHT

THIRTEEN GIRLS TO COMPETE AT GYM FOR HONOR

Selection by Popular Vote of Assemblage—Coronation Ceremony and Queen's Ball, January 15

Following completion of plans by various committees of the Charlevoix Polar Bear Winter Sports Club, Charlevoix's first winter sports activity will take place Friday evening, January 8.

The first event will be the winter queen contest, to be held at 8 o'clock at the school gymnasium. A. J. Edwards, chairman of the committee for selection of candidates, has announced that 13 girls have consented to enter the competition. The winner will represent this city in the regional contest for Michigan Winter Queen at Petoskey on January 19. Those competing are: Esther O'Neill, Helen Gallagher, Ernestine Chew, Alice Meyer, Marjorie Miller, Mildred LaBlanc, Esther Lou Fochtman, Luella Cunningham, Mildred Withers, Esther West, Beth Heise, Margaret McRae, and Frances Withers.

At the queen's contest the group will appear in a tableau. The King of the Realm of Snow, Ice and the Tempests decides to abdicate his throne in favor of a member of the fair sex. The King believes that his subjects (members of the audience) should choose his successor by a majority vote. Two Heralds, the Duke of Ice and the Earl of Snow, aid the King as the Princesses of the Realm appear in two short skits, one an indoor scene, the second an outdoor scene. Harry Bingham is chairman of the committee in charge of this feature, and is being assisted by Freda McMillan and Helen Anthony.

The program will be very similar to that carried out a year ago.

Admission tickets for adults, to cost 15 cents, will be accompanied by two ballots. Following presentation of the candidates, the first ballot will be taken, eliminating all but three. The contestant receiving the highest vote among the three survivors on the second ballot will be honored as winter queen. The two runners-up will act as maids of honor. Selection will be by popular vote of the assemblage, based on personality and poise of the contestants.

Other features of the evening's program will include music by the city band and several winter sports and comic movie reels.

An active campaign to sell memberships in the Charlevoix Polar Bear Winter Sports Club is now under way, directed by William Fessenden, chairman of the membership committee. A white polar bear mounted on a green arm band is being given with each membership. Funds raised in the campaign will be used to defray expenses of various activities in connection with winter sports.

The coronation ceremony, also to be held in the gymnasium, will be conducted Friday evening, January 15. The crowning will be followed by the Winter Queen's ball and for the coronation and entertainment, winter queens, their escorts and chaperones from several neighboring cities will be guests of the Charlevoix winter sports committee. Music for the evening will be furnished by Wexstaff's orchestra. The throne committee is making preparations for a beautiful setting for the ceremony.

NIELSEN-VINCENT WEDDING DECEMBER 27TH

Ironton Girl Wed Boyne City Youth at Pretty Home Ceremony

The bride wore a lovely tea rose silk chiffon gown with hand painted flowers and carried a corsage of roses.

The bridesmaid, Helena Bogart, of Charlevoix, wore a blue silk net gown and carried a corsage of sweet peas. The groom was attended by his brother, Charles Vincent, of Boyne City.

There were 30 friends and relatives attending the lovely ceremony, performed by Rev. Ely, of the Methodist church at Boyne City.

After the ceremony, light refreshments were served with a beautiful wedding cake.

RAYDERS TROUNCE GAYLORD QUINTETS

SCORED ANOTHER DOUBLE VICTORY FRIDAY

Varsity Winner by 26 to 10 Count—Reserves Turn in 25 to 12 Victory—Harbor Next Opponent

Charlevoix basketball teams turned in another double victory last Friday night at Gaylord, their fifth consecutive win of the season. The varsity margin was 26 to 10, accounting for their second conference victory. The reserves won by a 25 to 12 margin.

While held to the lowest score of the season so far, Charlevoix's Red Rayders were far more superior over Gaylord than the score indicates. They held the Otsego county outfit scoreless for the first two periods while marking up 10 points. Charlevoix made seven and Gaylord annexed four points in the third quarter, Gaylord's first goal coming on a fluke. Shapton, throwing the ball in from out-of-bounds, handed it to a Gaylord player directly under his own basket. He dropped it through the net. The fourth period netted nine points for Charlevoix and four for the losers.

Carey, with nine points, led the local shot-makers. Radle contributed seven, Shapton and Gallagher each four, and Richardson a single goal.

The contest was a feature of a New Year's Eve celebration in Gaylord's fine new gymnasium. An entertainment and dance followed the game and the local players were given a royal time.

Two more games away from home remain to be played before the Rayders perform on their own court again. On Friday evening, January 8, they go to Harbor Springs, and a week following, January 15, play at Mancelona. The next home game is January 22, with East Jordan.

ONE CHANGE IS MADE IN COUNTY OFFICERS

Wm. F. Tindall, Boyne City, Becomes New Member Road Commission

While in other parts of the state the New Year brought many changes in public officers because of the recent Democratic landslide, Charlevoix county had but one new officer.

William F. Tindall, former Boyne City supervisor and at one time chairman of the board, succeeded L. C. Rouse, of Boyne City, as member of the county road commission.

All other county officers remained in office, including Fenton R. Bulow, clerk; Lillis M. Flanders, treasurer; Frank F. Bird, register of deeds; Floyd W. Ikens, sheriff; C. M. Bice, prosecutor; E. A. Rhegsegger, judge of probate. Deputies also, remain the same as last year.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid Society will serve a 25 cent supper in the church dining room, Wednesday, December 13, at 6 o'clock.—Adv1t1

CHARLEVOIX COAST GUARDS RISK LIVES IN SEARCH FOR BODIES FOUND SATURDAY ON TANKER

CHARLEVOIXANS ESCAPE A SIMILAR FATE

Worst Lake Tragedy in Recent Years Results from Gasoline Salvaging Operations on Tanker J. Oswald Boyd Grounded in Early November—Cole Brothers Buried Here Tuesday

New Year's Day, traditionally hailed as the beginning of another year with its possibilities for happier and better things, brought to Beaver Island, and Charlevoix as well, the most tragic marine disaster in many years.

Five lives were lost in an explosion which riddled the Charlevoix-Beaver Island mail boat Marold II while engaged in salvaging gasoline from the tanker J. Oswald Boyd, abandoned on Simmons Reef, where it grounded in a storm early in November.

The victims were Capt. L. L. Hill, 83, captain of the Marold II, his son, Leon H., 50, the engineer, and Everett Cole, 35, his brother, Raymond, 30, and Bruce McDonough, 33, co-owners of the Beaver Island Transit Co., operators of the ill-fated vessel.

Coast Guards See Smoke

The Marold II, replacing the freighter Rambler, which had made 24 salvaging trips, left this port at 8:15 Friday morning on its second trip to the tanker. That the ship and its crew had met possible disaster was ascertained here when, at 5:30 Friday afternoon, the coast guard lookout reported smoke arising from the vicinity of the Boyd. This report and an account of coast guard participation in the subsequent investigation is detailed in the following report of Commander Oscar Smith of the Charlevoix coast guard unit, which follows:

"At 5:30 p. m. the station lookout reported columns of smoke as from a steamer or from fire on board a steamer had appeared suddenly to the north and apparently a long distance away. Called the officer in charge. Beaver Island station, who verified the direction and location of the smoke column as in the vicinity of the wreck of the steamer J. Oswald Boyd, on Simmons Reef. It was also ascertained that the Marold II had left Charlevoix in the early morning hours to go to the wreck to load gasoline. On the possibility that an accident may have occurred in connection with the loading of gasoline by the Marold II, the station lifeboat was launched and the officer in charge and three men set out for Simmons Reef, 42 miles north of Charlevoix.

"Considerable ice was encountered in the trip which delayed the time of arrival at the scene of the accident. Arrived there about 11:30 p. m. Found the Mackinac Island and Beaver Island lifeboats had already arrived and were cruising about in the vicinity.

Find Marold II Blown Up

"On getting near the wreck, it was found that the Marold II had blown up and burned. The entire metal deck, the funnel, and other metal parts from the Marold II were thrown across the deck of the Boyd. Both boats were still burning. On the Marold II the fire was from a couple of oil barrels resting on the part of the stern projecting a little above water, while on the Boyd there was considerable fire from amidship to the bow. As there was no fire on the Boyd from amidship to the stern, there was a possibility that there might still be life on board that part of the ship. Surfman Fred Looze and Surfman Fred Clayton managed to get on board and reach the after deck of the Boyd, but were unable to accomplish a thorough search on account of the intense heat, fumes and smoke blown from the burning forward part to the after deck by a strong easterly wind. Took the men off the burning ship and pulled away with the lifeboat to await daylight.

"Shortly after midnight sent the Beaver Island lifeboat back to their station to report to the district commander what had happened and what steps were being taken. The Mackinac Island lifeboat cruised to the westward looking for any small boats that may have gotten away before the explosion took place.

Locate Two Burned Bodies

"As the Charlevoix lifeboat pulled away from the burning wrecks to join the other lifeboat, a heavy explosion took place in the wrecks, followed shortly afterwards by another loud explosion which had the effect of diminishing the intensity of the fires. Cruised about in search of smaller boats until daylight and then returned to the burning boats. During the night we were joined by the freighter Rambler from Charlevoix.

"On approaching the wrecks after daylight, it was found that the fire on the Marold II was apparently out, but the Boyd was still burning amidships and near the bow. To the leeward of the wrecks the surface of the water was covered by oil from which

DESTROY OLD PLATES CASE TELLS DRIVERS

Action Will Prevent Misuse Prior to January 31st Deadline

Motorists purchasing their 1937 license plates at this time are cautioned by Leon D. Case, secretary of state, to destroy their 1936 plates to prevent their possible misuse by others.

It is pointed out that use of 1936 plates has been extended until January 31, and that such plates, if thrown away intact, might be acquired by persons driving automobiles in the commission of illegal acts.

While a person might be able to prove his innocence of an offense charged to the driver of a car equipped with discarded 1936 plates, the possibility of much inconvenience and embarrassment still exists, Case reminds auto drivers.

ENGINEERING FIRM ACTS ON REQUEST OF COUNCIL

Diesel Unit of 850 or 900 KW Capacity Required to Furnish Charlevoix's Maximum Requirements

As a means of acquainting the public with necessity of adding another unit to the municipal electric light plant to bring production up to the present and anticipated future requirements of the city, the council is having published a report of the Grand Rapids engineering firm of Hamilton & Weeber, engaged to make a survey of the electric light system. The report follows:

November 19, 1936

The Honorable Mayor and City Council,
Charlevoix, Michigan

Gentlemen:

Complying with your instructions of November 4th, we have made a study of the load conditions on your power system to determine the capacity of generating equipment which should be installed.

On the basis of this study we recommend that you purchase one Diesel engine-generator unit with a capacity of 850 KW to 900 KW.

This unit will enable you to dispense with operation of your steam generating units; and carry the anticipated peak load with the new unit, the present Diesel unit, and the hydro station for a period of ten years, that is until 1947. It will also allow time for maintenance of all of the equipment.

If it is necessary to reduce the amount which you spend at this time, you could purchase a unit of about 700 KW capacity at a saving of about $13,000. The cost per Kilowatt, however, would be at least $3.00 more for the smaller unit. Also the large unit would provide sufficient peak load capacity for at least three years longer than the smaller unit.

PIONEER COUPLE WED FIFTY YEARS

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BURNS WERE FETED FRIDAY

Residents of This District for 70 Years—Mr. Burns Former Operator of Stage Coach

Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, who number among the earliest living pioneers of this district, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary New Year's Day at their rural home at Oyster Bay, on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix.

They were married at the Methodist parsonage in this city on January 1, 1887. Their families took homesteads near Barnard in 1866 when the territory which is now Charlevoix county was then a part of Emmet county.

Mr. Burns was born in Montreal, Can., where his parents stopped after coming to America from Ireland. They continued their journey by ox team, crossing by boat from Sarnia to Detroit and thence to Barnard, then a small settlement on the trail between Petoskey and Traverse City. Mr. Burns' father had the post office serving the district surrounding the present city of Charlevoix in his home, and George, when a young man, carried the mail between Traverse City and Petoskey on horseback in the summer and on snow shoes when the snow became too deep for a horse to travel in the winter.

Mr. Burns' first business venture was operating a livery barn. He furnished horses to the government for the first survey work done in this district and operated a stage carrying mail, freight and passengers between Petoskey and Traverse City. Mr. and Mrs. Burns moved onto their farm in Hayes township in 1906.

With the couple for their anniversary celebration were all but one of their seven children, including Mrs. Leon D. Jones and family, of Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, Jr., and family, of Grand Junction; Robert, of Farmington; Jack, of Detroit; Leonard, of White Pigeon, and Helen, of Detroit. A daughter, Sylvia, died in infancy.

An American Parade of Progress

In the parade of American progress, there can be no resting on yesterday's laurels. To stand still is to fall behind, to drop out of the parade.

The automobile or radio of a few years ago, for example, would find no market today. Refrigerators, clothing, cameras, office equipment—in all industries the old models are constantly being rendered obsolete by improvements in style, value or performance.

Michigan's telephone service has kept pace with this great march of progress. There is little resemblance between the original service and that of today—as little as there is between the first "horseless carriages" and the splendid, efficient automobiles that Michigan is now supplying to the modern world.

The tremendous advance in telephone service was achieved by years of research in the famous Bell Laboratories; by the engineering skill of the Western Electric Company in producing dependable, standardized equipment; by the efficiency and loyalty of operating and administrative personnel. Thus, America's world supremacy in telephonic communication was won by tireless effort coordinated under this unchanging policy: To supply the best service, and the most, at the least possible cost.

That policy has stood behind your telephone for more than half a century. Year by year it has made the service swifter, more convenient, freer from error. It has brought the telephone within the reach of all—has made it a valuable factor in the domestic and industrial life of modern Michigan.

Sincere and thorough, the search for improvement must continue in order that the telephone shall maintain its well-deserved place in America's parade of progress.

ROADS BREAKING UP THROUGHOUT STATE

Mild Weather Brings Spring Conditions on Michigan Highways

The State Highway Department to date this winter has been more concerned with "spring break-up" than with the usual problems of snow removal and ice treatment.

Maintenance workers have been busy repairing washouts and damaged road shoulders as a result of warm weather and rains during the past few weeks. State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner pointed out that the mild weather was not unwelcome. "Precipitation in the form of rain is much easier to handle. Water runs off the roads of its own accord, while snow must be plowed off at considerable expense," he said.

While rain has been most frequent, snow has fallen in nearly every section of the state. Heavy equipment has been necessary to keep the roads open in the north central and western parts of the Upper Peninsula. Light snow has fallen in other sections but warm weather and rain has removed it with little effort on the part of the highway department. Sanding equipment has been used on icy roads in both the peninsulas but not nearly so much as in other years.

E. E. Blomgren, maintenance engineer for the department, said that mild weather had created conditions very similar to those of March and April. Frost already in the ground is coming out, thus causing conditions the same as the usual spring breakup. Gravel roads are very soft.

Blomgren also pointed out that workers were able to do many jobs ordinarily held over until spring.

and Michigan State Safety Council

SAFE STOPPING DISTANCES

Very few motorists have any accurate idea of the distance in which they can stop their cars at any given speed. Many believe they "can stop on a dime."

Modern four wheel brakes in good condition are, it is true, quite wonderful. But the average driver does not consider that when an emergency suddenly develops, valuable time is always consumed in realizing the danger and applying the brakes. This interval is called "reaction time."

The most alert individual, scientific tests have shown, needs not less than half a second to get the brakes to working. Many drivers require from one to one and one-half seconds. Since at even 30 miles per hour, a car travels 44 feet in one second, consider where our friend is who says he "can stop on a dime."

Better "play safe" and allow plenty of margin for the stop you may have to make in a hurry. At 20 miles per hour, calculate on 43 feet; at 30 miles, take 80 feet; at 40 miles, allow 128 feet; and at 50 miles, not less than 186 feet.

Remember, you are just an average driver. Lives may be at stake!

COUNTIES WILL GET MORE RELIEF MONEY

Drop in Metropolitan Load Releases Funds for Out-State

A nine per cent increase in allotments of state aid to outstate counties for January has been announced by George F. Granger, assistant state relief administrator.

The quota for this month will be $858,880 for the state, exclusive of Wayne county. Total state aid will amount to $1,340,889, or 10 per cent less than the December budget because of a 30 per cent curtailment in Wayne county, where more local funds will be available.

Heavier demands for fuel and winter clothing, and a heavier case load in the cut-over Northern Michigan counties, are given by Granger as causes for the larger budget.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT BOOKS ARE IN "BLACK"

Begins 1937 With Cash Balance of Over Million Dollars

The State Highway Department began the new year with its books firmly in the black.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, announced a cash balance in department funds at the end of the calendar year of $1,901,752. Total receipts for 1936 were placed at $38,160,471 while $36,258,718 was expended during the 12-month period.

The commissioner's statement showed gasoline tax collections of $25,574,239 for the year, of which $6,550,000 was returned directly to the counties including the annual apportionment under the McNitt law abolishing the township road system.

The department's balance sheet did not include weight tax receipts inasmuch as the entire amount of this revenue is returned directly to the counties. Direct grants from the federal government for highway improvements were likewise excluded.

Last year at this time the department opened a new year with a cash balance in excess of $6,600,000. Commissioner Van Wagoner emphasized, however, that a $32,000,000 construction program had been carried out during 1936, the largest in the history of the department. More than $5,600,000 was spent on maintenance during the year.

Commissioner Van Wagoner stressed the point that the cash balance "is not to be construed as a surplus. A constant cash balance is not only desired but necessary to meet recurring obligations."

"I also emphasize that the federal government is making more than $4,650,000 available to us this year on a matched fund basis. This money will not be available until we match it dollar for dollar. There is also a $1,690,000 direct grant for grade separation construction, the right-of-way expense for which must be met by the State Highway Department."

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT ENCOURAGES TREE PLANTING

To encourage private interest and activity in reforestation of burned or cut-over lands, the forestry division of the Department of Conservation will offer pine seedlings and transplants to individuals and organizations of Michigan for planting next spring. Only nominal charges will be made to cover cost of production, crating and delivery to common carriers.

ALFALFA SEED SAID TO BE WORTH MILLION

Michigan Crop Tops Nation, But Farmers Warned to Keep Seed

Another national alfalfa crown, this time one woven with seed, is added to Michigan's crop records for 1936. Reports of a seed crop in excess of 100,000 bushels and worth $1,204,000 on the farms, is credited to the state.

With this report obtained by Verne Church, federal-state crop statistician, can be attached a warning to the farmers of Michigan, says H. C. Rather, head of the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

"Keep the seed at home," says Rather. "To protect the state's wise leadership in having alfalfa growing on more than a million acres, more than half of this seed supply needs to be used for new seedings and for replacing the 300,000 acres that probably are plowed up each year. The rest can be used by other Michigan farmers so that they need not buy outside seed that may not be hardy."

The new crop report also rates the state high in clover seed production. In 1936 it is estimated Michigan farms produced 186,000 bushels of red and alsike clover seed worth an estimated $2,399,000. The state thus was second only to Ohio.

Average quality of the seed crop just produced probably is a little lower than average, says Rather. The seeds were not quite as plump and quality not quite up to normal because of a wet fall. Yet for planting purposes the value can be considered just as good as normal. Both the alfalfa and the clover seed will be helpful in the 1937 federal soil conservation program which seeks to interest farmers in building soil fertility.

MERCHANTS MARK BETTER BARGAINS

Traditional January Sales Offer Opportunities to Save Money

Post Christmas sales remain traditions in the minds of merchants and consumers as well, but they have become better shopping times for the buyers, is the comment of Hazel Strahan, assistant professor in clothing at Michigan State College.

There still is the recommendation that is applicable to clearance sales as well as to any kind of sale, "let the buyer beware," says Miss Strahan.

Yet departments in stores are stocked more carefully these days. The amounts of goods remaining for clearance usually are relatively small and are obviously reduced for immediate clearance as a matter of good salesmanship.

Another point to the credit of most stores is a newer method of merchandising which offers less chance for the consumer to be misled. Some stores keep their stock replenished automatically each week. Any slow selling items are marked down a small percentage at the end of each two weeks and further at the end of four weeks to stimulate turnover.

"Sometimes to supplement stocks for a widely advertised post Christmas sale, specially purchased goods are included," Miss Strahan finds. "These may or may not be of a value equal to the usual merchandise offered by that store. But a critical examination, especially in clothing, will reveal the type of workmanship or the quality of the goods.

"At times sales bargains are the results of the store buyer's mistakes in colors, sizes, quantities and styles. Inferior quality is not necessarily the reason for a bargain price."

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

The organization tactics of the Committee For Industrial Organization, headed by the sturdy John L. Lewis, muted during the presidential campaign for political reasons, has turned the eyes of the laboring world upon Michigan. Lewis admittedly took aboard a gigantic task when he set out to unionize entirely the steel and automobile workers — traditionally open shop—but his tactics to date in Michigan show that he is approaching the job with consummate skill.

The C. I. O. is operating here on the basis of the ancient adage that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link. The weakest link in the automotive industry are the small factories manufacturing tools, parts, or accessories for the giant plants. Shut down a tool plant employing 300 men and within two weeks you shut down a 70,000 man factory.

Since the middle of last summer the C. I. O. investigators have studied the manufacturing system and selected small key plants where workers would have a more or less legitimate right in asking for increases in wages and reduction in hours. In the past five weeks, one after another, strikes have been called and the crippling of the big factories started.

The settling of these strikes has a disadvantage for the C. I. O. and likewise an advantage. With a strike settled, the flow of tools and parts to major plants starts again. This is a tactical disadvantage. The resulting victory with pay raises, however, demonstrates to workers in the big plants that they, too, can win if they strike. This is a C. I. O. advantage.

The strikes have been well handled by both strikers and employers. There has been only a touch of violence. The sit-down strikes have even been amusing to the public with their factory dances, parties, and general musical comedy tone.

Whether the C. I. O. can maneuver the big plants into a position where unionization becomes necessary if the industry is to exist remains a matter of conjecture. If the beginnings are any indication of the end then the Committee will win, but beginnings may indicate little or nothing.

As far as the general public is concerned, whether it is for unions or against them, plenty of strikes means a return of prosperity. When labor is cheap and jobs scarce, strikes are difficult to start. A job is too sweet a thing to let go of. With better times workers begin to talk about getting a larger share of prosperity for themselves and strikes are the result.

The only difference this year is that behind the normal desire to strike is a well-planned, skillfully managed, systematic approach to the subject. Strikes are no longer haphazard expressions of an isolated factory; each one is created for its effect on the larger issue of the entire unionization of an industry. And coupled with this is the knowledge of the Lewis group that in the White House they have a president whom they helped to elect and who will not interfere on the behalf of the employers.

The campaign to organize the automobile plants of Michigan will be the biggest sustained news of the winter. It is going to be interesting to watch what the tactics of the C. I. O. are after they have demonstrated in small plants what they hope to do in the larger ones. And to watch the employers' opposition.

THE FULLER THE TANK THE LESS WINTER GRIEF and why—

The helpful idea we're talking about will give you extra protection against a freeze-up in your car's gasoline system. The smart thing to do first is to have your carburetor drained—a quick, simple operation for whoever takes care of your car. He will also empty the little glass filter bowl, or "trap." And if you want to be real careful, you will have a certain amount drained from the bottom of the gasoline tank. Thus you get rid of any water that might freeze on the first cold day.

This water was not in the gasoline originally, if you are careful where you buy. But you know that the air always contains more or less moisture, which can gradually form water in your gasoline system. There is less chance of this when you keep too much air out of your gasoline tank, by having it filled close to the top. It is still just as important as ever to get a gasoline that always fires away lickety-split in any cold . . . not dripping and flooding wastefully . . . not draining your battery by a lot of "false starts" . . . not thinning your oil by needless choking. The most helpful thing you can do for yourself right there is to keep your tank full of sure-firing Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze. Continental Oil Company

SUBSIDIZE YOUR BOY

Federal records show that arrests of boys aged 21 tops all others. It is a difficult age in the life of a boy for he is through school and frequently unable to get employment. His desires for material things have not been tempered with experience. He wants a car and spending money, and may come up against a stone wall when no honest way to satisfy these wants seems possible.

Here is where a wise parent steps in. Instead of saying "He doesn't need a car; I was 40 before I got one and not until I'd worked good and hard for it, too," he gives the keys of the car to the boy and enough spending money so the boy can feel respectable. For the wise father sees the change in the times, and when his son finds his niche, as he will do if given understanding, he'll be glad he financed him through a hard time. Youth is very proud and must put on a show, sometimes regardless of how it is done.

Apparently the nations of the earth today are similar to those spoke of by Jeremiah in the sixth chapter of his prophecy, "They have healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace. Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? Nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush: therefore they shall fall among them that fall. SUPERVISORS CONCLUDED SESSION

H. R. FOWLER NAMED MEMBER POOR COMMISSION

Board Confronts Perplexing Matter Occasioned by Condemnation of Court House As Fire Hazard

The Charlevoix county board of supervisors adjourned their January session Tuesday afternoon, following approval of officers' bonds, naming of depositories for 1937 and transacting other routine business.

Horace R. Fowler was unanimously elected Charlevoix member of the county poor commission, succeeding L. E. Benton, whose resignation became effective January 1. Mr. Benton had served as member of the commission for 14 years, and was secretary a greater portion of that period.

The board confronted a perplexing matter brought about through receipt of a letter addressed to County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow, clerk of the board, from the state fire marshal's office, condemning the court house as a fire hazard.

The letter, in part, is quoted as follows:

"Deputy McKenna's report states it (the court house) is a two story brick and mill constructed building with 14-foot ceilings, and was built about 56 years ago. He further states the building is in a fair state of preservation, although due to construction constitutes a serious fire hazard, jeopardizing the lives of occupants as well as the loss of valuable records. The heating plant is in the basement, with only one small narrow stair entrance. Partitions are of wood, and there are no cut-offs to restrain fire from gaining access to all parts of the building. Wiring is open.

"We are, therefore, condemning this building as a fire hazard, and recommending that it be eliminated either by reconstruction or a new building of fire resistant type."

The matter was the subject of considerable discussion during the session. Before adjournment a committee composed of A. J. Bolhuis, R. C. Korth and John Parker, members of the supervisors' court house and grounds committee, also William M. Sanderson, Orton VanDusen, supervisors, and R. F. Sloan and Fenton R. Bulow, was appointed to investigate possibility of making the present court house building suitable for continued use.

FIVE LIVES LOST IN BOAT BLAST

with broken ice fields to make conditions for contact with the wrecks by lifeboat very bad. When contact was made, put two men, Quentin R. Duhm and Fred Looze, on board the Boyd. The men searched the ship from bow to stern, finding two badly burned and charred bodies and several pieces of bodies. While searching for and loading the burned bodies into the lifeboat, the freighter Rambler, with Archie Cross, Joe Sendenberg, Ulysses McCann, Emil Pischner and Buddy White, aboard, came up within hailing distance and offered to stand by to give aid in case of explosion taking place.

"One of the bodies was found pinned down by the funnel that had blown from the Marold II onto the deck of the Boyd. To get this body it was necessary to chop off one of the arms. The charred bodies were finally gotten into the lifeboat and all breathed a sigh of relief when we had pulled away to a safe distance.

"From finding the bodies along with the wreckage of the decks, funnel, davits and other metal parts from the Marold II blown on top of the Boyd, it left little doubt but that all on the ship had been killed by the explosion and resultant fire. On account of heavy sea running and the fast drifting ice floes and fields, a search of the lake bottom around the wrecks for bodies by grappling was not possible.

"We arrived back at Charlevoix station at 3:45 p. m. on January 2."

Identify Cole Brothers

The bodies brought by coast guards, while charred and mangled beyond recognition, were identified Sunday as Everett and Raymond Cole, by Dr. D. S. Nettleton, dentist. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the Methodist church and burial was at Brookside cemetery. Both men are survived by their widows and Raymond a small son, in addition to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garret Cole, of Nomad, Beaver Island, and other relatives.

Bruce McDonough is survived by his young widow and an infant daughter, besides his parents, brothers and sisters and other relatives.

Capt. Hill, who at one time owned the Hill Steamboat Co., of Kenosha, Wis., had been operating the Marold II on the Beaver Island run for several years. He at one time was also part owner of the Hill-White Transit Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. His company operated the freighters Sheboygan, Waukegan, Kenosha, City of Marquette, and other boats between Chicago, Milwaukee, and upper Lake Michigan points. The company went out of business in 1928. Hill is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Mark Kindt, Mrs. Ruby Wons, wife of Tony Wons, Chicago radio entertainer, of Kenosha, Wis.; and Mrs. John Hazel, of Prescott, Ariz.; also a son, W. E. Hill, of Grand Haven.

Cole Prominent Business Man

Everett Cole, recognized as one of Beaver Island's most prominent and aggressive business men, owned the Strang Hotel and a garage at St. James, besides other large real estate holdings. He was a majority stockholder in the Beaver Island Transit Co., and associated with him were his brother, Raymond, Bruce McDonough and brother, Lloyd. The interest of Nels Lafreniere had been but recently acquired. The organization owned the freighter Rambler and was purchasing the Marold II from the Hills. An airplane acquired last winter furnished transportation of mail and passengers when ice tied up boat navigation. Cole held a four-year government contract to carry the island mail. Only last week he had established an office here to carry on his numerous business enterprises.

The transit company had been salvaging gasoline from the tanker Boyd for about six weeks. Until last week the operations were carried on by the Rambler, which is understood to have made 24 trips, carrying 9,000 gallons each trip. With ice threatening to stop operations, the Marold, regularly assigned to mail and freight service between Charlevoix and St. James, was transferred to the job because of its steel hull and larger capacity. The Marold had made one trip, carrying an estimated load of 17,000 gallons. The gasoline was being sold locally and in adjoining counties, and other consignments were taken as far as Cleveland, O., by truck.

Charlevoixans Escape Death

Early reports following explosion of the Marold II were to the effect that several local persons were aboard the boat. Later investigation proved them false, although revealing that perhaps fate alone saved at least a half dozen Charlevoixans from death. New Year's being a holiday, several had planned to accompany the Marold on a sight-seeing trip. That they failed to be at the ship for its early departure proved a happy coincidence.

That Charlevoix was fortunate in still another respect is gained through the report of a Brevort resident named Gustafsen on the force of the explosion which destroyed the Marold. Gustafsen claimed to have witnessed the tragedy from the north shore mainland, a distance of 10 miles, stated the blast shook the ground at that point. Looked at from this angle, it is not hard to picture what might have happened if the explosion had occurred when the Marold was unloading gasoline at the foot of Mason street.

Rambler License Suspended

Investigation by the federal marine inspection service was an aftermath of the tragedy.

License of the freighter Rambler, which was to replace the Marold II on the Beaver Island run, was suspended by Inspectors Bernie Gellick and Hugh Mulligan, of Grand Haven, until the boat is steamed out to remove traces of gasoline accumulated in the salvage operations. The inspectors found the Rambler's hold saturated with gasoline which, due to its content of lubricating oil, was said to be slow in evaporating. Until the Rambler passes inspection, fish boats will be used for transportation between the mainland and Beaver Island.

In regards to the Marold II, the inspectors were quoted as having stated that while criminal negligence was apparent due to the fact operators of the Marold failed to observe even the most ordinary precautions in handling the gasoline, no charges would follow.

Islanders Grief Stricken

Beaver Island residents, largely sea-faring folks to whom the dangers of sailing are taken as a matter of course, are still unrecovered from the tragedy which took the lives of three islanders and the Hills, held in close regard after serving the island several years. The disaster was the worst experienced since 1924, when the collier Clifton disappeared with four Beaver Island sailors aboard.

EDITORIAL

SPOILERS

January 1, 1937, will find between three and four thousand people getting notices from the state of Michigan that they nre now employed on a day to day basis. This meuns simply that they can be fired nt any time, without u two weeks or even n weeks notice, and they must put on their hats and coats, walk out, and start hunting nnother job.

This, in brief, is a picture of the spoils system as practiced by the politicians of the leading parties in our state. It is an ideal system for them. They ga out every two years and promise these jobs to willing party workers if the party they represent is fortunate enough to coax into the booths a majority of the voters so that their side wins the election. But how does it affect you and me? We enst aur votes according to our interpretntion of what we want by way of government from the people we elect or attempt to elect to office. The question of getting a job, or making a job possible for Tom, Dick, or Helen, never enters our minds, even though we foot the bills which includes all their salaries. And even if the party we vote for loses the election, we still have to keep on footing the bills. In other words, we all pay the shot no matter who wins, and as far as the jobs go, we should all be represented. The safest, and most sane way to insure this to the public of the state of Michigna is to insist the incoming Legislature pass the Civil Service Law which has been prepared by a competent commission of men headed hy James K. Pollock, of the University of Michigan. Write your local representative at Lansing and request him to lend his support to this measure.

THE NEED FOR MEN

Go into any industrinl section and talk with those who are interested in the management af mills and factories. One fact on which all will agree is thnt there is a real shortage of skilled and experienced lnbor. In truth, such n condition has existed for nbout two yeara.

There may be muny upon the relief rolls. There are those who seek work from the public. At the same time good carpenters, plumbers, electricians, welders, mechanics and men who can manage the labor of other men are hard to emplny.

What does that mean? It means that there is opportunity for youth and men who are ambitious enough to learn a trade. There may be too many professional men and white collared workers. But there are not enough men in those skilled trades where employment is constant and wages good.

We are living in an age of machinery and skill. But with all of the complaints of the advancement of muchinery there are not sufficient men to man machines and do the work requiring preparation, brains, training and industry.—Grand Rapids, Minn., Herald.

THIRD PARTY FUTILITY

There has been talk of a Farmer-Labor party emerging from the aftermath of the last election.

Let u trust not. The two old parties can clarify their principles and give us the range in vlews we need politically. A third party may serve as an exhaust for n graup of dissatisfied voters, but if these same people would align themselves with either af the major parties, advocating reforms within the party, they would stand a much better chance of success.

Saturday's Detroit Free Fress carried an aecount of the practical jokes that Dr. Ferstenberg, dean of the University Hospital, and Lawyer Burke, un attorney, of Ann Arbor, are playing on each other. It began with Attorney Burke inqulring of the physician why he didn't cash the check the attorney had given him. Ferstenberg replied that he was carrying it in his pocket for a souvenir. Burke gave the doctor another souvenir and it wound up by the doctor having a cow unloaded in front of the attorney's office with cnrd attached, saying, "Put this in your pocket for a souvenir." CLARK SCHOOL NOTES

By Anna Holmes

We are now back to our school work again. In science we are studying Michigan. In musie we are studying the flnts. Monday we learned a new song, "Happy New Year," in a flat.

The Clark school had its Christmas program December 24. Everyone had a good time. After the program, Santa Claus cnme and gave us presents. We all enjoyed them and the candy very much. We also enjoyed our Christmas vacation.

In the hot lunch club we are progressing very nicely. We have a committee for washing hands, washing the table, passing out hot lunch cards and also a hostess. The sewing and handicraft clubs ure going to start their regular work Friday. In the sewing and handicraft clubs we huve a very good yell leader. In the clubs we have thirteen members. We wish the readers of this paper a prosperous and happy new year.

MICHIGAN 1936 FARM CROPS RECORD VALUE

Estimate Farmers Produced Crops Worth Eighty Million Past Year

Michigan cash farm income from crops produced in 1930 promises to reach $80,000,000 — the highest of any year since 1929 — according to the report issued by James F. Thomson, commissioner of agriculture, and Verne H. Church, senior agricultural statisticiun for the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service.

This prospective increase of 18 per cent over the $67,920,000 received from 1935 crops is the result of an advance in farm prices which more than offset the reductions in acreage and yields caused by the drought. These figures relate only to the income derived from crops. In Michigan livestock and livestock products normally account for 60 per cent or more of the total farm income.

Detailed Description of Study

Log Sheets

We examined und tabulated the operating data from the station log sheets for the years 1934, 1935, and January to September, 1936, inclusive. A summary of the operating data is shown on TABLE L.

Peak Load

The system peak loads were:

1934—Peak load varied from 200 KW in April to 690 KW in August.

1935—Peak load varied from 290 KW in Aprii to 800 KW in August.

1936—Peak load varied from 320 KW in April to 810 KW in August.

The average load and the average daily peak loads were:

	Average Load	Average Daily Peak Load
1934	180 KW	319 KW
1935	187 KW	339 KW
1936	191 KW	363 KW

Diesel Engine Unit

The Diesel engine unit operated under tho following load conditions:

	Hours Run	KW Hrs. Generated	Peak Load KW	Av. Load KW
1934	2425	546,600	460	226
1935	2399	512,200	460	214
1936	2000	601,500	440	231

(Jan. to Sept. incl.)

Hydro Plant

The hydro plant operated under the following load conditions:

	Hours Run	KW Hrs. Generated	Penk Load KW	Av. Load KW
1934	7875	960,810	230	122
1935	8383	1,055,830	210	126
1936	5900	039,710	150	108

(Jan. to Sept. incl.)

The peuk load for the hydro station is not always recorded each hour on the log sbeets and the figures may not include the maxlmum peak.

Steam Units

The steam units operated under the following load conditions:

	Houra Run	KW Hrs. Generated	Peak Load KW	Av. Load KW
1934	215	47,370	310	220
1935	322	54,250	400	155
1936	641	50,860	300	79

(Jan. to Sept. incl.)

The amount of coal required to generute power with the steam plant hus progressively increased since 1934. The log sheet records show the following:

1934—4.75 lbs. of coal per Kilowatt Hour.

1935—7.39 lbs. of coal per Kilowatt Hour.

1936—12.5 lbs. of coal per Kilowatt Hour.

With a coal cost of $5.00 per ton delivered at the plant, fuel cost only for 1936 was 3.1 cents per Kilowatt hour for steam generation. This is about six times the fuel cost for Diesel generation.

Future Peak Load

The peak loads for the year nt Charlevoix occur in the four months June, July, August and September. For the years 1934, 1935 and 1930, the maximum peak occurred in August. This condition will undoubtedly continue. As Charlevoix is a residential and resort community rather than industrial, the yearly increase in peak load is gradual and depends largely on increased use of electric ranges and other domestic appliances. From the available information from the years 1934, 1935 and 1936, the growth in peak lond is about 7 per cent per year or 60 Kilowatts per year. In Chnrlevoix it is more logical to assume a fixed increase rather than a percentage increase. While it is impossible to exactly foretell what the future increase will be, we believe that tbe following table is a conservative estimate of the peak load for the next ten years:

	Estimated Peak Load In Kilowatts
1034	690 (Actual)
1935	800 (Actual)
1936	810 (Actual)
1937	870
1938	930
1939	990
1940	1050
1941	1110
1942	1170
1943	1230
1944	1290
1945	1350
1940	1410
1947	1470

Conclusions

Although use of the present steam units involves only cost of coal and operating labor, their cost of operation is very high per kilowatt hour. The boiler cannot be long continued in operation without repairs and they are in such condition that they are not reliable. We therefore believe that the proposed new unit should be of such a size as to allow for retirement of the steam plant.

The hydro plant is a very valuable asset in the generation of power. It generates approximately one half of the total Kilowatt hours used by the system at very low cost. It has, however, comparatively low peak load carrying cnpacity and can be depended upon for only 120 Kilowatts during the peak load season. We believe that the proposed new unit should be of sufficient size to allow for repairs to be made to the hydro plant and transmission line when they become necessary.

The new unit should also be of such a size as to allow for necessary routine maintenance on the present 450 Kilowatt Diesel unit.

The present Diesel unit is small enough to efficiently carry loads in the off peak season or when the hydro plant is not in operation. It is now operated at about one half loud as an average for the whole year. Therefore it would not be advisable to purchase a smaller unit. If a unit of approximately the size of the present one is purchased, an additional unit will have to be purchased in about three yenrs, or the steam plant cannot be retired. Also the purchase of generating capacity in two units ruther than one would cost $4.00 more per kilowatt for equipment alone. A 900 Kilowatt addition in two units would cost about $17,000 more than a 900 Kilowatt addition in one unit, including equipment and building.

We believe that the proposed addlion should consist of one large unit rather than two smaller units.

The peak load carrying capacity of the present Diesel unit with the hydro plant, but without the steam units is 570 Kilowatts, in the peak load season. The followiag table gives the estimated additional generating capacity which will be required.

Year	Estimated Peak Load (Kilowatts)	Est. Add. Capacity Required (Kilowatts)
1934	690	120
1935	800	230
1936	810	240
1937	870	300
1938	930	360
1939	990	420
1940	1050	480
1941	1110	540
1942	1170	600
1943	1230	660
1944	1290	720
1945	1350	780

We believe that a new Diesel unit of between 850 KW and 900 KW capacity should be installed at this time. Such a unit will provide sufficient capacity so its cost can be paid before another unit will be required, provided that an unprecedented increase in peak load does not occur. It will also provide sufficient capacity so the steam plant can be retired, the present Diesel unit can receivo proper maintenance, the new unit can receive proper maintenance, and the hydro plant can be repaired when necessary, at least during the next five years.

If necessary to reduce the present proposed expenditure, a 700 KW unit could be purchased at a saving of about $13,000. However, the cost per kilowntt of such a unit would be at least $3.00 more per kilowatt capacity than the larger unit. Under the estimated conditions a 700 KW unit would enable the plant to carry the peak load until 1943 or 1944.

It is not probable that the peak load at Charlevoix will continue indefinitely to grow at the rate of 60 KW per year. It has been our experience however, that with the increased use of electric appliances, and with increased use due to rate reductions, additional nnits added are often too small rather than too large.

We believe that under your conditions of financing, you should install a capacity of 850 KW to 900 KW in one unit.

HAMILTON & WEEBER.

Sally Save's KITCHEN CLUB

Sweets For Sweets

Dear Club Members:

THE fine old custom of carrying little gifts of sweetmeats to friends on New Year's Day is being revived in many parts of the country. The tradition is particularly attractive to children. And even parents can get a kick out of a New Year's visit to beloved friends.

Anticipation of the event is part of the fun, too, so I suggest that you make your own sweetmeats at home a few days before. They are wholesome and healthful and can be boxed attractively.

Here's a good recipe from Mrs. A. L. G., of Boston, Mass.

1 package of dates
1 box shredded cocoanut
½ pound of figs
OR ¾ pound of figs and ¼ pound of apricots
½ pound of chopped nuts
1 tablespoon of orange juice
1 teaspoon of orange rind or candied orange peel.

Put all the ingredients through a food chopper. Knead in orange juice and rind. Make into balls or rolls and roll in chopped nuts or granulated sugar. The nuts may be left out if desired.

And a happy and prosperous New Year to you!

RESORT SEASON IS BEST MANY YEARS

AN EXTENDED OPEN SEASON PROVED PROFITABLE

Heads of Michigan Resort Associations Present Statistics Proving 1936 Bumper Year

Michigan enjoyed its longest and most profitable summer resort season in history during 1936.

Heads of tourist associations are unanimous in acclaiming success of a scheme which extended the "open season" in cottages through September and into October nnd kept resort cash registers jingling and landlords happy.

Labnr Day, formerly the end of the summer resort season, was in reality a climax last season and vacation business which hit an nll-time high continued well into the fall.

"Apparently people beenme convinced that September and October offer good resort opportunitics," T. F. Marston, of Bay City, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association, said. "Resort owners abandoned plans to promote earlier annual use of Michigun summer playgrounds and found the fall extension into 'Indian Summer' of the season highly successful."

Hugh J. Gray, of Grand Rapids, head of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, characterized the 1936 summer season as "the most successful we ever had."

"Resorters spent more money in Western Michigan than in previous yenrs," he explained. "Owners of resorts were forced to refuse requests for cottages because the demand exceeded the supply. People actually bought things other than necessities which is certainly an indication of a good year."

Marston expressed the more conservative opinion that "1936 was the most successful tourist and resort season in 10 years."

"Restaurants and gasoline stations in Northeastern Michigan report from 20 to 50 per cent increases in trade, while mnny hotels found it profitable to stay open one or two months ufter Labor Day," Marston said.

STRIKES AND SPARES

If you want to know anything about a strike or a spare, don't ask Buck Seymour. He claims he doesn't see enough of them to know what they are. Buck is in n super slump just at this time and it's no wonder he gets a surprised look on his face when he rolls over "9" a frame.

Of course his slump will break sooner or later, but I will admit it's mighty discouraging while it lasts.

When I stop to think of it, everyone else is in more or less of a slump. Art Nettleton and Jim Bellinger are down with Buck. Even Joe Troyer is throwing his cnnnon bnlls all over the place.

Dave Livingston came up this week, much to his surprise and everyone else's.

Here's something. If you'd like to see n sour look come across someone's face, ask Junior Supernaw if it's any fun coming out of slump to howl a gond average and drag Buck Seymour along at the snme time in a high-low in the fifth game. No doubt he will tell you to stay in a slump, if you ever get in one. Perhaps our bowlers will have better luck next week and I'll let you know how they fare.

HELEN GALLAGHER IS WINTER QUEEN

SELECTED IN CONTEST AT GYM FRIDAY EVENING

Ernestine Chew and Alice Meyer Maids of Honor—Coronation and Queen's Ball Friday Evening

Selected by poular vote from a group of 13 candidates in a contest conducted Friday evening at the school gymnasium, Miss Helen Gallagher was named Charlevoix winter queen and this city's representative in the competition for Michigan winter queen.

Miss Ernestine Chew and Miss Alice Meyer, the runners-up, will be maids of honor.

A crowd which taxed the capacity of the gymnasium attended the contest. The candidates were presented in two cleverly arranged scenes. In the first, the girls appeared in formal attire in the court of the King of the Realm of Snow, Ice and Tempests (Frank Olesky), with his Heralds (Fay Bradley and Franklin Left). In the course of the scene, each was given an opportunity to either speak or present vocal, piano or instrumental numbers. The scene closed with the King abdicating his throne to the people, selection of his successor to be made from the winter queen candidates. The girls returned to the stage in winter sports attire.

Balloting followed, the first vote eliminating all but three receiving the highest vote. On the second ballot, Miss Gallagher received the majority.

Other features of the program were splendid selections by the band and a couple of movie reels shown while votes were being counted.

Miss Gallagher, who succeeds Mrs. John VanZon, the former Frances Marshall, the 1936 queen, is 20, a tall slender brunette. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Callagher and a graduate of Charlevoix High school and Catholic Junior College, Grand Rapids.

Queen Helen will receive her crown from City Attorney Rollie L. Lewis, in an elaborate outdoor ceremony at the municipal skating rink at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening. Mrs. VanZon will be present, relinquishing the crown to her 1937 successor. The ceremony will take place from a beautiful ice throne, illuminated with colored lights, at the north end of the rink. The queen will be attended by her maids of honor and court composed of the group of candidates for winter queen. An amplifying system is being installed to provide music.

Immediately following the coronation, a group of Petoskey skaters will put on an exhibition of fancy and novelty skating.

The second high light of the evening's program will be the annual Winter Queen's ball, to be held in the gymnasium starting at 9:30 o'clock. Queen Helen and her court will be formally presented, also winter queens from Petoskey, Boyne City, East Jordan, Traverse City and Harbor Springs. The visiting queens will be accompanied by their chaperones and officials of the winter sports clubs of those cities. The visiting delegations will number approximntely 50 persons.

Music for the party will be furnished by Wexstaff's orchestra. Elaborate decorations are being prepared and appropriate favors will be presented. Admission to the dance floor will be one dollar per couple, and balcony admission 10 cents per person, proceeds to go to the winter sports fund.

There will be intermission in dancing between 11:25 and 12 o'clock for the "Salute to Charlevoix" radio broadcast from station WLW, Cincinnati. Through the efforts of the Board of Commerce, Charlevoix has been given a place on this weekly program. It is an especial honor, in view of the fact it is unusual for cities of so small a population to be so recognized.

RAYDERS TURN IN ANOTHER VICTORY

DEFEATED HARBOR BY 50 TO 22 SCORE FRIDAY

Reserves Keep Record Unblemished With 22 to 9 Victory—Team to Mancelona, Friday Night

Charlevoix's Red Rayders defeated Harbor Springs by a 50 to 22 score last Friday night for their third victory in conference competition and sixth consecutive win this season.

The contest was a repetition of those played so far, with Charlevoix's fast, accurate passing game far superior to that of their opponents and their defense comparably strong.

The Rayders counted 12 points to four for Harbor in the first period and the scoring was six points to five for the losers in the second quarter. Charlevoix had a 20 to 9 margin at the half. The third period was a complete rout for Harbor, with the Rayders counting no less than 18 points to four for the Emmet county aggregation. Charlevoix had a 12 to 9 margin in the final period, with the line-up well filled with reserves.

Carey had a big night, a veritable scoring spree in fact. He alone scored 29 points. Richardson followed with eight, Radle and Shapton scored four each, Pearl and Neff made two, and Gallagher a free throw. Herrick was best for the losers with nine points.

Charlevoix's reserves kept their season's record unblemished with a 22 to 9 victory. They have won six in a row.

The Rayders' schedule takes them to Mancelona this week for another conference tilt. The next home contest, with East Jordan opposing, is scheduled for January 22.

Mancelona athletic officials have requested that it be announced that a dancing party in the gymnasium will follow the contests.

FLOOD OF BILLS TO STATE LEGISLATURE

MANY NEW LAWS PROPOSED TO STATE SOLONS

Multiple Secret Ballot for Primary Election Would Eliminate Identity of Voters' Politics

The early rush of bills for legislative consideration includes two measures providing for a multiple secret ballot for primary elections.

State Representative Philip J. Rahoi, Iron Mountain, D., and State Senator John C. Wiekstrom, Norway, D., each introduced bills intended to eliminate all possibility of knowledge of how a person voted in the primary. All of the party ballots would be fastened together and the voter would discard the ones he does not use after he goes into the election booth.

A bill offered by State Representative Melvin H. Lee, Royal Oak, R., would exempt a merchant from paying sales tax on goods traded in on other goods. This bill, especially applicable to used car trade, provides that the value of goods taken in trade shall be deducted in computing the three per cent sales tax.

In addition, Representative Rahoi offered a bill which would exempt homesteads of less than 40 acres, valued at less than $2,500 and owned by persons over 65 from property taxation; another would raise the state compensation for death or total disability from $9,000 to $12,000; he would also repeal the teachers' oath law and the anti-radical law.

Representative Ernest J. Nagel, Detroit, D., offered three measures. He would require a maximum $1 impounding fee for automobiles confiscated by all police departments, force the seller of an automobile on contract to resort to court judgment before repossession, and raise the state compensation for permanent disability to $15 a week for life.

Senator Harry F. Hittle, of East Lansing, introduced a bill raising the age limit for the legal purchase of beer from 18 to 21 years.

CHILD HEALTH CLINIC AT GRAND VIEW SCHOOL

Dr. Carleton Dean Announces Event for Friday, January 15

Friday, January 15, at 10 a. m., Dr. Carleton Dean, of the District Health Unit, will conduct a free health clinic at the Grand View school. Though this is a school clinic, mothers having infants and pre-school children may feel free to bring them.

It is particularly important that either parents or some responsible adult member of the family be present when each child is examined. It gives the mother opportunity to talk with the doctor, who, in turn, can give the child a far better examination.

Toxoid to prevent diphtheria will be offered to all children under 10 years of age, also vaccination for smallpox to children of all ages.

LAKE CHARLEVOIX PROVIDING FINE SKATING

Ice covered by water from the mid-week thaw of Wednesday and Thursday had frozen over Saturday sufficiently thick for skating and ice boating.

COMMERCE BOARD OFFICERS ELECTED

1936 SLATE IS CHOSEN UNANIMOUSLY FOR 1937

Appreciation for Past Accomplishments and Ability in Future Shown at Meeting Last Wednesday

In a gesture of recognition for accomplishments the past year and a confidence in their ability to carry on in the future, all 1936 officers of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce were re-elected at the annual meeting held last Wednesday evening.

Accepting the report of a nomination committee and foregoing the formality of a vote, a representative group of Charlevoix business and professional men returned the entire slate of officers and directors for the 1937 year.

Thus the official personnel of the Board of Commerce for the coming year includes the following: President, Harold Hallett; vice-president, Karl Erber; secretary, F. V. Tyler; treasurer, Archie L. Livingston. Directors re-named were E. J. Edwards and William Fessenden for three years, and C. B. Meggison and Leo W. Carey for terms of one year, filling the unexpired terms of Henry Buddy and Oakley J. Hammond, resigned.

The assemblage heard short talks by the officers and directors, also from various committee chairmen. Non-officials spoke in high praise of the accomplishments of the officers and directors during the year past, and predicted an even more successful year of accomplishment in 1937.

SMALL GAME SEASON CLOSES JANUARY 31ST

All Hunting Banned in State Until Opening Next Fall

Sunday, January 31, is the last day of small-game hunting in Michigan for the current winter. On that day, says the Department of Conservation, open seasons on cottontail rabbits, varying hares, mink, opossum, skunks, and badgers come to a close.

At present and until January 31, inclusive, the season on cottontail and snowshoes is open in all of the Upper Peninsula and only in the north half of the Lower Peninsula; lower Michigan south of the north line of Townline 16 and east of Saginaw Bay was closed to cottontail and snowshoe hare shooting January 2.

COAST GUARDS MADE RESCUE TRIP SUNDAY

Look for Tug Jackie C., Overdue On Scheduled Return to Port

Acting at the request of relatives of the crew of the fish tug Jackie C., overdue from the Fox Island fishing grounds, Charlevoix coast guards under Capt. Oscar Smith made a run to the Fox Islands Sunday.

The fish tug, owned and commanded by Capt. John Cross, was found lifting nets and in no trouble. When the Jackie C. did not arrive on schedule, relatives of the men, fearing engine trouble, requested coast guards to look for the craft.

LUECKE SUPPORTS STRAITS BRIDGE

WILL INTRODUCE A BILL FOR CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL

New Michigan Democratic Congressman Throws Influence Behind Proposal to Build Bridge

Representative John Luecke, Escanaba, Mich., today announced his support of the proposed Mackinac Straits Bridge, designed to span the gap from St. Ignace to Mackinaw City and link the two peninsulas of Michigan together.

The bridge would cost approximately $32,000,000 and require several years to construct. Nearly 5,000 men would be employed during that period.

Congressman Luecke indicated that, in conjunction with others, he would seek to have the fight for congressional approval of the project reopened during the present session if possible. His predecessor in office, Prentiss M. Brown, of St. Ignace, introduced a bill at the last session of Congress but no action was taken on the matter at that time.

Speaking vigorously in behalf of the bridge, Luecke listed his reasons for supporting the proposed undertaking. He cited his belief that the economic future of Northern Michigan hinges in a large measure on the amount of tourist traffic that can be attracted during the summer months.

Those familiar with the situation are convinced that a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac would double the annual number of visitors to Northern Michigan. The result would be a marked increase in business activity with benefits to everyone.

After completion of the bridge it would be operated on a self sustaining basis through the collection of tolls. Also, it would enable the state to dispense with the present inadequate ferry system. This latter setup has at times proven unable to cope with the influx of tourists and hunters. Congestion frequently develops at the Straits, causing delays and irritation to transients. This is a poor advertisement for the state.

Luecke believes that everything possible should be done to attract tourists to the northern part of the state. There is a possibility of developing a winter resort industry in the Upper Peninsula if travel facilities are improved.

Declining activity in the lumbering and mining industries has created a serious unemployment problem. The congressman thinks that the tourist industry offers a natural solution to this problem.

Construction of the bridge would probably result in the re-routing of considerable railroad through the Upper Peninsula. Shippers from the Northwest could effect a saving of 150 miles on materials going to eastern centers via rail, if a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac were available.

Everyone is agreed that the bridge would immediately exert a buoyant influence on the economic life of the northern part of the state.

Some time ago a Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority was created by the State Legislature. This body has been active in gathering and compiling information on the possibilities of the bridge and it is said that in the near future a comprehensive report on the subject will become available for study.

Miss Zelma Snider did not arrive in time to preach at Penteeostal services Sunday. The editor of the Torch was to tell the Carneys to stop at Clio, at the home of Miss Snider's parents, and bring her to Central Lake when they returned from Ann Arbor last week. Blaine forgot to mention it, hence the disappointment. No wonder Blaine is still a bachelor, if he forgets the girls that way.

When we read of the big Morrison reunion at Elk Rapids last week, we wondered why Fanny, former member of the family for several years, was not invited. She has been a great friend of the writer's here for several years. She accompanied us to school and Sunday school for several years. A great lover of outdoor life, she is in perfect health. She never indulges in intoxicants or tobacco, which probably accounts for her good health. She was fearful of getting out on the ice Sunday, however, and, after taking a look at the glary surface, decided she would have her meals served in her rooms—as they do at the Boak-Cadillac. She used to be frightened at automobiles, back in 1915, and jump sidewise; then, after they had passed her, would run and try to overtake them. She will celebrate her 30th birthday anniversary next July 7. Yes, Fanny has been a faithful horse, and we are going to have a big celebration for her next July, if the fates are willing, like they did at Lexington, Ky., the other day, for Ballot, the 33-year-old race horse. We hereby extend an invitation to the Morrisons of Elk Rapids, from whom she was purchased in 1910.

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

Nothing was said by Governor Frank Murphy in his inaugural address about the adoption in Michigan of a single house Legislature, a constitutional change favored by the governor when campaigning. It can be assumed that the project was merely stumping conversation and not meant to be taken seriously. Attention is called to it here because Nebraska's unicameral Legislature met for the first time recently and it was the Nebraska Plan that was to be followed here. The plan provides for non-partisan election of a House of from 30 to 50 members.

Interesting in discussions of the plan were the debates as to whether it would be easier to bribe a small House than two large ones and whether one House really is a check upon the other or whether they merely pass the buck back and forth between each other.

Senator George Norris stumped for the Plan and was almost solely responsible for its adoption. Perhaps when it has been thoroughly tested in Nebraskn it will become the latest fad in legislatures and Michigan can choose which it prefers.

The Governor's speech was conspicuous to several legislators because it failed to mention agricultural problems nt all. It interested Detroiters and out-state listeners equally because it again brought to their attention the fact that the constitutional requirements for legislative reapportionment had not been conformed with as yet.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is slated for the position on the Senate Finance Committee formerly held by the late Senator Couzens. The post is generally considered as one of the most important of Senate appointments.

That the Senator appreciates the responsibility he has of leading the slim Republican bloc has been made apparent by his recent return to his attack upon the Florida canal project, which he was primarily responsible in halting, and his proposed strengthening of the nation's neutrality laws.

The Michigan Democratic Senators, slightly hazy as to what is to be done about Senator Anthony J. Wilkowski, jailed recounter, have asked Attorney General Starr to solve the legal status of the problem.

The Democrats would like to have a Democratic Senator present, since the Senate has hut 16 Democratic members and 15 Republicans. Seventeen votes are needed to carry a measure.

Visited in his Jackson quarantine cell, Senator Wilkowski pointed out with the finest of representative governmental logic that he was elected by an eight to one majority to represent his Wayne County neighbors and that he intended to represent them, even if by remote control.

It was suggested that Wilkowski be defined as not a senator but a senator-eleet. It was promptly pointed out that you cannot eject a senator-elect because he is not a senator. He could be seated and expelled, but nobody is sure that a two-thirds vote could be got on the procedure.

To get a two-thirds vote it would be necessary for some Republicans to vote for the ouster and since it is better, from the standpoint of parliamentary maneuvering, to have a Democratic Senator absent than present there is considerable doubt about these necessary Republican votes.

It appears as though Wilkowski has a genius for being in the center of trouble, in prison or out of it.

MICHIGAN 1936 FIRE LOSS REPORTED SMALL

Less Than One Per Cent of Game Covar Burned Last Year

Less than one per cent of Michigan's forest sreas wss burned over by forest fire during 1936, although fire hszards were the most serious in 15 years.

Statistics compiled by State Conservation suthorities reveal that only .32 per cent—less than a third of one per cent—of the 17,696,422 acres under state protection was devastated by fire.

The first thing a business man must learn to do is to face the facts, ugly though they be.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Protect the Eyes During Measles

Is it really true that doctors do not believe in the old accepted custom of keeping children with measles in a darkened room? This is one question mothers are asking their family physicians today.

Invariably the doctor finds wherein a case of measles is under care and trentment that the sickroom is darker than the darkest cellar; windows are closed tightly; window shades are drawn completely down to the sill, and in some instances double window coverings are used to shut out the light. Incidentally, the fresh air is also shut out as evidenced by the musty, stale odor in the sick room.

Every child with measles has an acute catarrh resembling pink-eye in which there is inflammation, swelling and discharge from the eye. As in every inflamed eye, there is unusual sensitivity to light, but it is a fallacy to shut out every ray of light under the impression that light will injure the eyesight.

The discharge itself, which contains mucus, white corpuscles and bacteria, is capable of doing the greatest harm to the eyes. The care of the child's eye is not primnrily to shut out light but to keep the eye clean and free from bacteria and discharges, so that these do not injure the cornea of the eye. To give the child that protection the eyes should he thoroughly cleansed and the window shades should be partly lowered to keep out the direct sunlight, but by no means should all the light be kept out.

Proper hygiene of the eyes during measles should include the use of borie acid solution which should be kept in a sterilized bottle and should be administered warm in a sterilized bottle. To prepare this solution, boil a pint of water; place two level tablespoons of powdered boric acid in a medicine glass and add a little of the boiled water to make a paste. Add this paste to the boiled water and allow the solution to cool. This should be filtered through a sterile cotton placed in a sterile funnel, into a bottle which has been sterilized. Then fill the flush bottle with borie acid solution.

The eyes should be flushed with this solution four times daily, warming the solution slightly. The convalescing child may wear tinted glasses or the shades may be partly lowered as in any other illness. If the head of the bed is toward tho window, the light will not strike the eyes directly.

During 1936, 70 cases of measles were known in District Health Unit No. 3, comprising the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Otsego. Fortunately, no deaths were reported from this disease. We have tabulated below the number of cases that have been reported during the last six years:

1931	590
1932	276
1933	112
1934	6
1935	184
1936	70

Any literature or information on the care of measles will gladly be furnished by District Health Department or your county nurse.

When the Paper Comes Home

When you are miles from all your loved ones and you feel you'd like to go
Back home to see them once again,
you'd really like to know
What all your friends are doing while
In distant lands you roam;
It is then that you appreciate a paper sent from home.

It is such a comfy feeling when you sit with logs ablaze,
And see through modern items of other days;
It is hard to find expression in a
jingle, rhyme or poem,
Of the thoughts that come a-stealing
when the paper comes from home.

As you read you take a journey, to our homa town once sgain,
All your friends are there to greet you as you step from memory's train;
It's a sacred sort of feeling and you like to be alone,
With the fire and your memories
when the paper comes from home.

Safe and Sane DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL and Michigan State Safety Council

FOUR RULES FOR SAFETY

Driving a motor cnr would he a much safer and pleasanter occupation if every driver would follow these simple, fundamental rules:

1. Observe the reasonable speed limits posted on the highway. If, however, road conditions are slippery, or otherwise bad, use common sense, decrease your speed and increase your caution.

2. Keep to the right—the "outer lane" on any thoroughfare, except when passing other cars. Many motorists seem entirely ignorant of what is meant by "outer lane." But more often it is a wilful heedlessness of rules and the rights of others.

3. Pass the auto ahead only on its left-hand side and only after sounding horn. After passing do not swing back until you are far enough ahead to see this car in your renr-view mirror. Disregard of this rule is the cause of many fatal side-swiping accidents.

4. Drive only at safe speeds so that you can stop in plenty of time should emergency arise. Let your speed be determined by existing conditions, taking into consideration your car, the rondwny, clarity of vision, the amount of trnffic, and lastly YOURSELF.

We have just taken over distribution of a simplified Payroll Record for keeping track of Social Security Taxes. Every employer who has ONE or more employes must deduct 1% of each employes wages and send it to the Social Security Board at Washington. When this deduction is made, he must give this employe a statement of the amount of wages earned and the deduction made. He must also keep on file a copy of this record. The form is triplicate with 55 sets in the book and two carbons. On the cover is a place for the record of the employes pay. Each book is designed to last one employe for a year, thus if a business has six employes it will need six books.

In announcing his candidacy for a second term, Van Wagoner said:

"I seek re-election because I like my job. It is attractive to me professionally. It offers a fine opportunity for public service. No other position of public trust in Michigan is closer to the people of all walks of life than that of state highway commissioner."

Van Wagoner pointed out that his administration has administered "millions of dollars the last three and one-half years without any hint of irregularity."

He said one "sympathetic attempt" to attach any "scandal" to his office ended in a "boomerang for its perpetrators."

Van Wagoner said he would open his campaign in Detroit, with meetings with congressional leaders and with leaders in Wayne county.

Word from the Hamilton-Usher southern motor trip indicates a journey beset largely by weather troubles to date. The party reached West Memphis, Ark., on Tuesday, two days behind schedule. They relate encountering ice as far as Grand Rapids, fog through Indiana and sleet storms called the worst ever experienced through Illinois. Highways are reported to be like a pane of glass, due to ice, and progress is indicated by the fact they covered 110 miles from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. one particular day. After an all night sleet storm at Watseka, Ill., it took the party two hours to remove the ice from their cars and trailers the next morning. They report enjoying every minute of the trip despite these adversities.

FOUR THOUSAND PREDATORS TAKEN LAST YEAR

State Paid $33,850.50 to Bounty Treppers During 1936

Michigan paid bounties on nearly 4,000 predatory animals during 1936, reports compiled by conservation authorities show. The total amount of bounties paid for the year was $33,850.50.

The kill on which bounties were paid in 1936 was smaller than in 1935 when 4,187 predators were certified for bounty payments.

SWITCH KEY FROM FIRE TRUCK TAKEN; HAMPERED FIGHTERS

Maybe someone thought they were pulling a good joke. Perhaps it was just plain dirty work. Whatever the case, it was a dangerous matter at the best.

We're referring to the dirty "so-and-so" who swiped the switch key out of the city fire truck. When Fire Chief Charles Marshall boarded the big city truck to answer a recent alarm, the key was gone. The result: The big truck had to be pushed from the fire hall and the smaller one used. Unnecessary delay was caused and, had the fire been a big one, the department would have been seriously handicapped. Tragic results could have been caused.

If it was some practical joker, that person should sweep the cobwebs off his brains—that is, providing he has any. If it was done maliciously, the same applies.

It takes courage to push your luck, and intelligence to know when to stop.

Sally Save's KITCHEN CLUB

Budgeting?

Dear Club Members:

A BRAND New Year! A brand new leaf to write upon. And many of us are writing our annual budgets on it. Prosperity or no prosperity, thrifty women will always plan ahead more or less.

And if you are budget-minded during these first few days of 1937, you'll be thinking about the provender for the coming year. And if you're thinking about how you're going to squeeze it into your budget you'll be interested in a booklet that has come to my desk from Uncle Sam's department of home economics down in Washington.

The title of the booklet is "Diets to fit the family income." It gives food values, diets, typical menus for family incomes ranging from a comfortable level down to $600 a year or less.

There's a liberal diet, a moderate cost diet, a minimum cost diet and a restricted diet for emergency use. The interesting thing to me is that each plan draws from 12 different groups of food . . . all selected, first of all for their nutritive value. The groups are:

(1) milk in its various forms; (2) potatoes and sweet potatoes; (3) tomatoes and citrus fruits; (4) leafy, green, and yellow vegetables; (5) dried beans, peas, and nuts; (6) dried fruits; (7) other vegetables and fruits not mentioned above; (8) eggs; (9) lean meat, poultry, and fish; (10) flour, baked goods, and assorted cereals; (11) fatty foods, such as butter, salt pork, and bacon; and (12) sugars, including jams, jellies, honey, sirups, and molasses.

From these groups the ingenious housewife can budget her food costs . . . and be sure of getting nourishment at the same time.

PARDON REFUSED

Ex-Governor Fitzgerald refused to pardon the convicted recounters of the 1934 election fraud. His action has been highly commended. These men made an attempt to steal an election. Their fraud was perpetrated against the most prized possession of a free people: i. e., the right to vote and elect to office whoever they please to manage the affairs of government. It took thousands of years and millions of lives were lost in man's effort to become free. He is proud of that freedom and laws have been written to protect it against just such actions as that attempted by the recounters.

When our courts find that these laws have been broken by men of mean and little character, these men should be made to pay the full penalty imposed therein. Such is the case with Wilkowski, O'Hara and their cohorts. They were found guilty of attempting to steal an election. Their trial lasted many months and cost the people of Michigan thousands of dollars, as well as embarrassment before the rest of the country. Governor Fitzgerald did the right thing when he refused to pardon them, and his example should be followed by all succeeding governors. These criminals should be made to pay the full penalty for their crime. If they do, Michigan will not have to worry about any future attempts to steal elections.

BUY UP SOME OPPORTUNITY

If most of us were told that we could buy some stock which would soon triple in value we would do our best to get a little corner of it. Yet 1937 has just unrolled a brand new set of opportunities which the most of us will let pass by. We have to be nimble fingered to catch Lady Opportunity.

Many important questions face the world today. By recognizing the problems first and then working for the solutions we may grasp a corner of success. The world is not going to change unless we change it. Let us not almost grasp our opportunity, let us seize it.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Lyle Miles

It is just possible that last week's notes on Buck Seymour were just what he needed to bring him out of his slump. At least, he is up with the rest of them this week.

Jim Bellinger and Chet Buddy are still down, however, and so is Joe Troyer.

All these fellows, excepting Jim, are on the only unbeaten team in the league and their slump nearly gave them their first defeat Monday night.

Two more games are scheduled for this week. One Wednesday and one Thursday. Bob Searson's Kroger team plays both nights, Troyer's Wednesday, and Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

We have a new champion bowler coming up. She is none other than the very young Miss Mary Ann Glados. For a girl of her age she is a mighty fine bowler. What will she be a few years from now?

Good thoughts and good things do survive in this world.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

"Life" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 17.

Among the Bible citations is the following (I John 5: 11): "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 487): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality."

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

There has been little change in meat prices during the last week. Forequarter cuts of lamb and beef are better values than hindquarter. If you are planning to have a steak, I suggest a chuck steak of beef or individual lamb stenks from the shoulder for an inexpensive meal. Chickens, fowl and turkeys average about one-fourth less than they did this time last year.

Egg production is high and consequently prices for fine fresh eggs are lower. If the weather permits, plenty of fresh fish will be available at moderate prices. Frozen fish, however, is reasonable.

There is great variety of fresh vegetables and fruits. Shipments of new potatoes and strawberries are increasing, and the prices are lower.

Here are three menus using seasonable foods, planned to fit three pocketbooks.

Low Cost Dinner
Braised Chuck Steak
Mashed Potatoes Creamed Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Canned Peach Short Cake
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Shoulder of Lamb
Browned Potatoes Spinach
Bread and Butter
Apple Dumplings
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner
Roast Chicken, Celery Stuffing
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Green Beans
Lettuce and Tomato Salad
Rolls Butter
Broiled Grapefruit
Coffee

EAT MORE LAMB CAMPAIGN OPENS

Michigan State College Behind Move to Increase Consumption

Eat more lamb to help Michigan producers or pay more for lamb next year, is the suggestion of a campaign planned last week in a meeting of lamb producers, stockyards men, meat packers and retail meat dealers in a conference at Michigan State College.

For the first time in years lamb is cheaper on the hoof than other types of meat. Producers and feeders are not only discouraged but alarmed. If enough farmers in the state suffer heavy losses in the production of meat from lamb this year a heavy curtailment in the industry will follow next fall and winter, says D. H. LaVoi, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the college.

"The consumer will pay. It is strange but true," says LaVoi, "that if the consumer will help out now by eating up this comparatively low priced lamb, it will insure reasonable prices again next year."

Large supplies of lamb are mostly results of the drouth of last summer, market men report. Range conditions were poor and lambs did not flow to market as soon as usual from the west. Michigan's 1,300,000 lambs, of which a million are produced in the state, are competing with lambs coming to market later than usual.

Retail meat outlets in many of the cities and towns in Michigan plan to participate. Both chain store and individual meat dealers attended the conference at the college. Special prices and numerous suggestions as to the use of lamb in menus are to be displayed throughout the state during the six weeks campaign which opens this week.

AT THE MOVIES

Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea In "Banjo On My Knee"

A drama with music, deftly relieved by comedy and enlivened by several new song hits, combine to make "Banjo On My Knee," the Twentieth Century-Fox picture which opens Saturday and Sunday, January 16-17, at the Palace Theatre, a hit screen production. Add to this a story that is distinctly different in theme and plot construction; with the locale of Tobacco Road and for characters the shanty-boaters who live, love and die on their ramshackle barges on the lower Mississippi, and the sum total is something new in movie entertainment.

Singing Cowboy Does Some Fancy Shooting In Film

Dick Foran has improved upon the old marksman's exploit of shooting a hole through the ace of spades. He had a cowboy help him in a secluded canyon, where scenes were being filmed for the Warner Bros. picture, "California Mail," which comes to the Palace Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, January 20-21.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Case to Weed Out Careless Chauffeurs

As a measure of public safety on streets and highways, Leon D. Case, secretary of state, has changed the method of issuing chauffeurs' licenses so they may be checked against the state's central violations file at Lansing.

These licenses, renewable annually, were previously available without delay in the larger cities. Effective immediately, however, all applications are being checked against the records of motor vehicle law violations maintained by the state through cooperation of local court and police authorities and the Michigan State Police. Licenses will be denied to those with unsatisfactory driving records.

Some delay has resulted from the new system, but applicants are protected by a temporary permit issued at the time of application at any of the branch offices of the Department of State. Night crews of workers have been required at the capitol to facilitate the process of issuance.

A chauffeur, within the meaning of the state's motor vehicle law, is a person more than 18 transporting a motor vehicle for hire but not passengers for hire, or a person more than 21 transporting passengers for hire.

GOVERNMENT ECONOMIST GIVES DESCRIPTION CROP INSURANCE

Crop insurance as a planned device for cushioning the shocks of droughts and crop shortages was described today by R. M. Green of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, addressing the Kansas Agricultural Convention, at Topeka, Kas.

"One of the aims of crop insurance," Green said, "is to make possible a steadier income from the production of farm crops." He illustrated this by showing how wheat premiums collected from farmers during the first three years 1930-35 would have been redistributed to them during the last three years.

"The paying of losses in excess of premiums during the last three years when crops were short and prices high would have resulted," he explained, "in an increased income to producers in the seven Great Plains wheat-producing states, of approximately $36,000,000."

Instead of getting most of their income from large production in two or three years at low prices, Green pointed out that part of their production paid in as insurance premiums would have been stored and held over until short crop years.

"Should the difference in the way supplies were distributed affect wheat prices, the tendency," he said, "would be to raise the prices a little during the years of large crops when insurance reserves were being built up and to flatten out prices a little in the years of short crops and higher prices."

A second aim, said Green, is to reduce farmers' dependence on relief, and a third, to improve the basis of farm credit.

"Relief prevention is preferable," he stated, "to letting producers get down to the relief class before offering them a remedy; farm credit would be strengthened by stabilizing farm income so that farmers can meet their annual obligations for interest and taxes."

How love brings out the craziness in people explained by Professor Laird, the eminent psychologist, in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

FARMERS' WEEK PLANNED FEB. 1-5

Annual "Open House" of Scientific Agriculture at M. S. C.

A longer "look ahead" for a more permanent Michigan agriculture takes the spot light of the 22nd annual Farmers' Week program February 1 to 5 at Michigan State College in plans announced by Dean E. L. Anthony and R. W. Tenny, chairman and secretary of the annual college open house for farmers and their families.

Featured speaker of the five day program is the Honorable Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture of the Province of Ontario, Canada. He appears in the general program Tuesday afternoon in the college gymnasium. But throughout the week there will be veritable short courses in all phases of rural education and more systematic production of crops and livestock as well as entertainment and special features.

An ox team in their prime, trucked from Battle Creek, will try to show up the pulling powers of farm boys on wide but bare backed drafters and smartly dressed R. O. T. C. students on well saddled riding horses. Although the program packs each day with available information, the two main evening programs, Wednesday and Thursday, are expected to draw most of the attendances those evenings to Demonstration hall on the campus.

George Wellington, senior agricultural student from Springport, will be ringmaster of the annual student Little International livestock show in which students bathe, clip and trim up college livestock, train them and then compete for showmanship honors Thursday afternoon of the week's program.

Association meetings will draw many groups together for their annual meetings and elections, starting out with dairy breed meetings in the morning and the annual dairymen's banquet the evening of the first day and terminating Friday with the annual conference of the Michigan State Grange and finals in the state rural drama contest.

DOES BLADDER IRRITATION WAKE YOU UP?

It's not normal. It's nature's warning, "Danger Ahead." Make this 25c test. Use buchu leaves, juniper oil, and 6 other drugs made into little green tablets, to flush out excess acids and impurities. Excess acids can cause irritation resulting in getting up nights, scanty flow, frequent desire, burning, backache, and leg pains. Just say Bukets to your druggist. In four days if not pleased your 25c will be refunded. F. J. Fessenden, Druggist.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Author of "The Lucky Lawrences"

Kathleen Norris, whose new story, "The Lucky Lawrences," will be published in this paper as a serial, was born, educated and married in San Francisco. She has a remarkable record of success in the field of popular fiction. She has attained this success not only because she is typical of her time and section, but because she throws a strong light on ultra-modern conditions, social currents and undercurrents. Reading her books gives one somewhat the impression of being an eavesdropper on domestic scenes and a listener to private confidences, although the revelations are more innocent than otherwise. When she employs the dark side of a theme or of human nature it is to furnish a necessary contrast and present a moral.

Mrs. Norris began writing stories in 1910 and has contributed to the leading magazines of the country. Her serials have appeared also in many outstanding newspapers, such as the Boston Globe, Philadelphia Bulletin, Chicago Daily News, Kansas City Star, Detroit News, Washington Star, Cleveland Plain Dealer, etc. Among her best known novels are "Barberry Bush," "The Story of Julia Page," "The Foolish Virgin," "Second-hand Wife" and "Walls of Gold."

It is a pleasure to announce that a new story by Kathleen Norris is to appear in these columns. We know that you will enjoy it.

THE FAMILY BUDGET

Why do we budget? Not just to save money, but eventually to enrich our lives.

By wise expenditure of an income many a couple has been kept out of the divorce courts. For it is said that money troubles is the second big cause of marital troubles.

Parents should include the children in budget planning. It will be easier, too, for Mary to give up a movie now, or some other treat, if she knows that by doing so the money will go into a certain little corner, never to be used for anything else except her college expenses.

Of course, no child should be made into an old man or woman worrying over money troubles. But let it be a game to them. Let it come to be a sort of adventure when the family has to gather around the dining table some evening to a meal of corn meal mush — because by serving mush mother is able to balance the week's budget.

"I'd like to buy a telephone call"

WHEN you call a telephone number on the other side of town you are making an important purchase. You say in effect:

"Give me the use of miles of wire, of cables under the street, a section of switchboard and all the other equipment needed in the central office. I shall need one kind of current to carry my voice and another to ring the bells that signal the other party. I may need the services of an operator or two. I want all your equipment to be in perfect working order so that my call is clear and goes through without interruption. I would like this all arranged to connect me with my party instantly—and at a cost of a few cents."

Telephone people are asked to do this millions of times a day and find nothing unusual in the request. But to do it at the price you pay for telephone service—in fact, to do it at all—has taken many years of the most skilful and unremitting research, engineering and organization.

Telephone service in the United States is the most efficient, dependable and economical in the entire world.

CCC ENROLLEES AID TO CONSERVATION

CONTRIBUTE TO STATE RECREATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Report Outlines Accomplishments of Camp Workers Since Camps Established in April, 1933

CCC enrollees in the Michigan Emergency Conservation Work Camps, located on state forests, state game refuges and on other state owned property, have contributed materially to the recreational development of the state since the first camps were established in April, 1933, and particularly during the past two years when special emphasis has been laid on projects of outdoor recreational types.

Thirty-five public camp and picnic grounds have been constructed and improved within Michigan state forests boundaries, and others in refuges and public hunting areas. The developments consist usually of brushing, clearing and grading the camp area, constructing roads to the camp from the nearest improved roads of access, installation of wells to provide pure water, and provision of camp stoves and fireplaces, table and bench combinations, and sanitary conveniences.

Statistics show that 1,050 acres of public camp grounds and 1,540 acres of public picnic grounds have been developed. In addition, parking areas and parking overlooks have been developed on 60,000 square yards of area. Forty-six water wells, 67 stoves and fireplaces, and 215 table and bench combinations have been provided.

Three thousand nine hundred miles of Michigan trout streams have been developed. Over this mileage many detrimental beaver dams have been removed, devices to speed the flow of water and to provide cover and food for the fish installed, and in many cases gravel beds exposed for spawning. Lake and pond site clearing has totaled 24,000 acres, while 126,500 man-days of labor have been expended in lake and pond development projects. Ninety-two fish rearing ponds have been constructed, 44,000 square yards of eroding stream and lake banks protected, and 76,000,000 game fish have been stocked by the CCC boys in lakes and streams.

Many thousand hardwood tree seedlings have been planted to provide browse and cover for wildlife; in over-foraged deer areas release cuttings have been made in winter time to provide food for starving deer, Research experiments have been made in many camps to provide data for wildlife management authorities, and predatory animal studies have been made in a few camps.

To protect recreational areas as well as other valuable property, boys in the state forestry camps have expended 102,000 man-days in fighting forest fires. They have built many roads to provide access into previously inaccessible forest areas for motorized fire-fighting equipment; and 900 miles of fire breaks. Fire hazards have been reduced on 50,000 acres of land and along 2,000 miles of roads and trails.

Thirty-seven thousand man-days have been expended in state tree nursery operations, to provide trees, both coniferous and hardwoods, for forest planting. Twenty-two million pine, spruce and cedar trees have been planted on 32,000 acres of state-owned land. The CCC enrollees have also constructed 375 vehicular bridges and 15 foot bridges, and constructed and placed 4,500 signs, markers and monuments for information and guidance of visitors.

Besides working in the forest areas of Michigan, the Civilian Conservation Corps has also worked in many state parks in both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of the state. At least a part of the 1936 increase in attendance at state parks was due to the increased facilities made available through emergency conservation work.

Bathhouses, residences and other buildings; water and sewer systems; roads and paths; and other improvements have been made in the state park system. Among the parks have been Gogebic, Marquette, Palms-Book and Indian Lake in the Upper Peninsula; Onaway, Hoeft, Fletcher, Burt Lake, Young's, Lake City, Goose Lake, Interlochen, Higgins Lake, Hartwick Pines and Wilson in the Lower Peninsula.

Other miscellaneous activities have included 885 man-days expended in education, guide and contact station work, and 2,275 man-days expended in searching for or rescuing lost persons.

"We plan ahead for 1937 and the prices guaranteed in our contracts will again be just as high as permitted by governing market conditions," stated Mr. Stelter. "As you know, our prices the past season (and in previous seasons) were higher than most packers paid even in Southern Michigan (where freight rates to markets are lower than here). That has been our consistent policy, year after year—to pay our growers the highest possible prices.

"In spite of the dry weather handicap that prevailed over half of the growing season, many fine yields were secured. Had timely rains been received in July and August, the yields, naturally, would have been enormous. But, as stated, many very excellent yields in cash were secured nevertheless. And with almost $23,000 paid out, the pickle crop has again meant that many growers received very welcome spot-cash right at the time of year (August and September) when it was most needed. Our 1937 contracts will be ready shortly."

MASONS RETAIN LEAD IN CRIBBAGE CONTEST

Lost Monday Night's Contest by Margin Too Small to Overcome Lead

Although losing by a small margin in Monday night's cribbage contest, the second of the winter series, the Masons still retained a comfortable lead.

Team scores Monday night gave the Odd Fellows 14,374 points to 14,342 for the Masons, an advantage of 32 points. Taken from the previous Masonic lead of 435, the count gives the Masons an advantage of 403 points. High scorers were Percy Marsh with 947 for the Odd Fellows and John Kling with 958 for the Masons. Eight tables played.

The next contest will be held Monday evening, January 18, at the Masonic temple.

FUND FOR DEER FEEDING IS BEING SOUGHT

Drummond Island Residents Seek Aid from Deer Hunters

An appeal to all deer hunters and sportsmen in all sections of Michigan to contribute toward a fund for feeding deer in the browsed out yards of Drummond Island has been sent out by the Drummond Development and Civic Club.

At least 400 deer died of starvation in the Johnswood swamp at the east end of the island last winter, according to estimates of the State Conservation Department. To avoid a repetition of this loss, the local club proposes to buy hay and feed the animals this winter. Sportsmen are requested to contribute one dollar or more to the hay fund.

The appeal sent out by the club cites the fact that Drummond Island ranks near the top as good deer hunting territory. A total of 339 bucks were killed there by 783 hunters this last November, the letter says.

Contributions will be used to buy clover and alfalfa hay. The club wants at least 10 tons available for distribution before the heavy snows come. All contributions should be sent to W. J. Partridge, at Drummond, Mich. Contributors will receive a report at the end of the winter showing how the money was spent.

QUEEN'S CROWNING PRETTY CEREMONY

BESTOW HONOR UPON HELEN GALLAGHER FRIDAY NIGHT

Queen's Ball Colorful Event—WLW Radio Broadcast a Feature of Evening's Festivities

(By F. V. Tyler)

Charlevoix's citizens assembled last Friday evening at the municipal rink to do homage to the 1937 queen of winter sports, Miss Helen Gallagher.

Seated on a glistening throne of ice, dazzlingly bright with the rays of vari-colored lights located within the throne itself, Miss Gallagher received the crown at the hands of Rollie L. Lewis, prominent local attorney, as it was surrendered to him by Mrs. John VanZon, of Petoskey, (the former Frances Marshall), 1936 queen of Charlevoix's winter activities in the realm of sports. Ranged about the queen on the steps of the throne were her ladies in waiting—her competitors in the previous contest for royal honors—and the chosen queens of Petoskey, East Jordan and Boyne city, respectively, the Misses Dorothy Lustig, Phyllis Bulow and Virginia Kujawski. Queen Helen accepted her newly achieved honors with a few gracious words and then left the throne with her entourage to prepare for the Winter Sports ball soon to follow in the high school gymnasium.

In the meantime, on the glass-smooth ice of the municipal rink and at the very steps of the throne, Mrs. VanZon, the former queen, soloed in some expert maneuvers on skates, under the glare of the flood lights and to the accompaniment of lively music. She was later joined by a group of clever performers, fellow-members of the Petoskey Figure Skating Club, under the direction of Russ Jones, their instructor. These were Clifford Crick, John Deschermeier, Bruce Sheckler, Kathryn Gibson, Mabel Johansen, Helen Worsnick, Jane Ellen North, Katherine Sheckler, Jane Jewel, and Clifford Deschermeier. This interesting entertainment was followed by the opening of the Winter Sports ball in the high school gym, in which some 250 persons, including visitors from Petoskey, East Jordan and Boyne City, participated. The hall was attractively decorated with evergreen boughs, colored lights and balloons and presented a very striking appearance. The balconies were well filled with spectators. Wexstaff's orchestra furnished excellent music.

TRAVELERS TELL OF EXPERIENCES

HAMILTON-USHER PARTY AT LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

Sleet Storm Leaves Desolation and Heavy Property Damage in Wide-Spread Southern Area

From A. J. Usher who, together with Mrs. Usher and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hamilton, are now on a southern vacation motor tour, comes the following letter addressed to this writer and "The Folks at Home," describing the early stages of their journey:

Little Rock, Arkansas,
January 14, Thursday.

Dear Ken and Folks at Home:

Arrived here last night and we have decided to stay here for a few days at least, or until it stops raining and if the "Sunny South" has a sun, it will come out from under cover possibly within the next few days. Since leaving Charlevoix the 6th of this month, we have seen Old Sol but one day, and that but a few hours. The trip from Charlevoix to Grand Rapids was made on schedule. Stayed overnight with H. W. and left there about 10:30 the following morning in a heavy fog. Arrived finally at South Bend, Ind., stopping at a tourist camp some 10 miles south of the city. It rained all night and in the morning we were over two hours getting out of the camp. From here, the only day's drive without fog or rain, we made fairly good time, arriving at Watseka, Ind., stopping at a trailer camp for overnight. During the night (practically all night) it rained, turning into sleet and in the morning we were a sight. Actually there was a half inch of ice on the car, frozen solid. We proceeded to thaw out and, after an hour or two, got started. Funny thing about this storm. Car covered with ice but the pavement was clear and dry. Our troubles were about to start, however, for within 20 miles we were on sleet and ice covered roads. We finally reached Vandalia, Ill., for an overnight stop. Again it stormed all night, sleet and rain on top of what we already had. We kept on going, average speed about 20 miles an hour or less. Don't think I am over-estimating road conditions, because you have no idea, nor have ever driven a real slippery road. Finally arrived at Annn, Ill., making only 118 miles in a six hour drive. No trailer camp here, so we parked at an oil station, right in the center of the town, two main highways on one side and a railroad station directly across, not

ANNOUNCE FOURTH ROOSEVELT PARTY

ANNUAL AFFAIR TO BE HELD JANUARY 30 AT ARGONNE

Party to Be County-Wide Affair With Committeemen Cooperating for Each City and Village

The fourth annual Roosevelt Birthday Ball, a portion of the receipts of which will be sent to help support the Warm Springs hobby of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, will be held Saturday evening, January 30, at The Argonne.

The party will be a county-wide affair, with each city and village cooperating with communities all over the nation to honor the President and contribute to his Warm Springs fund on his birthday. Robert F. Sloan, chairman of the Democratic County Committee, has named a committee of eight persons to make arrangements for the party. They are L. W. Ellis, general chairman, and Merritt Shaw and Basil Holland, of East Jordan, John Judkins and Clarence Bierlein, of Boyne City, Charles Crukes and Frank Pierce, of Boyne Falls, Joseph M. Foster and Dan McCann, of Charlevoix.

President Roosevelt has been a leader for nine years in the struggle to better the chances of infantile paralysis sufferers. For the past three years the funds raised by the Birthday Balls have been devoted to both local and national aid to victims of the disease.

The President has again approved the plan providing that 70 per cent of the proceeds raised by each local Birthday Ball be kept in the community, to be disbursed to local or adjacent orthopedic hospitals or for the treatment of local infantile paralysis victims as the local committee decides. The remaining 30 per cent of the proceeds will he turned over to the national committee for delivery to the President, later to be presented by him to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation for continuation of its part in the nation's fight against infantile paralysis.

The price of the ball is $1.50 per couple. Any individual or organized groups wishing to contribute to the cause, may do so by getting in touch with the local committeemen.

OPEN WINTER BENEFIT TO DEER HERDS

ANIMALS DO NOT YARD DURING MILD WEATHER

Conditions Prevalent Bring Relief to Food Shortage Situation In Many Yarding Areas

The current new year came in with a lot of unusual good luck for the deer in Northern Michigan counties. The mild weather prevalent discouraged them from yarding and has reduced the winter's drain on food supplies in their yarding areas.

Game men say that as long as the deer are able to range widely, the available browse in the yarding areas will be saved for the time when they do yard up due to deep snow.

As a result there will be relatively more food to go around and to last longer in the critical areas. It is believed there has been few deer using many of the winter deer yards during December and the first two weeks in January as a result of the unusually mild weather.

The effect on the browse supplies in the yards is most important, according to game authorities, since these food plants grow so slowly they cannot keep up with the consumption by the increasing deer herd. Later this winter in the deer "yard" they may suffer less from food scarcity or actual starvation as a result of the December and early January mild weather which kept them largely out of the yards and browsing on the hillsides and in the openings.

Snow-depth gauges, maintained by the Department of Conservation in widely separated parts of Northern Michigan showed extraordinary heavy snows in some parts early in the season, particularly in the deep-snow belt of the Upper Peninsula, and gave rise to the belief that a troublesome winter was ahead for big-game. Subsequent milder weather and the infrequent light snows or absence of snows in many places, however, have improved the prospects to a considerable extent.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TAKE INTEREST IN CONTEST

Students Writing On Subject "What Michigan Means To Me"

Charlevoix county students' interest in reaffirming their faith in Michigan has exhausted supplies of the $200 essay contest rules, it was announced today by School Commissioner William C. Palmer, in requesting additional copies, from the exposition headquarters.

The contest is part of a survey to improve the great Detroit and Michigan Exposition to be held in Detroit April 2-11 and is based on essays not exceeding 500-word length on "What Michigan Means to Me." The contest is open to all students from the fourth grade through college rating—with equal prizes for each of four age groups.

Interest in the survey is keen throughout the state, it was reported at exposition headquarters. In one county, it is being used in a Michigan project as part of the curricular work.

RAYDERS WINNER OVER MANCELONA

COPPED CLOSE CONTEST 30 TO 21 FRIDAY NIGHT

East Jordan Here This Week; Tackle Undefeated Boyne Team Week Following—Reserves Win

Overcoming the stiffest opposition they have encountered this season, Charlevoix's Red Rayders defeated Mancelona 30 to 21 last Friday night to maintain their lead in the Northern Michigan Class C circuit. The reserves kept pace with the varsity, winning 14 to 13 for their sixth consecutive victory.

Mancelona's classy outfit gave the Rayders a good scare when they overcame an 11 to 4 first quarter lead to pull up within a single point at the half. They limited Charlevoix to three points in the second quarter while scoring nine, making the count at the second intermission 14 to 13.

Led by Carey's accurate net work, the Rayders practically sewed up victory in the third quarter. They marked up eight points to Mancelona's three for a 22 to 16 advantage, then went on to out-score the losers eight points to four in the final period.

Carey's scoring again proved a big factor in Charlevoix's victory. He made 21 points. Gallagher scored six, Richardson three, and Shapton one.

Score by quarters:

Charlevoix	11	3	8	8—30
Mancelona	4	9	3	4—21

MANY WILDCAT WELLS IN LOWER PENINSULA

1936 Activities Brought Drilling In 46 of 83 Counties

Wildcatters of many rival companies threw a network of drilling rigs over most of Michigan's Lower Peninsula during 1936 in a race to find new oil and gas fields.

The office of the state geologist reports that permits to drill for oil or gas in 46 of the 83 counties of the state were issued during the year, nearly all of them in the Lower Peninsula. One well was started in Meakinac county under the only permit requested for the Upper Peninsula. In 1935 permits to drill were issued in 37 counties.

FOR "PUBLIC SAFETY"

Last June the Legislature passed, and gave immediate effect to a law declared "immediately necessary for the preservation of public safety." The act prohibited, among other things, the erection or maintenance, within 200 feet of the centerline of any highway, advertising signs with reflector buttons, or glass bead-eyes which throw back headlight beams into the eyes of oncoming drivers.

The Legislature was everlastingly right so far as laws of this type being immediately necessary for the preservation of public safety. Those who have strained at curves to pick out highway directional signs from the general panorama of advertising boards extolling the alleged merits of some commercial service or product, will testify to the necessity of getting the atmosphere cleared of extraneous matter.

The fact remains, however, that the State Highway Department is unable to enforce this highly salutary law because of a court injunction.

The sad part of it is while the people undoubtedly own their highway systems, they are powerless to stop one of the practices which undoubtedly is a contributing factor toward our horrible highway fatality record, signs along the road. Many of these are located at the very points where a driver's attention should be devoted entirely to the one job at hand—safe driving. Only an aroused public will ever change this situation.

Sally Saves's KITCHEN CLUB

A Winter Pie

Dear Club Members:

I'M sure there are a good many of you who haven't heard of molasses pie . . . let alone eaten it. You don't know what you have missed. And winter is just the time of year to begin. After all, winter is the time for pumpkin and squash pies and raisin pies and the whole procession of hearty pies.

Once you've tried it you'll add one more delicious pie to your list and you'll never take it off.

Molasses Pie

1 cup of molasses
1 cup of sugar
4 eggs (they're getting cheaper, too)
½ cup butter

Add the molasses and sugar to the eggs, slightly beaten. Put into a saucepan and add the butter. Slowly bring to the boiling point and remove from the stove. Allow to cool. Make pastry and when the filling is thoroughly cool fill the shell with it.

Be sure not to prick the bottom or side of the pastry.

Bake in the center of a hot oven (450 degrees) for ten minutes then turn the oven to moderately slow (325 degrees) and bake until done.

When is it done?

Test by inserting a small silver knife into the center of the pie.

If the knife comes out clean the pie is done. If the filling adheres to the knife bake the pie a little longer.

Sally Saves.

EVERYBODY SING

The old-fashioned community singing is back again. Father's tuneless bass, sister's piping soprano and our imperfect tones blend in a harmony of song and everyone feels happy and refreshed. Radio programs now feature gatherings for an old-fashioned sing, and this Christmas time communities large and small enjoyed what was called a Community Christmas Sing.

Just a short time ago most of us felt that the ownership of a piano was a thing of the past, that radios and other forms of entertainment had taken away the desire of individuals to place pianos in their homes. Newspapers and magazines talked of the passing of home get-togethers when good conversation and a little singing furnished an evening's entertainment. It was thought that only much more sophisticated (as we called it) forms of entertainment could interest us.

Whether we are changing, or whether it is just that the old-fashioned has become the new is the question. It is nevertheless true that the piano market has revived, that conversation is becoming a stimulating pastime and that an evening of song with everyone participating makes us happier.

Valued most when needed most

TELEPHONE SERVICE has become so efficient, so easily used, that it draws no particular attention to itself. But its value is sharply emphasized whenever a home is threatened by one of the three great domestic emergencies:

Call the police! No home is safe from the lawless prowler, intent on theft or violence. But the telephone is his enemy; its mere presence in the house creates an added risk for him. The prowler knows this. He knows how quickly it can spread the alarm, flash out the call that brings the police swiftly to the scene.

I smell smoke! After a fire breaks out, time is priceless. Every moment's delay increases the damage and danger. There is always a point beyond which control is impossible, and destruction complete. But almost any fire can be extinguished with trifling loss—if taken in time.

Get the doctor! Amid the panic caused by sudden illness or injury, one thought leaps to mind. The man needed now, above all others, is the doctor. The interval before he comes is one of anxious waiting—a dread period which the telephone can shorten. One call secures prompt advice on first-aid, and hastens the welcome arrival of the doctor.

In emergencies, even seconds are important. And the more important they become, the greater the value of the telephone in protecting property, relieving anxiety and saving human lives.

CHAPTER I

The Lawrence family, although in the best sense of the word pioneers, had not come to the Golden West by means of covered wagons. They had left their Boston moorings, like the gentlefolk of means and leisure that they were, in the year of our Lord 1849, and had sailed elegantly for Rio, for Buenos Aires, and around the Horn. They had loitered in Valparaiso and in Lima for some weeks, taking things easily, in a leisurely day, and had in due time come up the stormy coast of California, and had dropped anchor in the opalescent harbor of peaceful Yerba Buena.

For San Francisco had been still familiarly known as Yerba Buena, then, and the blue waters of the bay had lapped the strand at Montgomery street. The globe trotters, magnificent Philip Lawrence and his frail, Indian-shawled, pretty wife, had remained on the ship for a few days, for the settlement on shore promised small comfort for tourists.

Early in their second week, however, they had been obliged to seek lodging ashore. This was for two reasons, one important, one ridiculous. The important reason was that an heir to the Lawrences was about to be born. The absurd reason was that some preposterous person had discovered gold, or had pretended to, at a place called Sutter Creek, and that everyone in Yerba Buena had promptly lost his senses.

Philip and Abigail Lawrence naturally did not lose their senses. They were rich anyway; they were above this undignified scramble for here. Philip had an income of three thousand a year, and Abigail's father owned five sailing vessels, including this very Abby Baldwin in which they had made their wonderful honeymoon trip.

But the sailors, and indeed the officials of the Abby Baldwin, had felt differently. They were not above acquiring fortunes, and they had instantly deserted the ship and made for the gold region. The rumor of gold, spreading like prairie fire between breakfast and the noon dinner, had found the ship emptied by sunset. Philip and

He Had Rowed Them and Their Carpet Bags Ashore.

Abigail had signaled a Chinese crab catcher, and in his little shallop with stained brown sails he had rowed them and their carpet bags ashore.

They had gone to "the Frenchwoman's," a quaint-looking adobe house on a hill, with an upper balcony and shutters. There were no windows, but there were tents of mosquito netting over the bed, and the bare floors were clean. Downstairs was merely a level of dim arcades, earthen-floored and smelling of spilled wine, where men lounged on benches, and where the Frenchwoman herself tended the bar. But the upstairs room had been comfortable enough and Abigail had eaten a shore meal of fish stew, dumplings, fresh soft black figs, sour bread, and thin wine, with some appetite.

This would do for the present, she had said. But one could not live quite like a savage, after all, and immediately after breakfast tomorrow Philip must find a really nice place, and a nurse. If not, then they would have to go back to the ship.

So much for Philip's benefit. But when he had gone out after supper Abigail had felt very low-spirited indeed. They had been eleven months getting so far, and the baby was due in a few weeks' time. Perhaps it would be weeks before they could get a crew on the Abby Baldwin.

Philip had returned flushed, distressed, and annoyed from his search the next morning; he had returned flushed, distressed, and increasingly annoyed from the searches of the following days. The Frenchwoman's was not only the best, it appeared to be the only possible place for Abigail to stay, and to contemplate a confinement there with the noise and drinking and the smell of wine below stairs, and with nobody but whiskered old Madame Bouvier to attend her, was madness. Desperate, Philip had routed a spanking team and a loose-wheeled buggy and had begun to drive about the adjoining country looking for shelter.

For it had become obvious now that the crew was not going to return to the Abby Baldwin. The ship swung rotting at her anchor, in a dismal company of other deserted vessels, and the sun beat down upon their empty decks week in and week out, while the hides, coffee, and rope packed beneath slowly decayed.

Abigail had covered passionate pages with the story of their adventures, and had put the letters into the canvas flap of her trunk, under the pasted picture of the little girl with the rope of roses. Some day they would get home again, Philip, she, and the baby, and what a story they would have to tell!

Meanwhile, fifty miles southeast of foggy Yerba Buena, they had found refuge on a rancho. It was managed by a widow, one Senora Castellazo, who lived farther south in another hacienda, and was willing to rent this one to the strangers. It had contained no furnishings whatsoever when the Lawrences had moved in.

But many trips to the Abby Baldwin had pretty well transformed the dismal place. Philip, breathlessly grateful that somehow, with the aid of a Mormon doctor from Benicia and the care of two stolid, wall-eyed Mexican women, Abigail had actually brought forth a first-born daughter, had made no complaints. He had had carted down wagon loads of chairs, carpets, china, bed linen, books—all the personal possessions of himself and his bride.

A bride! Poor Abigail had laughed forlornly on the first anniversary of her wedding day. It had found her weak and weary, stretched on a mattress on the floor of one of the cool rooms, with a burning August day hammering away at the spread level acres of the rancho outside. Beside her had been Annie Sarah.

They had brought her in hot dusky grapes, and hot dusty figs, and warm wine, and finally goat's milk, to solace her in her ordeal. Except for that, neither Mexican woman had volunteered anything. They had watched the frightened, doubtful, breathless struggle apathetically, until their oily brown hands had actually grasped Annie Sarah. After that they had seemed capable enough.

Anyway, it had been gotten over, somehow, and Abigail had been free to cry a little, thinking of her room at home in an orderly, shaded Massachusetts village, with Ma's lavender-scented linen on the smooth bed, roses in a green glass vase on the bureau, and the lace curtains blowing softly in and out of the opened upstairs windows. Lilacs, trembling grass, and Grandpa's grave in the graveyard, and doughnuts and currant jelly—oh, dear!

As soon as the baby and the mother were well upon the road to normal living, Philip and Abigail had seriously discussed going home.

Then old Senora Castellazo had died, and her sons had wished to dispose of the Santa Clara hacienda. Four hundred acres for nine hundred dollars. Philip had considered it a wise investment. There was fruit—some fruit—there already, there were sheep and cattle included in the sale price. If figs and grapes would grow there, why not other fruits—peaches and pears?

He would take his wife and daughter back to New England, be promised, on the first suitable ship; it would be a long hard trip for a woman with a baby, but the journey across the plains would be worse, and there was no further hope of the Abby Baldwin.

So, upon consideration it had seemed to Philip that this sunshiny, sheltered flat region, well inland, was the coming district, and that by holding onto this property ten years, fifteen years, he and Abigail could not fail to be among the prosperous pioneers of the new world. Philip was one of the men who had shot dead the gold craze with an epigram: "a flash in the pan."

Meanwhile Fanny Lucy had been born.

"Look here, young lady, aren't there any boys where you came from?" Philip had said, half serious, half teasing, as he held his second daughter in his arms. Abigail had looked at him anxiously. But he had not been really angry.

Only it had been rather trying that a fine ship had left for South America and eastern ports on the very next day. She had delayed so long in San Francisco harbor that Philip and Abigail had really hoped to be able to sail on her. But Fanny Lucy had delayed, too, and had unconsciously affected her parents' destinies thereby.

Her letters had gone to Boston on that ship, and letters, four months later, somehow had struggled overland in answer. The respective families of Abigail and Philip had been perfectly delighted at their venture, and wrote that they were certainly envious of the dwellers in a country where there was no snow, no thunderstorms, and no poverty.

Abigail wrote glowing accounts of her new life to the family at home. She and Philip were going to build a really nice frame house, with bay windows, a bathroom, and a cupola. Everything they touched prospered; people called them "the Lucky Lawrences."

And Abigail had eight daughters and one son, and the girls all married, during the late Sixties and early Seventies, in a land in which women were still rare and prized.

San Francisco grew like a mushroom, and Philip might have opened a thousand doors to great wealth, had he been a man to see. But he closed one after the other with his own hand, and went blindly on in an infatuation of satisfaction with his rolling acres, his miles of fruit trees, the growing family over which he ruled supreme.

Some of the girls went east when they married, some lived in San Francisco or Stockton, some died. It was not a salubrious day for pioneer women, with one out of every seven dying in childbirth. Some were poor, opening boarding houses, scrimping in lonely crossroad villages.

But no one of them ever forgot that she was a Lucky Lawrence, and belonged to a distinguished New England family. They talked incessantly of the significant fact that the Lawrences had not come to California as pioneers—oh, dear no! Mother Lawrence had come to San Francisco harbor on her wedding trip, on one of Grandfather Baldwin's own trading ships.

The one son, Patterson Lawrence, duly married, too, and lived in the house with which his parents had replaced the old adobe hacienda.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Soil Conservation Community Meetings Being Held

Last week on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, three community meetings were held in preparation for the new 1937 Soil Conservation program. This week the remaining five will be conducted each afternoon excepting on Saturday.

In each case all farmers present have been given the opportunity of discussing last year's program and all of the various operations that were necessary to complete the requirements. This part of the program was presented by Levern McGhan, of Charlevoix, who is vice-president of the county association.

In the new 1937 program several changes have been made, but in general the fundamental policies are the same. Instead of two payments it is possible to have three payments. However, the net result the diversion payments will be somewhat less, but the soil building allowances have been increased slightly. No effort will be made at this time to present all of the changes as that is being done in the educational meeting which is held in every community. This week several smaller groups have been consolidated, which decreases the number of communities from 13 down to eight. It is hoped that this will decrease the administrative expense and increase the efficiency. Following are the new committeemen already selected by the three communities where educational meetings have been held: Boyne Valley, Chandler and Hudson community, Chairman Ed Topolinski, vice-chairman, Carl Clark, third member, Arthur Guerin, alternate, Henry Korthase. The next community was Melrose, and Evangeline, and the chairman there is Peter A. Jensen, vice chairman, Earl Griffin, third member, Anton Holmberg, alternate Lawrence Fineout. The last community was Bay, Peaine and St. James, and the chairman, Harrison Smith, vice chairman, not selected yet, third member, John Taylor, and the alternate not selected yet.

As soon as other communities hold their elections, the names of the new communities will be announced.

CONOCO

SPECIAL WINTER BLEND CONOCO BRONZE GASOLINE

IS YOUR WIFE A SMARTER STARTER THAN YOU ARE?

You can settle that most fairly on your own home grounds after you both have your chance at these latest simple rules, which automotive authorities approve today:

First be sure the garage doors hold open against any Winter wind! . . . your protection from fumes

Before touching the starter or ignition switch, step on clutch pedal and keep it down

Open hand-throttle about one-third

Now pull choke out full (unless your car has automatic choke)

With ignition switch still off (except startix-type) operate your starter, until your engine has made 2 or 3 revolutions

While starter is turning, switch on the ignition, being ready to release starter so that it has no chance of retarding the engine after explosions begin!

People have asked whether the advice we are printing about correct Winter starting doesn't help all gasolines. Yes, but anything you can do with them doesn't bring them up to Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze. We are not afraid of that. Continental Oil Company

MICHIGAN BAKERIES ANNOUNCE INCREASE IN TRUCK EQUIPMENT

L. C. Wall, purchasing agent for Michigan Bakeries, disclosed that he has recently purchased thirty new Chevrolet and General Motors' trucks and six new sedans. Business has picked up to the extent that new trucks were needed as well as replacements of other equipment. The six new town cars are to be used by the young ladies in the Sales Promotion Department, who do contact work.

Mr. Wall added that new, clean, well painted trucks are good advertising and his company pride themselves on the appearance of its fleet. Each truck body must have changes made for the convenience of the salesmen in distributing "Michigan" Bread and Rolls. The trucks are then painted so that the entire fleet ties up with the company advertising. These trucks are on the streets and highways from early morning until late evening, assuring the freshness of the products delivered.

If Tat McCall hadn't let down she would hnve copped the girls' alley record of 184. She finished with 171 and rolled the very good average of 144 for three games. There's something to shoot at, girls!

Chances are that average will remain high for quite a while unless some of you gals decide it isn't high enough.

over 200 feet. Rather noisy, but we were so tired that we could have slept on a concrete floor. Just to give you an idea of the depth of ice on roads here, a gang of men were cleaning the space around the station, and the ice averaged two and one-half inches deep.

From here in the Mississippi flats to Cape Girardeau, the toll bridge over the Father of Waters, we crawled along at a 15-mile-per-hour speed. From the Cape on southward, after about 20 miles, we could see the pavement over traffic lanes, and road conditions gradually cleared up until at Osceola, Mo., the ice was about gone, but fog nnd rnin still continued. We stopped overnight at a small town named Portageville. Through here the storm was at its worst. Miles of telephone and power lines down, trees covered with ice and stripped of fully hnlf of their limbs. Under the trees looked like a brush pile, nothing but the bare trunk standing. Small trees planted along the highway lying flat, broken in two from the weight of ice. Terrible damage to orchards and small shrubbery. Little traffic other than young people skating on the main highway and colored people—never thought there were so many in the U. S. And mud—simply suicide to drive off the pavement. Road conditions from here to West Memphis were good, although drove through a heavy fog and rain. Stopped there for the night, leaving about 9:30 this morning (Wednesday), making Little Rock, Ark., shortly after 2 o'clock. After eight days of ice, rain and fog, we have decided to stay here (Little Rock, Ark.) for several days or until the weather clears up.

Cannot deserihe any of the country we have passed through, because we have only seen 15 or 20 rods from the pavement. Recognized cotton field and corn. Met a man in West Memphis who could talk faster and cover more territory than any person I ever met. Wanted me to go coon hunting with him. Had four fine hounds and would probably have given me a fine evening'a entertainment. Flood conditions are reaching a dangerous stage. Water in the Mississippi at West Memphis was about 10 feet above normal. Milea and miles of flooded territory along the banks of White River, which we crossed yesterday. Roads built up from three to six feet, deep ditches on both sides filled with water. Today it has rained a steady down-pour since early this morning, and is still pouring down. We have a fine place to stay and will be here until the weather clenrs up, then on south to Dallas and San Antonio. If it clears up so we ean see the territory through which we are traveling, will write you a short description later. Little Rock is in the midst of inaugural celebration.

A HOPEFUL SIGN

One of the hopeful signs at present is the growing realization upon the part of the public at large that the huge public debt being piled up by governmental borrowing must be repaid by the public.

There is an increasing demand for curtailment in these expenditures which are placing a load upon every wage earner throughout the land. Directly or indirectly the taxes necessary to meet these debts will become a part of the price you pay for every article you buy. Continued borrowing will not solve the financial problems of an individual. Neither are the problems of government so solved.

STATE NEWS LETTER

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following non-partisan, independent news review, presenting highlights of state activity at Lansing, is being prepared each week by the Michigan Press Association of which The Courier is a member. The state digest is new feature which we believe will be of wide interest to our readers. We invite your comments.

Amid a flood of legislative measures, many of which are designed to carry out Governor Frank Murphy's proposed "New Deal" program in Michigan, the State Legislature adjourned last Friday (January 15) for ten days, so that Democratic leaders might attend the inaugural ceremonies this week in Washington.

A strenuous session is ahead for the solons, many of whom are new at the job and just getting acquainted with the new electric-voting buttons that were installed recently at each desk in the House.

Many Problems to Be Solved

Many are the problems which are confronting this session of the Legislature at Lansing.

Take the matter of school finances—something of interest to all hometowners.

The state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, believes that the state should provide $47,000,000 state aid annually for the next two years. He estimates that the 1937 educational bill in Michigan will be $86,400,000, of which $46,000,000 is being raised by local taxation, $37,000,000 is being contributed directly by the state, and $3,000,000 being derived from other sources.

Consolidation of small school districts that lack modern educational facilities is also favored.

County Welfare Plan

Like Topsy who grew up too fast is nation-wide problem of what to do with welfare and relief. One year ago the federal government put an end to direct grants of federal money to states for local relief—the WPA program being undertaken as a means to "end the dole."

That the present administration at Lansing realizes the importance of doing something about it was disclosed by Governor Murphy in his message to the Legislature. In a spirit of non-partisanship he urged the House and Senate to carry out the recommendations made by the welfare and relief study commission under the administration of former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald.

In each county a welfare department would be established to coordinate and centralize existing welfare and relief services. To be abolished, according to the approved plan, are the following authorities:

County emergency welfare relief commission.

Superintendents of the poor.

Soldiers' and Sailors' relief commission.

County old age assistance board and investigator.

County agent.

The county department of public welfare would be managed by a county public welfare board, its three members of whom would serve without pay.

While the state report proposed that the chairman of the county board shall be appointed by the State Department of Public Welfare, the legislative committee which is drafting the bill was said to favor letting the three board members select their own chairman. This concession to home rule would probably mean the selection of a county-appointed person for chairman. Because of the widespread powers with which the board will be vested, legislative minds are also considering the matter of a nominal salary for each board member. The probate judge's present responsibilities would be left nearly as they are.

Tax on Butter Substitutes?

Shall the Michigan butter industry be granted official protection of the state through a tax on butter substitutes?

This is the question raised by a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator D. Hale Brake, of Stanton. The bill provides for the licensing of butter substitute manufacturers and the levying of five cents a pound on their output. Two years ago the Senate approved a similar bill, and it was killed in the House.

Other agricultural bills which are being drafted for introduction in this session include:

Compulsory test of cattle for Bangs' disease if so authorized by the county board of supervisors.

Protection to cattle buyers at auctions in a provision that no cattle can be sold except those carrying brand mark of a negative test.

Drunk Driving . . . . A Felony

With the Detroit newspapers carrying daily headlines about the shameful toll of automobile traffic deaths, popular attention has been focused again on the problem of drunk driving. Several years ago a bill was passed in the Senate classifying drunk driving as a felony, subject to imprisonment up to one year and a stiff maximum. The House killed it, opponents declaring that a jury would not convict a motorist on such a charge—especially if the case was tried in the Detroit area.

So the bill has been introduced again, and with Detroit papers flaying the drunk driver, it may have a better chance of enactment this time.

Throughout Michigan the death toll in 1936 stood at 1,800, as compared with 1,667 in the previous year. Detroit's highway fatalities jumped from 301 in 1935 to 357 in 1936. Forty per cent of all auto deaths occurred on Saturdays and Sundays.

Michigan's Tourist Industry

Near to the top among Michigan's many industries is the tourist-vacation industry.

To better publicize Michigan to others as well as to ourselves . . . the four tourist associations and state conservative leaders are sponsoring a bill, introduced a few days ago in the Senate, to appropriate $150,000 annually during the next two years.

Of this amount $50,000 would be spent by the State Administrative Board and $25,000 each would be set aside for the Southeast Tourist and Publicity Association, the Western Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, the Eastern Michigan Tourist Association, and the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

Under the previous $100,000 annual appropriation the four tourist associations received $20,000 each and the state reserved a similar sum.

Miscellany

The distinction of Senate Bill No. 1 was accorded to a measure for a state system of civil service, creating a department of civil service and a state commission to administer its functions.

The three per cent sales tax on electricity and natural and artificial gas, supplied by private utilities, would be removed by a House bill introduced by Verne Brown, of Mason. The Supreme Court recently exempted municipal utility consumers from the sales tax.

Better housing for the governor and more expense allowance for legislators provided new nuts to be cracked. The House failed to muster enough votes at a night session last week to rush through a $10 a day expense allowance during the session. However, members of both Democratic and Republican factions openly predicted that the bill would pass the next time roll call was asked.

Rep. Harry Glass, Jr., of Grand Rapids, is leading the crusade in behalf of an executive mansion for which $150,000 is asked.

The reapportionment issue has bobbed up again, following the governor's reminder that lawmakers should heed the constitutional mandate.

The old age pension would be granted to persons of 65 years old or more instead of 70, as at present, according to a new bill.

Two more years for the mortgage moratorium are proposed in a bill offered by Rep. John F. Hamilton, former Michigan HOLC manager.

The Michigan custom of holding an election each April in each of the 1,246 townships would be revised for an estimated annual saving of $150,000 under terms of a concurrent resolution for a constitutional amendment introduced in the House by Rep. Eldon Eaton, Plymouth. The amendment calls for a township election every other year, instead of each year.

Highway Department Allots $25,000 for Program Coming Summer

Programs for the protection of roadside trees along Michigan trunklines will be expanded during 1937 it was revealed this week with the announcement by the State Highway Department of the maintenance budget for the next year.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner pointed out that $25,000 had been set aside for spraying activities to control the ravages of insect pests on shade trees along the roadsides. This amount compares with a total actual expenditure of about $11,000 during 1936.

CO-EDS TO RIDE TO CLASS FARMERS' WEEK

One of the entertainment features for the 22d annual Farmers' Week program at Michigan State College February 1 to 5 will be the appearance of this team of oxen. The owner, Frank Martin, Battle Creek, offers $500 to anyone who can produce their equal in weight and pulling ability. It is planned to hitch up the oxen and give college co-eds a new form of transportation to class during the week.

PLAN FOR 25,000 FARMERS' WEEK

Speakers and Features Insure Everything But the Weather at College

With speakers scheduled from Canada and Texas and with enough unusual features to last throughout the week for the 25,000 expected to mix learning with variety and entertainment, the annual program for Farmers' Week at Michigan State College, February 1 to 5, is taking form.

Included among those who will address meetings during the week is the Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for the province of Ontario, Canada. He speaks Tuesday afternoon and again in the evening, February 2. Miss Mildred Horton, state home economics extension leader in Texas, speaks Wednesday afternoon, February 3.

The team of oxen to be brought to the campus by Frank Martin, Battle Creek, is due for a new type of work. Harry Moxley in animal husbandry and Ralph W. Tenny, short course director and secretary of the week's program, intend to have the oxen hitched up to give some of the college co-eds rides to classes, starting early enough to avoid tardiness.

Competitions help farmers feel at home at the college. So there will be something new in the program this year, sheep dog trials for Michigan flock owners. Another contest is to identify unsoundness in horses. Other competitions will pick winners in the colt development contest, swine feeding, lamb feeding and beef feeding, the potato show, the state seed show, turkey show, 4-H club potato, corn, bean and egg show, and a pulling contest featuring stallions.

The state's new agricultural commissioner, Burr Lincoln, will address the general meeting in demonstration hall Wednesday evening, and the new governor, Frank Murphy, will address the Thursday evening meeting in demonstration hall.

How Love Brings Out the Craziness In People

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Whooping Cough A Serious Disease In Childhood

Whooping cough, one of the serious childhood diseases, is highly contagious and when attacking children under the age of three years, and particularly babies, is dangerous and often fatal.

The incidence of whooping cough showed a decided increase in 1936 over that of 1934 and 1935 in District Health Unit No. 3, comprising the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego. In 1934, eight cases were reported, and in 1935, ten cases were known; in 1936, 46 cases were reported to the Health Department. Of the 46 reported cases, 30 of these were children five years of age and under who contracted this disease. This would indicate that particular care and precaution is needed to safeguard these youngsters against taking this disease.

The disease usually begins like an ordinary cough or cold. However, the ordinary cold improves in a few days but the cough of whooping cough continually becomes worse. The child may have a spell of coughing without catching his breath. Then, as he takes a big breath, a whooping sound may be heard. Vomiting often follows these spells. Whooping cough is still communicable for at least three weeks after the development of the characteristic "whoop."

Frequent spells and much vomiting weakens the child to such an extent that the disease becomes dangerous. Many children lose weight and with the weakened condition are easily susceptible to pneumonia or even tuberculosis, weakened heart and other serious diseases.

Because of these serious complications that may result from this disease, it is a wise mother who consults her family physician at first signs of whooping cough. Better still, mothers are postponing this disease by having their children protected with whooping cough vaccine by their family doctor. This protection may be given as early in life as six months of age.

Your District Health Department or your county nurse will gladly supply you with further literature on whooping cough.

The trouble with a lot of children is that the education of their parents was sadly neglected.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

New Methods for Earning Soil Building Payments Announced

After having conducted three community meetings in the new 1937 soil conservation program, and statements made that no payments on fertilizer would be made, announcement reached the county agent's office on Monday, January 18, that it was possible. What is said one day may not be true the following day, hence this announcement will be of interest to farmers in Hudson, Chandler, Boyne Valley, Melrose, Evangeline and Bay townships, as they were informed that no payments would be made. Following are the amounts of payments for practices which may be followed in 1937:

1. Alfalfa $2.50 per acre if there is a good stand which would normally survive the winter at time of checking performance.

2. Red and white clovers $2 per acre on the same basis.

3. Alsike and mammoth clover $1.50 per acre.

4. Sweet clover, vetch and crimson $1 per acre.

5. Orchard grass and permanent pasture, mixtures of grasses, or grass and legumes, $1.50 per acre.

6. Red top, canary and timothy or mixtures, $1 per acre.

7. Application of ground limestone or its equivalent, $1.25 per ton.

8. Application of minimum of 500 pounds of finely ground limestone on crop land drilled in with new seeding of legumes, $1 per acre.

9. Application of a minimum of 1000 pounds of finely ground limestone on non-crop pasture land, $2 per acre.

10. Application of 200 pounds of 16 per cent phosphate or its equivalent, $1.20 per acre.

11. Application of 300 pounds of 16 per cent phosphate or its equivalent, $1.80 per acre.

12. Application of 100 pounds of 50 per cent muriate of potash or its equivalent, $1 per acre.

13. Improving stands of forest trees in accordance with specified provisions, $2.50 per acre.

14. Application of mulching materials other than manure in accordance with specified provisions, $1 per acre.

Kindly note that fertilizers may receive payment, that payments have been increased on legumes, that liming has two new payments and that forest trees may be improved with payment. If other changes are made they will be stated as soon as received, as every effort is being made to have every farmer know what his base is and what may be done to earn payments before April 1.

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

There was one appointment by Governor Murphy that newspapermen approved of unanimously—the naming of Frank MacDonell, sports columnist of the Detroit Times, as chairman of the state boxing commission.

The boxing business has more angles and dodges than all the other forms of sports rolled together and the inventiveness of fight managers and promoters is worthy of a greater cause. MacDonell has the two necessary qualifications to cope with the situation—honesty is a maniu with him and he is wise to the twists and turns of the slickest of the fight characters. The mere fact that he is in a position to punish attempts to evade boxing law is sufficient to make the attempts few and far between.

MacDonell has already done yeoman work in keeping the game pure in Michigan with his fight stories in the Times. A fight could be ballyhooed to the skies, but if MacDonell pointed out in his own inimitable way (he has invented his own language) that "One Punch" McGee was going to "do a dive" in the sixth you could bet your bottom dollar that was exactly what Mr. McGee contemplated.

Because he was always one jump ahead of them, the fight crowd respected MacDonell. He mystified many of them with his exact knowledge of supposedly hidden plans and many of them found out "what Frank thinks of it" before starting anything.

He was the obvious choice for the chairmanship, if he would take it, and now that he has, both MacDonell and Murphy are to be congratulated.

A national poll to discover whom Republicans consider their natural leader for the next four years resulted in Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg getting 35 per cent of the vote and the leading position. He gathered three more percentage points than did Alfred M. Landon. The remaining eight were Borah, Hoover, Knox, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Hamilton, Mills, and Taft.

"Modernization" of the state constitution is coming in for more comment than usual and a joint resolution of the House and Senate is to be introduced calling for a constitutional convention. The present constitution was drafted and adopted in 1908. Some opinion has it that changes in the instrument are inevitable and that a single general alteration is better than piecemeal amending. The new constitution, some hope, would contain a revision of the apportionment provisions so that the control of the Legislature by metropolitan counties could be avoided. Attention was focussed on that possibility by the statement in the governor's inaugural address that the provisions of the constitution should be conformed with immediately. It was pointed out that the Legislature now exacts an oath from teachers to obey the constitution while the members of that body disobey its provisions on re-apportionment. It depends, as usual, on whose ox is gored.

The "What to do About Wilkowski" question has been dropped for the time being by Democratic State Senators and they are now turning their attention to a recount of the votes cast for Senator Don Vanderwerp, Republican, of Fremont. As the situation now stands, the Democrats have 16 votes in the Senate with 17 necessary to pass a measure.

Enoch Anderson, Democratic mayor of Ludington and opponent of Vanderwerp in the election, has asked the Senate for a recount. He was defeated by 180 votes in a total vote of some 37,000. The committee that will pass upon his request has three Democratic members and two Republicans.

If the recount went in Anderson's favor, the Senate Democrats would have the desired majority and could pass measures without the assistance of a single Republican. As it is now a united Republican bloc can do as it pleases about Administration legislation—although its members have stated time and again that they do not intend to obstruct legislation for the pure sake of obstruction.

AT THE MOVIES

Shirley Sings, Talks Chinese In Surprise-full "Stowaway"

Romantic as the radiant Chinese moon, and as glamorous with its surrounding company of great stars, teeming with danger, excitement, thrills, war-lord bandits, and Shirley Temple as a little waif who talks and sings Chinese, Twentieth Century-Fox's new film, "Stowaway," comes Saturday and Sunday, January 23-24, to the Palace Theatre.

"Career Woman" Fights Backwoods Vengeance In Powerful New Film

Packed with powerful dramatic situations and crammed with fast moving action and suspense, "Career Woman," Twentieth Century-Fox's story of a lonely backwoods girl's fight for freedom and justice, opens Wednesday, January 27, at the Palace Theatre.

Fired by the inspired acting of Claire Trevor, Michael Whalen, Isabel Jewell, Erle Linden, Virginia Field and Gene Lockhart, the picture tells a gripping story of murder, mystery, love and laughter.

Set in the wild backwoods country, the story sketches in stark, powerful terms the struggle of a gentle, sensitive girl, Isabel Jewell, to free herself from the domination of her tyrannical father, who forbids her to see a boy she loves, Erle Linden.

"A COUPLE OF HIGHBALLS"

City and state reports now show that liquor is a factor in from six to eight per cent of all fatal motor vehicle accidents.

This does not mean necessarily that a drunken driver or a drunken pedestrian was at fault. Few individuals involved in accidents are really drunk; but many "had been drinking." Often there was just enough liquor involved to warp the judgment for that fraction of a second when swift and sure reaction to danger would have meant the difference between life and death.

"I had a few drinks," says the shaking motorist, as he climbs out of the wreckage. And that may be true. But a very small amount of alcohol is sufficient to over-stimulate the brain, create a false confidence, urge a little more pressure on the throttle, and blur those fine senses of mind that are necessary for accurate and quick action in emergency.

Speed and booze NEVER mix. Even a single drink may be too many. After an evening of highballs, leave the driving to someone who has not been drinking. If you do drink and drive, you are much more likely to have an accident—perhaps a serious one — and the law will surely hold you accountable.

Our highways are more dangerous than jungle paths, says one noted explorer. That's probably correct. Lions, unlike motor cars, attack human beings only when hungry.

DOES BLADDER IRRITATION WAKE YOU UP?

It's not normal. It's nature's warning, "Danger Ahead." Make this 25c test. Use buchu leaves, juniper oil, and 6 other drugs made into little green tablets, to flush out excess acids and impurities. Excess acids can cause irritation resulting in getting up nights, scanty flow, frequent desire, burning, backache, and leg pains. Just say Bukets to your druggist. In four days if not pleased your 25c will be refunded. F. J. Fessenden, Druggist.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Legislators Receive 1300 New Law Books

Although more than 150 sets of the Compiled Laws of 1929 were recently distributed by the Department of State for legislative use at the regular 1937 session, there are 8,855 complete sets left from the original printing of 20,000 four-volume sets. The compilation is a re-statement of state laws in effect at the time of publication.

Every legislator recently had placed at his disposal a 1929 compilation, a 1935 manual, and bound copies of public acts passed since 1931, or nine books altogether. In addition, 22 sets of these reference volumes were distributed for House and Senate general use.

If the 1929 compilation is not replaced any sooner than the 1915 compilation was, there will be no more than enough to meet the eventual demand, it is estimated. The compilation preceding the 1929 volumes served for 14 years. Since 1929, a total of 11,145 sets of the 1929 compilation have been distributed.

SEEK $20 BOUNTY ON COYOTES IN MICHIGAN

Presence of Predators In Lower Peninsula Menace to Livestock, Game

Coyotes in every county in the state?

That's an evident possibility. In 15 years they have advanced from Cheboygan county to as far south as Tuscola. Coyotes obviously will mean curtailment of livestock farming in the state and a serious drain upon the wild life that provides sport for many thousands of hunters, says George A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

Recently representatives of nearly 150 sportsmen and farmers organizations met in Grayling. They adopted resolutions asking for a doubling of the present $10 bounty on coyotes, and also that the state remove the bear from the protected list of game animals in Michigan.

The organizations further asked that the State Department of Conservation assume responsibility of, cooperative trapping of coyotes and wolves on privately owned preserves and public lands and help instruct resident trappers in the capture of these predators.

"We've been trying for several years to get the public to understand. Real sportsmen and farmers who know coyotes from experience and observation are certain there is no desirable place for the coyote in Michigan," says Professor Brown. "Effective control measures are needed.

"There has been an argument advanced that the coyote is put here by Nature as a necessary part of the balance in wild life. But that is a fallacy. They are interlopers, attracted into Michigan by its deer and livestock population. If there are too many deer, let the hunters shoot them, they are happy for the privilege. But it is wrong to ask farmers to feed wild game as well as domestic stock and then let marauding coyotes cut down the game supply and make it impossible for sheep and other livestock producers to make a living."

FEWER DEER KILLED IN UPPER PENINSULA

Conservation Officials Say Smaller Kill Due to Fewer Hunters

While the total number of deer tallied at the Straits of Mackinac during the fall deer-hunting season was the lowest of any year for which figures are available since 1925, conservation authorities do not consider that fact an indication of a sudden decrease in the Upper Peninsula deer supply or a drop in the potential kill.

The tally this year is not complete due to the fact that the counters were forced at times to absent themselves from their posts and doubtless missed some hunters. Conservation authorities, however, believe that fewer hunters crossed the Straits of Mackinac last fall because of the opening of approximately 8,000 square miles of new deer area in the Lower Peninsula. Many hunters who annually crossed the Straits for their deer hunting remained in the Lower Peninsula last fall.

Totals of 3,296 deer, 8,548 hunters, 69 bear, three coyotes and six moose shot in Canada were tallied by conservation authorities at the Straits last November. This total of deer is the lowest since 1925 when 2,200 deer were transported across the Straits from the Upper Peninsula.

The proportion of deer to hunters crossing the Straits last fall, however, was a little higher than in 1935, indicating better success on the part of the hunters.

During the fall of 1935, records show, 5,379 deer crossed the Straits; in 1934 the total tallied was 5,253, and in 1933 the count was 4,955.

The high total recorded for the duration of the one-buck law since 1921 was in 1929 when 6,314 deer were counted in the Straits tally. Figures for the seasons of 1922, 1923 and 1926 are not available, authorities report.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS
By Ann Page

Even though severe cold weather in California has been responsible for increasing prices for some of our fruits and vegetables, there are plenty of things grown elsewhere to be had at low prices. Look for good values in onions, Boston lettuce, spinach, cabbage, turnips, Florida oranges, grapefruit and strawberries. Canned fruits and vegetables are fine standbys in winter weather.

Lamb will be chosen by many for Sunday dinner, for it is reasonable. Pork is a little lower, and forequarter cuts of beef are moderate. Broilers, fryers and ducks are all good values.

Egg prices are lower due to heavy productions wherever the weather is mild. Higher prices are not expected in butter.

Using this summary of the market, I have prepared three menus which I hope will help you to plan your Sunday dinners.

Low Cost Dinner
Roast Fresh Pork Butt
Browned Potatoes
Creamed Cabbage
Bread Butter
Spiced Apple Sauce
Blanc Mange with Cubed Oranges
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner

PATRONS TO BENEFIT BY LOWERING OF RATES

New Michigan Bell Toll Schedule Was Effective January 15

Michigan telephone users will save upwards of half a million dollars annually as the result of the reduction in rates on long distance telephone calls to points outside of the state which went into effect Friday, January 15, according to C. L. Johnson, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

On most interstate rates for day, night, and Sunday calls made over a distance of more than 42 miles, the reductions range from five cents to one dollar or more, depending on the distance, for the initial talking period of three minutes. Schedules of the newly effective reduced rates have been received by the local manager and operating people of the Michigan Bell Company.

Beginning in 1926, eight successive reductions have been made in the rates for interstate long distance calls, and four in rates for long distance calls between points within the state, Mr. Johnson said. Under the January 15 reduction, in general, at distances of 90 miles the saving to the customer making a day station-to-station call is 10 cents, increasing to 15 cents at 150 miles, 20 cents at 175 miles, 25 cents at 355 miles, 30 cents at 465 miles, 35 cents at 575 miles, and so on up.

For instance, a three-minute day station-to-station call from Charlevoix to Milwaukee, which formerly cost $1.05, now costs 95 cents; to Chicago, the cost is reduced from $1.15 to $1; to Cincinnati it goes down from $1.65 to $1.40, and to St. Louis, Mo., it is reduced from $1.90 to $1.65.

At 11:30 p. m., dancing was halted to hear the broadcast from Station WLW, Cincinnati, "A Salute to Charlevoix," part of a fenture program which this powerful station has inaugurated to present the attractions and advantages of various cities of the United States in connection with the advertising of products manufactured by the station's sponsor, the Crosley Radio Corporation. Of course, the radio on the stage was a Crosley, and reception was remarkably good. Using material furnished by the Charlevoix Board of Commerce, the announcer painted a glowing picture of Charlevoix, band music punctuating the intervals in his talk which dealt, one after the other, with various phases of the town, its natural beauties, resort facilities, harbor, beaches, winter and summer sports, accommodations, fishing, etc. This broadcast was one half hour in length and, at its close, dancing was resumed and continued until a late hour.

The spot-lighted introduction of the four queens and the intricate grand march, led by Queen Helen and Clair S. Webster, president of the Charlevoix Winter Sports Club, delightfully rounded off a memorable evening in Charlevoix's annals.

The WLW radio broadcast provided probably the most productive advertising Charlevoix has ever received, purchased, gratis or otherwise. Two hundred and fifty Charlevoix summer residents were notified of the broadcast by personal letter from the Board of Commerce. The far-reaching results are evidenced by receipt of letters from individuals in Minnesota, Illinois, North Carolina, New Mexico, Indiana, Wisconsin, Florida and Kansas, making inquiry for advertising literature and expressing their desire to visit Charlevoix next summer.

The Board of Commerce, sponsors of the Friday evening program gratefully acknowledge the valuable efforts of the various committee chairmen and assistants, including Harry Bingham, stage; E. J. Edwards, queen committee; William Fossenden, membership; George Haggard, decorating; Ivan Faleoner, throne; Mrs. Nellie Hammond and Mrs. Mildred Webster for their efforts; Allan Campbell, who furnished ice for the throne; also to local merchants for their fine cooperation.

Social Security Forms

We have just taken over distribution of a simplified Payroll Record for keeping track of Social Security Taxes. Every employer who has ONE or more employes must deduct 1% of each employes wages and send it to the Social Security Board at Washington. When this deduction is made, he must give this employe a statement of the amount of wages earned and the deduction made. He must also keep on file a copy of this record. The form is triplicate with 55 sets in the book and two carbons. On the cover is a place for the record of the employes pay. Each book is designed to last one employe for a year, thus if a business has six employes it will need six books.

CHARLEVOIX WINS EAST JORDAN TILT

SCORED 36 TO 13 VICTORY HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Meet Undefeated Boyne City Team This Week in Contest Which Will Decide Conference Leadership

Charlevoix's Red Rayders continued the victory march with a 36 to 13 win over East Jordan on the local court last Friday night.

Coach Kipke alternated his varsity and reserve teams. The varsity provided most of the scoring, while the reserves were able to better than hold their own while they were in the game.

Although failing to score a point, East Jordan looked most formidable during the first period. Their defense functioned sufficiently to hold the Rayders to six points. The reserves ran the count up to 14 in the second quarter and limited East Jordan to a pair of free throws. The count at the half was 14 to 2, Charlevoix leading. Charlevoix outscored the Jordanites 22 points to 12 in the second half with the varsity performing in the third and the reserves in the fourth period.

Charlevoix reserves maintained their winning stride, copping their sixth consecutive win from the East Jordan second-stringers by a 28 to 15 count.

NEEDED CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS TOLD TO KIWANIS

City Attorney Rollie L. Lewis Gave Interesting Talk Tuesday Night

Local Kiwanians, meeting Tuesday evening at the I. O. O. F hall, heard an interesting talk by City Attorney Rollie L. Lewis on the topic, "What Kiwanis Can Do for Charlevoix."

Mr. Lewis, dwelling convincingly and at length on six points of civic improvement, urged Kiwanians to lend their support to the now proposed addition of another Diesel unit at the municipal light plant to furnish required current; a program of harbor improvements; landscaping of the channel entrance between Lake Michigan and Round Lake; a study and, if found desirable, support of a commission form of government; support of a non-partisan election as a means of assuring every citizen his voting franchise; unqualified and one hundred per cent backing of the Board of Commerce.

The speaker paid glowing tribute to the previous and present administrations of Mayor Arthur Bergeon, also his predecessors, L. S. See and Leonard P. Adams. He pointed to the progress which has been made and urged Kiwanians to foster a continuance of such forward steps as a guarantee that those who follow in their footsteps may enjoy in as full, or even greater, measures the God-given advantages nature has bestowed upon Charlevoix.

The suit is a culmination of protested payments dating back as far as 1934 when the yacht was first placed on the city tax rolls. Taxes which the plaintiff seeks to recover are for the years 1934, 1935 and 1936. The case will come up in circuit court at the March term, it is understood.

FOUR CRUISES ASSURED FOR SUMMER

INDICATIONS POINT TO INCREASED YACHT ACTIVITY

Charlevoix Port of Call for Four Passenger Cruises and Annual Great Lakes Ass'n Cruise

An increase in the number of yachts and passenger cruises visiting Charlevoix harbor, one of the 1937 aims of the Board of Commerce, appears certain of fulfillment.

Gordon B. Todd, activities director, reports that four passenger cruises have been definitely lined up, and that efforts are being made to bring three more, making at least seven or eight for the summer.

Confirmation of four cruises was contained in a recent letter from Emery B. Hatch, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Co., which is quoted in part as follows:

"As the Fourth of July comes on a Sunday and being celebrated on Monday, we are running two special trips, one out of Chicago with the S. S. North American and one out of Detroit and Cleveland with the S. S. South American, and Charlevoix will be a port of call on both of these cruises.

"Also, on our cruises out of these ports over Labor Day, Charlevoix is included as a port of call. As soon as other charters are closed that include Charlevoix, we will be pleased to advise you.

"We are sure that we will get the usual fine cooperation from you and we are trying to push all charter trips your way."

Another of the big summer water events will be the visit here of cruisers participating in the annual Chicago-Mackinac Island and Port Huron-Mackinac Island cruises of the Great Lakes Yachting Association. Charlevoix this year will have the annual association banquet and Pirates Ball, one of the big entertainment features of the cruises. As many as a hundred or more yachts may participate and visit this port for a stay of several days.

Charlevoix had a bumper year in 1936 in respect to the number of visiting pleasure craft. It was through the efforts of the Board of Commerce in advertising Charlevoix's perfect land-locked harbor, probably one of the finest on the Great Lakes, that this city has learned the commercial benefits to be derived from pleasure craft. Boating interest among both local and summer residents hit a new peak, evidenced by the number of new cruisers and pleasure craft placed in commission.

Continued harbor improvements, designed as an inducement to bring yachtsmen to this harbor, are planned. Running water, garbage disposal and other conveniences at the city docks are planned, also development of the new city-owned lake frontage between Mason and Clinton streets.

All indications taken into consideration, harbor business is destined to play a major role in Charlevoix's future summer resort trade. Figures furnished by Capt. Oscar Smith, of the local coast guard station, show that 1,824 craft entered Charlevoix harbor in 10 months during 1936, an average of 182 per month. The peak was during June, July and August. The number is a considerable increase over the preceding year.

MARRIAGES INCREASE, DIVORCES DECREASE; IT IS A GOOD OMEN!

Whether caused by passing of the "depression era" and any other reason which might be suggested, the fact that marriages increased and divorces decreased in Charlevoix county during 1936 is a good omen.

County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow reports that Dan Cupid managed 131 love matches during 1936 as compared to 105 in 1935, and that divorces in the same period were 20, a decrease of two from 1935.

Other vital statistics are obtained from the city clerk's office, showing deaths in Charlevoix numbered 51 in 1936, an increase of five over the previous year, while births remained at an even pace, 74 for each year.

Court activities during 1936 showed a general decrease from the previous year. Eleven chancery cases were started in 1936, compared with 24 in 1935. Civil cases decreased from 30 in 1935 to 20 in 1936, while criminal cases in 1936 were 13, three more than the previous year.

It is rather cold working on the water works these days, but Red Patterson and his men are sticking to it.

Miss Zelma Snider, the young lady evangelist of Nebraska, is still preaching here, and gave an excellent sermon at the Tabernacle Sunday evening.

Walter DeGroat, who has caneer of the throat, is still in a very serious condition. His wife and daughter are attending him, and Mr. Essenberg helps with the chores.

Tom Clnrk's people, living south of town, have recovered from their recent illness, and now walk the two and a half miles to attend church in town, also Sunday school.

Wellington Kipp DeForest is now residing on the old R. R. Wilkinson place, east of Eastport on M-88. He formerly resided three miles southwest of town, near the Eckhardt farm.

Rev. Glen Cornett, preached last week Tuesday the funeral sermon for R. Hayes' little year-old boy, who passed away with pneumonia before the physician, who was called, had arrived.

Julius Essenberg still makes it with his grocery wagon over the icy roads from Ellsworth, for the Shooks store. It makes it pretty handy for the farmers, as he gathers up cream and eggs also, right from the farmer's door.

Homer Loper and daughter, Vivian, are out again nfter a little tussle with a cold. Many about town are ill with colds, flu or lagrippe. The recent cold snap may alleviate the colds somewhat, which appear epidemic.

Miss Zelma Snider is now stopping at the James home during her pastorate here. Her brother, Rev. Jack Snider, is still at Bad Axe, prenching, and intends to go to their home in Nebraska before going as a missionary to China.

Mrs. Caroline Marshall Stigers is very low at present, with pneumonia. She has been keeping house for Mr. Small, who recently had an operation for hernia. Mrs. Stigers was a former resident of Antrim City, where she was born.

Guy Morse and family have decided, on account of the flooded and icy condition of the roads, to postpone their trip to Florida for a time. They may postpone it entirely. The story by the editor of the Courier makes the attempt look almost impossible.

Charles Morse is down in bed with the flu, and his daughter and husband, home from Flint on account of the strike, are caring for him. Mrs. Cora Dunlap and her daughter, Florence, have been having quite a siege of the flu. Mrs. Dunlap is alone at the Ladies' Rest Room.

Mrs. Parastine has recovered from quite n siege of the flu. Mrs. Dorman Kirby came down with it and, being practically alone, except for two small children, had to drum on her window to attract attention to get some one to get the doctor. She is better at present, and Mr. Kirby has come home from his work to care for her.

Doyle Morse nrrived home from Trout Lnke, Upper Peninsula, Sunday. He and his family nre moving up there today (Tuesday). He has work trucking cord wood. Johnnie Dawson will nccompnny him, taking Mrs. Morse and the four children. Mr. Dawson will try to get employment there also, for the winter. They report that the depth of snow is about the same as here.

Johnnie and James Dawson attended the land conservation meeting at Ellsworth, conducted by County Agent Ousterout, of Bellaire, last Wednesday. The new plan for the year was explained. There will be something given for orchard land and woodlots this year, it is said. Mr. Ousterout delivered checks to the farmers present. Others not nt the meeting can get their checks at his office at Bellaire.

Harry Mason, Vercil Mason and wife, and the writer, attended Sunday school and church at the Walker school house in Charlevoix county last Sunday. Fifty-one people were present, and a very apiritual meeting was held. There was no friction whatever in reorganization of the Sunday school, nnd about the same officers were elected. Rev. Batterbee preached nn excellent sermon. He has to hurry around to superintend Sunday school at Bush school, east of Bellaire, and then preach at the Holiness church at Bellaire in the evening. Ye correspondent also called on the Andersons, whom we had not seen since we taught in that district nine years ago. Miss Lillian has grown to be about as tall as her mother, and is now in the eighth grade, but just started to school nine yenrs ago. Carl is home, nnd has become a successful sailor, being at home winters. And so time marches on!

Abigail, and after her her daughter-in-law, in their fervor to encourage shade in that hot, dry country, planted everything upon which they could put their hands, close to the house. They did not foresee that the pampas grass and the verbena trees, the peppers and roses and evergreens, would grow closer, thicker, darker every year. Eventually the pretentious old frame building, with its scallops of mill work and its bay windows, its cupola and balustraded roof, was caught tightly in dusty heavy leafage, and the garden filled with mossy, slippery patches where even in summer no light crept in on the sickly grass.

For thirty years the House of Lawrence had been in eclipse, and the garden showed it. Acre by acre old Philip Lawrence and his son Patterson had watched their fortunes decline; the old pioneer of the Yerba Buena days lived to see the end of the century, and the end of his own prosperity, and died, leaving what remained in hands even less capable than his own.

For Patterson Lawrence was a poet, who lived merely to gather worthless old books about him, to dream over the painstaking penning of insignificant essays, which were rarely printed and for which he was never paid.

At forty he married a poet's daughter, who had been precariously existing for all her sixteen years upon bread, water, and the "Sonnets from the Portuguese," in a shanty on Rincon hill. Editha, before her early death, brought to the House of Lawrence two sons and three daughters. Sixteen when she married, ten years later, when Ariel was born, she quietly, happily expired, to music, as it were.

For Patterson had been reading poetry to her, the four older children, by some miracle, quiet and occupied down by the creek, and Ariel in her mother's arms taking a fourth-day view of life, when death came.

"She looks as if she were listening, Pat! She's going to be a great poet, and make all our fortunes!" Editha had said. And one minute later she had slipped away, leaving the prophecy to gild little Ariel's childhood.

The widowed elderly father did the best he could for them all until his oldest son was nearly eighteen and Gail a capable, bustling house manager two years younger. Then the big guns began to boom across the water, the service flags flashed in answer upon many a quiet flag pole in Clippersville, and Patterson Lawrence, fifty-eight years old, put a copy of Keats in one pocket and a copy of Shelley in the other and hurried off to die of flu in overcrowded Washington, just as sure as his loyal children were sure that he was helping his country and doing the patriotic thing.

Then Phil and Gail had to shoulder the burden. Gail Lawrence was supremely the girl for the job. She was squarely built, womanly at sixteen, brimming with interests, activities, ambitions, and enthusiasms.

By this time the once lucky Lawrences had almost no money. Phil had all but finished high school, and all the friends, relatives, and neighbors said that certainly a bright fine boy like that ought to complete his course. But as Phil and Gail quite simply agreed, meals were more important than education. So Phil stopped his schooling and went to work at the Iron Works, and Gail, upon being offered a job in the public library, accepted it gratefully.

They scrambled along in the disreputable old house very happily; they were always laughing, singing, going on picnics; they were passionately devoted to each other, and everyone was sure that they would get along splendidly. Were they not the last of the Lucky Lawrences?

Surest of all was Gail, the resolute, undaunted, optimistic mother and sister, cook, nurse, and breadmaker in one. Life had been a story to Gail, for a few years, and she had turned a fresh page eagerly every day. She and Edith were going to marry delightful men, and Phil should marry, too. And Sammy should live in Edith's house and Ariel in Gail's, and Ariel should write wonderful poetry. There would be plenty of money for everything, as there always had been . . . soon.

But somehow it had not worked out that way. Gail had grown a little more sober, a little thinner, as the years had slipped by; they had all grown shabbier. Even to her, poverty began to seem a serious matter.

Phil, to her concern, had never quite seen the joke of being poor and being orphaned. He had always been brief, worried, and unresponsive when Gail had tried to drag him into her dreams. And Edith hated poverty, too; it hurt her pride. She had grown quieter, bookish, intellectual, something of a recluse.

Sammy had done nothing except slide through his shoes and get "D minus" marks in his studies. And Ariel was completely spoiled. They had all hailed her as a poet before she could fairly write. She did write poetry, and that was enough for Clippersville. Clippersville was not critical. The Challenge published everything Ariel wrote. And Ariel was discontented, proud, and unmanageable.

Altogether, the outlook was discouraging, and promised to grow more so. There were moments when even Gail could not quite believe in the luck of the Lawrences.

Her twenty-third birthday found her a quick-witted, eager, capable girl, secretly a little bit scared and doubtful, but outwardly gay, irresponsible, and pleasant to look at—like all the Lawrences. Even the boys never seemed to go through lumpy or spotty phases, but were clean skinned and bright-eyed through boyhood as through babyhood. The older four had tawny thick hair, which had tumbled all over their heads as children, but which on occasions could be made to take more fitting positions.

Ariel was different: frail, pink-cheeked, and cream-skinned, with frightened big hazel eyes and a small mouth. Ariel's hair was corn-silk gold.

Phil worked in the Iron Works for eighty dollars a month. Gail was paid half that monthly for a seven-day week in the public library. Edith made thirty dollars a month as assistant in the book department of Muller's big store. Sammy was supplementing his school career at nineteen with eager labors as errand boy and general office help on the Challenge and Ariel was supposed to be in high school. Ariel was now a fairylike seventeen.

And Gail was twenty-three today. She had presents at the breakfast table in the good old Lawrence fashion. Nobody knew where they came from, or who paid for them, but the Lawrences always managed to give each other presents on anniversaries.

Then Gail and Edith rushed the breakfast paraphernalia into the sink, Ariel was off to school, Phil had disappeared; Sammy had gone first of all. The two girls scrambled through the necessary kitchen work with a speed born of long practice.

The big kitchen was shaded, was in order. The cold water faucet dribbled suddenly, audibly, in the silence, as Gail and Edith, breathless and hot, paused at the hall door. Edith crossed the splintery floor to turn off the tap.

Then Gail and Edith went upstairs, passing the open front door on their way. They hesitated a minute, looking into the jungle of garden. There was a hush of spring, green grass, contraband daisies, and a burst of untidy bridal wreath down by the old fence.

"Look at the pear tree, Gail!"

"Doesn't it just take your breath away?"

They shut the door and went upstairs, Gail saying of the unmade beds, "Let's flap 'em."

Edith's face clouded a little. She hated compromise and slovenliness; she hated the hard conditions of her life that made some truce with them necessary. The clock on the landing struck once, for the half hour after eight; she was due at the department store, and Gail at the library, at nine.

"We'll have to," she conceded briefly, sighing.

"I'll bet you they flap 'em in the most expensive hotels!" Gail stated dauntlessly.

"I shouldn't have worn my office dress to breakfast," the older sister observed, glancing at her cuffs. She got a bottle of some cleaning extract, and began to dabble at spots.

"Egg!" she said disgustedly. Her glance approved of Edith. "That looks better on you than it ever did on Mary Tevis," she observed.

Edith studied herself in the mirror dispassionately.

"I never would have gotten it," she said. "I don't like dots. But it certainly has come in usefully."

"The worst of Mary Tevis is, she'll give you a bunch of things one time, and then forget you for seven years!" Gail, having made herself comparatively presentable, said briskly. "Now, when I'm rich, I shall have a list of girls— D—n such a shoe lace!"

"Abigail, you ought not say that. You'll get Ariel saying it."

Gail mended her lace, looked up with a flushed face.

"Didn't you think Ariel was beautiful at breakfast, Ede?"

"Oh, yes, she really is."

"Do you think—this may all be my imagination—but do you think she's interested in boys, already?"

Their eyes flashed together consciously.

"Oh, yes, I know she is!" Edith answered unhesitatingly.

"She's only seventeen!"

"Well," said Edith, who combined a recluse's sensitiveness and temperament with an occasional flash of daring, "I was fond of the boys at sixteen."

Edith, pretty as she was, had never had a beau, and Gail knew it. But it was the unwritten law of sisterhood not to say so.

Gail merely said perfunctorily, "Oh, well, yes, so was I! But, Edith, there seems to be something—different, in the way Ariel is."

The younger sister's quick keen gaze was lifted; Edith's serious look met Gail's consciously.

"Secretive," she offered.

"Well! Well, yes," Gail answered on a nervous laugh.

"Ariel will get married before either one of us, because we happen to be a little more particular!" Edith pronounced, with her little air of old-maidish snobbery. When Edith said things like that it vaguely irritated Gail.

She left Edith at Montalvo boulevard, and turned up the Calle to the Plaza, where the library stood.

"Heavenly day!" Gail said to Francis Wilcox, the librarian.

"Fine what about those slips?" Mr. Wilcox answered without punctuation.

"They're here."

The day had begun. Gail unbarred the street door, and the usual waiting group of stragglers came in. Miss Foster clamped the newspapers into their holders; little Rose Cahill wheeled wire crates full of books to the different cases, and Gail took them from the barrows and filed them away in their places. The dim big rooms saw various noiseless activities afoot.

Gail thought of her youngest sister, as the dreamy dim hours in the library began to slip by. Ariel was less fitted than any of the other Lawrences for the struggle of life. She was only an innocent, bewildered child.

She wanted—in fact all of them wanted—leisure and beauty and luxury in life. Ariel seemed to want it more than the others, somehow, or in some indefinably different way. She seemed made for beautiful gardens, beautiful porches, spacious, luxurious rooms. She pined, she drooped, in the atmosphere of poverty, griminess, dullness.

Thinking of all this, Gail abstractedly stamped and scribbled, and tossed the books about. When the whistles droned noon, and a sudden responsive pang of hunger stabbed her, she put on her blue hat and walked up the street to Muller's, to meet Edith.

Edith, neat, cool, and clean, lifted an ecstatic look to Gail as she decorously finished the sale of seven novels to a passing motorist. The girls idolized and idealized each other, and were proud of their friendship. All the passion of the younger sister's rather cold nature was in the look; this was one of her awaited moments every day, when her flushed, adored, tousled Gail came in and they went to lunch together.

They went in at the side door to the home kitchen, and let up the shade, and began their preparations for lunch. The kettle was boiling over a bead of gas, for Ariel always came in promptly at twelve, and had her lunch and was gone before the older girls arrived.

Edith sat wearily, luxuriously, over rolls, honey, and tea, her eyes absent, her hand idly stirring the cup.

"Gail, I was thinking that we ought to learn some more poetry, as we do the beds. 'Member how we used to rattle it off, when we were little girls?"

"Oh, do I?. 'The Lady of Shalott' and 'Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill' and 'The Lost Leader' and James Whitcomb Riley—"

"We ought to do it again! It was lots of fun. I'd like to learn Noyes' 'Highwayman,' and some of Hodgson's poems, 'Eve' and 'The Old Ball.'"

"Ede, do you suppose things'll ever be any easier for us? Do you suppose we'll have clothes and a car, some day, and belong to a country club?"

Edith pondered it.

"I—don't really—know," she said at last hesitatingly.

"I mean," Gail fumbled along wistfully, "poor people—people who have a hard start—do."

"Yes. I know they do!"

"Edith, I could stand anything for myself. But it worries me—about Phil and Ariel."

"I don't think Phil minds being poor so much—not since he's been going with Lily Cass," Edith offered.

"Well, I think I want him to mind! I don't think Phil is ambitious," Gail countered, with an anxious little laugh.

"Maybe we're foolish ourselves," Edith said, suddenly gloomy. "Maybe our luck's changed."

"Fooling ourselves?"

"Yes. Do you think we are?"

"I don't think I quite understand you," Gail said uncomfortably.

"Oh, yes you do!" Edith answered with a laugh.

"You mean," Gail said soberly, after a space, "that we aren't getting anywhere?"

"Well, are we? We are stuck in Clippersville," Edith summarized it. "Nobody knows we're alive. We're not in debt, because the doctors and dentists won't send us bills—but we ought to be. We haven't any clothes, any social standing—"

"Oh, we have that, Ede!"

"Well, if we have, if we are the Lucky Lawrences, if we were one of the most important families in California, once, what are we now? Who's going to marry us? Who is there here for us to marry, anyway? What's to prevent our living on and on here, old maids, scraping along as best we can—Phil marrying that horrible Mrs. Cass, Sam getting a job somewhere and going away, Ariel—committing suicide, I suppose—"

"Oh, Edith, Edith!" Gail protested horrified. "Don't talk like that! You're blue. You're just tired today, or it's spring, or something! Why, darling, nobody knows where changes are coming from, or when. We're having our hard times now instead of later, that's all! We'll have dresses and country clubs and trips and—and fun, theaters, I mean, and everything, one of these days!"

Edith's grave, intellectual face was doubtful.

"You're twenty-three," she suggested significantly.

JUSTICES FEAD AND NORTH

Out of Lansing comes the significant story that Republican politicians would like to have interest in the spring election as slight as possible in the hope that opposition may not develop to re-election of Chief Justice Louis H. Fend and Justice Walter H. North.

Nothing could more effectively show up the defect of the system of partisan election of judges.

These distinguished jurists were elected to the Michigan Supreme Bench as Republicans, but they are not politicians in the ordinary sense. For many years they have served with sincerity, wisdom and learning in this most important office. It is humiliating to require them to spend their time campaigning.

There should be intense interest in the spring election to the end of making sure that these able justices are re-elected.

Safe and Sane DRIVING

BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL and Michigan State Safety Council

BACKING INTO TROUBLE

You cannot be too careful when backing your automobile. Many serious accidents are caused through failure to make sure the way is clear before backing up.

Look on both sides to the rear and sound your horn before you back from the garage or out of a driveway, and then back slowly. A child may dash behind you at any moment. If you must back over the sidewalk, do this only with the utmost caution.

In the open street, many motorists have a habit of backing around corners to avoid the trouble of turning, or of backing up out in the street when it would take very little time—and be much safer—to go around the block.

Backing in and out of parking spaces is always a ticklish business. Besides the safety of pedestrians, you must look out carefully for passing traffic. You are responsible, too, for damage to other parked cars, smashed fenders and broken lamps.

It really takes more skill to handle your car in reverse than in third speed ahead. The good driver, however, seldom has accidents.

AT THE MOVIES

Dietrich-Boyer in Selznick's "Garden of Allah" in Color

Prompted by the success of his first independently produced picture "Little Lord Fauntleroy," David O. Selznick entered the technicolor field to produce "The Garden of Allah," which brings Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer to the Palace Theatre for two days, Saturday and Sunday, Januury 30-31.

Inasmuch as much of the locale of the picture is the Algerian desert, much of it was shot out-of-doors in natural color against the picturesque background of America's Sahara.

To support Miss Dietrich and Boyer, Selznick, who has become famous for the strength of his casts, engaged several other well-known players, notably Basil Rathbone for Count Anteoni, the mystic Italian nobleman; C. Aubrey Smith, who scored such a tremendous personal triumph in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," for the part of Father Roubler, Priest of the desert parish of Beni-Mora; Joseph Schildkraut for the guide, Batouch; and Tilly Losch, internationally famous dancer, for Irena, the Arabian dancing girl.

Newspaper Mystery at Palace for Two Days

Park avenue penthouses and a roaring newspaper office, tenements and night clubs, and a baffling plot laid amid the drama of newspaperdom, provide thrills, romance and excitement in "Sinner Take All," opening Wednesday, February 3, at the Palace Theatre.

The picture teams Bruce Cabot, Margaret Lindsay and Joseph Calleia.

Their actions would seem to indicate that many people think the only way to have a good time is to make fools of themselves.

The MARCH of POLITICS

By JOHN H. O'BRIEN

The Detroit News in a front page box editorial suggests a reasonable method of bringing comfort to the thousands of innocent sufferers from the GM-CIO strike dispute.

The editorial suggests that Governor Murphy use the state's election facilities to take a vote among GM employes on two questions. The workers would be given an opportunity of stating whether or not they wish to return to their jobs while negotiations continue and whether or not they want to be represented by the United Automobile Workers Union.

If a majority of the voters on the first question favored return to work the situation would be much improved if this were done. The number of persons affected by the strike but who have no direct connection with GM outnumber that corporation's employes. The stock answer used to be in Russia when complaints of violence were made that "You cannot make an omelet without breaking some eggs." It is no doubt true that in a situation such as the present one some one must suffer, but the sufferers should be the ones who are willing to suffer and not those who have no voice in the matter. A vote as suggested by the News would settle that.

The second voting question involves more than that. It is doubtful that the UAW would willingly consent to abide by a decision of a majority that stated it did not want the UAW to represent them. Representation by the UAW is the crux of the whole strike. It is over just that question that the negotiations came to nothing after such an auspicious start. However, the vote would be valuable in settling once and for all the claims of both the corporation and the union that they have the support of a majority of the workers. Once this is determined accurately (the statements given out by both parties so far are worthless) public opinion will crystalize and public opinion is more powerful than either of the contending parties.

In any event, the taking of a vote will provide a means of settling one of the questions of the strike and in addition will give the public accurate information on which to judge the claims of GM and UAW. It would be a long stride forward and should be done.

An excellent riposte by Attorney Frank De Vine, as reported in the Washtenaw Post-Tribune, deserves repeating. Mr. De Vine, a stalwart Republican, was asked recently by a member of the opposition if the Republicans intended to send a special train to Lansing for the inauguration of Governor Frank Murphy. De Vine replied that he didn't think so, but that he had seen where the Democrats just ran a special train from Detroit to Jackson.

What was termed generally an "emergency condition" has arisen in state finances and the governor has called a conference of administrative and legislative leaders. Most pressing need is for funds to add to the 1935 old-age pension fund. Money must be forthcoming before February 2nd to meet the next quarter grants from the social security board.

The recognition by federal and state governments of the part they must play in such problems as social security make the next state budget an interesting document as compared with those of eight or ten years ago. An outgrowth of the emergency measures taken during the depression for the alleviation of emergencies, they are with us to stay. From now on we may expect governments of paternalism, presumably watching over our welfare from the cradle to the grave. And parallel with this we can expect increased tax bills to follow us beyond the grave and into the pockets of our children.

You'll need your umbrellas this year. Plenty of rain, easy winter and cool summer, scientists predict for 1937. See the American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Early Prenatal Care Safeguards Mother and Child

The risks and hazards of bearing children in the United States is as great as the risks and hazards of war. Of all the wars in which the United States has participated it is estimated that 244,000 soldiers were killed; within the last 25 years, 375,000 mothers have lost their lives in childbirth in the United States! The United States has a high mortality rate which is one of the highest in the civilized world. In the state of New York pregnancy came next to tuberculosis as a cause of death in women of child-bearing age during the 10 year period from 1915-1925. More women died from pregnancy than from heart disease or cancer.

The Maternity Center Association reveals the astounding figure of 16,000 mothers who die annually in the United States from causes connected with maternity. Approximately 8,000 or one-half of these died needlessly and with proper prenatal medical care these causes might have been prevented.

In England, Scotland, Wales and New Zealand the public has recognized the justice of protecting expectant mothers. By providing for adequate care at the time of confinement the maternal death rate has steadily declined. In the United States the mortality rate of around six per 1,000 live births has remained practically stationary for the past 20 years. In other countries that show a more favorable death rate than the United States, for many years there has been a recognition that midwives must be supervised and educated. Generally speaking, in the United States midwives are untrained, unsupervised, ignorant and harmful. That is a partial explanation, at least, to account for the fact that Italy and France have a much lower maternal death rate than in United States.

Thus it is that we need to encourage the expectant mother to seek medical advice early in pregnancy and to remain under observation throughout the antepartum period. An ideal maternal hygiene program would be to encourage expectant mothers to include the following activities during their antepartum, intrapartum and postpartum periods:

1. A complete examination by a competent physician as soon as the mother is pregnant.

2. Regular visits by the mother to the doctor, reporting to him any symptoms of irregular conditions. These visits should include urine examinations, blood pressure and pelvic measurements.

3. Regular visits to the dentist to correct any dental defects that have occurred or may occur during pregnancy.

4. Provision, if necessary, for proper nutrition of the mother, thereby insuring the proper development of the baby.

5. Aseptic delivery by a physician with a nurse in attendance.

6. Nursing and household aid during the postpartum period in order that the mother may secure rest in bed for at least 10 days. At this time the mother may receive proper instruction in the care of the baby.

7. A postpartum examination of the mother by the physician to discover and correct any bad effects of pregnancy or delivery.

These activities combined make for an ideal program but in many cases cannot be carried out to the fullest extent because of financial circumstances. However, we feel that mothers today are seeking medical advice more routinely as is evidenced by the low number of maternal deaths that occurred within our own district, which includes Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego counties.

Following are the causes of maternal deaths due to childbirth which occurred in our district during the year 1936:

Puerperal septicemia	1
Puerperal phlegmasia	1

This compares with the maternal deaths that occurred in our district since 1932:

1932	8
1933	7
1934	9
1935	5
1936	2

The District Health Department in cooperation with the State Department of Health provides each expectant mother known to the county nurse with a series of nine letters in proper prenatal care. These are gladly furnished free of charge by the State Department of Health and are sent to the mother-to-be at monthly intervals. Another excellent guide for the mother-to-be is the booklet, "Prenatal Care," published by the Children's Bureau, which may be secured through your county nurse also.

Firestone

GREATEST TRACTION TIRE EVER BUILT . . . . .

Ideal for Cars that Travel on Rural Roads

Save time and money and get greater efficiency by equipping the rear of your car and truck with a pair of Firestone Ground Grip Tires. They will give you the super-traction needed to pull through snow, mud and unimproved roads and will save you the time, trouble and money of applying chains.

Harvey S. Firestone was born and raised on a farm in Columbiana County, Ohio, which he has operated since 1904. It was here on this farm that Mr. Firestone conceived the idea and worked with his tire engineers in developing a practical tire for farm use. Mr. Firestone's experience in farming gave him the realization of the need for a pneumatic tire with lugs of rubber that would increase the drawbar pull, roll easier, save time and speed up farm operations on cars, trucks, tractors and all wheeled farm implements.

Firestone engineers are continually working with Mr. Firestone on his farm to secure greater farm efficiency. They developed the Ground Grip Tire which is so designed that in snow or soft mud it cleans itself and the bars of rubber are so placed that they will not bump on paved roads. The design of this tire is so unusual and its performance so amazing that a patent has been granted by the United States Patent Office covering its exclusive features. The secret of the extra traction of Firestone Gum-Dipped tires is the scientifically designed rubber lug of the tread. Under this extraordinary super-traction tread are placed two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords. This is a patented Firestone construction feature which makes it possible to weld this heavy tread to the Gum-Dipped cord body, making it one inseparable unit.

Every car and truck owner who travels over snowy and unimproved roads cannot afford to be without a set of Firestone Ground Grip Super-Traction Tires. They will not only save you money but will enable you to get through on schedule.

SOILS PROGRAM IN COUNTY UNDER WAY

COMMITTEEMEN TO ADMINISTER PROGRAM NAMED

Organization Completed With Election of Community Groups In All County Townships

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

During the last two weeks all of the communities that represent Charlevoix county in the Soil Conservation Program have held their community elections and listened to a discussion of the new program by County Agent Mellencamp. Levern McGhan, vice-president of the board of directors, was present in each case as the official representative of the county committee.

The first few minutes in each meeting was devoted entirely to a review of last year's program, which is now concluded. It was brought out by Mr. McGhan that approximately 650 checks would be given out to the '36 program cooperators. There were close to 750 maps made hy farm reporters. Up to date close to 300 checks have either been distributed or are in the office ready for distribution. The checks so far received average between $35 and $40 per check.

In the presentation of the new program two types of farms will be determined. The "general diversion" farm is one that has 20 or more acres soil depleting base, while the "general non-diversion" farm has less than 20 acres soil depletion base. This year from the latest information payments will be made for commercial fertilizers used on soil conserving crops. Also there are payments for the fruit men for cover crops and the placing of mulching materials around their trees. Later on full publicity will he given to soil building practices which up to the present time are more or less tentative.

Of great interest to all farmers in the county is the following results of the community elections:

Boyne Valley, Chandler and Hudson—Chairman, Edward A. Topolinski; vice-chairman, Carl Clark; third member, Arthur Guerin; alternate, Henry J. Korthase.

Melrose and Evangeline—Chairman, Peter A. Jensen; vice-chairman, Earl Griffin; third member, Anton Holmberg; alternate, L. J. Fineout.

Bay, Peaine and St. James—Chairman, Harrison Smith; vice-chairman, not selected; third member, John Taylor; alternate, not selected.

Hayes and Charlevoix—Chairman, Lee E. Sneathen; vice-chairmnn, Rudy Korth; third member, Fred Willis; alternate, Ed. W. Swanson.

Marion and Norwood—Chairman, Levern McGhan; vice-chairman, Edd Gregory; third member, Walter H. Henley; alternate, George S. Parsons.

South Arm—Chairman, George A. Nelson; vice-chairman, Calvin Bennett; third member, Lawrence Addis; alternate, Elmer Hott.

Wilson—Chairman, Charles Shepard; vice-chairman, Claude Pearsall; third member, Carl A. Bergman; alternate, Harry Behling.

Eveline — Chnirman, George C. Ferris; vice-chairman, Herbert Gould; third member, Albert Carlson; alternate, Alfred Crowell.

From advice received from Lansing, the school of instruction for all committeemen and the election of officers for the county will take place on Monday, February 1. The results of this election will be announced as soon as possible.

HEAVY PLANTING OF GAME FISH LAST YEAR

Over Two Hundred Million Various Species Were Released

More than 220,000,000 fry and fingerlings of various species of gamefish were planted in the streams and lake waters of Michigan during the past year, according to recent figures compiled by the Department of Conservation.

Wall-eyed pike fry, fingerlings and adults comprised a large part of this planting, more than 200,000,000 of this species alone being placed in the inland and Great Lakes waters.

Bluegill plantings during 1936 totalled nearly 7,000,000 and the plantings of brook, brown, rainbow and lake trout aggregated nearly 12,000,000. Planting totals for the year by species follow:

Wall-eyed pike	205,000,000
Brook trout	3,900,000
Brown trout	3,400,000
Rainbow trout	980,000
Lake trout	3,500,000
Large-mouth black bass	625,000
Small-mouth black bass	250,000
Bluegills	6,880,000
Yellow perch	2,000,000

The young fish planted ranged from a month to a year of age. At some places a few adults or ndvanced fingerlings were planted.

RABBIT SEASON COMES TO A CLOSE SATURDAY

Only Three Days of 1936-37 Season Remain Before Closing

Only three dnys remain of the rabbit hunting season in Northern Michigan.

On February 1 small-game hunters will have to put away their guns until next fall since the closed season on cottontail and snowshoe rabbits in the counties north of northline of Townline 16 and west of Saginaw Bay begins on that date. All other counties closed to rabbit hunting January 2.

Sensons on hunting opossum, skunk and badger also end January 31.

PAPERS ARE ALLOTTED THREE-FOURTHS OF ADVERTISING OF STANDARD OIL

More than 75 per cent of the consumer advertising campaign of Standard Oil Company of Indiana this winter is allotted to newspapers, Wesley I. Nunn, advertising manager, has announced.

Space in the Charlevoix Courier and 1,600 other daily and weekly newspapers with combined circulation of 12,500,000 promotes the products of more than 23,000 Standard Oil dealers in 13 middlewest states.

"Because of their complete coverage and flexibility, newspapers prove especially valuable for our advertising," Nunn said. Standard in its winter advertising campaign also uses farm papers, trade publications and outdoor advertising.

MISSIONARY LUNCHEON DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR LAST WEDNESDAY

The annual luncheon of the Congregational Woman's Missionary Society was held last Wednesday in the church dining room, with the officers acting as the committee in charge.

Weather conditions interfered with the attendance, but those who attended were amply repaid for the effort. Mrs. G. R. Parker led in a very helpful devotional service on the subject of "Prayer." Mrs. C. S. Webster led the song service.

A Missionary Palaver on Africa was conducted by Mrs. Cross, who gave an introductory talk and called on Mrs. B. Saltonstall, Mrs. H. A. Craig and Mrs. Engle VanAllsburg to describe briefly the evangelistic, educational and medical work of the missionaries.

CONG. JOHN LUECKE OFFERS SENIORITY BILL

Passage Would Aid Postal Employes Working for Advancement

Rep. John Luecke, of the 11th Michigan district, has offered a bill, H. R. 3415, in Congress to reorganize seniority of service in promotions and assignments of clerks in first and second class post offices.

The bill makes it mandatory on the part of postal authorities to promote the employe next in line for a vacancy—provided the employe has the necessary qualifications. It will eliminate politics in the service and place that service on a par with private industry, where seniority is recognized.

The measure is designed to improve the morale of the postal worker by giving him added incentive to do his best, thus tending to improve the postal service at the same time.

It means that it will now be possible for an employe to start at the bottom and work his way to the top. The political boss will no longer be able to start his friend over the heads of older employes.

Postal employes have sought this legislation for many years, and Rep. Luecke is determined to have it enacted into law, at this session, if possible.

Another bill, H. J. Res. 140, as introduced by Cong. Luecke, asks display of the American flag on October 11, in commemoration of the great Polish patriot, Casimir Pulaski.

SALE DEER HUNTING LICENSES HIT PEAK

Twenty-Five Thousand More Sold In 1936 Than Previous Years

At least 25,000 more deer hunting licenses were sold in Michigan last fall than in any previous season.

Conservation authorities expected that in the neighborhood of 110,000 deer hunting licenses would be sold, but the latest compilation of settlements with state license agents reveal sales totalling 121,000. Further settlements are expected to increase that total somewhat.

The increase in sale of licenses is believed due largely to the fact that approximately 8,000 square miles of new deer area in the Lower Peninsula was opened to hunters last fall.

GM WORKERS PROTEST IDLENESS FROM STRIKE

Over 79% of Employes in Various Plants Would Return to Work

A total of 110,262 General Motors employes from 43 plants affected employing 139,312 men and women — more than 79 per cent — have protested against strikes which have forced them into idleness or imperiled their present jobs, General Motors Corporation announced Thursday. Reports of this activity by employes are coming into Detroit hourly as the back-to-work movement sweeps across the country in 36 cities where plants are located, corporation officials said. Hundreds of additional workers are enrolling daily.

Through petitions, mass meetings and other demonstrations, employes have expressed satisfaction with present bargaining methods to secure adjustment of grievances, and more favorable wages, hours and working conditions and request immediate resumption of operations in letters and telegrams. Some of these have been sent to President Roosevelt. Others have gone to governors of various states. Appeals also have been sent to William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president of General Motors, who announced the total figures, Thursday.

Bangs' Disease Tests Progressing Rapidly

Dairymen in Charlevoix county can be very happy over the progress of Bangs' disease tests. In fact no other county has the low per cent of reaction that this county has with as much of the county tested. Up to the 22nd of January the results show 1086 herds tested with 8332 cattle and 44 reactors. This is a percentage of one-half of one per cent.

As far as the second test is concerned, there are 489 herds tested with 4735 cattle, with only seven reactors or a percentage of only one-tenth of one per cent reaction. Then there are 27 herds that have been tested the third time.

We can be justly proud of this record and also the low per cent of reaction. Dairymen should have no difficulty in disposing of their surplus cattle to good advantage as out of state buyers will pay good prices for good cattle free from Bangs' disease. Dr. C. G. Jensen is in charge of this program and is still busily engaged every day in making tests. This work will be continued until some county-wide plan can be formulated by the state adaptable to Charlevoix county.

FINE PROGRAM FOR 10TH ANNUAL PETOSKEY EVENT

National Amateur Skating Championships One of Many Features on Outstanding 10-Day Program

PETOSKEY, Feb. 3 — Miss Helen Gallagher, Charlevoix winter sports queen for 1937, will come to Petoskey Friday for the opening ceremonies of the Tenth Annual Michigan Winter Carnival.

A large delegation is expected from Charlevoix when the carnival program gets under way.

Snow queens from 10 cities will compriso the court of Miss Dorothy Lustig, Michigan Winter Queen for 1937. The cities represented are: Alpena, Boyne City, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Escanaba, Grand Rapids, Harbor Springs, Muskegon, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City.

The girls will all be guests of honor at the luncheon Friday noon which officially opens the carnival. In the evening they will be featured at the coronation ceremonies in the Winter Sports Park.

A replica of the White Shoals lighthouse in Lake Michigan has been constructed of clear ice at the Winter Sports Park. Chunks of ice piled around the base give an effect of drift ice thrown against the lighthouse by the lake winds.

An aerial beacon will sweep the park from the top of the lighthouse and colored lights, mounted on turntables, will illuminate the ice structure from inside. The throne will be located amid the pieces of ice at the base.

Saturday and Sunday the outstanding carnival attrsction will take place. The National Amateur Outdoor Ice Speed Skating Championships and the Michigan Open Speed Skating Championships will be held in the Winter Sports Park.

Skaters from New England to Iowa and north to Minnesota will participate in the contests, including the five members of the United States Olympic Skating Team: Leo Freisinger, Allan Potts, Edward Schroeder, Robert Petersen and Delbert Lamb. Each will be seeking the national championship which has been won for the last two years by Marvin Swanson, of the Powderhorn Skating Club at Minneapolis.

Snow trains from the south will bring hundreds of visitors to Petoskey during the carnival in addition to the large crowds planning to come by automobile.

The first snow train of the season was run Sunday from Grand Rapids, bringing 250 winter sports fans for a six hour stay here. Next Sunday the Grand Rapids train will carry more than 500 persons, officials of the railways estimated.

The carnival will continue through February 14 with a full program of events each day. Weather conditions for winter sports have been good at Petoskey for a long time and it is expected perfect ice and snow will prevail through the carnival.

MILLARD OLNEY, PIONEER RESIDENT, DIED ON JAN. 29

Had Been Resident of This City for 75 Years—Funeral Sunday

Millard Olney, 77, one of Charlevoix's earliest pioneers, died at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Reed City following a brief illness.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at Brookside chapel by Rev. H. J. Pulsipher, of the Church of God, and burial was at Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Olney was born on North Manitou Island in 1859. He moved to Charlevoix with his parents on June 9, 1861, and had been a resident of this city since that time, a period of 75 years. He was a carpenter by trade and an enthusiastic sportsman. He married Anna Miller in 1885, and in 1914 was united in marriage to Lizzie Lennox.

Surviving him are a son, Guy, at whose home death occurred; three brothers, a twin brother, Willard, of this city, Joel, of Battle Creek, and Charles, of Grand Rapids; also three sisters, Mrs. Joe Smith, this city, Mrs. Mary Bedsur, of St. Joseph, and Mrs. Julia Campbell, of Hot Springs, Ark.

MICHIGAN'S MOTOR FATALITIES NEW RECORD

State Health Department Reports 1,891 Deaths During Past Year

Automobiles killed 1,891 persons in Michigan during the past year, thus shattering all previous records and classing the automobile as one of the major causes of death in this state, according to unofficial statistics released by the Michigan Department of Health.

The 1936 toll is 13 per cent higher than the 1,667 deaths recorded the previous year, a total increase of 224 deaths. The highest number of automobile deaths in any single month was recorded in December when 223 persons were killed. More than 200 persons were killed in each of the last four months of the year, an average of at least seven deaths each day.

SPORTSMAN'S CLUB OFFICERS ELECTED

1936 OFFICERS UNANIMOUSLY CHOSEN TO SUCCEED

Plans for 1937 Season Outlined at Annual Meeting Conducted Last Wednesday Evening

Officers were elected and plans for 1937 were outlined at the annual meeting of the Charlevoix Sportsman's Club, held Wednesday evening in the council chambers.

By unanimous vote, all present officers were chosen to succeed themselves as follows: President, C. S. Webster; vice-president, Roy Ranger; secretary, William Fessenden; treasurer, Harley I. Ochs. C. Y. Marshall was elected to the board of directors for three years.

Plans for the current year centered largely upon improvement and enlargement of the Stover Creek rearing ponds. It was outlined before members that federal aid in rebuilding of the ponds with concrete bottom and retaining walls could be obtained providing the construction followed government specifications. Steps will be taken to bring about such a project. It is also understood that providing such a measure is carried to successful conclusion, federal assistance in taking care of the ponds and providing food for fingerlings is also available.

The Club went on record as opposing a proposal by the Conservation Department to increase the cost of non-resident fishing license. Copies of a resolution adopted were sent to Senator Otto W. Bishop, State Representative Douglas D. Tibbits, and to the Conservation Commission.

The Club will make application for a consignment of pheasant eggs and will renew efforts to re-establish this desirable game bird in cover adjacent to this city. Also efforts will be made to again obtain from the Federal Bureau of Fisheries a consignment of Oregon steelhead spawn for hatching and propagation.

The meeting was largely attended and a spirit of cooperation was apparent, indicating success for future efforts of the organization.

ATTRACTIONS FOR 1937 FAIR BEING ARRANGED

Charlevoix County Agricultural Society Plans Next Fall Event

It is rather early to talk about the 1937 Charlevoix County Fair, as it is seven or eight months away, but already our Fair officials are making plans for the coming event.

Secretary Charles Murphy, of East Jordan, and President Jess Smith, of Charlevoix, were in attendance at the State Convention of Fair Secretaries held at Detroit last week, and gained valuable information as to just how to make a county fair a success from every standpoint.

While at Detroit the president and secretary lined up the following features for 1937:

A fireworks display for the nights of Wednesday, Thursday, Friday.

Booked five high class vaudeville acts.

Leased to the Joyland Shows three hundred feet of Midway.

These are only part of the attractions planned. — Charlevoix County Herald.

COUNTY-WIDE ADVERTISING MEETING IS CALLED

Supervisors' Committee and Other Groups Will Outline Program

A meeting which is destined to start a county-wide movement to advertise the resort attractions of Charlevoix county is scheduled to be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening at the Charlevoix court house.

The call for the meeting comes from the advertising committee of the Board of Supervisors, a group named to direct expenditure of a $1,000 appropriation made by the board last October for county advertising. It is the intent of this committee to call together members of advertising committees of commercial groups of the county's several cities and villages in order to gather ideas and then solidify opinion in regard to the most beneficial manner of expending the fund.

The supervisors' committee, composed of Don Swinton, Charlevoix; Barney Milstein, East Jordan; John Parker, Boyne City; Dan Buckley, Walloon Lake, and William M. Sanderson, member-at-large, has $800 at its disposal. As $400 of the appropriation was ear-marked for the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, a balance of $600, plus $200 not expended from last year's appropriation remains.

Given the proper cooperation, the movement has promise of starting a campaign of general good for Charlevoix county.

PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY PARTY A FINE SUCCESS

Large Attendance at The Argonne for Fourth Annual Affair

The fourth annual Roosevelt Birthday Ball, held Saturday evening at The Argonne, was a very successful event both from a standpoint of entertainment and financial returns.

The committee sponsoring the affair reported a sale of well over 100 admissions, which, after deducting expenses, left a nice balance for use in national and local funds for the aid of infantile paralysis sufferers.

The crowd, representing Charlevoix county as well as the entire Northern Michigan region, enjoyed a fine evening of entertainment.

AUTO LICENSE DEADLINE AGAIN EXTENDED

Motorists Have Until March 1 to Purchase 1937 Auto Plates

The deadline for securing 1937 automobile license plates was extended until March 1 by Secretary of State Leon D. Case last Wednesday.

The extension allows motorists 28 days more in which to purchase licenses. A previous extension would have expired January 31.

Case said that many motorists would save by this because they are unable to secure delivery of new automobiles because of the strike and are thus driving old cars.

CHARLEVOIX WINS FROM BOYNE CITY

SCORED THRILLING 21 TO 20 VICTORY FRIDAY

Win Gave Rayders Undisputed Leadership in Class C Conference—Play East Jordan Friday

Winning by the narrowest of margins, Charlevoix's Red Rayders defeated Boyne City by a 21 to 20 score last Friday night to register their seventh straight victory and gain undisputed leadership in the Northern Michigan Class C basketball conference.

Whatever views fans had settled upon by figuring comparative scores of the two undefeated teams for the season thus far were blasted as Boyne carried the battle through four periods and lost in the final two seconds. Nearly a thousand fans, looking for a thrill, found just that and in good measure.

Charlevoix led twice before registering the winning points. Carey's deuce soon after the opening whistle provided the first margin, but Boyne registered three times to Charlevoix's one during the remainder of the period to lead 6 and 4 at the quarter. The scoring was even in the second period, Gallagher and Carey registering—deuces for Charlevoix, while Boyne tallied a goal and two free throws for the same total. Boyne led 10 to 8 at the half.

Charlevoix pulled up even, then into a two-point lead early in the third quarter, but Boyne came through to even the count again and the score was tied 16-all at the third intermission. The score-keeper, nor anyone else can tell how the scoring in the fourth quarter went up until the last two seconds of play. Boyne was leading 20 to 19 when Radle, Charlevoix forward, was fouled beneath the basket. He sank both chances to give Charlevoix the game by a single point and the most thrilling basketball game Northern Michigan fans have witnessed in many years came to a close. In the wild confusion, players and referees could not hear the horn signifying end of regulation play and a goal Radle dropped through the hoop during the excitement did not count.

That's the story of the main game and almost describes the preliminary in which Charlevoix's reserves kept pace with the varsity by winning 15 to 14 in a contest which lacked only a few of the finer points of play. About the only difference was that the varsity teams refrained from fisticuffs and football tactics. The method of play, however, could easily be disregarded in view of the spirit prevalent and the stress under which the players performed.

County Flood Relief Fund Approaches the $500 Mark

Charlevoix County Will Oversubscribe Quota of $325 Requested

A steady flow of flood relief contributions continues to pour into the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Red Cross, and up to last reports by Mrs. R. F. Sloan, treasurer, will total approximately $500.

Charlevoix county's original quota was set at $65. A later telegram requested the amount be doubled, and still another message came advising to disregard the quota, as the need had increased five times as much since the quota was set. The increased amount or $325 was promptly remitted, and contributions since that time have justified the belief that Charlevoix county citizens would respond in their usual prompt and generous manner to meet the emergency.

Charlevoix city and adjacent townships have given approximately $375. While figures are not authentic, Boyne City's contributions were around $100, and a like amount is expected from East Jordan and vicinity. That over $500 will be raised is fairly certain.

In addition to contributions of funds, Charlevoix residents have given clothing, bedding, etc., sufficient to fill 75 boxes. Ladies of the Marion Center Grange were contributors, holding a quilting "bee" and providing completed comforters. Other groups have done similar work. These boxes have been carried to flood relief centers free of charge by the Pere Marquette Railway Company, which has already taken several con-

Dear Ken and Folks at Home:

Sunday evening, dinner dishes done, and we are simply killing time till morning. Weather changed again Friday afternoon — dropped 24 degrees in three hours — coldest in years—down to 22 degrees, but during Saturday night it warmed up and today has been about 50 with the sun shining. Texas weather has got me guessing, as well as everyone else. From all reports we escaped the floods in southern Illinois and southeast Missouri and Arkansas, clear across, by about three days. Roads we drove over are now from one to three feet under water. It was high when we crossed, but nothing to what it is now, for over 300 miles. It rains one day, cloudy and fog the next. Thursday it was 83 degrees here; 30 hours later, 22 degrees. How is that for sudden changes?

Today we visited the zoo, a wonderful place with about everything in it one could ask for. Yesterday we visited Randolph Field and Fort Sam Houston. A great sight for us. Tomorrow we visit Brooks Field and other interesting points. There is plenty to see here, but the traffic is

Fifteen above zero Monday.

The nnme of the new boy at the Yeoman home, Bay View, is Peter Jerome.

Wellington DeForest and Vercil Mason are cutting wood for Mr. Kaufman, at Eastport.

Kenneth McKny, teacher of the Grand View school the past four years, will nttend college next year, he says.

Bobby Mason and his second oldest child are stnying at the Kenneth Greenman home in Central Lnke. He is working on the water works.

Charles Morse and Walter Small and Mrs. Sadie Kirnby are recovering from the flu. There are many cases in town, but all are convalescing.

Johnnie Dawson has returned from the Upper Peninsula without having found work to his liking. He expects to try Detroit agnin when the strike is over.

Miss Ruby Drew has left Lockwood Hospitnl at Petoskey, and is stopping with the McWaters family at that plnce while convalescing. She is just recovering from nn operation for appendicitis.

Andy Dunsmore is feeling soma better again since leaving the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Ison have been keeping house for him. His wife, Mrs. Cora Campbell Larabee Dunsmore, is now with relatives in Oregon.

Harry Mason and family, and Vercil Mason and wife were visitors in Charlevoix, Saturday. Mrs. Vercil Mason returned with the Rauchs to Eastport to services Sunday. There were 13 present, eight from Charlevoix.

Guy Morse and family have decided definitely to not go to Florida this winter on account of bad roads and flood conditions. They were detained from going earlier on account of nettling the late Walter Randolph estate.

It is rumored that the Garrett Essenberg family will leave the farm soon, as the boys are all away at work, and Mr. Essenberg's work as road commissioner takes him away from farm work. Mrs. Milo Klooster owns the farm.

Garrett Nicola, of Eastport, went to Petoskey to the hospital last Saturday for a serious gland operation. The malady had been bothering him for quite a while. He has sold off most of his livestock, as his boys have been away working.

The Gleaners have not decided just what to do with their property which they are again in possession of. Some would like to see it made a park where every one could have easy access to the bay and a nice place for Sunday school picnics, etc.

Central Lake is very fortunate in getting the basketball tournament this year. It will take place nt the high school gymnasium, February 3 to 6, inclusive. Central Lake, Elk Rapids, Ellsworth, Rapid City and Boyne Falls will play. A large crowd is looked for.

Quite a little snow has fallen, and we now have about six inches in the woods. Roads in some places were drifted Monday, but the snow plow came along and cleared the road. Much money has been saved from snow removal this year that could be used in school money for increasing teachers' salaries.

Jay Emery is still stopping in town, waiting for the strike at Flint to end. According to Alfred P. Sloan, it will be some time, as he is still sticking by what he said January 5, that he would not do anything until strikers were removed from his plants. That is the proper attitude. We aren't ready for Communism yet.

Mrs. Hnrriman reports that her people at Marietta, O., escaped the flood, but many in Cincinnti are eating cold sandwiches, as the natural gas has been shut off. Miss Rose Klooster, of Atwood, we hear, was in Portsmouth, O., visiting a sister. They must have had to vacate, for we hear on the radio that the town is about all vacated.

Otho Mathias, of Bay View, took Clarence Boss, Dorothy Morse nnd Mrs. Elizabeth Morse to the 4-H club meeting at Bellaire last Thursday evening. Mr. Mathias is leader of the Bay View Handicraft Club, and Mrs. Morse the Sewing Club. There are about 300 members this year, 160 girls and 138 boys. Besides this, there are 115 hot lunch projects in the county.

Darrel Dewey, son of Forest Dewey, the barber of Ellsworth, had his wrist broken in a coasting accident at that place last week Wednesday. He was taken immediately to a physician nt Central Lake, and appears to be getting along all right at present. He and his mother stopped for a few days with her parents at Central Lake while under the observntion of a physician.

Miss Zelma Snider prenched an excellent sermon from the text: "It is I; be not afraid," last Sunday morning nt the Mission at Central Lake. There were 35 present at Sunday school, which is pretty fair, considering the amount of sickness from the flu in town. Miss Snider will stay about a month longer, when she will leave for her home in Nebraska. A new pastor is expected in about a month.

The funernl of Mrs. Caroline Marshall Stigars was held at the Diton funerul parlors in Central Lake, Friday afternoon. Funeral sermon was read by Rev. Reed, of the M. E. church of Bellaire and Central Lake. Remains were interred in Southern cemetery, Central Lake. Mrs. Stigars will be missed by many here. She was of a helpful disposition, always ready to assist in sickness or distress.

Many will be glad to see Mrs. Rauch back again. She has been carling for her mother who is ill in Ohio. Mrs. Rauch tells of much suffering in the flood srea. She says it would drive anyone nearly crazy if they knew of the actual suffering of the refugees of the flood. Mr. Rauch's father will be up from Cincinnati soon, and will be able to give quite a detailed account of the great catastrophe in the flood stricken district.

CHAPTER I

"I don't thfuk I mind for myself; I mind for you," Edith said aa they walked back to work. "You ought to be having good times. You ought to be dancing, and going to little restaurants, and—and everything."

"We Are Stuck in Clippersville—Nobody Knows We're Alive."

"And so ought you!" Gail answered cheerfully, although she felt a knife in her heart.

"Oh, I—!" Edith dismissed herself lightly, and immediately fell into that silly strain for which Gail could find no better expression than "old maidy." "I have a feeling," Edith went on compincently, "that I will meet my husband and he married to him all in a very short time. You know that fortune teller that was at Mabel's—"

"I wish she wouldn't talk that way!" Gail thought, suddenly hot, irritable, and discouraged.

She felt more weary and discouraged as she went on her way. The long afternoon in the library dragged. She felt bored. A sense of injustice oppressed her. Twenty-three—and she might just as well have been fifty-three.

CHAPTER II

She walked home in languid twilight; all Clippersville was relaxed and jaded after the fierce, unexpected heat of the spring day. Gail thought that summer would be upon the world in no time now, the hot, dry, inland summer of California. Edith would buy four yards of dark blue dotted swiss, as she always did, and make herself a dainty, cool summer dress to wear with her lace collar. And Ariel would get out her cheap little silk slips and striped frocks.

Gail looked at a dress in Muller's window, a blue organdy with thin orange ribbons hanging in a bunch from shoulder and waist.

Turning away from the window, she walked straight into the miracle.

"I beg your pardon!" she said, laughing. For she had really crashed into this man inexcusably.

"Gail Lawrence!" he said.

For a second she was bewildered, taken back. Then with her own peculiar graciousness she extended both hands, and her round face lighted, and her blue eyes.

"Van Murchison!"

"Well, hel—lo!" he said delightedly.

"But I didn't know you were in town!"

"But I wasn't!"

And they both laughed ecstatically.

"No, but seriously, Van," Gail presently began, in a delicious flutter but with a sensible and businesslike air, "seriously, when did you come and why, and how long are you going to be here, and what about Yale?"

"Seriously," he answered, dutifully, although still visibly shrivel with laughter and excitement—"seriously— But are you walking home?"

"I am. My honest working day is done."

Laughter. Van put his hand with delightful familiarity under her elbow. They turned toward the Lawrence house, some three or four blocks away.

"Isn't it amazing how the old place has grown?"

"Well, isn't it? But you've not seen it for five years, Van!"

"And are you all still living in Racketty-packetty house?"

"Oh, that's what you used to call it!"

"That's what you called it."

"Yes, we're all there."

"Gee, Gail," Van said with simple fervor, "it makes a differenee to me, having you here!"

"But tell me—you haven't told me—" She turned her face to him, the sunset behind her aureoling her lawny head with gold. "Tell me what you're doing here, Van!"

"Well, I went back to coll. after Christmas, see?"

"I see."

"Well, and I got a bug. Coughed, and pitted up, and was awful!"

Their joyous laughter, suddenly ringing out, was anything but suitable.

"You mean—lungs?"

"A pulmonary congestion. So now I have to lie in bed, drink milk, and rest."

Dropping out or college! Sue was horrified.

"My dear Gail," Van said reprovingly, "I darn near dropped out of life!"

"You do look thin," Gail mused, studying him.

"I'm fattening now."

"And where are you staying?"

"At my Aunt Martha's—Mrs. Arthur Chipp, you know. It's all been arranged. She's to watch me, and I'm to report to the doctor every week, and he's to keep in touch with the dear old guy at home, and Mother's to come out in June to inspect me."

Gail, shabby, gay, and friendly, looking up from under the shadow of his high shoulder, gave him a smile of infinite friendliness.

"I'm terribly glad you're here!" she said simply.

"Listen, are you engaged?" the man demanded suddenly.

"Engaged?"

"Yep. To be married."

"Oh heavens! As if I'd tell you if I were!"

Van's handsome face assumed a pleading expression, his voice was reproachful.

"Come on, now; give me the low-down!"

"There is no low-down!" Gail's face was aglow, her eyes dancing.

"Aunt Martha said she thought you liked Dick Stebbins."

"Dick Stebbins!" Gail was conscious of not wanting to forget a word of all this; she had a premonition that she would want to turn under her tongue the tid-bit of his having already discussed her possible love affairs with his aunt.

"Don't like him?"

"Of course I like him. His mother rents our Stanislaus place." It was one of the Lawrences talking; her head was up. "His mother rents our Stanislaus place," said Gail, "and I see him on business now and then."

"Aunt Martha wasn't talking about business, you low prevaricator."

They both laughed again. They were at the gate now; the last beams of the sun struck flame from the windows of the shabby old house hidden behind him.

"Listen, Are You Engaged?" the Man Demanded Suddenly.

Gail's heart did not falter. It was not the hour—it was indeed not the place into which to introduce a Yale college man, whose father owned a chain of flour mills. But hospitality, deep-rooted and instinctive, blotted out all lesser considerations.

"You're coming in, Van?"

"No, honest, I can't! You know how things are at the Chipps'. People coming to dinner—a lot of fuss."

"Soon, then."

"Soon! But when can I see you?"

"At the library—any time."

"At the library. And say, listen, we'll go to dinner. We'll go off places, and eats do spaghetti—what?"

"Oh, grand!"

Then he was gone. And Gail turned in at the gate, her heart singing. Oh, what a spring night, and what a thing it was to be twenty-three and to live in adorable, romantic Clippersville!

Edith was in the kitchen. Phil had not yet come home.

"Gail," said Edith, "Vance Murchison's back! He's got consumption, and he's up at the Chipps'."

"Yes, I know. I met him!"

"Does he look awful?"

"No," Gail answered with a wholesome laugh, "he looks perfectly fine."

"Gail, they want me to be Lady Teazle," Ariel announced.

"What! The lead?"

"That's what Miss Potter said. I'll be rotten," Ariel predicted gloomily.

"Oh, Ariel, I think that'll be simply grand!" Gail exclaimed enthusiastically. "Ede, did you hear that? Ariel's going to be Lady Teazle!"

"I thought Aileen Fernald would," Edith observed, interested.

"Aileen," Ariel explained, her red lips twisting to a sneer, "said that maybe her mother was going to take her east."

Phil came in before dinner was quite ready, grinned at his sisters, and went upstairs. He came down in a few minutes, to sit in the kitchen and wearily, kindly join in the general conversation. Phil was the quietest member of the family, as befitted its head, the man upon whose shoulders heavy responsibility had fallen in boyhood, and who saw life through sober, sensible eyes.

"Gail, you look awfully pretty tonight," he said, watching her.

"In this old rag?"

"Perhaps Van Murchison's return has something to do with Gail's appearance," Edith suggested archly.

"Oh, is he back?"

"I met him in the Calle," Gail said, rendered absolutely apathetic by Edith's merrily sympathetic manner.

"If there's a new beau in town—" Edith continued rallyingly.

"Oh, shut up!" Gail wanted to say rudely. But she controlled herself. Dinner was served.

Phil sat, absent-minded and gentle, at the head of the board, sometimes coming out of a brown study to give Sam more gravy or decline carrots for himself.

"What's the matter with Ariel?" he presently asked.

"Why, a lot of them are going to the Standard, and I feel—" Gail began reluctantly, with a glance at her sister's mutinous face—"I feel that—on a school night—"

"What's showing, Ariel?"

NEW LAW WOULD REQUIRE GAME REPORT

Proposal of Commission Would Force Hunters to Report Kill

Legislation to require hunters to report on their kill to the State Conservation Department will be sought under a proposal approved Friday by the Michigan Conservation Commission.

The department will back a bill in the Legislature to require compulsory bag reports in an effort to secure information on game trends.

Reports would be made on cards attached to licenses, under the plan outlined to the commission. It was estimated that the plan would cost about $2,000 yearly.

Merger of three administrative regions to split the Lower Peninsula into two districts was approved by the commission.

Under the new setup proposed to become effective February 1, Montcalm, Gratiot and Saginaw counties will be added to the old fourth district and the remainder will be included in the second district.

Present regional offices at Gaylord and Mt. Pleasant will be abandoned and headquarters of region will be at Roscommon.

R. J. Martin, supervisor of the region to be absorbed, will be assistant to Mert McClure, who will continue as supervisor of Region Two.

H. R. Sayre, field administration chief, estimated that the consolidation would combine all fire territory in one region, allowing centralized control and increased efficiency. It also would combine all deer territory in one district and affect a yearly saving of $3,000, he estimated.

HOW THE DRINKER MAY "SAVE" HIS MONEY

The P.E.O. Record recently republished from the pages of another magazine the following suggestions for the solution of the cost of the "bondage of a married man's drinking habit."

"1. Start a saloon in your own home.

"2. Be the only customer. You have no license to pay.

"3. Give your wife $2 with which to buy one gallon of whisky, and remember there are 96 drinks in a gallon.

"4. Buy your drinks from none but your wife. When the first gallon is gone, she will have $7.60 to put in the bank and $2 to start in business again.

"5. Should you live 10 years and continue to buy booze from her, then die with snakes in your boots, she will have enough to bury you respectably, educate your children, buy a house and lot, marry a decent man, and quit thinking about you." — Union Signal.

USELESS THING

EATON RAPIDS—The house that was built for Jack and Jill is unoccupied this winter and the City has a building that it can't use.

Jack and Jill, two white swans, were presented to the City two years ago by Dr. C. J. Winder to grace the river which flows around an island in the heart of Eaton Rapids.

With the coming of winter, City officials began to worry about what the swans would do when the river froze over. So they built a house. Jack and Jill, however, were not impressed and some of the City's workmen had to go down each night and put the swans to bed.

This winter the swans passed up their winter apartment in favor of a spot back of a woolen mill where the river seldom freezes. — Detroit Free Press.

HOW TO GET SOCIAL SECURITY ADVICE

Numerous requests are being received in the local post office for information concerning the social security internal revenue forms. There is nothing about the cooperation given by the Post Office Department to the Social Security Board in the enumeration of employes of the Social Security Act that fits postal employes for answering questions concerning the functions covered by these forms and employers are advised to direct all inquiries to the Collector of Internal Revenue, whose address is Detroit, Mich.

SCAN SEED CORN, ADVISES MARSTON

Hybrid Corn and Unadapted Hybrid Seed Not to Be Trusted

Warning Michigan farmers seeking a seed corn supply to check the pedigree of any seed offered them for purchase, A. R. Marston, extension specialist in farm crops at Michigan State College, offers information on what will happen from haphazard selection.

Ears from a crib of harvested hybrid corn are not to be trusted, nor can farmers in Michigan afford to buy unadapted hybrid seed even if the latter is the first cross, says Marston.

"Farmers in doubt probably will be better off to take seed corn ears out of the crib of ordinary commercial strains that are adapted to Michigan. The only precaution is to test for germination.

"Ask the state agricultural experiment station whether a particular hybrid offered you has been tried in this state. To prove satisfactory, seed must be from strains that will grow well in Michigan."

Marston recently returned from a conference of scientific corn breeders held at Columbus, O. Michigan is far behind other states in the production of hybrid seed corn, he found, and only a small percentage of the corn acreage in the state is being planted with hybrids for grain or silage.

In a survey in the Ohio meetings it was found that remarkable expansion is contemplated by hybrid seed corn growers. They estimated that in 1936 farmers in various corn belt states used but one to 13 per cent hybrids in planting their corn fields.

TAX COLLECTION IS DELAYED SIXTY DAYS

Deadline for Social Security Returns Set Ahead to April 1

Inability of many states to set up tax collection machinery within the required time caused delay for 60 days the time for the first quarterly payment by employers of the unemployment insurance tax, treasury officials explained Friday.

The act provides that employers must pay one per cent of their total payroll to the federal government for the unemployment fund. It requires employers in states which passed social security laws that imposed unemployment taxes to remit to the federal government only 10 per cent of the federal tax. The remaining 90 per cent goes to the state.

Thirty-five states and the District of Columbia qualified under the act by passing social security laws. At least two thirds enacted such legislation just under the December 31, 1936, deadline set by the federal act. Most of them were unable to act up tax collection machinery in time.

First payments of the unemployment taxes for the calendar year 1936 were due January 31. The extension permits payment to be made up to and including April 1, without assessment of interest.

4-H COMMUNITY SERVICE WORK IS AS VARIED AS THE NEED OF SOCIETY

Four-H clubs are literally serving their communities in the proverbial 1,001 ways, a check of their last year's activities by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work shows.

Histories of 4-H clubs entered in the national program on social progress last year revealed hundreds of activities which could be grouped under such heads as public presentations, educational promotion, social service, conservation and recreational improvement.

Under these heads 4-H groups cooperated with the Red Cross, chambers of commerce, Farm Bureau, Grange, Farmers Union, American Legion, Kiwanis, Rotary and Lion's Clubs, and churches, schools and other groups.

The activities of the youth groups were as varied as the material and spiritual needs of society. Four-H members were found to be cheering the sorrowful, serving the sick, ministering to the poor and improvident, assisting the unemployed, providing wholesome pastime occupations, and creating better community relationships.

The widespread dissemination of these facts now being carried on through the press, by the radio, and other avenues, is destined to greatly enlarge the opportunities for group service by the nearly 100,000 4-H clubs now in existence.

Club leaders and members are again offered incentives in this phase of their work through the social progress program which is sponsored by the Radio Corporation of America and provides $7,500 in county, state and national prizes for the best reports. Details of the program are to be announced upon its acceptance by state club leaders.

"Well now I know times are getting better," announces one of our friends, "as soon as my wife sees a luxury in a neighbor's home it becomes a necessity in ours."

EFFECT OF STRIKES FELT BY THE NRS

Report Drop of Industrial Orders; Efforts Now in Other Directions

Strikes are affecting the employment activity of many Michigan industries not directly concerned with labor disputes, Major Howard Starret, state reemployment director, said today.

There will probably be a drop of 2,000 placements with private industry contractors this month through the National Reemployment Service, he said.

"In order to keep our record of placements in line with previous months we have increased our efforts to obtain people for jobs in other types of work not curtailed by the strikes," Major Starret said. "This includes domestic workers for which there is a large demand.

"The large orders from industries have been dropping off for the last month. A variance in the number of small orders for one or two persons does not have as great an effect. We are trying to service them to the best of our ability.

"Smaller manufacturers have a definite advantage if they place their orders immediately. This is a very good time to get competent employes."

AMERICA NEEDS MORE GALLANTRY, SAY THE FLORISTS OF NATION

What America needs is more gallantry, graciousness and thoughtfulness on the part of its men towards its women. This is the opinion of Tommy Luke, well-known business man of Portland, Ore. To get some action along this line, he has started a one-man crusade to discover the most gallant and most considerate man in the country.

This unusual quest is a matter of American patriotism with Mr. Luke. It was inspired by recent news from abroad which again put the spotlight on the fact that European men, generally speaking, excel in those little niceties of attention so dear to wives, mothers and sweethearts.

"It is my observation," said Mr. Luke, "that gallantry in its finest sense both in England and on the Continent is cultivated with the same intentness of purpose with which we practice golf, for instance. It's a habit over there.

"What do I think constitutes gallantry, graciousness and thoughtfulness?" said Mr. Luke repeating a question put to him. "Well, in a general way I should say it is all included in what we call consideration, courtesy and politeness. The best example I know of is what you see in our big hotels. When John Citizen and his wife step out at one of our big hostelries, he really puts it on, even out-smarting Europeans. The little woman finds flowers in the room, a corsage for evening wear and she is fairly showered with a hundred and one attentions from hubby.

"That's what I'm driving at," continued Mr. Luke. "We all ought to practice the same thoughtfulness and courtesies at home that we do at hotels. I feel certain that there are many Americans who are the personification of consideration at home, day in and day out. These are the men I want to find and I ask the public to assist in the search.

"Among them I hope to find the one American, outstanding for the qualifications I have named. I have made a New Year's resolution to find this man and will devote all of 1937 to this purpose, if necessary," concluded Mr. Luke.

ILLEGAL CUT TIMBER ON STATE-OWNED LAND

The cutting or removal of timber or pulpwood on state-owned or tax delinquent lands in Michigan is forbidden by law.

Conservation officers in various parts of Northern Michigan have made a number of arrests this winter in cases where the law had been violated. Individuals have no legal right to cut trees for private use or gain on state-owned land since these trees are the property of the public.

CREDIT ASSOCIATION DIRECTORS ARE CHOSEN

Fine Progress in 1936 Shown by Reports at Gaylord Meeting

Progress in cooperative credit reported at the annual meeting of the Gaylord Production Credit Association, which was held at Gaylord on January 25, 1937, includes a larger membership, greater volume of loans, and increased earnings for 1936 as compared with 1935.

The association covers Alpena, Charlevoix, Presque Isle, Crawford, Oscoda, Emmet, Cheboygan and Otsego counties, and part of Antrim county, and has 599 members, according to information presented to the stockholders by the secretary and board of directors. Farmer-members now own $10,155 Class B stock of the association, which is 12 per cent of the total stock outstanding. The rest of the capital stock, Class A, is held by the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul, which supervises the associations, and is invested in securities.

The volume of loans outstanding December 31, 1936, was $141,973 as compared with $110,296 outstanding at the end of 1935. The membership has increased from 507 to 599 during the year.

Net earnings for 1936 amounted to $4,242 and are made up of interest on loans, interest on investments and inspection fees.

That the association is making steady progress towards that time is indicated by its income of $11,829 for 1936 compared with that of $8,936 for 1935.

In addition to considering the financial report on the business for the year, and comparisons with the previous year, the members elected directors to fill expiring terms. Directors chosen were: David McConnell, of Lachine, Mich., and Charles Shepard, of Boyne City, re-elected.

After the stockholders' meeting the board members chose Roy Anderson president, and Frank Sluyter, vice-president. They also rehired A. J. Townsend as secretary-treasurer to handle the association's business for another year.

Social Security Forms

We have just taken over distribution of a simplified Payroll Record for keeping track of Social Security Taxes. Every employer who has ONE or more employes must deduct 1% of each employes wages and send it to the Social Security Board at Washington. When this deduction is made, he must give this employe a statement of the amount of wages earned and the deduction made. He must also keep on file a copy of this record. The form is triplicate with 55 sets in the book and two carbons. On the cover is a place for the record of the employes pay. Each book is designed to last one employe for a year, thus if a business has six employes it will need six books.

INCREASED RETURNS ANSWER QUESTION: "DOES IRRIGATION PAY?"

"Is it profitable?" is the first question raised in the humid East where supplemental irrigation is being adopted rapidly by truck and orchard farmers, says F. E. Staebner of the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering.

"Not all farmers keep accurate cost figures," he continues, "but those who have arranged to water their crops when rainfall is insufficient report that it is inexpensive drought insurance. Increased yields more than pay the costs."

Mr. Staebner cites increased returns from farms where supplemental irrigation has been used for several years: A Virginia orchardist sets his average increase as "several carloads" and the average annual cost at "one carload." Another apple farmer in Virginia finds the average yearly cost of water "35 cents a bushel" is more than offset by increased yield and better quality. A Michigan potato farmer reports irrigation has increased returns an average of 100 bushels an acre. A New Jersey farmer finds irrigation has increased his spinach yield "about 233 crates per acre each year." A doubled yield of peppers is reported by another New Jersey truck farmer.

Increased revenue from a pear orchard in Michigan is given as "more than a dollar per tree." An Ohio orchardist reports irrigation "doubled the quality" of his pear crop. Among other increases from irrigation in Michigan are these: strawberries, "200 16-quart crates an acre"; melons, "larger and better quality"; peaches, "more than $100 an acre"; strawberries, "a gross return of $760 from one acre."

Luke Barker Says:

Th' nutobyle has jist about put th' horse out o' business an' u lot o' jack asses have learned t' drive th' machine.

Ole Ebenzer Bush sez thet a merry widow ez a lady thet would like a lot t' he a married widow.

Eleven of 22 irrigators of experience who reported reeently to Mr. Staebner intend to bring more of their land under irrigation in 1037. Three others already have all their land irrigated.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Strike Brings Drop In '37 Plate Sales

Effects of the "paralysis of business" in Michigan attributed to the automobile strike situation, are strikingly apparent in records of issuance of automobile license plates by the Department of State.

A check some 20 days ago on 1937 plates sold at that time, compared with the number of 1936 plates sold on tha corresponding date the year previous, shawed 1937 plate sales materialiy ahead of those for 1936. This was expected because of the increase in registration.

At the first of this week, however, only 280,866 plates for 1037 had been issued, as against 291,537 for 1936 which had been issued at the corresponding date last year. In Genesee county, seat of the current dislocation of economie difficulties, the comparison stood: 1937 plates, 12,129; 1936 plates, 14,848.

Of the difference of some 11,000 plates, more than 2,500 deferred plate purchases are accounted for in one county alone.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

Freezing weather in California and flood conditions in the Mississippi basin have affected supplies and prices of most foods either directly or sympathetically due to increased demand on whatever is available. Most directly affected are navel oranges, lemons, avocados and Iceberg lettuce with peas, celery and broccoli to a lesser extent.

Lamb, pork and poultry offer the best meat values, eggs are plentiful and very reasonable and butter is lower than last year at this season.

The three dinners given below are based on current market conditions.

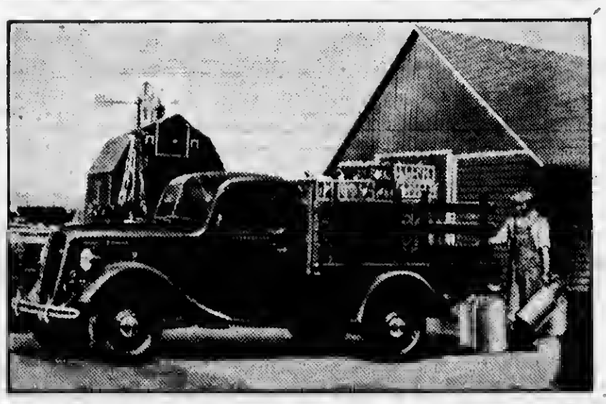
Ford Adds New Light Stake Unit



NEWEST in the line of Ford V-8 commercial cars is the 112-inch stake shown above. It was designed to fill a widespread demand among farmers and business men for a light weight unit of this type. As its name indicates, it utilizes the 112-inch commercial car chassis, and provides a load space 80 inches long, 62 inches wide and 29¼ inches high. Removal of the stakes converts it into a platform unit. Its floor is protected by steel skidstrips and a steel rubrail. The cab is of welded all-steel construction with a steel roof. The unit is available with either the improved 85 horsepower V-8 engine for heavier jobs or the new 60 horsepower V-8 engine for light duty. It is fitted with the new Ford "easy-action" safety brakes.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Isolation First Step In Scarlet Fever Control

Approximately 25 per cent of all deaths in the United States are caused by communicable disease. The percentage is much larger when we consider the deaths among children of school age. It is estimated that 74 per cent of all deaths from scarlet fever occur before the 10th birthday, and therefore parents should prolong this disease as long as possible.

The increased number of cases of scarlet fever reported to the District Health Department in 1936 was over twice that reported in 1935. Over a period of five years reporting by local township and city health officers in the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego, it is interesting to note the irregular trend this disease has shown:

1932	71 cases
1933	348 cases
1934	161 cases
1935	32 cases
1936	79 cases

Of the 79 cases reported this past year, 65 were children aged from one to 16 years, inclusive, which would indicate that careful observation and proper control in communicable disease in the schoolroom must be exercised to waylay this disease among the school age group.

Every case of scarlet fever should be reported promptly and the patient should be isolated to prevent contacts. Even the milder cases often referred to as scarletina and scarlet rash should be as carefully observed for it is these very mild cases that develop into many an epidemic in the school or community causing a severe case of scarlet fever in some other child.

Now is the season for scarlet fever and already several cases have been reported to the Health Department. The only way to prevent further spread of this disease is by isolating the child at first signs of illness.

Familiar symptoms to watch for are—sore throat, headache, listlessness, tiredness, rash, chills, vomiting and temperature.

Needs Experience

Mrs. E. C. M. writes: "Albert, aged three and a half, was disobedient," and I said to him, "If you don't behave, you'll get spanked. You would not like that, would you?"

"'I wouldn't like daddy to spank me,'" was the response.

"'Why not?'"

"'He doesn't know how. He hurts.'"

SIGNAL THE MAN BEHIND

Our two hands are seldom more useful than when driving an automobile. But aside from the mechanics of driving, we can use them to prevent accidents, if we know how to do it.

Let's remember that the man in the car behind us cannot know what we intend to do unless we tell him. But if we do tell him clearly, he certainly will make every effort not to interfere with us, and so will avoid an accident.

The National Conference on Street and Highway Safety recommends three standard hand-signals:

1. For left turn, hand and arm extended horizontally.

2. For right turn, hand and arm extended upward, or moved with a sweeping motion from rear to front.

3. For a stop, hand and arm extended downward.

The Conference also prescribes that these signals should be given from the left side of car, and should be given continuously for 100 feet before turning.

It is only fair to give these signals, and to expect them from others. If you live in a community where a different set of signals is commonly used, familiarize yourself, of course, with them and use them continually.

"Ice skating is not alone a sport—it is an art, too. I try to put some of the beauty of the dance into my skating. You see, at first I wanted to be a ballet dancer, and I studied dancing until I was 20 years old."

GREAT LAKES EXPOSITION IS WORLD TOUR MAGIC CARPET

—Margaret Bourke-White Photo

THE STREETS OF THE WORLD of the Great Lakes Exposition in Cleveland, which opens on May 29, give visitors to the great 150-acre Exposition a colorful trip around the world with quaint and romantic buildings, gay cafes and restaurants, thrilling music and exotic dancers. Greatly enlarged and more beautifully decorated, the Streets of the World of the 1937 Exposition will be even more popular than it was when millions saw it last year. Thirty-three countries are represented in this miniature world on the shores of Lake Erie.

STATE NEWS LETTER

Memories of the ill-fated Blue Eagle were revived in the State Legislature several days ago when a "baby NRA" bill, directing the governor to provide codes of fair competition, maximum hours and minimum wages, was introduced by Rep. Frank N. Steele, Muskegon.

In view of proposed legislation at Washington along similar lines and the unsettled labor conditions in Michigan brought out by the "sit down" strike, state legislators noted with interest that the Steele bill would provide for freedom for compulsory membership in company unions, collective bargaining for employes, and the right to organize.

Under the same category of "social legislation" was a bill by Rep. H. O. Clines, of Ludington, and Rep. J. Philip Rahoi, of Iron Mountain, providing for a one and a half per cent income tax on residents and non-residents. As a medium for further distribution of wealth, the new tax measure would raise, according to Rahoi, more than $60,000,000 annually, the entire amount of which would be devoted to welfare and old age pensions.

Editors' Resolutions

Converging at the state capital from all parts of Michigan, editors of country weeklies and dailies met last Thursday and Friday for the 66th annual meeting of the Michigan Press Association. Of interest publicly are two resolutions: (1) That Michigan newspapers cooperate in 1937 to advertise by news and editorials the vacation resources of Michigan, the state's second leading industry, and (2) That overcrowded conditions at Michigan State College are deplorable in view of a 50 per cent increased enrollment in three years and a lack of adequate dormitory and classroom facilities.

Judicial "Thumbs Down"

Should the state government of Michigan be given the power to fix minimum wages? This question resulted in a conference last Monday (February 1) in Detroit.

Under the call of Abner E. Larned, state director, national emergency council, a movement was launched to obtain a clarifying amendment to the federal constitution enabling the passage of minimum wage legislation.

Recent interpretations by the United States supreme court, legal authorities declare, make it evident that State Senator Roosevelt's minimum wage bill at Lansing would incur a judicial "thumbs down" if enacted and appealed to Washington.

Senator Roosevelt, Detroit, is considered by many observers to be an administration leader for Governor Murphy in carrying out the "New Deal" in Michigan.

"Twin Niagaras"

If we were to propound this query, "What is the location of the third largest waterfalls east of the Mississippi?", the chances are 10 to 1 you would fail to give the answer.

All of which goes to show that few Michigan residents have viewed the scenic grandeur of the Tahquamenon River falls amid the big woods wilderness of the Lake Superior national forest, some 50 miles northwest of Sault Ste. Marie in the Upper Peninsula.

By exchange of land between the national forest service and the state, Michigan soon will acquire title to the twin "Little Niagaras" and to several miles of river frontage. That is good news.

Autos and County Fairs

Thanks to the family gas buggy, county fairs are coming back in a big way, vouchsafes Chester M. Howell, of Chesaning, secretary of the Michigan Association of Fairs, a group which is looking forward to improved and better attended fairs in 1937.

"Five years ago anyone would have been justified in predicting that the county fair was disappearing," says Howell. "Now we know that the automobile, with its provision of greater mobility, not only has increased attendance at county fairs, but, because it enables visitors to compare the fairs they visit, has helped produce better fairs."

Straits Bridge, Highways

On the program of the State Highway Department, scheduled for an early start in 1937, is a tourist road construction program that will require an expenditure of $11,000,000 in cooperation with WPA and will greatly improve highways in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula and north of the Straits.

Preliminary work has been started on a bridge between Port Huron, Mich., and Sarnia, Ontario.

At Lansing last Wednesday (January 27) a conference was held under auspices of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce to push the widely-endorsed plan for a bridge over the Straits, linking the two peninsulas.

Air-Minded Michigan

Automobile-minded Michigan is well on its way to become air-minded, too.

Dotting the state map today are more than 120 airports and landing fields, many of which have been improved recently with WPA funds of $2,000,000. Work is now under way on 40 airports and landing field projects.

Liquor's Old Problem

Among the perpetually unsolved problems is liquor control.

Representative Joseph C. Murphy, Detroit, majority floor leader of the House and chairman of the House liquor committee, believes the matter should be handled through administrative action of the State Liquor Commission, rather than by legislative decree.

Favored by Rep. Murphy and echoed by most Wayne county legislators are these liberal provisions:

Dancing in beer gardens.

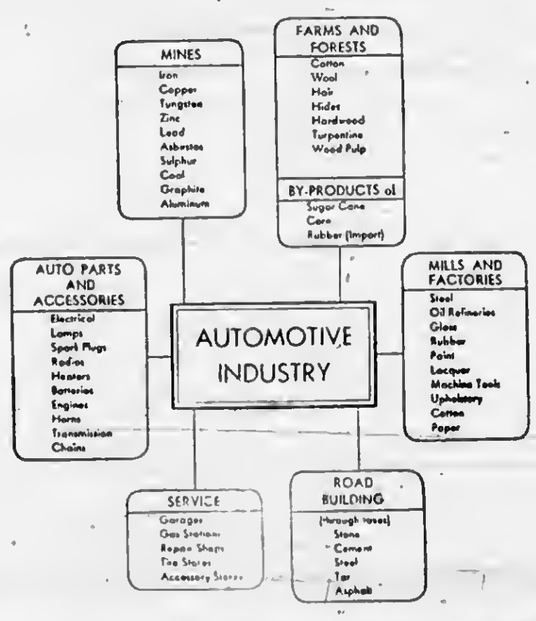
Sale of liquor by the glass.

Late closing hour.

Chairman of the Senate liquor committee is also from Wayne county, Senator Joseph C. Roosevelt, Detroit.

Commission members estimate that December liquor profits to private merchants grossed $300,000.

TYPICAL PRODUCTS AND SERVICES AFFECTED BY AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY



It is estimated that 6,000,000 workers—one out of every seven employed in the United States owes his job directly or indirectly to the automobile industry. The above chart shows the activities chiefly affected, but does not show how vital a part motor manufacture plays in many of these fields. For example, 10% of all cotton raised in the south, 22% of all steel manufacture, 28% of nickel, 35% of lead and even 72% of all plate glass manufacture go into automobiles. Railroad carloadings total 3,500,000 in hauling raw materials, parts, etc., for automobiles, of which since 1930 more than 40% have been manufactured by General Motors. Of course railroads also haul finished cars.

Bot Fly Campaign Nearly Finished In County

Dr. D. F. Newman, Charlevoix veterinary, has been in charge of the bot fly control campaign, and has been busily engaged in visiting the owners of horses who have requested this treatment. Close to 500 head have been already treated with a few scattering ones to be reached this week.

Early in December, Dr. Newman treated some 92 horses on Beaver Island, which is the first time that internal parasites have been treated in that locality. During the last two weeks, in cooperation with the county agent, the horses in the east end of the county have been treated with a few exceptions. We estimate that 30 per cent of all horses in the county will have been treated by the end of the campaign. The main parasites emphasized for control are the young bots that in their life cycle become bot flies and disturb horses so much.

Thousands of Animals Being Tested In Michigan

Livestock health programs are receiving cooperation of interested farmers, county agricultural agents, and state and federal staffs in an endeavor to cut feed, death and production losses in cattle, horses, sheep and swine population, according to a report by B. J. Killham, extension specialist in Animal Pathology of Michigan State College.

In 1936 it is indicated 217,162 cattle in 19,661 herds in the state were tested for Bang's disease. Of those tested, 7,927 were reactors, which shows that close to four per cent reacted. Horses treated for bots and round worms numbered 54,149, of which 49,000 were treated in county extension campaigns.

It is gratifying that in this county in 1,086 herds that only 44 reactors were found, which is only one-half of one per cent infection. Thus it would seem that we are in a very advantageous position and that it is to the county welfare that the work be continued.

Of interest to dairymen is the fact that in 1937 there are 62 dairy herd improvement associations in operation, which is the largest number since 1932. The report shows that the daily production of butterfat for December was the lowest month in 1936, probably due to the high cost of dairy feeds.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

"Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 7.

Among the Bible citations is the following (Phil. 3: 13, 14): "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 254): "Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much."

CAN GOVERNMENT BE REORGANIZED

By J. E. Jones

Triple plans to "reorganize the government" were set in motion last year and there is great interest in Washington and elsewhere in the recipes furnished for the President, the Senate and House. While the Administration, and everyone else, hopes to reduce government expenses and overhead, to make "reorganization" possible, other news from Capitol Hill tells about demands for billions of public monies for this, that—and everything.

It may be possible to make the government acquainted with better forms of business management in harmony with preliminary suggestions. But merely shuffling the cards and dealing out new hands for the official bridge game is not likely to increase the opportunities for a grand slam. The stern fact remains that hunger still stalks in the land, and WPA workers have started to make personal calls in Washington. They demand tremendous sums in excess of the President's recommendations.

During the regime of Calvin Coolidge thrift and economy was the keynote. President Coolidge made every branch of the government understand that money must be saved. The budget was successfully balanced and the national debt was reduced by $10,000,000,000. Outside of that period you have only to ring up the records of every Administration since the beginning of the twentieth century to find the very same class of political muss that we are getting today about the foregoing problems. Any twenty-dollar a week bookkeeper can tell you in advance, right now, that the established methods of spending the government money by barrels-full means increased numbers of public employes, millions of dollars worth of new buildings in Washington, and further postponements of practical reshaping, consolidating and improving the big government machine. The same old tune is merely sweetened up for popular entertainment as Congress gets going.

Those mayors of big cities who are continuing their alibis and at the same time demanding that the federal government support their poor, instead of the cities meeting their own moral obligations are the ones that need "jacking up." They are hampering the government and making such a thing as balanced budget an irridescent dream.

The President ardently believes the time has come to start shedding the emergency methods of the depression, as a government responsibility. To accomplish this the city and local governments must resume their usual functions before any Administration or Congress will be able to make a real dent towards improving the government.

Right now, tremendous new building operations are in progress to house additional government set-ups and to make places for additional government clerks and forces. Figure backwards, or forward, and there isn't a fiddler's chance to economize in government, or improve it, under present circumstances.

STATE SPENDING SPREE PREDICTED

SOLONS AWARDED SELVES $6 DAY FOR EXPENSES

Even Tips, Laundry, Newspoper, Included in Items Allowoble on Expense Accounts

The Legislature has prepared to go into the secund month of its regular session with the pleasant prospect of a spending spree ahead.

Committees of both houses announced plans to resume the practice of making junket trips to state institutions (all expenses paid) to learn first hand the financial needs of the hospitals, prisons and colleges. These trips were discontinued several years ago in the interest of economy.

The Huuse voted its members a $6 a day expense account during their atay in Lansing which, when added to their regular salary, will provide a gross income of $9 a day.

The Houso action, as even more members will admit, may be slightly contrary to the spirit and letter of the state constitution, but tho prospect of additional funds brought cheer to all in Lansing except the fourth class hotel operators and the hot dug stands patronized by many a law maker short of cash just before payday.

The matter of legality of giving the legislators $10 a day more than tho constitution provides has been already submitted to Attorney General Starr and he has said it isn't constitutional, but he will now be asked if the $6 will be all right. The sponsors of the resolution passed think they have reworded it sufficiently to get by on this second try.

The resolution imposes upon the representatives the duty of giving the House clerk a detailed account of how the expense money is spent and inquiry into this angle brings to light the fact that the House resolutions committee has already given much consideration to the matter.

Hotel bills, including meals, will be approved as a preferred claim. This will give the solons a problem right off. The most swanky hostelry in town gets $3.50 a day and up fur rooms, while there are rooming houses where the weekly fee for bed and room is about $5.

In the first line of eligible charges also will be tips, telegrams, phone calls, laundry, taxi fares and newspapers. The House is even willing to go so fnr as to pny for the entertainment of out-of-town cunstituents, provided the entertainment dōes not bring the day's bill over $6.

CHARLEVOIX WINS FROM BOYNE CITY

In the main contest there was little to choose from between the two teams. Both were powerful on offense and defense and were smooth-working combinations. Charlevoix displayed a decided nervousness and in many instances, in the first half, handled the ball poorly.

The line-ups:

Charlevoix (21)	FG	FT	P
Richardson	0	1	2
Carey	4	1	0
Radle	2	3	2

Charlevoix plays away from home again this week at East Jordan. Both Charlevoix and Boyne close their pre-tournament schedules with a second meeting at Charlevoix, a game which will definitely decide the Northern Michigan Class C leadership.

MINISTERIAL GROUP MEETING ON MONDAY

Northern Michigen Pastors Enjoyed Fine Progrem et Cong. Church

The Little Traverse Bay Ministerial Association met last Monday afternoon at the Congregational church. The program was preceded by a dinner served by the ladies of the Pilgrim Circle.

Rev. John Alexander, president of the organization, introduced the first speaker, Floyd A. Supp, of Charlevoix, who spoke on "Child Delinquency." Mr. Supp introduced his subject with an article from J. Edgar Hoover which opened a large field of intereats. Every one present could not escape the feeling of responsibility of doing all in his power to aid, not merely in apprehending the criminal, but in preventing the develupment of criminals.

Rev. Booth, of the Christian church of Petoskey, a clergyman well known throughout this northern district, said farewell, and expects to leave this week for his new field in Cleveland, O. Mr. Booth is one of the few remaining members who helped to organize the association.

A telegram received and read hy the secretary concerning the strike situation in the Detroit and Flint districts revealed that the ministers of Michigan are quite concerned about the situation, and many were frank in stating their positions.

After a discussion led by Rev. Bailey, of Horton Bay, Rev. Eley, of Boyne City, and Rev. Reed, of Central Lake, on suitable programs for the Lenten season and Easter, the association adjourned to meet in n retreat at Petoskey, March 1.

CHEVROLET WORKERS RETURNING TO PLANTS

Ninety Per Cent Recalled to Jobs During Past Week

Approximately 90 per cent of the total number of Chevrolet employes in Detroit, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City, Muncie and Indianapolis, who were summoned to work, returned last week with the re-opening of the company's plants in these cities, it was stated at Flint by M. E. Coyle, general mannger of the Chevrolet Division, General Motors Corporation.

Fully 95 per cent of the night-shift reported for duty. Shortness of notice to return to wurk in the various plant cities was given as the main reason why the small remaining percentage did not return to work, Mr. Coyle pointed out.

It was further explained that mnny employes who were forced out of employment several weeks ago, through no fault of their own, had obtained jobs elsewhere while others had left the community to visit with friends and relatives.

No additional workers will be employed to take the place of those who did not report for work, Mr. Coyle said, as the company's purpose in opening the plants is to provide part-time employment for as many regular employes as possible so that they will not be forced to go on relief.

There is a good deal of difference between selfishness und greed.

It was all Mexican and Chinese. Picked up a sack of navel oranges and mailed you, Clare and Lucile some. They are the finest I ever ate, and I hope they come through in good shape.

We leave here Wednesday morning for Corpua Christi. Will stay there for a few days and move up the coast. Am afraid of the floods across the Mississippi at New Orleans and thereabouts. The crest will be on about the time we arrive in that section. Have had no trouble so far, which is a mirncle, I guess. Texas is a sea of mud so far, but we hope for better going nearer the Gulf. We are always short of wood but have plenty to eat. Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit, vegetables of all kinds, so are living good. Tomatoes 10 cents per dozen. Potatoes six cents per pound. No apples. Meat about Charlevoix prices; other things same as at home.

Corpus Christi, Tex.,
January 29

Dear Folks at Home:

If I recall correctly, I left you in my last letter at Little Rock, the capital city of Arkansas, January 13. We stayed there three nights, leaving the morning of the third day. It was raining when we arrived, also the next day. Tho naxt day was one of the very few clear days we had experienced up to that time. Leaving Little Rock the morning of the 16th in fog and rain, we proceeded to Texarkana, on tha border line of Texas and Arkansas. Passed through several of the most peculiar towns en route here we have met. One feature strange to us was a central trading place where there were mule teams, natives composed of tall, lank, lean-jawed Americans, a good sprinkling of Mexicans, and the usual number of colored folks. Here they congregate, swap yarns, sell their produce and while away the time. They congregate also on the store corners—numbers of them, some silent, some talkative, a goodly number, if not practically all, chewing snuff. They were usually garbed in blue denim suits or cast-off army clothing, and nine out of ten wore the regulatiun 10-gallon Texas hat. But, boy, they know how to raise cotton and vegetables, and till the soil. This trip took us through Arkansas timber—Southern pine and other varieties I am not familiar with. Every other man, all nationalities, was accompanied with their "houn' dog," the most disreputable of the species. Some places were quite modern, with well built homes and business places, well paved streets, school buildings (white and black separnte), and many very pretty parks.

From Texarkana we made the run to Greenville, Tex., a city of about 10,000 inhabitants, and one of the most up-to-date nnd live-wire towns yet seen. A great cotton center, having the largest cotton processing plant in the United States, and acres and acres of cotton fields ready for the spring planting. The camp we stopped at was quite modern, and we were both pleased and well taken care uf.

From Greenville we hit the trail for Waco; landed in a 100-cottage combinntion cabin and trailer camp. I could write quite lengthy of the beauties of Waco, and even then would do it an injustice. Well paved streets, beautiful residential district, and numerous interesting points to visit. Must have been a lively place when U. S. troops were there during the winters of 1917-18-19.

The next stop was at New Braunsels, in a camp named "The House that Jack Built," most rightly named. Here was one of the greatest museums in the stnte of Texas, individually owned. Relics dating back hundreds of years, mounted deer, wolf, buffalo, bear, six-foot rattlers, cooking utensils, both Mexican nnd white, nntiques of every description, not overlooking the prevalent Texas mud. We spent considerable time in the museum before resuming our journey.

We arrived in San Antonio, January 20, the first objective point of our somewhat lengthy planned trip. San Antonio is a city of 247,000 inhabitants, 61 per cent Mexican. Here we visited a wonderful zoo, Randolph Field, the lnrgest in the United States, Brooks Field, Fort Sam Houston, three of the most varied military establishments in the United States. There are five others we did not find time to visit. Historical spots and missions, such as the Alamo, Mission San Jose, begnn in 1730 and completed in 1752; Mission San Juan, Capistrana, San Francisco de Espada, and other points. The most interesting of these was Mission San Jose, erection of which started 217 years ago. It stands today as it did for a greater portion of this time. In this church is the famous Rose Window of San Jose, known to lovers of art the world over. This masterpiece of stone carving was designed and executed by Pedro Huisar, who spent over 20 years on it before completion. The enclosure, built of atone, covers about four city blocks. It is divided (the enclosure) into small, one-windowed rooms, all facing the center. At times it housed over 1000 soldiers besides settlers, their families and missionnries. The main building, chapel, kitchen, priests' quarters are the same today as a century ago. The old bake ovens still remain, as does also the old well with its water bucket and windlass. The watch tower is a masterpiece, steps after the third story being cut from tree trunks and so straight a climb one hesitates going up. The old bell, used to call the inhabitants to worship, still hangs in the tower. Walls are scarred with imbedded bullets during the many attacks from Indians and renegade Mexicans. I could write several pages on the beauties of this old Mission, which is the oldest of the five located here. Another interesting place visited was the market place, covering five city blocks. First comes the municipal market. Here you can buy table supplies of any kind. Next comes the old Hay Market, all Mexican, and the other three could be decribed as being the same, only smaller. Fruits nnd vegetables by the truck load, Mexican cafes with their hot chili and tortillas, liquid refreshments, and varied amusement places. Mother and I went into a Mexican cafe and had some chili and tortillas. We nearly called out the fire department to put the fire out in our stomachs. Hot? I sny so. One old Mexican sat across the table watching us. He remarked, "Eat um, good atuff. I like um." He is welcome to all he wants for all we care. There is another place of interest — the Alamo, and nnother where is buried tha bones of the defenders during the siege and massacre during the attack of Capt. Santa Anna, Mexican general. History tells us Capt. Sam Houston routed the Mexican forces in this battle, and after 10 hectic years as a republic, Texas became the 28th state of the Union, 1846.

We left San Antonio January 27, after a week of interesting sight seeing, and are now at Corpus Christi, on the east coast of the Gulf of Mexico. Expect to stay here saveral days, then proceed up the coast to Galveston, Tex., and other points of interest. If we can make a safe crossing of the Mississippi at New Orleans, we will proceed east to Floridu. The floods are terrible down the river from Cairo, and when the rush of flood water reaches Louisiana, there is no telling what the result will be, with its accompanying loss of life and property.

Had fresh salt water shrimp for dinner, and tomorrow is oyster day. Plenty of fish and sea food here, and quite reasonable in price. Will describe Corpus Christi and its vast oil fields in my next letter.

LAUNCH COUNTY ADVERTISING PROGRAM

THREE CITIES COOPERATING TO BOOST ATTRACTIONS

Signboards and Folders Approved of Initial Steps in the Plan to Advertise Resort Attractions

Initial steps in a cooperative campaign to advertise the resort attractions of Charlevoix county were taken at a meeting held Monday evening at the Charlevoix court house.

With representatives of chambers of commerce from East Jordan, Boyne City and Charlevoix in attendance, the first real concerted effort of resort promotion on a county-wide scale was launched as those present enthusiastically endorsed the plan proposed by William M. Sanderson, member of the advertising committee of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors, through whose efforts the meeting was called.

As an initial step, the group approved the erection of two signs 10x30 feet at the intersections of M-66 and M-75 on US-131. The advertising will call attention to the larger cities of Charlevoix county, giving mileage to these points and signifying the routes furnishing a cut-over between highwnys US-131 and US-31 through Charlevoix county.

Another proposition meeting approval was a folder upon one side of which will be a detailed map of Chnrlevoix county and northern tier of Antrim county townships, showing trunk line, county and township roads, all resorts, points of tourist interest, rivers, lakes and streams with names, camps, fishing ponds, etc. The other side will contain photographs and reading matter describing the resort attractions of the county at large. The map is being prepared by S. A. Tokoly, county highway maintenance superintendent.

Further action on the folder will be taken at a second meeting scheduled to be held at the court house here on Tuesday, February 23, at 8 p. m.

Monday night's meeting was a fruitful one and is considered the forerunner of a plan dostined to be a great aid to further the resort industry in Charlevoix county. Funds to finance the proposals were appropriated hy the board of supervisors in October when a $1,000 advertising fund was created.

HIGHWAY FERRY OPERATES ON 24-HOUR BASIS

Takes Over Car Ferry Schadule Until Ship Is Repaired

The State Highway Department ferry, Sainte Marie, is now operating on a 24-hour-a-day emergency schedule at the Straits of Mackinac.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, announced that the emergency schedule will continue until the Chief Wawatam, carferry at the Straits, has been repaired. The carferry went aground on Graham Shoals at the Straits last week.

The ferry released itself from the rocks Wednesday but suffered considerable damage. It was estimated that it will take 20 days to repair the vessel.

Meanwhile the Sainte Marie will handle both railroad and motor vehicle traffic. Preference will be given the latter. Automobiles will be loaded first and as many freight cars as possible will then be loaded. The additional burden includes two passenger trains daily.

Before the Chief Wawatam was grounded, the state ferry had been operating on a schedule of five round trips daily.

SEEK IMPROVEMENT ON HIGHWAY U.S.-31

COUNCIL PETITIONS DEPARTMENT FOR CHANGES

Ask for New Swing Bridge Over Channel and New Construction to Emmet County Line

Launching an effort to bring about improvement of US-31 north of Charlevoix to the Emmet county line and also the construction of a new bridge crossing the channel between Lake Michigan and Round Lake, the city council Monday night adopted a resolution requesting the proposals and forwarded same to Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner.

The resolution adopted read as follows: "Be It Resolved, by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix, that the State Highway Department be requested to include in its highway program for 1937 the construction of a new bridge on U. S. Highway 31 over Pine River in the City of Charlevoix, and the improvement or construction nf US-31 in the County of Charlevoix north of the City of Charlevoix."

Having started the "ball rolling" on the much needed improvement of US-31, the council will make an effort to enlist the aid of local civic organizations in a united effort toward such an end.

It has become increasingly noticeable in the past few years that the present swing bridge is inadequate to care for present-day needs. During the busy summer months, traffic is tied up for blocks while the bridgo is open. It has long been felt that it should be replnced by a more modern structuro dosigned to operate at greater speed and thus decrease traffic delay.

As to the condition of US-31 north to tho new concrete at Bny Shore, this link in one of Michignn's principal highways is in deplnrable shape and a big factor in swinging tourist traffic onto other routes, it is felt.

VOTERS TO DECIDE UTILITY PROPOSAL

SPECIAL ELECTION IS SET FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 19

Electors Will Vota on Issuance of $115,000 Revanue Boods to Finance New Diesel Unit

As the result of action taken Monday night by the city council, a proposal to install an additional electric generating unit at the municipal electric light plant will be placed before the city's voters.

Through a resolution adopted by a five to one vote, Alderman Campbell dissenting, the council set Friday, March 19, as the date of a speclai election to decide the issue. The public will be given details of the proposition at a mass meeting to be held Tuesday, March 16, the place, in all likelihood the school gymnasium, to be announced, however.

The proposal, as outlined in the resolution, calls for the installation of an 850 to 900 KW Diesel engine and construction of an extension and addition to the present electric light plant necessary for the installation. Estimates furnished hy the Grand Rapids engineering firm of Hamilton & Weeber, retained by the council to ascertain the city's requirements of electric current and the cost of the new unit and building addition, resulted in placing the amount at $115,000 which, if voters approve the proposition, will bo raised by issuanee of revenue bonds, payable from the electric light revenues.

The council's action, taken after several weeks of study and deliberation, is based upon the findings of the engineers, Hamilton & Weeber, whose analysis of the city's electric current production and consumption records taken over a period of several years shows thnt the current used at the peak of the 1936 summer season reached within 25 kilowatts of the capacity of all units.

In view of the facts, the council is submitting the proposal on the contention that the new unit is necessary to the welfure of the city and thus plnce the matter directly up to the voters.

FISHING LICENSE SALES MAY REACH NEAR MILLION

Prosperity may or may not have been the chief cause, but nevertheless sales of Michigan fishing licenses in 1030 soared to heights undreamed of n decade ago.

State conservation authorities report that nearly complete compilation of figures received from license agents reveal that approximntely 650,000 fishing licenses were sold. When all figures are in for the year, this total may approach more nearly 700,000.

REPUBLICANS SELECT NEW LEADERS

JAMES THOMSON NAMED CHAIRMAN COMMITTEE

Present Slate of Office Holders Is Selected as Candidates for Election at the Spring Primary

With a new deal written into Michigan Republicanism, fresh leadership Saturday began preparation for a driving spring campaign.

The new leader is James F. Thomson, of Parma, elected at Grand Rapids as chairman of the party's state central committee at the state convention which for a time threatened to end in disorder.

It was a complete defeat for the forces of Frank D. McKay, of Grand Rapids, Attorney Edward N. Barnard, of Detroit, and former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, who had pooled their strength behind R. Glenn Dunn, of Muskegon.

The election of a chairman was the only convention contest. The state ticket for April was chosen without a record vote nnd all of the candidates with the exception of Charles M. Ziegler, of Lansing, who will battle the Democratic party's Murray D. Van Wagoner for the state highwny commissionership.

The other candidates named are:

Justices of the Supreme Court—Louis H. Fead, of Newberry, and Walter H. North, of Battle Creek.

University Regents — James O. Murfin, Detroit, and Dr. Richard R. Smith, Grand Rnpids.

Superintendent of Public Instruction—Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, Lansing.

Member State Board of Education—Frank Cody, Detroit.

The Clark school is busy making valentines. The fifth and aixth grades are progressing very well in their history books.

The hot lunch club is progressing nicely. The members had a very interesting meeting February 1. All members were present.

The Clark school children had a birthday surprise party on their teacher, Mrs. Anna Warner, February 4. The children hnd Mrs. Warner called away. Then they fixed luncheon. For luncheon they had cake, jello and pop corn. Mrs. Warner was very surprised when she returned to the school house. After luncheon they played games. Every one enjoyed themselves.

CENTRAL LAKE

More wintry weather; 3 below zero last week.

The big basketball tournament, which was held at Central Lake this year, was finished Snturday night.

The cherry growers had a meeting here Monday in charge of County Agent Osterout to discuss the spraying of cherries. Looks like a good price for cherries this year.

The snow plow was out again Monday morning to clear the roads. The snow was about 10 inches deep, and frozen on top with ice. The side roads are becoming quite bad again, although not ns bad as last winter.

We were quite interested in ye editor's letter from the South. I think he will find Northern Michigan can't be beaten by any state in the Union, and will eome back a stronger booster for the land of the "Loyal Wolverine."

The big grocery truck from Ellsworth made its trip earlier Saturday, as Mr. Essenberg had to make a trip to Grand Rapids Saturday afternoon. Grand Rapids appears no farther away in these days than going to our nearest town.

Vercil Mason and wife will go to work for Mr. Fairman the first of March on the big orchard farm west of Atwood. They have been staying for a time with ye correspondent, who is able to go it alone again, since being able to talk on the telephone. He likes the "all-by-his lonesome," which is much easier on the nerves.

Rev. and Mrs. Bolitho, of Harbor Springs M. E. church, visited at the home of her uncle, A. Snitseler, last week. They began a big revival there this week, with Rev. Kenyon, of Cadillac, conducting the services the first of the week, and District Superintendent Frye, of Traverse City, the latter part of the week and Sunday.

Rev. Rauch's father gave a pretty good description of the welfare needs of citizens of Cincinnati at church last Sunday, and trials the people have had to endure. Mrs. Rauch is at the hospital in Petoskey, and was expected to have an operation last Thursday. It is hoped the operation is successful, and that Mrs. Rauch will soon be back to church again.

Our new pastor, Rev. Stetson, and wife, are expected up from North Branch soon to take charge of services at the Pentecostal Mission about the last of the month. Miss Zelma Snider, who has had charge the last month, will go to her home in Nebraska soon. Rev. Jack Snider is expected up from Bad Axe soon, as he has to go to Petoskey before going as a missionary to China.

The celebrated Jess DeForest auto accident case, which has been hanging fire for two years, was decided last week in Supreme Court, in favor of Mr. DeForest. Suit was brought for $10,000 damages. The gifted attorney, Mr. Meggison, of Traverse City, was the lawyer employed by Mr. DeForest, and deserves much credit for the successful outcome of the case. Mr. DeForest lives on a farm west of town. He was so badly injured that he will never be able to do much work again.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Used Car Buyers Get Tip from Case

Leon D. Case, secretary of state, has warned all persons who have purchased used automobiles during the pnst year that the fee for transferring the 1936 license plates must be paid before 1937 plates or stickers may be issued.

The state's motor vehicle law provides that the purchaser of a used car shall, within 10 dnys thereafter, file the assigned title with the secretary of state and shall trnnsfer the license plates to himself as well. A fee of one dollar is charged for each of these two transfers.

The only exception is when the purchaser of a used car shall make application for a new title and 1937 license plates within 10 days after date of purchase. By doing this and turning in the 1936 license plates, the purchaser only pays one dollar for the transfer of title. However, a used car buyer, wishing a 1937 sticker, must transfer the 1936 plates and title, one dollar for each transaction, regardless of the date the car was purchased.

Many people defer the transfer of title until the deadline for purchase of succeeding year's plates or stickers has passed, thinking thereby to avoid the charge for the plate transfer. This fee is not only collected before new plates or stickers are issued, but the applicant faces a delay in the transaction thereby, Case points out.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, inelude the following (p. 256): "Advaneing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from the material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal."

Safe and Sane DRIVING
BY THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL
and Michigan State Safety Council

There is one place on the street where the motor car driver invariably shows whether he has the instincts of a gentleman. This is at the intersection controlled by a traffic light.

Does he come gliding easily up to the cross-walk and stop with a margin before reaching it? Or does he dash in with a squeal of brakes, frightening the pedestrians who have cnuse to wonder if his brnkes are no better thnn his manners?

Does he wait through the traffic signals with his engine idling in neutral? Or are his feet twitching on clutch pedal and throttle, his hand on the gear shift, and his eyes staring out at the signal, ready to dash on the moment the yellow shows?

If you were a pedestrian passing in front of his car, hearing the splutter and race of his engine, seeing his nervous movements and the wild look in his eyes, you could not be blamed for suspecting that he was some kind of dangerous moron. You would be right in hastening by for your life.

Neither clothing nor car indicates a gentleman. But the considerntion a driver shows to others is an infallible sign.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

County Soil Conservation Organization Meeting Held February 1

All farmers will be deeply interested in the announcement that the 1937 County Soil Conservation program has been organized. On Monday, February 1, all community committeemen met with V. H. Spencer, member of the state committee, and organized for the new year.

The election resulted in the following officers being elected for the ensuing year: George Nelson, East Jordan, president; Charles Shepard, Boyne City, vice-president; Edward A. Topolinski, Boyne City, third member of the county committee; Lee E. Sneathen, Charlevoix, alternate member of the county committee; Harrison Smith, Boyne City, secretary-treasurer. The first four named above constitute the county committee.

In the afternoon a complete review of the 1937 program was given by Mr. Spencer. Inasmuch as the new program has already been briefly announced through the columns of this paper, it does not seem necessary ta review it. However, it is expected that a much larger participation will take place than the previous year and that the program has been revised sufficiently to permit a greater earning ability on the majority af farms. This year both a soil depleting base and a soil conserving base will be established for each farm.

Farmers may rest assured that tha full details of the program, including a soil depleting and soil conserving base will be given each farmer early enough to enable them to cooperate to their best advantage.

Another Long Distance Rate Reduction

ON JANUARY 15, 1937

Eight reductions in about ten years have substantially cut the cost of Long Distance telephone service.

Further reductions in Long Distance rates became effective January 15th.

Many rates, for calls to points outside of Michigan more than 42 miles distant, are reduced.

All* day rates for such calls are reduced. Many night and all-day Sunday rates for such calls also are reduced.

The reductions for the first three minutes range from 5 cents to $1, depending on distance.

It costs less now to do business in distant cities —quickly, personally. It's easier for far-apart friends to keep in close touch.

Sample rates listed in the table below definitely indicate the downward trend during the last decade.

HOW LONG DISTANCE RATES HAVE BEEN CUT AS THE RESULT OF 8 REDUCTIONS IN THE LAST 10 YEARS!

CHAPTER II
(Coatinued from last week)

"Oh, nothing speciul!" Ariel answered impatiently, savagely.

"It seems to me—on a school aight—it isn't as if it was anythiag special!" Gail plended eagerly.

Phil regarded bis youngest sister's drooping, butter cup-gold head aympathetically.

"Other girls' mothers let them go, Ariel?"

"They don't nsk them!" Ariel aaswered briefly, hitterly.

"Well, then they're not your sort of girl," Philip decided, with a rather doubtful glance at Gail.

"They're hotsys," Sam contributed slaply.

"They are not hotsys!" Ariel flamed.

"Well, whether they aro or not, you don't want awfully to go, do you, darling?" the oldest sister pleaded.

Ariel made no answer, and the meal proceeded. Philip would go dowa to night school at eight o'clock, but it was harely seven now, nad a generni sense of pleasnnt relaxntion nnd ense held the group. Edith's thoughts were busy with a favorite subject—some sort of Utopia where women wore robes and sandals, and long tables under trees were set with buns aad grapes and milk for all comers by laughing, vine-crowned girls and boys.

Ariel gulped and sniffed; she hated them all. Gail wus thinking about friendly Van Murchison. And Phil was tweaty-five, nnd deeply in love.

He had left Lily at a quarter to six, only an hour and u half ago; left her physienlly, toat is; in spirit he was still with her, still feeling her thin, eager hands in his, her thin, eager lips on his.

Oh, she was everything they said she was—one of the shiftless Wibsers married to one of the disreputable Cass hoys, common, uneducated, hopelessly not a lady, hopelessly not an intellectunl. But she was—Lily, Phil's heloved.

She was the gentlest little thing imagiaable. She wns twenty-four, and ahe had heen demonstrating ever since her fifteenth birthday her entire ignorance of the world and her unfitness to cope with it. Clippersville thought it knew why Lily Wibser had gone up to San Francisco to take n position, when she was hnt fifteeo. They might have known, they told one another, that she would turn up again, vague as to her business career, and more reckless than ever about her conduct, a year or two later. They might have known that she would pick one of the worthless Cass hoys for her mate, and bear him three weak, wet, whining little bables in succession, before he and she parted forever.

They might have known that those Casses and Wibsers would—have a shooting affray, and that Lily's particular Cass would disappear, giving Lily an opportunity instantly to claim state aid and sue for a divorce oa the grouad of desertion.

Even then she never would say an unkind word of Joe Cass. Lily never said an nnkind word of anyone; hers wns the most loving heart alive. To Phil she was as pure as the Maid of Astolat for whom her mother had named her.

She lived in the squalid jumble of cabins that decorated Thomas Street Hill. Philip Lawrence stopped at her brokea-hinged gate every night. The world knew now that she had got him, as women like Lily do get fine men, and felt sorry for those lovely sisters of his who were still so entirely in the dark.

Without money, without even sufficient clothing, with this dim old decaying mansion on his hands, with Gail, Edith, nnd Ariel to settle in life, Philip was nevertheless dreaming of Lily. Love, with Lily, in n little Spanish house with a breakfast patio—this waa all Phil Lawrence wanted in life. He lived in the exquisite dreum of it, paying only a gentle and abstracted attention to what was going on around him in the dreary old shabby dining room.

By tha time they could harely see their own hands or one another's face there was a sudden interruption, snd Dick Stebbins came unceremoniously through the kitchen aad joined them.

Sam jumped up to light the gas, and their flushed sleepy faces laughed at one another in the sickly light.

"Euten yourselves dizzy, eh?" said the newcomer, sitting down hetween Phil and Ariel, and drawing the depleted pinte of ginger cookies toward him.

"We're all slowly dying," Gail said, with a nod of greeting. "I thought you might come to supper, Dick," she added.

"I got off early, and rushed out to see Mother."

He sat easily among them, a big, rough-looking young maa with huahy dark hair aad an Indian-looking skin. He was ranch-bred, and looked it, although the big hands were skillful and fiae aaongh and his big mouth firm.

"How is your mother, Dick?" Edith asked politely.

"Oh, yes. He was only five wheo his mother got a divorce, snd when Van's father died Mr. Murchison practically adopted him."

"How'd you happeo to know that, Eda?"

"Reading a book abuut old Clippersville—you know that crazy book that hardly mentions Grandfather? Well, it had all about some lawsuit, and the Chipps and the Kinneys were in it."

"He's awfully nice," Gail said impulsively, out of a silence.

"He must be. . . . Is he handsome, Gail?"

"Oh—collegiate-looking."

Edith was silent for s full minute. Then she said, with conviction, "You ought to come to Muller's and get ooa of those striped linens."

"I was thinking I'd get one of those dotted swiss dresses at tho sale. They're three fifty."

"You ought to get both," Edith said firmly.

"I wish I had a white hat!"

There was another silence ia the big, dim, old-fashioued bedroom, whose heavy brocade wall papers had aot been changed or cleaned for twenty years, and whose windows were still curtained ia fringed rep.

"Isa't it fun, the way unexpectad things happen!" Edith said.

"I was thinking we could ask him to Suaday supper."

They were silent, staring into space.

"Do you know we're very romaatic?" Edith demanded then.

"I suppose we are!"

"You know we ure. I mean—Phil's so handsome and so smart, aad everyoae likes Sam, and everyone regards

"It Would Be Wonderful if One of Us Married Well."

Ariel as a sort of genius, who's going to inherit Papa's gift, and you—you certainly can write."

"Oh, Ede! I had one article in tha Challenge, and that was only because it was in favor of the Bay bridge—"

"Abigail Lawrence! Your compositions always took prizes at school, and your Mother's day article was published on the front page of the San Francisco Call."

"Well, I know." Gail pondered it a minute, and then said with a suddenly flushed face, "If I should marry anyoae who had any money, Ede, and didn't have to work so hard and worry so much, I believe I could write stories!"

"You don't have to tell me that," said loyal Edith.

"Are two of your daughters going to be writers, Mr. Lucky Lawrence?" Gail whimsically asked the enormous, enlarged crayon portrait of her father hanging on the wall.

"All of us are going to get somewhere, and put the Lucky Lawrences back on the map!" Edith prophesied.

Left alone under her greenish light, Gail fell into a happy musing mood that made her supply of books entirely superfluous. Sha had heea getting tired and discouraged of late; for months life had seemed to drag with her, to lack its accustomed sweetness and interest. After all, Papa had been dead for almost sevea years aow, and they had been hard, puzzled years for the children he had left behind him, years barren of results. The old house had grown shabbier, the garden more of a jungle, the children themselves had grown only poorer and more bewildered. There appeared to be no escape; there had been no miracle.

Just at first there had been a decided social movement toward the orphaned Lawrences; immediately after Patterson Lawrence's heroic death in overcrowded Washington, all Clippersville had made a gesture of kindliness and concern toward his children. During these days Gail and Phil had been the center of a happy, fun-loving group. These had heeo days of picnics, charades, amateur theatricals, sundaes at Dobbins', movies, occasional hilarious gatherings at theaters or dances.

All that was over now. Gradually the smart crowd had drifted away, taking to motor cars, hotel tea rooms, roadhouses.

Gail had neither the money nor the gowns to hold her own; Phil, always something of a Puritna, had frankly abaadoned a company and a code with which he had no sympathy, and Edith had withdrawn first of all.

For actual years now—Gail always winced away in her secret thought from calculating them too exactly—there had heea no attempt made on the part of Clippersville's golden youth to include the Lawrences in good times. Edith had become just a little bit twisted, in consequence, just a little too prone to explain merrily that the Lawrences did aot want to have aaything to do with modern

AMERICANS MUST TAKE HEED!

No single act of a President of the United States in recent years has created such a furor as Franklin D. Roosevelt's most recent proposal to increase the membership of the Supreme Court.

To those who have watched closely the trend of the President's handling of governmental affairs, his proposal is no surprise, for they could see in the offing, sooner or later, a move to guarantee passage of radical legislation which the Supreme Court in the past has found unconstitutional. There could be but one method—control of the Supreme Court by the administration.

Able legislators, men who because of their brilliance have been chosen by the people to represent them at Washington, have already labeled the proposal as a move to "stuff" the Supreme Court as a means of furthering dictatorial methods. If the proposal passes, the last protection guaranteeing a constitutional government is removed.

It is time the American public took stock of the aims of their government leaders before it is too late to escape dictatorship.

THIS STRIKE SITUATION?

This General Motors strike situation, particularly the "sit-down" phase of it? Citizens of this country of ours look on with amazement and conflicting feelings.

They know our Constitution contains a clause which guarantees private property rights. They know that those in authority have sworn to uphold this clause—a law which provides one of the basic principles of our great democracy.

They have seen and applauded federal action in stamping out the gangsters, racketeers and hoodlums who filched millions a year from the public, but they cannot understand why these same authorities stand idly by while "sit-down" strikers who, illegally in their methods, have tied up an industry which paid millions every day to wage earners.

To the clear-thinking person, it just don't make sense. While the average citizen is in sympathy with labor in its attempt to better conditions, few can see just reason for an individual, or group of individuals, to illegally hold another's property. If one sat down in another man's house and refused to move, he soon would be forcibly ejected. If a servant demanded higher wages and refused to leave, the police would soon remove that person. The same holds with the "sit-down" strikers.

Our citizens, while ever generous in their aid to the unfortunate, cannot see justice in Governor Murphy's promise to feed the strikers at their expense. They have to work for a living and cannot understand why the strikers, who refuse to work when a job is available, should be fed by the taxpayers. Also, the item of $300,000 voted by the Legislature to finance National Guardsmen at Flint, who, from all appearances, are seeing that no harm comes to the "sit-down" strikers while they openly violate the laws of our country.

The cause of the whole conflict centers around John L. Lewis and Homer Martin, UAW heads, who have been dubbed by many editors as "America's No. 1 and No. 2 industrial trouble makers." According to the present set-up, Lewis wants to attend to the bargaining of all labor—set himself up as the new modern Mussolini of America.

The whole situation resolves itself down to this: In strikes, like in wars, there are no winners. Mr. and Mrs. John Public are always the goats when a major industry becomes strike paralyzed.

LEWIS IS FRANK, AT LEAST

The remark of John L. Lewis, made frankly if in poor taste, that his organization had supported the re-election of President Roosevelt and that "Today is pay day" drew the following statement in the platform of the Republican Party at the recent convention: "If the time has come when the leader of any group demands special privileges on the basis of campaign contributions then we have indeed abandoned our system of Government."

The Lewis philosophy seems to be that "to the financial supporter of the victor belongs the executive spoils." Lewis' political judgment may be based upon demonstrated reality, but he seems to have forgotten that the weight of public opinion is still overwhelmingly against any such political trading. And public opinion remains by far the greatest factor in the progress of America.

vibrance of life—the cradle of nature's peacefulness. August — our greetings to the good citizens of this restful, healthful haven . . . our opening tribute to Charlevoix, Michigan!

Charlevoix is a port of entry on Lake Michigan, with Lake Charlevoix on its eastern boundary and Round Lake in the very center of the city. Small wonder then that Charlevoix is delightfully cool in summer, when the ozone-laden breezes come sweeping from the surrounding forests over the wide, clean expanse of the waters. This city was settled about 1866 and incorporated in 1905 . . . prospering and thriving in its beauty . . . its healthful climate . . . its friendly, hospitable citizenry . . . until today here is one of the most famed summer resorts in America . . . and as well one of the outstanding winter wonder lands as we will see for ourselves in a few moments.

Charlevoix is named for Father Francois Xavier de Charlevoix, the famous French Jesuit traveler and historian. This renowned explorer was born at Saint Quentin in 1682 . . . during the reign of Louis XIV—a man of great character, strength of will—a devout churchman. Having studied theology in Paris—and being recognized as one of the earliest of historians, he was commissioned to discover an overland route westward to sea across the American continent. He made the journey up the St. Lawrence—through the Thousand Islands and the Great Lakes. A tremendous undertaking it was — fraught with trial, tribulation, danger — the uncertainty of Indian warfare, but Father de Charlevoix carried on to be blessed ultimately with the exploration of the greater part of the upper middle west. It is reliably reported that George Washington consulted him when exploring the valleys of the Wabash and the Ohio, for a copy of Father Charlevoix's journals—well marked with notes, was found in the private library of the Father of our Country!

We come into Charlevoix from the south. From this hill we look down upon a scene of picturesque beauty. Round Lake is nestled there in a delightful valley. On the left the business section of the city faces Round Lake . . . with the large boat houses, fish wharves and city slips along the shore. This is one of the finest yacht basins on the Great Lakes . . . one that provides safe moorage in sheltered, municipally owned slips. Participants in the annual Chicago to Mackinac race make this their rendezvous—a favorite spot is this for lovers of marine sports.

For many years Charlevoix has been the haven of those who seek shelter from the sweltering summer sun . . . for thousands of people from the middle west, south and east come here to fully enjoy the refreshing summer climate. Two imposing clubs with their wooded terraces and magnificent buildings overlook Lake Charlevoix — unsurpassed in the north. Other recreational and residential districts include Boulder Park and Birch Hills and a tourist camp that provides an excellent panoramic view of Lake Michigan. Three fine beaches . . . broad, sloping and sandy offer bathers and sun-worshippers ideal gathering places. The refreshing breeze — the cool waters — the clean sand — all combine to make Charlevoix a summer paradise.

As an ideal summer resort, Charlevoix is particularly noted for its fine fishing. And fishing in these sparkling waters is a thrill as well as a pleasure. Deep-water trolling for Mackinaw trout is a sport for kings! For if you have never tried to land from 10 to 35 pounds of tricky fish flesh struggling for freedom at the end of 500 feet of line, you have missed one of the greatest thrills of a lifetime! But not only deep-water trolling for Mackinaw trout . . . steelhead trout fishing—dubbed by anglers "Fresh Water Tarpon" — beautiful, scrappy gamesters — are taken on light trolling tackle. And in Lake Charlevoix some of the best small mouth bass fishing in Michigan is enjoyed—with spring and fall perch "runs" providing another popular sport! And such fine specimens of fish—as we can genuinely attest—for thanks to the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce—we have in our possession some magnificent large denizens of the deep.

But not only is Charlevoix a summer haven—it is as well a winter delight. Annually a great Winter Sports Carnival is held—one that attracts thousands from all parts of the country—a magnificent spectacle—culminating in the coronation of the Charlevoix Winter Queen. This year Miss Helen Gallaghor was elected for this honor — a lovely 20-year-old queen who was crowned tonight (January 15th)—with the queens of all neighboring cities in attendance. At this moment all winter sports are in full swing . . . ice skating . . . skiing . . . tobogganing . . . snowshoeing . . . sleigh riding . . . the joys of winter in a wonderland well-nigh incomparable!

The coronation of Miss Helen Gallagher is being held tonight at the high school gymnasium. The people are having an intermission during this broadcast with the grand march to follow immediately after.

Charlevoix won tonight's basketball game from Mancelona, 30 to 21. Charlevoix team is coached by Ray Kipke. Charlevoix has averaged 40 points per game to their opponents' 13. We will now play a salute to Queen Helen and Coach Ray Kipke and his boys.

Charlevoix offers many delightfully beautiful side trips by land and water. One of the most popular is an excursion by lake steamer to St. James, Beaver Island — some 35 miles. A historically interesting spot, Beaver Island has excellent roads, provides wonderful fishing and a welcome change from the usual. A most beautiful drive is the extended Lake Shore Scenic Drive from Charlevoix to Norwood along Lake Michigan—with the aqua-marine of the mighty lake stretching endlessly into the distance—a most inspiring sight. Then, too—a motor trip around Lake Charlevoix, passing through the towns of Boyne City and East Jordan—a trip replete with lovely hills checkered with farm lands, inland lakes and woodlands. A most beautiful panorama of nature—in a state that abounds in glorious country.

A city of contrasts . . . a land of variety . . . a haven of varied delights is Charlevoix. Broad, sandy beaches, dotted with the brilliant hues of modern bathing apparel — endless stretches of crystal ice—dotted with the furs and bundling of skaters. Twilight—with thin spirals of wood smoke springing up along those white reaches of sand or ice—or the glorious carmine rays of the rising sun revealing the verdant green of summer or the sparkling white of winter. And sunset—an unforgettable picture—with the sun slowly drawing the covers of night over its flaming head—ship lights gleaming far out on the horizon—the faint sound of voices raised in song, mingling with the tinkle of guitar and banjo — merging into the gentle sighing of soft breezes in the swaying crests of sheltering forest. Beauty—peace—calm—comfort . . . a fairyland for young and old alike.

Yes, we have found in Charlevoix one of the earth's most delightful spots . . . a haven answering the desires of almost everyone . . . an ideal resting place inspiring artists to paint . . . authors to write . . . a city of peace, friendliness, contentment—a city of surpassing beauty . . . where life is truly alive . . . life that finds satisfaction in living . . . that gains honor for giving service and pleasure to mankind. And so August . . . as we leave tonight . . . our final tribute to these good people — our salute to Charlevoix the Beautiful.

The Crosley Radio Corporation has indeed been pleased to pay tribute to Charlevoix, Michigan—a city of natural and lasting beauty.

We wish to thank the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and its president, Mr. Harold Hallett—Mr. G. B. Todd, activities director—for their kind assistance in preparing this broadcast salute to Charlevoix.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN IS THE OUTSTANDING EXAMPLE OF THE TRIUMPH OF CHARACTER OVER ADVERSE CIRCUMSTANCES

Civilization's Hope

When we are tempted to feel pessimistic about the fate of our civilization, it is encouraging to remember Abraham Lincoln.

The encouragement lies in the fact that since men of such lofty character have been, it is not impossible that such men may be again. And it is under the sway of Lincoln-like characters that the world takes its biggest strides forward.

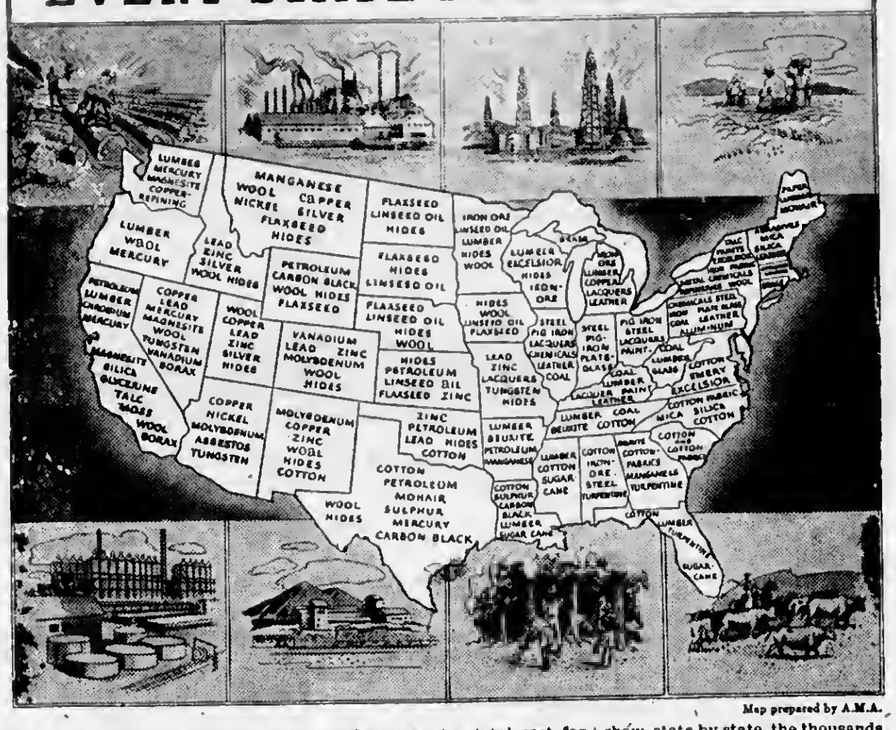
AUTOMOBILE STRIKES AFFECT EVERY STATE IN THE UNION



Map prepared by A.M.A.

The automobile industry is ons of America's largest buyers of raw materials and manufactured products. Tha map above ahows a few of ths prineipal products bought by motor manufacturers in each of the 48 states, at a total cost for 1936 eatimated at more than $1,600,000,000. Significant as this is in indicating the natioa-wide effects of a strike, it is far from complete. Aaother map might show, state by state, the thousands of dealers and salesmen directly affected. There is ao way to picture indirect losaes in ratail sales and in government reveaue through redueed taxes and increased relief.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Watch the Pre-Schooler's Diet

From the very beginning of life the child who is to develop normally must have sufficient and suitable food. Many thousands of babies die before birth or soon after, because of the illness, overwork, or underfeeding of their mothers during the nine months of prenatal life. Some who are fortunate in being a little stronger at birth may survive but require special care to make up for their poor start. Many babies, puny at birth, may be built up by judicious feeding into strong children.

One of the most serious conditions which affect pre-school children is malnutrition. Mnlnutrition is not a disease but an abnormal eondition. This means that the child eannot draw enough suitable nutriment from the fnod he eats to supply all his bodily needs. This eondition may be due to actual lack of food. However, it is found that children of well-to-do families often suffer from serious malnutrition. This is due in some cases to badly selected and badly prepared foods, in others to overeating or irregularity of eating, or to illness, congenital defects in the digestive organs, lost or decayed teeth, or to more obscure causes.

In general appearance, the preschool child is usually quite pale or his skin is of muddy color when suffering malnutrition; often there are dark fatigue circles under his eyes. His muscles are likely to be flabby, his shoulders rounded, his chest sunkea, his posture stooping, and his abdomen prominent, in severe cases the shoulder blades stand out like wings. The child may exhibit sueh nervous symptoms as restlessness, irritability, inattention and contrariness. His sleep is often disturbed and he is listless and tires easily. In consequence his body is lacking in resistance to disease. Malnutritlon in this younger age period is especially worthy of attention because it makes for stunted growth; it predlsposes to anemia and to tuberculosis and it may produce untoward mental effects.

In order that the pre-school youngster may be healthy, well nourished and vigorous, he must eat the foods that meet his needs. There are certain things to remember in planning the menu for this child wbo has not yet renched the school age. It is advisable to include a quart of milk a day so that his teeth and bones will form properly. Give him some dry hard bread at least twice a day to promote tooth and jaw development. Eggs, cereal, fruit juice or well cooked fruit with little sugar and a green vegetable should appear on his menu daily.

When a mother plans the dny's meals for her ehild, she should know which foods supply the elements that he needs. The publication, "The Child from One to Six"—His Care and Training, published by the U. S. Children's Bureau, is an excellent guide in planning the pre-school child's diet as well as advice on rearing the child. Your District Health Department or county nurse will gladly supply you with a copy of this hook upon your request.

CHAPTER II

ways, for they intended to marry men worthy of their name. And Phil had given up society entirely, and admired—or had admired, for Gail never admitted it—that wretched little social outcast, Lily Cass.

As for Gail, for many months she had known herself to be sliding into utter commonplaceness. As time went on she was becoming more and more drab little Miss Lawrence of the library; Phil more and more the quiet, hard-working, underpaid Iron worker; Edith more and more bookish, old-maidish.

The joyous promise of the romantic Lawrence youngsters had long been lost. Phil had told Gail, with a little patient bitterness, that it was to the Hunter and the Barebl boys that all advancement at the Iron Works had been given. Months had gone by without seeing one single eligible man coming to the Lawrence house.

Hardest of all for Gail to lose had been her faith in herself. She had been so sure, at sixteen, seven long years ago, that courage, self-confidence, high spirits, and honest service were the weapons with which to conquer the world. She had been so sure that she knew the secret!

She had seen herself writing children's stories. Oh, nothing sensational, nothing classical—but simple, charming, boarding-school and ranch stories that all girls would love, and that would assure Gail pleasant fame among her townspeople, insure her an income that would mean pleasure and beauty for Ariel's girlhood, and an opportunity to develop the little sister's poetical genius.

But it seemed that forever—forever—forever the once lucky Lawrences would be poor, shabby, hardworking, and obscure, that Phil would help to build ships in which luckier men should cruise the waters of the world, that Edith would sell to more fortunate women the romances she would never realize in her own life, and Gail taste in her own mind only the rapture of typewritten pages, the ecstasy of holding her own book in her own hands, the shy delight of being introduced in distinguished gatherings as "the authoress."

Now, on her twenty-third birthday, unexpectedly, Van Murchison had given her back these dreams. Oh, how good she could be, how gracious and sweet and fine she could be if Van Murchison fell in love with her! That was all she needed, just a break—just an indication that wonderful things could happen, that poor girls were sometimes sought in marriage by rich young men.

Young Mrs. Murchison. After all, if she was married at—say this time next year—nobody could say that she had been an old maid. Twenty-four—that was young to marry. And then Ede should marry—it would be easy enough to find beaux for the other girls, with the Murchison money and position behind her!

The fun of it! The beauty of it! And why not? Other girls had had that much luck, and much, much more.

Drowsing off to sleep in the sweet summer darkness, Gail heard a door bang downstairs, just as the clock struck a drowsy eleven. The Lawrences, having little to protect, rarely locked doors; perhaps this was Sam coming in late, perhaps it was Phil. Anyway, unless it banged again she did not propose to get up to bother with it.

As it happened, it was neither, but Gail could not know that, and so she drifted happily off into the deep sleep of tired twenty-three, Van Murchison's laugh, his voice, still in her ears.

Sam had been in bed and asleep for an hour when the clock struck eleven. Phil had walked home from night school with Lily. He was now sitting on the steps of the Casa shanty at the end of Thomas street, murmuring incoherent and foolish absurdities to the little ear that smelled of heavy cheap powder and perfume.

No; the door had been slammed by Ariel—or rather it had been caught and slammed by an unexpected gust of wind when her small frail hand had opened it upon the summer dark. She had stood there, trembling, terrified, waiting to see if Sam or Gail or Edith had been roused, ready to fly to her room and scramble into bed at the first sound of an investigating footstep.

But there had been no disturbance upstairs, and after an interminable silence Ariel had opened the door again, noiselessly this time, and had slipped down through the overgrown garden, and into the deep green-black shadows at the gate. In a sky of clear dark blue millions of stars had been twinkling, and in the side lane, deeply rutted from winter rains, there had been two other stars, the watchful lamps of a shining low open car.

Ariel knew Buddy Raisch very slightly, but she knew, as all the town knew, that he was an overgrown big boy who had been in Stanford univer-alty for about three years and was still a sophomore. She knew what the scent of Buddy's breath signified, too.

Of the couple sunk in the rumble seat, an overcoated man with a collapsed little bobbed, slick head on his shoulder, she had known nothing. But she had settled in beside the driver with a little gasp of satisfaction and excitement.

Buddy had whispered, "Lissen, we're only going down the road a ways, and come back."

"That suits me," Ariel had said, unperturbed.

"You're a good little sport," Buddy had told her. They were out of hearing of the Lawrence house now, and he could move faster. He had stepped on the gas, and the car had shot like a projectile into the starry night.

THE STRIKE

The complex General Motors strike situation simplified:

Q. Who are striking? A. Members of the United Automobile Workers of America are striking against the General Motors Corporation.

Q. What does the union demand of General Motors? A. The UAW wants recognition as sole agent of all the workers in collective bargaining with the company. It wants to bargain for these points:

(1) A 30-hour week of five six-hour days with pay and one half for overtime; (2) Abolition of piece work; (3) Establishment of a minimum pay rate; (4) Seniority rights based on length of service; (5) Reinstatement of employes "unjustly discharged"; (6) Mutual agreement on production speed; (7) Collective bargaining on a nationwide basis rather than with individual plant executives. (These points are subject to change in current conferences between the company and union.)

Q. What has GMC offered to the workers? A. The company agreed last month, in return for evacuation of its plants by sit-down strikers, to bargain with the UAW on the above points. GMC refused to bargain exclusively with the UAW and offered to meet representatives of the Fliot Alliance, a group of Flint business men and non-union workers.

Q. How many men are out of work? A. The best available estimate as of today is 100,000.

Q. How many men does General Motors employ normally in its 69 plants? A. 135,000.

Q. How many plants are closed? A. 44 are closed by lack of materials, 18 by strikes and seven are open.

Q. What is production now compared with normal? A. Production is virtually at a standstill. If there had been no glass or auto strikes, the company would have produced 250,000 automobiles in January.

Q. How many persons were injured in the two riots at Flint? A. About 40, seriously, but many suffered minor injuries.

Q. What is the CIO? A. The Committee for Industrial Organization is an alliance of labor unions led by John L. Lewis, president of the coal miners. It was formed a little over a year ago and aims at organizing workers by industries rather than by crafts according to the traditional policy of the older American Federation of Labor.

Q. Who are the principal General Motors officials prominent in strike negotiations? A. William S. Knudsen is executive vice president. He reports to Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the company, whose headquarters are in New York. Donaldson Brown and John Thomas Smith accompany Knudsen in peace conferences. Brown is chairman of the GM finance committee and Smith is corporation general counsel.

Q. What was the average wage of an auto worker before the strike? A. 79 cents an hour.

Q. What is the relationship of the UAWA to the CIO? A. The United Automobile Workers is a member union of CIO, just as are the rubber workers, the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, the United Mine Workers, and others.

Q. How many General Motors workers belong to the union? A. Organization work is secret and the union refuses to disclose its strength.

Q. Are there any other unions in the automobile industry? A. A small number of craft union men are employed. Most of the workers were unorganized.

Q. Is there martial law in Flint? A. No, but the National Guard is patrolling 80 acres surrounding all Chevrolet plants and Fisher Body Plant No. 2.

Q. What will be the function of citizen police just sworn in by Flint authorities? A. Flint officials say the special police will be held in reserve for use to protect lives and property of townspeople in case of further strike disorders.

Q. What protective agencies now are on duty in Flint? A. The National Guard, which is preeminent in the striking area, the city police, and the Genesee county sheriff.

Home kisses keep lips from angry words.

Of course you have! But did you know that Firestone tires in each instance were on the winning cars? There is real significance in the fact that these famous drivers selected Firestones for their cars in drives when their lives were at stake as well as the titles they sought. Naturally it is not just a happenstance that they selected Firestones. They did because they have made a study of tires and have learned that Firestones can be depended on to carry them through.

Then it stands to reason that if Firestones were selected by these expert drivers at a time when their lives were in the greatest danger and when they are seeking coveted titles, and it stands to reason further that if Firestones carried them through to safety and to championships in these instances, then Firestones must be a really high quality tire—a tire that will give you all that you would expect in tire service.

No doubt you have used various tires on your car. Then may we suggest that when you change next that you change to Firestone and experience a new motoring pleasure. REPUBLICANS EXPRESS VIEWS STRIKE STRIFE

Rap Governor Murphy on Methods of Handling Situation

Complete text of tbe stand of the Republican Party on the present labor disputes as expressed by the Resolutions Committee at the Republican State Convention at Detroit follows:

"We believe that no matter what principle is at stake in the present needless conflict between employer and employe that the principle of the supremacy of the law should not be the loser. We pray earnestly that reasonable and intelligent arbitration shall rapidly and peaceably end these differences, but should this fail we support without equivocation the use of the legal power of the state to maintain civil rights and preserve the public peace, no matter who the transgressor may be.

"The Republican Party is pledged to the principle of collective bargaining. It believes that the Government should act as an umpire instead of taking sides where an industrial issue is drawn between workers and management. We are opposed to the interference in court and court actions by the executive branch of either the State or National Government.

"We deplore any action or lack of action which deviates in the slightest degree from these principles. If the time has come when the leader of any group demands special privileges on the basis of campaign contributions then we have indeed abandoned our system of government.

"We deplore the lawlessness that has prevailed in Flint for the past fortnight. We believe that this situation could have been avoided if the present Chief Executive of Michigan had taken a forthright position to maintain order, preserve the public peace, and protect the rights of all citizens in the enjoyment of their full, inherent civil rights and guaranties."

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Lyle Miles

Ah me! A ball, thrown a little too far to one side of the head pin, kept Tat McCall from attaining the women's alley record. Yas suh, she needed a spare to break the record but when the pins cleared away the number nine pin was still standing. She came within two pins of the record, bowling 182. As I said before, Ah me!

Another citizen that has been mumbling Ah me, is Crip McCann. He happens to be in a nice little slump right now and he can't figure out what's wrong. Take it from me, Crip, you won't learn what's wrong by staging a sit-down strike.

Youra truly knows what a slump is like, having been in one for the last month.

There's only one good thing about a slump—you feel darn good when you come out of it.

Our "200" club is increasing rapidly. Two new members have moved in within the last three days. These bowlers are Goge Geneit, with 205, and Bob Miles, with 235.

You can't tell me Charlevoix hasn't got good bowlers!

ELECTRIC INSPECTION LAW IS NOW IN EFFECT

Provides Licensing of Electricians and Inspection of Jobs

Public Act 228 of 1935 which is now in effect provides for the inspection of all electrical installations made by contractors and also requires that all electricians—contractors and journeymen — engaged in the business of installing electrical equipment and wiring in the state of Michigan be licensed. In order to secure a license, an application must be filed with either the Electrical Administrative Board at Lansing or a local examining board which will act as a representative of the state. All applicants must pass an examination before being granted a license.

Licenses are divided into three classes: Class I, for contractors established in a municipality having a local electrical inspection ordinance or having journeymen in their employ. Class II, (limited) for rural contractors who do no work in municipalities which have an electrical inspection ordinance and who have no journeymen employed.

Class III is a journeyman's license.

The holder of a Class I state license will be allowed to work any place he desires provided that in municipalaities where there is an inspection ordinance, he registers and pays a fee for registration of $1 for contractors and 50 cents for journeymen. The holder of a license in any municipality may work under that license until January 1, 1936, if all work is confined to that municipality only.

Before any work is done, a permit must be obtained from the local inspection authority, and when complete, the wiring must pass inspection. This is an important provision of the law and will be adhered to strictly.

The Act also provides that no work shall be done without securing a permit bsfore said work is started and when completed, the wiring must pass inspection. Thus every installation must meet with inspection regulations. All electrical workmen are advised to secure their licenses immediately. For the present at least, the wiring rules prescribed in the National Electric Code will be accepted as the minimum standard.

Victor Uirich, of Petoskey, is state inspector for Charlevoix and Emmet counties, and D. F. Wood of this city is a member of the examining board for the district.

MEGGISON DAIRY HERD HAS SPLENDID RECORD

Owner Honored for Dairy Achievement by Michigan State College

George Meggison's herd of purebred Jerseys was second high for January among medium sized herds in Northwest Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Average production per cow in this herd was 588 pounds milk and 34.0 pounds butterfat.

George Meggison was selected this year as one of the three outstanding Dairy Herd Improvement Association members in Michigan. Records of production on his herd extend back over 13 years, and show unusually high milk and butterfat production during that time. The herd was also 18th in the state to be accredited free from Bang's disease. Announcement and presentation of the winning dairymen was made at the dairy banquet on Monday evening, February 1, of Farmers' Week at Michigan State College.

Hill View Dairy had second high for January among the large herds with 430 pounds milk (average test 5.4 per cent) and 22.4 pounds butterfat.

The dairy extension office of Michigan State College reports six sires proved in Northwest Michigan D. H. I. A. last year. One sire, Michigan's Majesty Ruler 269003, was used in the Meggison herd for a time, and was later used by Ario Wickersham. His daughters averaged 7299 pounds milk, 5.6 per cent test, and 405 pounds butterfat on a mature basis, or 21 pounds more milk and 35 pounds more butterfat than their dams. Such sires as this help to maintain high producing herds year after year.

Social Security Forms

We have just taken over distribution of a simplified Payroll Record for keeping track of Social Security Taxes. Every employer who has ONE or more employes must deduct 1% of each employes wages and send it to the Social Security Board at Washington. When this deduction is made, he must give this employe a statement of the amount of wages earned and the deduction made. He must also keep on file a copy of this record. The form is triplicate with 55 sets in the book and two carbons. On the cover is a place for the record of the employes pay. Each book is designed to last one employe for a year, thus if a business has six employes it will need six books.

COAST GUARDS RETURN FROM FLOOD

TWO LOCAL MEN THREE WEEKS IN RESCUE WORK

Describe Devastation Over Area 75 Miles Wide and 1,000 Miles Long from Worst Flood Disaster

Following three weeks of relief duty in the Ohio River flood district, Chief Boatswain Oscar Smith and Surfman James Marsh returned Sunday to the local coast guard station.

From all appearances the two men were tired and worn from hardship, glad to return home, but also happy in the realization they were privileged to aid in the saving of many hundred human lives in the worst flood disaster in the history of the Ohio River.

Their operations began at Evansville, Ind., and continued down river 200 miles to Paducah, Ky., where they were stationed from January 29 until February 10. The trip down river provided opportunity to witness the extent of devastation. Cities of population of 30,000 inhabitants and larger were completely covered with water, with only an occasional housetop, telephone pole or tree to indicate previous existence. Smaller villages by the dozens were completely wiped out, houses and buildings of every description swept away completely. When the owners return they will have nothing but the land upon which their homes were situated.

Perhaps the hardest realization for the average person is the extent of the flooded area. The area under water could be easily compared with Lake Michigan. It ranged from 50 to 75 miles in width, and a thousand miles in length. Strong winds would stir up seas as heavy as would be experienced on Lake Michigan and brought subsequent difficulty in navigation. Small life boats were almost useless under such conditions, and only the larger power surf boats could be used to any benefit. Buildings strong enough to withstand flood waters were battered to pieces by the waves. Navigation even with the larger power boats was almost impossible against the heavy current in mid-river. It was estimated the current ran at a rate of seven or

MASONS INCREASE LEAD IN CRIBBAGE CONTEST

Won by 58 Points to Increase Margin Over I.O.O.F. Monday Night

Continuing their winning stride, the Masons defested the Odd Fellows by a margin of 58 ponits Monday night in the seventh contest of the winter cribbage series to increase their lead to 1,274 points.

Leo Carey led the Masons with a total score of 941, while Percy Marsa, the high point man of the evening, led the Odd Fellows with 941.

Continuing their winning stride, Charlevoix's Red Rayders polished off Grayling by a 40 to 11 count in their first meeting on the local court Friday night. The victory was the 11th straight for the Rayders.

With the varsity taking the court in the first peroid, Charlevoix ran up n 12 to 0 count. They were leading 22 to 4 at the half and extended the margin 32 to 5 at the third intermission. Either the varsity or reserves, alternated during the contest, were too much for the visiting basketeers, although all points with the exception of one field goal were scored by the first stringers.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSTRUCTIONS HERE

POST OFFICE TO ASSIST IN DISTRIBUTING FORMS

Employers Who Do Not Receive Report Forms by Mail May Obtain Them at the Post Office

According to Postmaster J. M. Foster, the post office will lend an effort in the distribution of report forms and instructions to be used in the registration of employers under the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act.

The following letter received by Postmaster Foster from Frank A. Picard, chairman of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, is a request for such assistance and its content is explanatory:

"We know that the business men in your community are interested in obtaining complete information concerning the regulations, report forms and pertinent instructions which will be used in the registration of employers under the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act and the collection of contributions for 1936. These forms are now ready to go to press and will be mailed to at lenst 100,000 individuals and organizations before the end of next week.

"While we have endeavored to send forms and instructions to all employers in your community, we have no complete list. We know that you are interested in having this information reach every employer who should file a return, and we will appreciate it greatly if we can send several copies of forms, regulations and instructions to your office so that they may be available to those employers whom we may not have reached.

"Please let us know as soon as possible if this arrangement is satisfactory to you.

"There may be some misunderstanding concerning which employers should file registration and contribution reports. These reports should be filed by all individuals or organizations who had one or more employes in employment subject to the Michigan act in any three months during 1936, if their total payroll for such employment was at least $50 per month. Returns are to be filed on or before March 6 of this year. Employers who are also subject to the federal tax should pay their state contribution before filing the federal return, which is due April 1."

Mr. Foster states that forms will be available at the post office for those who do not receive them by mail.

BOYNE CITY GIRL AID FOILING BRIBERY PLOT

Miss Alberta Tibbits Given Credit for Incident at Lansing

Miss Alberta J. Tibbits, attractive 20-year-old employe of the state board of pharmacy, Friday had played a leading part in frustration of an alleged plot to obtain secret data from the state board through bribery.

As a result of Miss Tibbits' histrionic ability, three Detroit residents Friday were facing municipal court hearings on charges of attempted bribery and conspiracy to bribe.

Those arrested in connection with the alleged plot are Samuel Skolnick, 54; his wife, Sadie, 46, and their son, Maurice, 23. They gave their addresses as 3332 Rochester street, Detroit.

Charged With Seeking Questions

Thomas J. Bailey, Jr., Ingham county prosecutor, Thursday afternoon authorized warrants accusing the Skolnicks of conspiracy to obtain from the state board of pharmacy copies of questions to be asked at an examination for prospective pharmacists to be conducted in Grand Rapids next week.

Miss Tibbits is the daughter of Representative Douglas Tibbits.

4-H CLUB LEADERS CONFERENCE HERE

LARGEST MEETING EVER CONDUCTED IN COUNTY

Ninety-Two Club Leaders and Representatives at Conference Held Wednesday, February 10

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The recent club leaders' training conference, held in the dining room of the Charlevoix High school on Wednesday, February 10, proved to be the outstanding event of its kind held in the county.

This winter a large increase has taken place in 4-H club projects, which pretty largely indicated the development that 4-H club work makes possible. A very enjoyable banquet was served at 6 o'clock followed by introduction of guests and brief comments relative to the program by County Agent Mellencamp.

Then the group was divided into two smaller groups. One group being interested in the clothing project spent an hour and a half with Miss Lola Bell Green, who presented material of constructive value to those participating. The second group met with O. F. Walker, who devoted most of his time in a discussion of methods and types of finishing material to use. He very capably demonstrated the various materials such as stains, shellac, varnishes and waxes that could be used. It was amazing to note the interest of the club leaders and representatives in making a success of their efforts.

The following schools in the county were represented at this conference: Tainter, Clarion, Deer Lake, East Jordan, Eveline Orchards, Ironton, Phelps, Norwood, Hilton, McCeagh, Marion Center, Horton Bay, Undine, Hopyard, Murray, Bay Shore, North Bay, Lakeside, and Afton. Never before has such a fine group been enrolled in the various 4-H club projects, nor as many communities organized to carry out the program. It is particularly gratifying to note that there are seven new communities with 4-H club projects that were not organized previously, and that they rank with the best in the county insofar as their progress is concerned. Over 400 club members are actively working on their projects at the present time.

HEAVY GAME FISH PLANT LAST YEAR

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY WATERS WERE WELL STOCKED

Reports of Fisheries Superintendent Reveals Over Million Fish Released During 1936 Season

If planting of over a million game fish will do the trick, fishing in Charlevoix county lakes and streams during the 1937 season should be the best in recent years.

According to a report issued by Guy Lincoln, district superintendent of fisheries operations in the counties of Charlevoix, Antrim, Emmet, Cheboygan and Otsego, 1,058,231 game fish, including brook, rainbow and German brown trout, smallmouth bass, blue gills and wall eyed pike, were released in Charlevoix county waters during the 1936 season. The plant totalled 5,257¼ pounds, adults and fingerlings. At the power pond between Boyne City and Boyne Falls, 400 rainbows, averaging two pounds each, were released. Walloon Lake received 547 smallmouth bass which averaged slightly less than two pounds apiece. The fingerlings were from five to seven months old.

In view of the fact Mr. Lincoln's report does not include planting made by such organizations as the Charlevoix and East Jordan sportsmen's clubs, it is safe to assume that over a million and a half game fish were planted in county lakes and streams during 1936.

Mr. Lincoln's report, showing the species of fish and where planted, follows:

Corpus Christi Oil Fields Described by Editor Usher

Travelers Visit Famous Texas Resort; Are Now Sojourning at Galveston

In the third of a series of letters describing a southern vacation trip, A. J. Usher, editor of the Courier, tells of the oil fields at Corpus Christi, Tex., also of the farming territory of that district. His letter follows:

Galveston, Texas,
Sunday, February 7

Dear Folks at Home:

This has been a peculiar day, not so much as to weather conditions, but with us individually. Seems to me that we have overdone ourselves with sight-seeing and long for a quiet rest in some out-of-the-way place where we can relax and regain our balance, mentally and physically. All play and no work don't seem to agree with us, especially with "Colonel," who has started to rebuild his trailer.

My remembrance is that we left you at our departure from San Antonio in my last letter. Before I skim over the details of Corpus Christi, I want to mention one place in San Antonio, "Buckhorn Cafe," where we visited. Here is the largest individually owned collection of deer, elk, buffalo, mountain sheep, wild goats and the famous long-horned Texas steer, in the country.

CHAPTER III

The next day, to all appearances, was like all the other Friday mornings of the year. Sam and Phil got away first of all, leaving a litter of coffee and cold toast on the kitchen table. Gail rushed down next, with her rich hair unwontedly flat and trim, and a kitchen apron replacing the office dress she too often wore into the kitchen.

Then Ariel, looking tired and seeming nervous, came down in a terrible hurry, as usual. As soon as she had departed for school Gail and Edith agreed that she had cried herself to sleep the night before.

"She's such a baby!" Edith said lovingly. Gail made no answer; her patient, level gaze went to far spaces. She mentally wrote and rewrote a suitably casual, yet cordial note of thanks to the sender of the roses.

She stopped at Muller's on her way downtown and bought a box of flat notepaper. The note itself was written at the library a few minutes later.

At the end of the note she added:

"If you can, come and have supper with us very informally—oh, so very informally!—on Sunday."

She thought of this, all day long. "Come and have supper with us informally—oh, so informally!"

But at three o'clock she had something else of which to think, for the telephone in the library rang suddenly, and the voice on the other end demanded Miss Lawrence.

It was Van, cheerful and friendly. What time was he to come to supper, and why put it off until Sunday? This was Friday.

"What the heck are you doing tomorrow?"

"Tomorrow's my Saturday at the library, until nine o'clock."

Gail could hardly hear the happy beating of her own heart as she hung up the receiver. She thought she would suffocate with sheer felicity.

She went home on winged feet, stopping to pick up Edith, to buy the dotted swiss dress. Gail hesitated long over colors, finally deciding on a deep purple. It would be practical, and that shade was always lovely with the dull gold of the Lawrence hair.

This was one of their happy evenings. They strolled home through the shabby streets, admiring gardens, stopping at shop windows. A block before they reached their own corner the Lawrence girls took the footpath through the Morrison place, their hands linked, their voices murmuring along together with the easiness of lifetime intimacy.

"Should you be glad if he was in love with you, Gail?"

"Oh, heavens, I've only seen him once in five years!"

"No, but I mean—should you?"

Gail considered. "Yes, I think I would."

"I don't know that I want you to marry and go away from Clippersville, Sis."

"It mightn't mean that." Gail paused, on the fresh grass that was thickly set with poppies and buttercups, under the Morrisons' oaks. She broke into laughter. "Aren't we idiots! To have it all settled but the wedding day!"

"Yes, but it sometimes comes as suddenly as that, Gail."

"I suppose it does," her sister agreed. "I was thinking," she said after a pause, "that we might have Dick on Sunday—that's one more man, if we dance to the phonograph or have games. That's four men to three girls."

"And Ariel really doesn't count as a girl, because she's just a kid," Edith reminded her, approving this plan.

That night, while Edith sewed and Ariel played idly with pen and paper, Gail played solitaire. It had been her custom to do this ever since her father's death.

As she played she kept up a sort of monologue. Sometimes it was in the form of an argument, a dissertation. Often it was odd bits of poetry, or remembered scenes from Dickens or Poe or Stevenson, recalled word for word; most often of all it was improvised, in the form of a story or of biography.

Just how she had begun this she never could remember; it was a family institution now. Phil never went out when Gail started to play cards. Edith was her loyal prompter when Gail forgot a date in some dramatic tale of English history, or tried to remember the source from which some fantastic theory had sprung.

It was all heartening and happy, and especially wonderful to have the evening end with them all wandering upstairs at once, lights out below, everyone at home, safe and united. Gail saw the roses, still bright and fresh, in her room, and sat on the edge of her bed with one shoe off and the other in her hand, for a long, long time, dreaming. It was not imagination then? Van Murchison had sent her those roses. He was coming to supper night after next.

• • • • • • • • •

Saturdays and Wednesdays, every other month, Gail stayed at the library until it closed at nine o'clock. On these days Edith always came down at about six with a big sandwich and an apple, and Gail and she repaired to the dressing room where Gail devoured the collation, powdered her nose, exchanged the news of the day with her sister, all in ten minutes' time, and returned to the desk refreshed.

Alternate months she went home at noon on Saturdays and Wednesdays, but was on duty all day Sunday, opening the library at ten o'clock and remaining at the desk until five. Gail hated the Sunday duty, but the Saturday nights were for some mysterious reason eternally exciting. There was always a good deal of noise and traffic downtown, the theaters were packed, the streets gaily lighted, and the quiet, shadowy library seemed like a reign of vantage from which she watched the world.

On the particular Saturday evening that followed his arrival in Clippersville Van Murchison came in. Gail was busily stamping and dating, opening and shutting the covers of books, when a voice in the line asked anxiously:

"Have you a good book about cockroaches?"

She looked up on a wild rush of delight, and there he was, in dinner clothes, with a light overcoat on, but bareheaded. They laughed soundlessly together, and Gail sedately disposed of a dozen claimants before she was free to murmur with him for a minute.

"Oh, hello," she smiled. "D'you want a book?"

"Yes, I seem to need one. How about this one?"

She grinned at "Little Susy's Cousin Prudy."

"I think that would be about your number."

"I'll bet it's racy! I'll bet there's considerable matter that couldn't go through the mails, in this book!"

"Oh, sh-sh-sh-sh!" For they were both bubbling audibly with suppressed laughter.

"Well," said Van, "I'm going up to the Speedwells' for dinner."

"Who are they?"

"Well—Corona Barchi married a Spence, see? And one of the Spence girls married a Speedwell, see?"

"Oh—Burlingame?"

"Burlingame. And gosh, how I hate it!"

"You do?"

"Oh, Lord, yes!"

He regarded her curiously.

"D'you mean to say you'd like it?"

Gail composedly stamped a returned book, smiled at a faded woman with bare gray hair and a wilted voile dress, and returned to the conversation.

"I imagine I would," she said.

"You don't go to dinners?"

"I haven't much chance."

"What'll you take to go to this one? I could do that—I could do what you're doing. Go in my place."

"Nonsense!" She laughed and shook her head. Van went away, leaving her with a feeling of contentment and completeness, a certain thrilled sense of being alive, of being pleased with everything.

Later, reading in bed, she told Edith Van had come in to see her.

"Gail, he didn't!"

"Oh, yes, he did."

"Oh, Gail," exclaimed Edith, "that's significant!"

"Well . . ." She wouldn't quite admit it. But she drifted off to sleep on the rosiest sea of hope and joy that ever a woman knows.

Van came to supper the next night, and everything was happy, unpretentious, and natural. The kitchen was just what a kitchen should be, when he arrived, a social place in which three pretty girls were busy and three rather clumsy men were trying to make themselves useful. Gail's biscuits were browned to a turn, and the famous Lawrence cheese-and-egg dish turned out perfectly.

They sat about the table until eight o'clock, and then Phil and Dick, after duly carrying handfuls of dishes into the kitchen, departed. Ariel began at the kitchen table her composition, and Edith generously forced Gail and Van away.

"No, please—it's nothing. I'll leave them all until morning anyway!" protested Edith. "You were going somewhere—go on!"

"We were just going for a run. We can perfectly well get these out of the way," Gail argued. But she did not insist. Somehow the dishes and the kitchen did look greasy and dull tonight; a little domestic drudgery was all right, but it would not do to disgust Van with too much of it.

She caught up a coat, and she and Van went out in the dusk to his roadster and rolled smoothly away from dingy Clippersville up into the fragrant hills where twilight still lingered, with the sweet smell of dew on dust and of meadows wilted under the long day's sun.

"How about Old Aunt Mary's?"

"What sort of a place is it? I've never been there."

"Oh, highly respectable!"

They went, accordingly, to Old Aunt Mary's, a low wooden shack on the Peninsula highway, with a greasy dance floor in the center, and greasy bare tables all about it. The air was thick with grease, for Aunt Mary's big frying kettles were right in full view; Aunt Mary and her colored assistants were also greasy.

But the music was good, and the floor good, and the whole scene so novel to Gail that she found it delightful. She and Van talked flippantly and with much laughter, as young persons who are just making each other's acquaintance usually do. Van even laughed when a chance question from Gail brought the conversation about to his own condition.

"But ought you be up so late? Oughtn't you be in bed, drinking acidophilus milk or something?" Gail demanded as the clock's hands moved to half-past nine.

Van crushed out his cigarette, sailed down at his own fingers, smiled up, with a glance into her face.

"My dear child, there's no more the matter with my lungs than with yours!"

"There's—what?" Gail demanded blankly.

"I haven't got one," Van reiterated. "I flunked out of college at Easter, that was all! Or no," he remembered, conscientiously, "I did have a heavy chest cold, coughing, all that. That was part of it, you see? I had to stay home a week at Christmas, and what not—"

In his incorrigibly gay manner he finished the sentence with a shrug.

"You're not sick at all!" Gail said, in so disappointed a tone that they both laughed outright.

They sat on, watching the dancers. Against the low open pine crossbeams of the roof cigarette smoke was rising blue and opaque. The music droned on, the saxophone whining above the other instruments; the crowd was thinning now, some of the tables were empty.

When the clock struck ten Gail said she must go home. Van made no protest; he seemed tired, too, willing to say good-night.

They were laughing again, driving home in the starlight. But at the Lawrence gate Gail was conscious that somehow their parting was going to be a little stiff and flat. Some minutes before they arrived she began to dread it. It would be stiff. It would lay a heavy bar upon the frothy gaiety of the evening.

But she could not save herself. She could not be suddenly flirtatious—amorous. She did not know how. Did he expect her to let him kiss her goodnight? Did he even want to kiss her? She did not know.

Suddenly she felt like an innocent, awkward little girl. A sense of helplessness smote her. This happy evening must end on a high note, she must be equal to it. She must not say good-night like Edith saying good-night to one of the girls from the store—like a nice old lady saying good-night to a dear old friend.

But somehow she could not carry it. The wild thought of leaning above him for a second, when she moved to leave the car, and of putting a butterfly kiss on his bared head, crossed her flurried mind. But that would be idiotic—that was not the way girls kissed boys nowadays. They sank against the boys, their bodies limp, their painted mouths plastered against the boys' mouths. Such a girl at this moment would have her head on Van's shoulder.

SEEKING WILD LIFE EXPERIMENT STATION

Cong. John Luecke After Federal Cooperation In Project

As a result of conferences between Rep. John Luecke of this district and C. E. Ruchford, assistant chief, U. S. Forest Service, Washington, D. C., the latter is exploring the possibilities of establishing a wild life experimental station under federal and state auspices.

The project would involve cooperation between the U. S. Biological Survey, the U. S. Forest Service, and the Michigan Department of Conservation.

In discussing the subject, Rep. Luecke said that much would depend on whether the Biological Survey could devote trained personnel for the experimental phases of the work at such a station.

The work of the station would consist of studying methods of conserving and propagating wild life and control of predatory animals. Special emphasis would be placed on deer, partridge and other species of upland game.

The findings of the station would become available to all individuals and organizations interested in the preservation of wild life.

Recently, after a severe winter, the Department of Conservation conducted a survey in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula. An average of 40 deer carcasses to the square mile were discovered. They had perished from lack of food and were mostly young deer. Partridge are faced with extinction unless aided by man in the near future. It is imperative that something be done if wild life is to be saved.

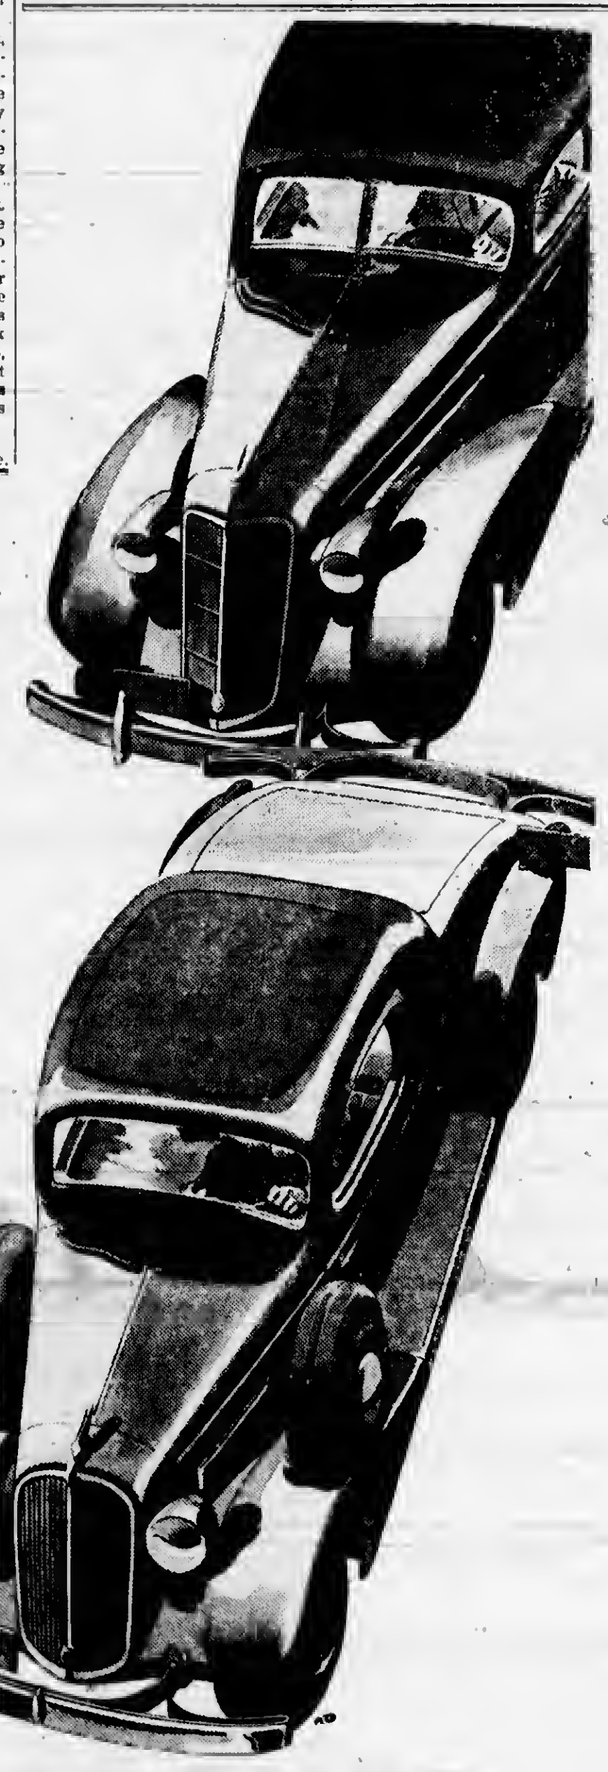
In describing preliminary steps being taken, Rep. Luecke suggested that the station be located in one of Michigan's federal forests, pointing out that the Federal Forest Products Laboratory is at Madison, Wis., and the Lakes States Forest Experiment Station is at St. Paul, Minn.

Luecke signified his intention of pressing for favorable action on the proposal itself and Michigan's claims to the site.

The idea of a wild life experimental station originated with the Sportsmen's Association of the Upper Peninsula, in which organization Henry Wylie and other members of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce Committee on Conservation have played leading roles.

CORRECT WAY

OF BUMPING A FRIEND'S CAR TO START IT



YOUR car that is going to do the pushing should be in LOW gear.

The car ahead that you are going to push should be in HIGH gear, with the clutch pedal DOWN.

If possible, get in position where one side of the car behind is about in line with center of the car ahead. This helps if bumpers lock. Car with bumper on top should try to get over the edge of a curb or other high spot that lifts bumper and permits parting. Or the same thing can be accomplished if car with bumper on bottom is maneuvered to a low drain or other depression in the street.

Tell your friend not to let his clutch pedal up until you actually have his car MOVING.

At best this is hard on your car, but it is a friendly act that you would not deny a fellow motorist marooned by cold. He has troubles enough of his own . . . with a freshly-killed battery . . . flooded engine . . . and sheepish feeling—to say nothing of wasted gasoline.

If you push long enough his engine may finally start, just as it would have done in the very first place, on Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze—the same sort of Winter friend that you are. Continental Oil Company

OUR CONSTITUTIONAL CRISIS

The President of the United States has proposed legislation for Federal Court "reform." This legislation calls for the most serious thought on the part of every citizen of the United States, and for long and deliberate inquiry by our congressmen as to the will of the people. The issue is not partisan or political, but it is patriotic.

If the people today were given a chance to vote on the Constitution itself, there would be an overwhelming vote accepting it anew; for as the basic law of our land it has enabled us to become the greatest nation on earth. We must realize that this proposed change in the Supreme Court would so alter the system of checks and balances which the Constitution provides, that if we, the people allow our representatives in Congress to vote for the President's proposed legislation it means the same as allowing these representatives to cast a vote for us against the Constitution.

Let us quote for you a part of the Farewell Address of our first great President, George Washington: "If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed."

Write or wire your congressman to vote against the President's proposed legislation for "REFORM OF THE FEDERAL JUDICIARY SYSTEM."

GIRL IS ACCLAIMED YEAR'S BIGGEST HEROINE

Eight-Year-Old Pillsbury Girl Cites Lake Charlevoix Tragedy

A wide-eyed, eight-year-old girl was acclaimed Michigan's bravest citizen today.

Little June Pillsbury, cherubic, flaxen-haired heroine of a summer resort tragedy that took the lives of her three cousins, will receive the Rainbow Division veteran's Medal of Valor.

Daughter of a Detroit newspaper photographer, June rescued her mother from drowning in Lake Charlevoix, near the Pillsbury summer home at Charlevoix.

Mrs. Pillsbury, a strong swimmer, had plunged into the water fully clothed when June's cousins, Joan Parker, 10, and her sister, Patricia, 8, ventured beyond their depth. As she struggled to bring them to shore, Mrs. Charles G. Parker, mother of the girls who was unable to swim, leaped into the water in her terror.

Quickly surveying the situation, June shoved off in a rowboat with her sister Nancy, 4. She reached the spot where her mother, exhausted from her futile struggle to save the three Parkers, was attempting feebly to swim toward shore. June with the aid of her sister dragged her mother into the boat and made for shallow water.

The Parker family, residents of Arlington, W. Va., were guests of the Pillsburys.

June will receive her medal February 20. Her act of heroism was selected from a list of seven examined by a committee headed by former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker.

Spring

Spring was certainly in the air Friday. Not only the fact that it was thawing rapidly and there was a warm south breeze—but there was one positive, irrefutable proof. Of course the sidewalk was wet and dirty, but that made little difference. Spring is not far off, because the kids were playing marbles.

Buy '37 Plates, Tourists Advised

Automobile owners planning to drive into other states with 1936 plates still in use, are cautioned by Leon D. Case, secretary of state, that they may inconvenience themselves. Relatively few states of the union have extended the time for use of 1936 license plates to Michigan's deadline, February 28, and in other states, motorists whose cars carry 1936 plates may be stopped after the deadlines in such states.

There are 158,000 Jews in Palestine, or 18 per cent of the entire population.

ONLY SHORT TIME TO GET NEW AUTO PLATES

Motorists Advised to Get Plates Early to Avoid Confusion

A brisk business in sale of automobile licenses is expected to set in here, because with only eight days remaining before the deadline, over half Charlevoix county motorists have not yet purchased their plates.

Auto owners are advised by F. V. Tyler, branch manager, to buy their license plates at once so as to avoid the last minute rush. The facilities of the office are limited, and motorists who wait until the jam in the last few days may have to wait a long time for their turn.

RECORD SIZED BEAVER IS CAPTURED IN MASON CREEK

A record-size Michigan beaver, weighing 76 pounds, was captured in a stream near Mason under permit from the Department of Conservation. The specimen was one of several which had been constructing dams and flooding roads.

Beaver have been known to attain a weight of 110 pounds, which is the approximately maximum, but a 76-pound beaver in Michigan is uncommon.

DEER LICENSE SALES IN 1936 BEATS ALL RECORDS

Additional settlements with state license agents as compiled January 31 have boosted the known sale of 1936 resident deer-hunting licenses to 129,156.

The non-resident deer-hunting licenses reported sold up to that date totalled 793 and camp permits, 736. So far the 1936 deer-hunting license sales approximate 36,000 more than the 1935 sales.

COAST GUARDS RETURN FROM FLOOD

eight miles per hour and, according to the men, there was sufficient water to make navigation possible for even the largest ocean liners.

Chief Boatswain Smith, who was in charge of all coast guard boats and men from stations on the west and east coasts of Michigan, and Surfman Marsh were together after leaving here until returning. Their duties consisted of evacuation of marooned persons, carrying medical supplies, doctors, nurses, mail, various officials including newspaper men, postal inspectors, photographers and Red Cross officials. Some of the persons rescued were sick and had to be brought out on stretchers. Animals found marooned on high spots, some belly-deep in water, and hundreds of them, were shot to put them out of their misery.

The rescue work was carried on under severe hardship at all times. Food was scarce and sleeping quarters whatever dry spot could be found.

Chief Boatswain Smith gave unqualified credit to the Red Cross and United States army personnel for their efforts. He estimated probably a million persons were removed from the flooded area. They are now scattered throughout several states, placed wherever there could be found accommodations for them, and are being cared for by relief agencies. Four thousand coast guards with 1400 boats took part in the rescue work. Receding waters left desolation and damage almost undescribable.

It is the hope of the Courier to give a detailed description of the rescue work of Chief Boatswain Smith and Surfman Marsh at a near future date. Both kept daily accounts of their activities and, if permission can be obtained from coast guard headquarters to release such information for publication, the accounts will be carried in this publication.

Joe Ferguson, considered the best pocket-billiard referee in the country, wears out three pairs of shoes a year just walking around the tables.

LAWS FORBID CHILD MARRIAGES IN STATE

Girls Must Have Consent of Parents Until 18 Years of Age

National furor over child marriages will find no counterpart in Michigan, for altar-bound couples in this state must pause to consider several statutory limitations.

The Michigan Department of Health, where more than 40,000 marriage certificates are filed annually, declares that minimum age qualifications here are 18 years for bridegrooms and 16 for prospective brides. Even then the girl must obtain the consent of one parent until she has reached the age of 18. Hasty marriages are discouraged by requiring applications five days before licenses are actually granted. Health provisions prohibit the insane, feebleminded, epileptic and persons afflicted with venereal disease from contracting marriage.

Despite these restrictions, wedlock continues increasingly attractive, approximately 46,000 marriages being recorded by the Health Department for 1936 compared with the depression low of 28,552 in 1932. These figures do not include the several thousand marriages of Michigan couples in Indiana and Illinois.

The inevitable month of June is still by far the most popular choice of brides, with September a poor second. Winter months have little appeal for Cupid, March showing the lowest record of the year.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT BULLETIN

Infant Mortality In District No. 3 By Cause and Age

During the past year there occurred in District Health Department No. 3, composed of the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego, 52 deaths in the "under one" infant age group. One half of this number was under one month of age, indicating that infant mortality is highest at this age of life. Premature birth took 17 babies and oddly enough the same number died prematurely in 1935. Pneumonia ranked second with 10 infant deaths comparing with the same number in 1935. Other causes were comparatively the same as the previous year.

The following table gives a comparative review of the infant deaths by cause and age in this district during 1936:

Cause	Under 1 Mo.	1-12 Mos.	Total
Premature Birth	15	2	17
Pneumonia	1	9	10
Congenital Malformations	3	1	4
Other Diseases of Infancy	3	0	3
Diarrhea & Enteritis	1	2	3
Congenital Debility	1	2	3
Disease of Thymus Gland	2	0	2
Influenza	0	2	2
Peritonitis	0	1	1
Measles	0	1	1
Cause Ill Specified	0	1	1
Accidental	0	1	1
Apoplexy	0	1	1
Meningitis	0	1	1
Convulsions	0	1	1
Heart Disease	0	1	1
Totals	26	26	52

The mortality rate is comparatively lower this year than in 1934 and 1935 but higher than it was in 1932 and 1933. The rate for 1936 was 55.5; in 1932 it was 49.3; in 1933 it was 50.8; in 1934 it was 59.6, and in 1935 it was 57.1. These rates are based on 1,000 live births.

Prenatal care of the expectant mother bears great influence on the infant mortality of a community. By encouraging and urging the mother to visit her family physician early and regularly she not only safeguards her own health but that of the infant. Also the encouragement of breast feeding of the new-born baby aids the little one to gain strength rapidly and thus combat any illnesses that tend to attack the younger age groups.

Your county nurse and the District Health Department at Charlevoix have a variety of helpful pamphlets on the care of the infant and will gladly supply you on request.

THE HOME-MAKERS CORNER

By Michigan State College

Party Eatables Tastier If Unique

No need to dish up all the food in the house when guests drop in informally, says Miss Beatrice Grant, assistant professor of foods and nutrition at Michigan State College.

"When Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt served ham sandwiches at an inaugural tea she set the fashion for simplicity and informality in foods," Miss Grant says.

"Instead of serving a great variety of foods, the clever woman offers only a few, but dramatizes one main food especially. When this is done correctly, the food service becomes a part of the entertainment, in effect, and makes the party or informal gathering more of a success and a pleasure."

Three unusual dishes suggested by Miss Grant include orange-nut bread, tomato bread and shrimp creole. Each one is considered sufficient in itself to need but little else to accompany it to the buffet service or for individual plate lunches.

Linens and china, let the men scoff if they will, mean a lot to women gathered for bridge or an organization meeting which is followed by a light lunch. So Miss Grant suggests that although simplicity in table decorations goes with the style of simplicity in the foods served, attention to make them attractive is worth the time of planning and arranging.

AT THE MOVIES

William Powell and Myrna Loy, the merriest, maddest married couple ever to come out of Hollywood, step from the last thrilling page of "The Thin Man" into the first hilarious chapter of the sequel millions have demanded be written, "After the Thin Man," which opens Saturday, February 20, at the Palace Theatre.

The song "You're A Knockout," by Sidney Clare and Harry Akst, is a highlight of the Twentieth Century-Fox dramatic film of the sports world, "Woman-Wise," featuring Rochelle Hudson and Michael Whalen, coming Wednesday and Thursday, February 24-25, to the Palace Theatre. Allan Dwan directed the screen play by Ben Markson.

Palace Books Baffling New Mystery Film

One of the most baffling of all the Erle Stanley Gardner murder mystery dramas, "The Case of the Black Cat," has been picturized by First National, and comes to the Palace Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, February 24-25, with Ricardo Cortez and June Travis in the leading roles.

What the "Bumps" On Your Head Don't Mean

An article in The American Weekly with the February 21 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times reveals that many supposedly intelligent people still believe in the long exploded idea that the shape and size of your head have anything to do with the quality of your brain.

When Mrs. J. C. Knox, of Duluth, met her husband on the street with another woman, she turned him over her knee and spanked him.

FINE TIME NOW TO START GARDEN

Preparation of Annuals and Bulbs Advisable During Mid-Winter

Most any time this winter is a good time to do a little extra gardening for the sake of the 1937 crop of flowers or vegetables.

It might seem there is nothing that could be done now that would help, but extension specialists in horticulture at Michigan State College merely ask, "Do you remember some of the troubles of previous years with insects, diseases and dry weather?"

If snow does not cover the garden plot, here are a few things that are in order. Good gardeners may have taken care of some of them last fall after the first frosts.

Tops of the dead annuals should be cleaned up and burned or better still if the ground permits, roots and tops as well should go into the garden bonfire. That might be a good time to burn up the discarded Christmas tree if it is still getting kicked around the yard.

Weeds, of course, are good bonfire material, as they may be harboring insects as well as carrying part of their 1936 seed crop ready to make healthy more of a job this year.

Other jobs that will add to the productivity, whether flowers or eatables, include the addition of organic matter to the soil. Many garden plots in Michigan are yawning for a topdressing of manure. Plant food is added when it is plowed under, and the soil is better able to breathe if it is heavy, or to hold moisture if it is inclined to be a light soil.

And if it is snowing, or evening comes before the garden is well started for the year, then there are the seed catalogs. If they aren't lying around the house by now, seed houses have them for distribution.

No woman truly happy without three men—perfect husband, perfect sweetheart, perfect provider — explains beautiful model and dancer in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next Sunday's Chicago Herald and Examiner.

TURNING THE CORNER

Are you going to turn at the next corner? That, if you are a motor car driver, is the first thing to decide. Deciding late and turning suddenly have caused many an accident.

Will you turn left or right? If right, approach the turn close to the right-hand side of the road, and signal your intention to cars behind. Slow down well before reaching the intersection; then take the turn slowly looking out for the safety of all pedestrians.

If you intend to turn left, the most common practice is to turn from the inner lane next to the center line of the roadway. Prepare for the turn by carefully angling across to the inner lane and signaling your intention to all cars behind. If traffic is approaching down the left-hand side of the roadway, whose path you must cross as you turn, wait until this traffic has gone by; then turn around the center point of intersection.

"Murder at the Milan," another Scotland Yard thriller by E. Phillips Oppenheim, appears in This Week, the colorgravure magazine with next Sunday's Detroit News. Don't fail to read it.

YOUNGSTERS NEED MORE THAN FOODS

Vitamin D Source Aids Children In Putting on Good Bone Growth

Cod liver oil is an essential for more than the customary first two or three years of a child's life, says Miss Mary Lewis, instructor in home management at Michigan State College.

Too many mothers, in her opinion, start out their children with the best of care, see them start to develop healthy bodies and then consider they will get along without the vitamin D help.

"The cod liver oil, or a similar source of vitamin D is an addition to diet that children can use from infancy even up to the age of 18 to 20 years. They need to grow strong shoulders and hips and straight but shapely legs and arms.

"Vitamin D does something in helping to use the calcium and phosphorus in foods that is not fully understood. But when it prevents or corrects a tendency to rickets, one can see sufficient reason for supplying this diet aid."

Signs of rickets in children, Miss Lewis says, include the following: There is a tendency to round shoulders. The shoulder blades protrude, chests are sunken or they may even protrude to a condition called "pigeon's breast." Bowed legs are another indication. Bone growth continues usually until the age of 18 to 20, so that adequate protection against rickets should be maintained up to that age.

HUNTERS MAY BE REQUIRED REPORT KILL

New Conservation Department Proposal to Go Before Legislature

Hunters who bag their limit of birds or game animals need feel no hesitancy in bragging about it. In fact they may be required by law to do so, if a measure approved by the State Conservation Commission, is passed by the Legislature.

The plan to be presented to the Legislature would require all licensed hunters and trappers to make a report to the Department of Conservation not later than February 15 of each year on the number of game birds, animals or fur-bearers they bagged in season. Report forms attached to the licenses would be used for this purpose. Compulsory reports of a similar kind are required in Pennsylvania and California.

The data supplied would make it possible to obtain a better idea on the extent to which sportsmen draw from their wildlife supplies in Michigan. Reports would enable game workers to evaluate the annual game crop, record and anticipate trends in game supplies and hunting conditions, to obtain an indication of hunting "pressures" in each county and of the probable effects of releases of game birds or animals.

RUMORS FLOODS MENACE TO MARDI GRAS WITHOUT FOUNDATION

Groundless fears that the floods will overtake New Orleans before or during the Mardi Gras, February 9-14, will prevent thousands of Michigan motorists from attending the Southern festival, E. S. Matheson, Automobile Club of Michigan touring director, said today.

"As a matter of fact the floods will not reach New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Natchez because the South has been enjoying the best of weather," he said. "The weather has been so fine, in fact, the lower branches of the Mississippi are now practically devoid of excess water and are capable of handling any surplus from the flood portions of the river."

Previously the club has houted approximately 5000 motorists to the Mardi Gras, but this year only a few hundred have asked for touring information.

Arthur Tomplins, of St. Paul, was fined $25 for throwing a banana peeling on the sidewalk.

FLOCK OF ROBINS WINTER NEAR MANISTIQUE

The presence of a flock of friendly robins near the Thompson state fish hatchery is causing no end of speculation this winter among wildlife observers in the region.

When songbirds migrated south last fall, it was noted that about 15 robins decided to remain and make their winter home at the hatchery. Gilbert W. Larson, conservation officer, reported the birds were still there February 1 and seemed to have endured the winter well so far.

MICHIGAN BELL REPORTS BUSINESS INCREASE FOR 1936 YEAR

Improvement in general conditions during 1936 was reflected in the telephone business with the result that the Michigan Bell Telephone Company made substantial progress toward recovery from the depression, according to the annual report to stockholders, submitted by George M. Welch, president, at the annual meeting in Detroit Thursday, February 11.

Total net earnings of the company before deducting interest and dividends, were $10,100,000 in 1936, or 5.0 per cent on the cost of the plant and other assets. Total operating revenues were $30,656,000, with total operating expenses of $22,377,000. Operating earnings after payment of taxes were $0,947,000, and other earnings were $153,000. Taxes amounted to $4,332,000, requiring 11.8 per cent of the gross revenue, or $7.74 per telephone in service. At the end of 1930 total assets of the company were $186,884,000.

Net gain of telephones during the year was 60,647, compared with 32,763 in 1935, bringing the number of telephones in service at the end of 1936 up to 594,502, which was 96,000 short of the peak reached in May, 1930.

Business telephones at the end of the year were back to 95 per cent of the peak development, compared with 82 per cent for residence telephones. The average daily number of local calls during the year was 2,835,000, an increase of 11.6 per cent over 1035. Total number of long distance calls was 23,918,000, an increase of 19 per cent.

WAY BACK WHEN

Charlevoix Colony

The following is a clipping from the centennial edition of the Kalamazoo Gazette, published January 24, 1937:

It was a group of Kalamazoo men who were instrumental in starting the summer resort at Charlevoix, one of the most popular in Northern Michigan. It is lovely there today with its green lawns and flowering shrubs, the beautiful cottages, hotel with modern improvements, not to speak of the beautiful lake on whose banks the Belvedere resort is situated.

It was a forlorn country back in 1876 but Pine Lake was there and a marvelous summer climate with fishing and hunting to intrigue the men. So Hale W. Page, Dr. Kendall Brooks, F. W. Wilcox, J. L. Sebring, S. A. Gibson, H. F. Weimer, Prof. Samuel Brooks, Dr. Fiske, Henry Bishop and O. M. Allen took their families and went north. The Charlevoix Summer Home Association was formed and cottage building began on the land acquired on west shore of Pine Lake, about one mile from the village of Charlevoix. Mr. Wilcox's cottage was the first to be completed and Mr. Sebring's the second. The others followed in quick succession. In the years following, J. P. Woodbury, William G. Dewing, Peyton Ranney, George E. Bardeen, Prof. Hadlock, I. D. Bixby, Dallas Boudeman, Mr. Smiley and others followed suit. Music hall was built for religious services and amusement, boat houses, docks and a hotel which was named by Mrs. H. F. Severens "The Belvedere."

James B. Balch is the president of the association. The original members are gone and cottages have changed and the only Kalamazoo people owning summer homes there are Mrs. William S. Dewing, Mrs. F. M. Hodge, J. B. Balch, the Osborn estate, the Edward Woodbury estate, William F. Church, the Boudeman estate, and the O. M. Allen estate.

WINTER SPORTS

People failing to come in some kind of contact with a Northern Michigan Winter Sports Carnival, such as are being sponsored by Cheboygan, Petoskey, Grayling, Alpena, and a few Upper Peninsula cities, do not realize the appeal of these events. They can be told in detail, but one must get out and into the crowd, one must gain first hand knowledge and experiences of what it all means, to the individual, young and old that have assembled to participate and enjoy as they do enjoy those out-of-doors experiences made available through community foresight and community enterprise. It is not to be wondered at that snow trains made up in Southern Michigan cities are crowded to capacity with people willing to pay their money, experience a three and four hundred mile train ride and spend a whole day and more to participate in these events, and it can be readily seen they will grow in popularity and that they are to contribute a lot toward bringing to Northern Michigan a year around appeal.—Cheboygan Observer.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Second School of Cooperation to Be Held February 23

The second meeting in the School of Cooperation series will be held at the Dilworth Hotel on Tuesday, February 23, beginning promptly at 10 o'clock. Mr. Hibst, manager of the Cadillac Growers Exchange, C. L. Nash and Arthur Howland, from the agricultural economics department of Michigan State College, will be present, and present topics of immediate interest to all cooperators. These meetings have been very instructive and filled with useful information, and no doubt this second one will be just as valuable as the preceding discussion.

Few people realize the many activities of cooperatives. In the first place many tax problems have to be considered in addition to merchandising and distribution phases. It is expected that some seven or eight cooperatives will be represented by their managers and directors.

Any interested farmer is invited to listen to the discussion and to participate. Remember Tuesday, February 23, at the Dilworth Hotel at 10.

Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde, Child Care Specialist, to Make Last Appearance in County

Greater interest is attached to the lecture of Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde, scheduled for Monday night, February 22, than any previous presentation, as Mrs. Lynde is leaving the state of Michigan to head up her chosen field of activity in Washington.

All interested parents in Charlevoix county are most cordially invited and urged to hear the lecture in the East Jordan High school, room 14, next Monday night at 7:45. Mrs. Lynde will finish the project that has been studied by eight different groups during the past winter.

Please accept our invitation to hear this talk on the subject, "Your Child and You," a study of personalities in the family group, and happy living together. If there ever was a topic that strikes home, this is it. Why not make your plans to attend this right now and let nothing prevent you being present? If you happen to have any personal problems, Mrs. Lynde will be very happy to suggest and recommend efforts that will aid in their solution.

FIFTY YEARS AGO the telephone in Michigan was a laboratory curiosity. Today it is the instrument of a tremendously valuable, widespread public service.
This development represents the practical working out of the vision of the telephone pioneers. Their avowed goal was — the best possible service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety. For half a century that policy has guided the telephone's destiny. It motivated every improvement and expansion; it was behind all the many reductions in rates.
And that far-sighted policy applies just as strictly today as it did two generations ago.

PLANS COMPLETED TO OPEN OLDS FACTORIES

Lansing Production on Full Time Basis Expected in Short Time

Plans for reopening the Oldsmobile plant on a full-time basis were formulated Friday at a meeting of 600 superintendents and foremen with factory executives at Lansing.

The Oldsmobile plant will open progressively, each division being raised to full strength as soon as possible, said General Manager C. L. McCuen.

Oldsmobile's motor plants will be the first units to reach full production, McCuen stated. The building of complete cars will not be long retarded because of Oldsmobile's efforts to provide as much employment as possible through partial operation during the period of the strike. Approximately 3,000 of more than 8,000 regular employes were kept at work during the strike period.

"As a result, we now have an ample supply of parts and material on hand and our final assembly is filled with completed chassis waiting for bodies," McCuen said. "As it appears at present, we should be able to complete approximately one fourth of the production schedule originally laid down for the month of February. Dealer inventories are now at a minimum and there is a strong demand for new Oldsmobiles. Deslers are reporting an increasing block of customer orders."

C. L. Beebe, a farmer of Beebe, Ark., has succeeded after six years of experimenting in growing color-tinted cotton.

STATE C. OF C. FAVORS STRAITS BRIDGE SPAN

Forty-Seven Organizations Vote in Favor of Proposal

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce says that its final report on the Mackinac Straits Bridge referendum is 47 organizations, with 81 votes in favor of the project, and 26 organizations with 70 votes against the project.

Fourteen directors voted on the proposition, nine for the project and five against. Practically two-thirds of the organizations voting have voted for the project with a substantial majority voto which seems to commit the State Chamber of Commerce to the project, there being no provision in its constitution making it necessary to have a two-thirds vote on referenda.—Alpena News.

CORPUS CHRISTI OIL FIELDS DESCRIBED

Talk about heads, freaks to a great extent, they were here by the hundreds. Included were mounted Kodiac bear, wild cats, wild pig and hundreds of animals native to America. Here I saw (believe it or not) the head of a Texas range steer whose horns measured, across from tip to tip, seven feet nine inches. Measuring from tip to tip, following down the horn, across the head, total distance 21 feet 11 inches. Some steer. Deer heads, the largest with 38 prongs, as well as wild sheep heads of enormous size. This place is known all over the world for its unusual collection. Other than the animal heads, the place was full of antiques gathered from many states, including mammoth rattlers of unusual size.

Going on with our trip: We arrived in Corpus Christi, January 27, after a run of 169 miles, the route covering some of the finest farm lands in eastern Texas. Will dwell on these farms later. Corpus Christi, called the "Naples of the Gulf," is one of the principal resort centers of the Texas Riviera. The azure waters of the gulf, the stretches of lovely white sand beaches, the stately palms against the sky, combine to make a gorgeous tropical setting. It is noted for duck hunting, both fresh and salt water fishing, a paradise for the outdoor visitor. Some 300 oil wells surround the city, with more being brought into production every week. Texas oil at this point is different than the wells in Michigan. Do not understand the technical terms in this respect, so will tell it in my own language, as I see it. The oil, as the wells produce it, contains a quantity of poisonous gas, which is separated, the gas being burned as the process is put through. The result is hundreds of flaming gas jets throughout the entire field. At night it is a beautiful sight, much like an August sunset across the waters of Lake Michigan. Wells in all stages of production are to be seen in all directions. One drives through the fields to find a well in full production, right in the center along with numerous others of a field of cabbage, turnips, onions, spinach, and other garden truck. The entire oil field as developed is right in the center of the richest farm lands surrounding Corpus Christi. One place we saw where a well had caught fire and blown up. The upheaval of dirt covered an area of about two city blocks, and it burned some six months before being put under control.

Of all cities and towns we have passed through, Corpus Christi is the busiest place. More building activity, such as business places, fine new homes, improved streets and parks, water front improvements, etc. Unusual activity in WPA work. Every Texas town or hamlet, no matter how large or small, seems to have demanded a new post office, court house, city hall, school house with accompanying playgrounds. And under Vice President Garner's guiding hand they seem to be able to get anything they ask for.

Will dwell slightly on the vegetable and truck farms. The soil is black and highly productive. They raise three crops a season. Think of driving down a highway passing through this territory, with fields of anywhere from an 80-acre tract to a section or two, planted cotton and vegetables of every description. The vegetable fields are under full production right now, and the cotton fields ready for planting. Think, imagine if you can, of rows of cabbage, turnips, onions, etc., as straight as a string, in rows as far as you can see. Not a tree in sight—nothing but vegetables and land prepared for the cotton crop. No wonder to me now why these southerners are competent surveyors.

We left Corpus Christi February 3 for Galveston, after a week most enjoyably spent. The character of the country en route varied. Vegetable and cotton farming, rivers and bayous, the flats heavily timbered. Causeways over bayous anywhere from n mile to three miles long. We passed through a stretch of some 40 miles covered with huge cattle ranches. Hundreds of cattle as far as one could see, with real Texas cowboys riding the range. Ranch house with out-buildings covering acres. It was a wonderful drive and we enjoyed every mile of it. Will write you of Galveston and surrounding territory in my next letter. The weather is fine here. Sun has shone every day since our arrival. Am writing this whero we are located in a trailer camp right on top of Galveston's sea wall. There is quite a breeze tonight, and the roar of the waves reminds one of home and old Lake Michigan—minus, of course, the air filled with the usual salt spray incidental to gulf ports.

POTATO SHORTAGE INCREASES CROP VALUE

Price of $1.90 to $2 Per Hundred Highest in Many Past Years

Department of Agriculture reports that the nation faces a shortage of bread, meat and potatoes was music to the ears of Charlevoix county farmers, at least that part of the report dealing with potatoes.

On the strength of this national potato shortage potato prices on the local market have doubled within the past few months. Starting at a dollar per hundred last fall, they have climbed steadily until today they are bringing from $1.90 to $2 per hundred, a dime per buadred better than earlier in the week. On this basis they are worth approximately $1.20 per bushel, the best price received in many years.

Just how many potatoes remain in the hands of local growers is problematical, buyers say. Some estimates place the amount as one third of the crop.
